STATIONS, MISSIONARIES, AND OTHER LABOURERS, MAY 5, 1868.

 By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.

A STATION, is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving Europe.

The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out. The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a Committee, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for such Members of the Royal Family as may honour it with their protection; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such Temporal Peers and Commoners as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergymen, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward, Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, and Executors paying to the amount of Fifty Pounds, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

VIII. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a Letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Rules of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate, to the General Committee, proper persons as Patrons and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtain Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate, from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal Towns throughout the Empire.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Accounts is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their places of destination.

XVII. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex-officio, Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the Names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries: these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Churchwardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachment upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidates: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation, or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly.....This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a licence or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries; the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

* The Three Bishops of India, and the Bishop of Australia, are the Presidents of the Corresponding Committees in their respective dioceses.

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergymen in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i. e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras to extend, as far as circumstances would admit, these benefits to the Mission of Travancore; which as an independent state, not forming part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made, on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are not sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognised: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour. This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbadoes—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organized Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minute.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So, also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!"

February, 1839.

* The American Episcopal Church has, in Convention, thus identified itself with a Missionary Society.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May 5, 1868, being the Sixty-ninth Anniversary—

The Right. Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE REV. JOHN MEE, MA., ONE OF THE SECRETARIES,

On the Motion of the REV. ROBERT PAYNE SMITH, D.D., Canon of Christ Church, and Regius Professor of Divinity, Oxford, seconded by SIR ARTHUR COTTON, K.C.S.I., it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Lord Bishop of Carlisle for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies.—[See List, p. iv.]

On the Motion of COLONEL LAKE, R.E., seconded by the REV. J. C. MILLER, D.D., Vicar of Greenwich, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the increased facilities everywhere afforded to the European Missionary for preaching the Gospel of Christ, especially in the vast Empire of China, and the gradual development of a Native Ministry in a Native Church, call for devout gratitude to Him who alone can bless the labours of His servants, and for renewed exertion for the establishment of the Redeemer's kingdom throughout the earth.

On the Motion of the REV. ROBERT BRUCE, B.A., Missionary from North India, seconded by the REV. E. HOARE, M.A., Incumbent of Trinity Church, Tunbridge Wells, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting desire to record their unshaken adherence to those Protestant and Evangelical principles, upon which the Society was originally founded; and their conviction, that any departure from those principles, whether in the direction of a Rationalistic Theology, or of the doctrines and practices which the Church of England rejected at the Reformation, will be fatal to the cause of Missions both at home and abroad, as substituting "another Gospel" for the Gospel of "the grace of God."

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

The Right Hon. RUSSELL GURNEY, M.P., Recorder of London, in the Chair.

Addresses were delivered by the Rev. J. A. M'Carthy, Missionary from North India; Sydney Gedge, Esq., M.A.; and the Rev. Gordon Calthrop, M.A., St. Augustine's, Highbury.

V. Members will be entitled to receive the Annual Reports of the Parent Society, and to vote at its General Meetings. Subscribers of Ten Shillings per annum will receive acopy of the Annual Sermon and Abstract of Report. Collectors of Sixpence and upward per week will receive a copy of each Monthly Number of the "Church Missionary Record"; and Collectors of Two Shillings and upward per week will receive a copy of the Annual Report, in addition to the "Record." Governors will be entitled to receive the Reports; and, if Members of the Established Church, to vote at Committee and General Meetings of both the Association and the Parent Society—Clergymen will have the same privilege as Governors. Contributors of 1*d.* a-week and upward will be entitled to receive the Parent Society's "Quarterly Paper."

VI. The objects of this Association shall be, to call forth the zeal of well-disposed persons, and particularly those of the Established Church, in support of the Church Missionary Society—to recommend proper persons who may offer themselves as Missionaries to the Parent Society—to disperse as widely as possible Missionary information—to promote the formation of Branch Associations—and to procure Collections and other Contributions.

VII. The whole of the funds so obtained, after deducting incidental expenses only, shall be remitted to the Church Missionary Society, in aid of its designs.

VIII. A General Meeting shall be held annually, on such day as shall be fixed by the Committee; when a Report of the Proceedings of the Association shall be read, and an account of its receipts and disbursements presented, duly audited.

THIRD RESOLUTION.—Moved by
Seconded by

That the success which, under the Divine Blessing, has attended the Church Missionary Society in its efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ among the Heathen, is a loud and providential call for increased exertions, for devout thanksgiving to Almighty God, and for continual prayer for a more abundant out-pouring of the Holy Spirit to render the means employed successful.

FOURTH RESOLUTION.—Moved by
Seconded by

That the new and enlarged openings for Missionary exertion, in different quarters, demand our best energies to make known the blessed Gospel of Christ to Heathen and Mohammedan Nations.

PREACHED AT

ST. BRIDE'S CHURCH,

FLEET STREET,

ON MONDAY EVENING, MAY 4, 1868,

BEFORE THE

Church Missionary Society,

BY THE HON. AND RIGHT REV.

SAMUEL WALDEGRAVE, D.D.,

LORD BISHOP OF CARLISLE.

SERMON,

"HOLDING FAST THE FAITHFUL WORD."

THE Faithful Word—the Word which may be trusted to compass its end—to accomplish its mission—how full are these inspired syllables of timely consolation! For in vain do they look elsewhere for help who desire to serve their generation by the will of God.

Was it thought that education would lead mankind back to Him? Alas! in the field of letters all things tell, directly or by implication, of doubt and distrust. The press teems with works which, by every art of sap and siege, assail the citadel of the Christian's hope. Already is heard the pæan of an impious triumph, as it is proclaimed that the Bible and the Christ of the Bible are delusions of the past, and that, emancipated from the swaddling-bands of dogma, human nature and human society are, by rapid strides, advancing to a perfection which the ancient creeds have utterly failed to achieve.

Did we fondly hope that the constitutional liberties of England would be the source of blessing to our own people and to the nations of the world? "Cease ye from man!" In the region of politics the very foundations are destroyed. All confidence in public men is grievously shaken. The day of fixed principles seems to have passed away. Even those amongst our rulers who, in their individual history and in their domestic relations, recognise a never-failing Providence and a personal responsibility, have, apparently, ceased to believe that that King of Nations still reigns, who once said, "Them that honour me I will honour, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed."

Was it our expectation that that Scriptural Protestantism which has set Britain on high amongst the kingdoms would be handed down to our children's children, the palladium of the security, and of the prosperity of our nation? Woe is unto the Church of our Fathers—the Church of our baptism—the Church which, from our inmost hearts, we love—the Church which was the joy and the praise of the whole earth for the chaste simplicity of its ritual and the Scriptural integrity of its doctrine—within even its sanctuaries—may God in His mercy stay the plague!—the polluting confessional and the idolatrous mass are set up. And then those Protestant Nonconformists, whose fidelity to the truth, whose spirituality of mind, were apt to evoke the aspiration, "Cum talis sis utinam noster esses," even amongst them the Upas tree of Neology strikes its roots and extends its baneful shade. Nay, more,—unworthy representatives of the Howes and the Baxters of by-gone days,—with suicidal folly they join, heart and voice, in the cry with which Babylon assails the walls of our Jerusalem, "Down with it, down with it, even to the ground!"

What shall we do? "Thus saith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls." Recur to first principles. There is one fountain-head of health and cure from which virtue never has and never will depart. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." Would we be, even in these days of rebuke and blasphemy, blessings in the earth? Let us "hold fast the faithful word."

Follow me, then, with your patient attention and your fervent prayer, while, taking the Apostolic writings as an inspired commentary upon my text, I remind you of the leading characteristics of "The Faithful Word" which, as the Greek and the margin have it, we are exhorted to "hold fast

"in our teaching"—ἀντεχομενον του κατα την διδαχην πιστου λογου.

And if, at times, my discourse should seem to address itself exclusively to my brethren of the Clergy, let it be remembered that it is no ordinary congregation which is assembled to-night within the walls of this sanctuary. Here are gathered pastors, teachers, evangelists, from all quarters of our land. According to the measure of their ministerial health will be the spiritual prosperity of their people. And corresponding to the degrees of that spiritual prosperity, will be the fervency of their prayers, the liberality of their alms, the preciousness, as oblations to Christ in the service of His Church abroad, of the sons and brothers, the daughters and wives, whom they send forth to the Mission field. Sure I am that not one of those many husbandmen, of whose cures it can truly be said that they are fields which the Lord hath blessed, will chide me for stirring up his pure mind by way of remembrance, as I bid him "forget the things which are behind, and reach forth unto those things which are before." And who can tell whether, if haply it be not well with some of the parishes represented here, I may not be even as the cruse of Elisha from which to "cast in salt," so that the water being no longer naught, the ground shall be no more barren?

Observe in the first place, that the Faithful Word is the Word of Bible Truth. "Of his own will begat He us with the Word of Truth."

The attitude assumed by the Apostles contrasted very remarkably with that in which other teachers of antiquity presented themselves. Their doctrine was not apologetically propounded. It was not advanced as a matter of merely human opinion. It was not launched as one amongst many speculations of earthly conception. No! The first preachers of the Gospel claimed to be the heralds of "The Truth,"—divine, vital, exclusive Truth. It was, I said, "Divine" truth of which they avowed themselves the expositors. The Thessalonian saints were commended for receiving the Gospel "not as the word of men, but as it is in truth the Word of God." It was, I added, "vital" truth which they assumed to declare—"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; he that believeth not shall be damned." And it was "exclusive" truth—"Though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other Gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed."

And these attributes belonged to the truth which they proclaimed, because it was, demonstrably, the truth of Holy Writ. Gifted though they were themselves with a plenary inspiration, they were careful to direct their hearers to the Word already written. Their Master and Lord had done so before them. "The Scripture cannot be broken." "Beginning at Moses and all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself." And they followed in His steps. At Thessalonica Paul reasons with his audience "out of the Scriptures, opening and alleging that Christ must needs have suffered, and that this Jesus whom I preach unto you is Christ." At Berea the congregations assembling are honoured not only for the readiness with which they received the preached Gospel, but also for the diligence with which they searched the Scriptures whether these things were so.

Beloved brethren in the ministry of the Word, how is it with us? The sixth Article of Religion is still emblazoned upon the escutcheon of the Church of England. And oh! what deep responsibility did we incur, what awful engagements did we undertake, at that solemn hour, of which the culminating rite was the placing of the Bible in our hands with the weighty admonition, "Take thou authority to preach the Word of God." Do we speak as men having authority? And is it our care to make it clear whence that authority is derived? Does the Bible stand forth as our one only warrant? Do we encourage, invite, command research into its sacred pages? Are the people committed to our charge daily becoming, under our guidance, more and more conversant with God's Word written? Our Missionary in Palestine is known throughout those coasts as "the Priest of the Book," his converts are honoured as the "Christians of the Book:" are we, are our people, content to be stigmatized, on the one hand by the Pharisee as irreverent toward the patristic lore of ancient days, on the other hand by the Sadducee as incapable of appreciating the discoveries of modern science, if only we may justly claim a like distinction?

But I pass on. Notice, I pray you, in the second place, that the Faithful Word is the word of blood-bought peace. "The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ."

"Behold" cried the Baptist (as he stood forth in the midst of the thronging inhabitants of Judæa and Jerusalem), "Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world!" It was as though he would say—"Lambs without blemish, males of the first year, have, by command of Moses, unceasingly bled, and died, and been consumed upon the altar of sacrifice for fifteen centuries of time. Atonement, reconciliation, has thus been made by vicarious bloodshedding for sin imputed. But typically only, and for our nation only. The time is now come when type must yield to antitype, when all the children of God that are scattered abroad must be gathered together in one. Behold in Him over whom the heavens are opening, upon whom the Spirit is descending, the victim whose oblation shall accomplish this glorious purpose. He is the Lamb of God—the Lamb of God's appointment, of God's preparing, fore-ordained before the foundation of the world, sent forth in the fulness of time, Deity incarnate. He taketh away the sin of the world: from east, from west, from north, from south, from all generations of mankind, shall, when three short years have run their course, the sins of Jew and Gentile alike, the sins of that multitude so great that no man can number it, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, which shall one day stand before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes and palms in their hands, be brought together, and laid upon His devoted head. And He shall suffer their full penalty. His precious blood shall be shed, the divine wrath shall compass Him about. Sin shall be put away by that one final sacrifice oblation and satisfaction. And thus shall peace be made, never to be unmade, by the blood of the Lamb. This Man shall be the Peace."

Beloved brethren in the Ministry of Reconciliation, once more I pause. The efficacy, the finality, of the sacrifice of the death of Christ stand prominently forward in the Articles and the Formularies of our Church, contrasted on the one hand with the divinely appointed offerings of the Mosaic law, and, on the other hand, with the vainly invented oblations of the Papal superstition. Is that finished work equally characteristic of our public teachings? "He hath made peace by the blood of His cross," was the rejoinder of an imprisoned daughter of Port Royal when, on her refusing to subscribe to a condemnation of the alleged errors of Jansen, the Romish prelate—who stood by her dying bed—replied, "Then I cannot make your peace with God." "He, the great High Priest which is passed into the heavens, Jesus, the Son of God, hath made peace by the blood of His cross." "It is finished"—consummatum est—τετελεσται. Is the instruction which our flocks receive at our hands such that, under circumstances in some respects too similar amongst ourselves, the blasphemous figment of the sacrifice of the altar is spurned with a like dignity of decision? Oh that, seeking not to please men but God which trieth the hearts, we might be enabled, every one of us, to model our discourses in this respect also according to the Scriptures. Christ crucified will, to the end of time, be to the Sacerdotal Jews a stumbling block. Christ crucified will, to the end of time, be to the Rationalistic Greeks foolishness. But to them which are called—to them in whom the Holy Ghost hath made and created new and contrite hearts—He will, with equal certainty, be Christ the power of God, and Christ the wisdom of God. And why? "The full soul loatheth an honeycomb; but to the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet."

But what is the rod which the weary Jonathan shall dip into the honeycomb so that his eyes may be enlightened?

Notice, in the third place, that the Faithful Word is the word of justifying faith. "The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth and in thy heart: that is the word of faith which we preach."

Let Peter be heard as he addresses the assembled household of Cornelius—"To Him give all the prophets witness, that through His name whosoever believeth in Him shall receive the remission of sins." Hearken to Paul as he expounds the truth in the synagogue at Antioch—"By Him all that believe are justified from all things from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses." And mark well how simple the nature, how instantaneous the effects of this faith. As the poison-stricken Israelite looked upon the brazen serpent, and, looking, lived, so the sin-convinced transgressor believes upon the Lord Jesus Christ, and, believing, is saved. Yes! he believes. Treading in his steps who considered not his own body now dead, neither yet the deadness of Sarah's womb, he considers not the inveteracy of his inbred corruption, neither yet the enormity of his lifelong transgression, but is fully persuaded that what God hath promised He is able also to perform. Thus, simply, before peace flows into his soul, before fruits of holiness have ripened, he reposes upon the word of Him that cannot lie. And so reposing he is instantaneously justified. Yes! I repeat it, justified, and that for eternity, antecedently to the enjoyment of peace, antecedently to the manifestation of holiness. "Verily, verily, I say unto you"—these are the words of the Judge of quick and dead—"he that heareth my word, and believeth on Him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but is passed from death unto life."

Beloved, it is needless to remind you that the Church of England stands grandly pledged to the doctrine of Justification by faith only without the works of the law. Her eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth Articles—nay more, I may add, to cite no other documents, her daily absolution at morning and evening prayer—commit us, explicitly and implicitly, to the proclamation of all the blessed truth which is condensed in the words, "He that believeth on me hath everlasting life." Are we loyal to the trust committed to us? True, the doctrine of faith is exposed to slanderous misrepresention: true, it is liable to licentious abuse. But neither by certainty of misrepresentation, nor by possibility of misuse, were the Apostles deterred from the simple, the reiterated declaration that a man is justified by faith without the works of the law. Do we open our mouths, with equal boldness, to declare this mystery of the Gospel? Do we invite, command, every poor sinner who comes within the sound of our voice to repent, to believe the Gospel? And do we assure him that whosoever doth so repent, and so believe, hath everlasting life, being complete in Jesus, washed in his sprinkled blood, clothed in his imputed righteousness, accepted in the beloved?

But I must hasten on, for I have to point out, fourthly and lastly, that the Faithful Word is the word of covenant grace. "Long time, therefore, abode they speaking boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony to the word of His grace."

That is a noble Collect which is appointed for the Festival of the Conversion of St. Paul—"Grant that we, having his wonderful conversion in remembrance, may show forth our thankfulness to Thee for the same, by following the holy doctrine which he taught." Now was not the holy doctrine which St. Paul taught, essentially the doctrine of covenant grace—eternal, sovereign, free, invincible grace? To grace, riches of grace, exceeding riches of grace, he traced his own salvation—"By the grace of God I am what I am." To grace, riches of grace, exceeding riches of grace, he ascribed the election, redemption, quickening, preservation, glory, of every single convert to his ministry—"By grace ye are saved." Yes, eternal grace,—"chosen in Him before the foundation of the world;" sovereign grace—"I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy;" free grace—"not according to our works, but according to His own purpose and grace;" invincible grace—"who shall separate us from the love of Christ? I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord!"

Men and Brethren, the Church of Christ owes much to that Latin Father who in the fifth century, and to that French

Theologian who in the sixteenth century, unfolded and vindicated, in profound argument and classic tongue, the doctrines of grace. But they do greatly err, not knowing the Scriptures, who ascribe the origin of those doctrines either to the African Bishop or to the Genevese Presbyter. They are the revelation of the infallible Book of God. As such they pervade the formularies of our Church, from the moment of our baptism to the hour of our burial; as such they stand centrally and prominently forward in her seventeenth Article of Religion. Have they, in our ministrations, that honourable place which the glory of our God and the comfort of His people alike demand? Well do I know, and readily do I acknowledge, that foundation and superstructure, milk and strong meat, are distinct each from the other. But surely he is but an insufficient workman who lays nought but the foundation; he is but an undutiful steward who gives to the entire family only milk. Our commission is to declare all the counsel of God, to keep back nothing that is profitable, to lead on the children of God from the principles of the doctrine of Christ to the perfection of the spiritual man's estate. Nor—while we should be most careful to emulate the tenderness and to observe the proportion of Holy Writ in the treatment of such subjects, as indeed of all subjects—may we conclude that we are necessarily wrong should their enunciation provoke opposition. Deficiency of judgment, lack of tenderness, could never be justly charged upon that prince and pattern of Pastors, the meek and gentle Jesus. And yet inspiration has recorded two occasions in His ministerial life on which His public teaching in the mixed congregation gave undissembled offence to a large portion of his audience. At Capernaum "many of His disciples went back and walked no more with Him." At Nazareth "they in the synagogue . . . were filled with wrath, and rose up, and thrust Him out of the city, and led Him unto the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might cast Him down headlong." And what was the common, the characteristic feature of both those discourses? It was the distinct enunciation of the sovereignty of Divine grace in its dealings with the children of men. Surely

"it is enough for the disciple that he be as his Master, and the servant as his Lord."

I have now, brethren, answered, as far as the limits of my time permit, the question proposed for our consideration this day. That question was, What is the Word to which that honourable distinction belongs of being styled "The Faithful Word?" The answer of the apostolic Scriptures is,—It is the Word of Bible truth, the Word of blood-bought peace, the Word of justifying faith, the Word of covenant grace.

To this Word, brethren, and to this Word alone, doth the promise of the Holy Ghost belong. Let it be preached, even by men of stammering lips, and it is found to be clothed with an excellency of Divine power. "The weapons of our warfare are mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds, casting down imaginations, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." Let another word be preached, even by the most accomplished of rhetoricians, and whatever may be the semblance of results, sinners are not converted, souls are not saved. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts." And to this Word, and to this Word alone, I repeat it, doth the promise of the Spirit belong. Yea, and to this Word, and to this Word certainly shall the promise of the Spirit be fulfilled.

And therefore is it found, by every one who will but put it to the proof, a Faithful Word.

For remember well what the Father's purpose in sending forth His Word amongst the nations of the world really is. There is with many grievous mistake in the matter; grievous, I say, for it causes many hands to hang down, many knees to be feeble. Conversion is not universal: in many cases it is not even general: the flock seems to be but a little flock: few only appear to be entering in at the strait gate: and, overlooking the fact that Scripture told them before that it would be even so, not conceiving aright the purpose of Jehovah, men take God's Word, from what they see, to have none effect. But what is Jehovah's purpose? It is "to take out of" "the Gentiles" "a remnant according to the election of grace"—"a people for His name." It is "to seek for Christ's sheep that are dispersed abroad, and for His children who are in the midst of this naughty world, that they may be saved through Him for ever." It is to fill up the members of Christ's mystical body—the Church, and thus to bring about the day when He who "loved that Church, and gave Himself for it, in order that He might sanctify it and cleanse it with the washing of water by the Word, shall present it unto Himself a glorious Church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing." Viewed in relation to this purpose it can truly be said that the Gospel has, in all generations, accomplished that which Jehovah pleased; it has prospered in the thing whereto He has sent it; and thus has it been ever found a Faithful Word, "a Word which may be trusted to compass its end—to accomplish its mission."

Yes, verily, for more than eighteen centuries has it thus been tried, and never yet has it been found wanting.

Our Master and Lord found it "faithful." Beginning at Galilee, He published it throughout all Judea. In spite of the resistance—and that apparently successful—of Pharisee and Sadducee, of Herod and Pontius Pilate, the preaching of Jesus of Nazareth was not, as some have thoughtlessly averred, unfruitful. "Above five hundred brethren"—and of how many more these were the representatives we cannot say—were seals to His three years' ministry upon earth.

The "Apostles of the Lamb" found it "faithful." They went everywhere preaching the Word. Hopeless indeed appeared their enterprise. The traditions of Jewry, the idolatries, the philosophies, the vices of the Gentile nations, seemed like so many Jerichoes, gated and barred and walled up to heaven, to hold possession of the land against Messiah. The trumpets of rams' horns were blown. On the very first blast three thousand souls were added to the Church. Five thousand, a great company of the priests obedient to the faith, "many myriads" believing, were signs following. And these and other recorded triumphs were, after all, but specimens. In three centuries the Faithful Word had revolutionized the world.

The Reformers of Britain and the Continent found it

"faithful." It was with this Word that Luther and Calvin, Melancthon and Zuinglius, Ridley and Latimer, Patrick Hamilton and John Knox, each according to his several ability, traded. The two witnesses had been slain; the whole world wondered after the beast. But the sword of the Spirit—the Word of God—was equal to the emergency. I say nothing of what once was wrought in France, in Spain, nay even in Italy itself; for to this very hour England, Scotland, Scandinavia, Holland, Switzerland, Germany, bear grateful testimony to the blessed triumphs of Gospel truth over the Man of Sin, the Son of Perdition.

The Fathers and Founders of the Church Missionary Society found it faithful. They were few in number, poor, and of no reputation. "Ingemuit totus orbis Arianismo" might almost be written of the land, nay of the Church, of their nativity. How could they expect to succeed at home? to conquer abroad? They had the Word, and they trusted it. At home wonders were wrought, even their enemies themselves being judges. Stationed in the midst of the valley of dry bones, they prophesied as they were commanded. The Spirit of life breathed upon the slain. There stood up an exceeding great Evangelic army. And abroad also were marvels accomplished: "then said they among the heathen, the Lord hath done great things." It was the least of all seeds that they were permitted to sow seventy years ago: a great tree now fills the earth. Sierra Leone and New Zealand, Rupert's Land and Tinnevelly, China and Palestine, Kishnagurh and Metlahkatlah, each and all cry aloud with ten thousand times ten thousand tongues, "The Word is faithful: hold it fast!"

Yes, verily, hold it fast.

Other words, it is true, are now plausibly commended for our adoption as more fitting the age in which we live. There is "the word scientific." The herald of the Gospel is bidden to stand aside while the husbandman, the mechanic, the metaphysician prepare the way of the Lord. There is "the word ecclesiastic." It confides for success in completeness of organization—unprecedented in the earliest, the inspired Missions of the Christian Church,—and impressiveness of display—equally unprecedented, I am bold to say, in those primitive, those pattern labours amongst the heathen. And their advocates have their reward. They have the praise of men. They are of the world; therefore the world heareth them. But alas for such, and for their proselytes, in the great day of account!—"Blind, leaders of the blind." "Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy name? and in Thy name have cast out devils? and in Thy name done many wonderful works? and then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from Me, ye that work iniquity."

My brethren of the Clergy, give place by subjection to words like these, no not for an hour. Hold fast the Faithful Word. True, we may, in consequence, be isolated, each in his own vicinity, from our fellows. Yet shall we not be alone. He who stood with Paul, and strengthened him when all men forsook him, shall stand with us, that by us the preaching may be fully known. And others, waxing confident by our bonds, shall be much more bold to speak the Word without fear. And the Word shall run and be glorified; the sheep will hear our voice; the Lord will add to the Church daily such as shall be saved; sinners shall be converted; believers shall be edified; and each saved and blessed soul shall become a new centre of life, and health and cure. For never will I concede the too frequent assertion, that the days of conversion are ended. Confess rather, they that so affirm, that with them the days of giving oneself to prayer and to the ministry of the Word are ended. Let God be true and every man a liar. He hath said, "My Word shall not return unto me void;" and He "cannot lie." Personal experience and wide observation convince me that wherever, in its simplicity, in its fulness, prayerfully and holily, His Word, and not our word, is faithfully preached, there mighty signs and wonders still are wrought by the name of the Holy Child, Jesus. "He" then "that hath my Word, let him speak my Word faithfully," until, the number of the elect being accomplished, the kingdom shall come, the Chief Shepherd shall appear, and ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

And do you, my brethren of the Laity, strengthen our hands in God. By liberal almsgiving you have done so during the past twelve months. The income of our Society to be reported to-morrow, exceeds by eight thousand pounds the very highest announced at any previous Anniversary; and in very many cases the offering has been accompanied by the assurance that it is the more cheerfully placed in our hands because we hold fast the Faithful Word. Continue, I pray you, to act with like liberality discrimination and decision. But do not limit your aid to almsgiving. Pray for us in secret, stand by us in public, let the world see that you and we are one in holding fast the faithful word. Leave us not to bear the burden, to fight the fight alone. True that you shall, in consequence, share our reproach, our afflictions, our persecutions, for all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. But you shall be blessed and a blessing. Your sons and your daughters, as they witness your prayerful, holy, just, unblameable, consistent course of separation from the world, and consecration to the service of Jesus, shall rise up to call you blessed for training them up in the way in which they should go. And, beyond the confines of your home, here one, there another, shall say, "We will come with you, for we have seen that God is with you of a truth." Nor is the day far off when He whom you have confessed before men, in the persons of His ministers, His brethren, shall confess you before His Father and the angels of God. Then shall we all—ministers and people, Missionaries and converts alike—cast our crowns before Him, and for ever adore the Lamb who gave us the Faithful Word and grace to hold it fast.

Now unto "Him that hath the Seven Spirits of God, to Him that holdeth the seven stars in His right hand, to Him who walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks, to Him that is holy, to Him that is true, to Him that hath the key of David, to the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God, to Him that loved us and washed us from our sins in His own blood, and hath made us kings and priests to God and His Father, to Him be glory and dominion for ever and ever." Amen.

REPORT,

&c. &c.

THANKFUL to Him "whose are the silver and the gold," the Committee again announce an increased income. Commerce has been depressed and the Committee embarrassed, but the Society's great mission has not been materially injured. The ordinary Income has exceeded that of the previous year by 8611*l.*, and has reached 153,997*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.* Adding 3291*l.* 1*s.*—given for special objects—the total receipts are 157,288*l.* 6*s.* 10*d.* In response to the Committee's earnest appeal, numerous contributions have been made by friends, many of whom have testified their appreciation of the Society's principles and interest in its operations by donations, and the Committee are much indebted to those supporters, who in the county, city, town and village Associations, have strenuously exerted themselves during this anxious and perplexing year. Last year it was announced that the proceeds of Associations had reached 115,871*l.* 19*s.* 4*d.*, a larger amount than had been received in any previous year; and now the Committee, with gratitude to God, can announce an increase in the Associations of 5256*l.* 17*s.* 2*d.*, making the receipts from that source alone 121,128*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* The legacies have been 1950*l.* less than last year, but the donations have advanced 4910*l.*

London and the country have united in raising a larger income, and the Committee believe that such hearty co-operation may very greatly increase the amount hitherto obtained. Ireland, amid political agitation and ecclesiastical anxiety, has nobly maintained her Missionary position, and has contributed during the year 5400*l.*

Ordinary Income of the Year:—
Associations	£121,128	16	6
Benefactions	16,894	5	3
Legacies	9,670	11	4
Sundries	6,303	12	9

Ordinary Expenditure of the year	149,662	11	1
Surplus	4,334	14	9
Deficit of 1866-67	3,828	13	11
Net Surplus, 1867-68	506	0	10
Ordinary Income as above	£153,997	5	10
Special:—

PATRONAGE.

Death of Dr. Macbride.

The death of John David Macbride, Esq., D.C.L., Principal of Magdalen Hall, Oxford, has removed from the list of Vice-Presidents one of the Society's most earnest and energetic friends. Connected with the Oxford Association from its formation, he presided, in his 89th year, at its Anniversary Meeting. During fifty years he not only identified himself with the principles of the Society, but zealously exerted himself in promoting its interests.

The Committee have appointed as Vice-Presidents the Very Rev. the Dean of Exeter, and Thomas B. Horsfall, Esq., M.P. for Liverpool.

The number of Honorary Life-Governors has been increased by the appointment of the Rev. Henry Barne, Vicar of Faringdon, Berks; Rev. Charles W. Bingham, Rector of Melcombe Horsey, Dorset; Rev. Carr John Glyn, Rector of Witchampton and Little Hinton, Dorset; Rev. Andrew Knox, Perpetual Curate of Birkenhead, Cheshire; Rev. George Lea, Perpetual Curate of St. George's Edgbaston, Birmingham; Rev. Robert Long, Incumbent of St. Simon's, Chelsea; Rev. John C. Ryle, Vicar of Stradbroke, Suffolk; and E. R. Le-Mare, Esq., Treasurer of the Manchester Association.

CHURCH MISSIONARY INSTITUTION.

The course of study and the preparation required in the case of Missionary students has recently received the careful consideration of the Committee. The Institution at Islington has furnished many effective labourers, but as the character of the Mission work, more especially in India and China, now seems to require greater mental attainments and qualifications, it is found necessary to modify in some respects the present course of preparatory study. Concerning the past year the Principal reports:—

The students numbered, two years since, 48; last year the average was 36; this year it only reaches 34. But desirable as a goodly array of Missionary candidates confessedly is, neither the Committee nor the supporters of the Society generally will attach much importance to the question of numbers, as compared with the far more weighty considerations connected with the spirit, the character and the conduct of those whom they are training as candidates for Missionary work. It is a great satisfaction to be able to speak in terms of approval in reference to these important particulars. There must necessarily, in such a body of men, be a great diversity of natural temper and disposition, together with a wide range of varying mental power and intellectual capacity. The amount of culture and acquirement previous to entrance into the Institution also varies considerably. A similar remark applies to the different degrees of progress made in the Divine life, and to the measure of spiritual attainment possessed by each. But amidst all this diversity, there is, in that which is most essential, substantial unity. There is indubitable evidence of the presence and working of the Spirit of God, the image and superscription which always accompany the regenerating, sanctifying and enlightening influences of Divine grace. It was a remark of one of the founders of the Society, that He alone who created the universe can make a minister of the Gospel. The same idea has been virtually expressed in the Missionary axiom, that "spiritual agents alone are suitable for spiritual work." May such men continue to be raised up and supplied by the God of Missions!

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Nineteen of the Society's Candidates have been admitted to holy orders during the year—twelve by the Bishop of London; one European by the Bishop of Sierra Leone; one European and one Native by the Bishop of Colombo; two Natives by the Bishop of Waiapu; one European and one Native by the Bishop of Rupert's Land.

Advance of the West African Church.

THE celebration of its Jubilee has exhilarated rather than exhausted the West-African Church. Not only have contributions for religious purposes been liberal, but the Church has advanced in intelligence, in energy and in independence. Educational efforts have been successful. In the Fourah-Bay Institution, Natives have been prepared for future service as Pastors, Evangelists and Teachers. The Principal is assisted by a Tutor, who is a Native Clergyman. The Grammar School, of which a Native Clergyman is Head Master, more than maintains the high state of efficiency hitherto reached; and the Female Institution continues to afford a suitable and sound education to the daughters of the better classes. A glance at some of the congregations suffices to convince that they have assumed a parochial character, and the statistics connected with them will be fully appreciated by the Parochial Clergy of England. Pademba Road, for example, has its congregation of 500 in the morning and 600 in the evening. There are 600 members of the Church, of whom 240 are Communicants. Kissey Road has a congregation of 500 on the Sunday morning, and, what is perhaps a more severe test of its Christianity, there is a congregation of 70 at the Thursday Evening Service. Funds for religious objects are freely given. During the past year this congregation has raised 28*l.* for its Church Fund, 58*l.* for the Native Pastorate, and 143*l.* for Schools. Nor are Bible circulation and Missionary work forgotten, for in addition to the amounts specified, 42*l.* have been raised for the British and Foreign Bible Society, and 97*l.* for the Church Missionary Society.

Another congregation at Charlotte may be briefly noticed. In circumstances described as deep poverty, the sum of 42*l.* has been raised for the Church Missionary Society, in addition to contributions to the Native-Pastorate Fund, the Jews' Society, and the Bible Society.

Mission work by Natives.

But the aspect of the work which especially claims attention is the attempt to carry the Gospel beyond the Colony. One Native Minister already occupies the Sherbro Country; another has nearly completed the linguistic studies which will greatly facilitate his Mission work; and a third is actively and successfully labouring on the Bullom Shore.

Pademba Road.

The Rev. A. Menzies has superintended the work, assisted by the Native Pastor, the Rev. J. Johnson. Idolatry only "lingers" in the district, and the Ministers are for the most part constrained to regret the same indifference to Divine truth as is often manifested in congregations nominally Christian.

Kissey Road.

The state of the congregation at this place may be inferred from some statements made by the Rev. J. Hamilton, who has been in charge during the year. In addition to the duties thus devolving upon him, Mr. Hamilton has, by reason of the Rev. G. R. Caiger's visit to England, been much occupied as Secretary of the Finance Committee and Commissary of the Bishop of Sierra Leone. After recounting contributions amounting to 368*l.* 9*s.* 11¼*d.* from this congregation, Mr. Hamilton gives some details illustrating its Christian activity :—

Facts illustrating the Christian activity of a Congregation.

The Church Services have been well attended. The average attendance on Sunday morning has been 500, and in the evening 350. The Lord's Supper has been regularly administered every month: the average attendance has been 163, a small increase on last year. We have also had two evening Communions; one on the Sunday after the Confirmation, for the newly confirmed, when 90 persons were present; and one on the evening of Ascension-day, when 70 persons were present: both these were quiet, solemn, profitable seasons. The Thursday Evening service has been well kept up by Mr. Johnson the Catechist, and the three senior students from Fourah Bay: the average attendance has been about 70.

There is great need of further accommodation in the church, but it cannot be obtained without taking down the side walls, to add aisles and transepts, and that will be almost equal to a rebuilding of the church, and consequently the outlay will be very great; but it would well repay the expenditure to have a more commodious and better ventilated church than we have at present, and I hope and pray that I may yet see it accomplished.

It is a very great satisfaction to me, that, during the past year, we have built a most substantial and comfortable school-house: it is 60 feet in length, and 30 feet in width; built on a raised stone foundation, with stone pillars to support the roof, which is covered with shingles: there are sliding doors to shut off the part appropriated to the infants, in which part there is an excellent gallery. The whole cost has been 287*l.* 12*s.* 4*d.*; the amount received has been 204*l.* 11*s.* 3*d.*, leaving a debt of 83*l.* 1*s.* 1*d.*, which I hope soon to see cleared off. Since the opening of the new school-room the numbers of the children have increased considerably: the number now on the books is more than 400, and generally, during the first three days of the week, the numbers actually present are more than 300, but the books show an average daily attendance of 265. If the numbers continue to increase, it will be necessary to build a second school-house, one specially for the infants, who are quite numerous enough for it, and it would be a great advantage to have them separated from the elder children.

The Monthly Class meets on the first Wednesday in each month: it is composed of young men: the number on the list is 25. The subject we have been, and are still engaged on, is the difference between the teaching of the Protestant Church and the Romish Church; a very important subject just at this time, and much interest has been manifested at several of the meetings.

The Bible Class is held at 7.30 A.M. on Sunday, for young men: the number on the list is 28. We are going through the Acts of the Apostles, and having now arrived at the part where the great Apostle of the Gentiles was "in journeyings often," and as we trace him from place to place on the map, much interest is felt, and a knowledge of geography, of localities, and of the distances travelled by St. Paul, and of the countries he visited, is imparted, which is quite new to most of those who are present.

Charlotte.

Parochial rather than Missionary is the aspect of the work at this village. A congregation nearly numbering 550 contains more than 200 communicants. There are 200 children in the schools. The Juvenile Church Missionary Association has collected 16*l.* 10*s.*, and the hope is entertained that some of the contributors may hereafter become heralds of the Gospel to their countrymen.

The general features of the work at Charlotte are noted by the Rev. C. H. Brierley:—

Resemblance of the work to that of an English Parish.

Our work resembles an ordinary English parish, where the means of grace are provided statedly to a nominally Christian community. We have no open idolaters in the district, but there are those, as at home, who will not come to the Saviour that they may have life, nor attend the ordinances of the sanctuary. Among our ordinary congregation we have great reason to hope there are many to whom the Gospel message has been savingly blessed, and consequently are growing in grace and in the knowledge of Christ.

The attendance on the Lord's-day is most satisfactory and encouraging.

It has been very justly remarked that a giving Church shall be blessed abundantly, and we have proved such to be the case. Last year, when our dear people tried to show their gratitude to our beloved Society, it was out of their own deep poverty. I encouraged them, saying they would never be the poorer for what they gave to their gracious Master and His cause.

The usual meetings for spiritual edification, and the special Prayer-meetings for the persecuted brethren in Abeokuta and on the Niger, are mentioned by Mr. Brierley; the promoters of Missions in England not being forgotten in these supplications:—

We have three classes during the week, in addition to our Tuesday service, which are attended with a great blessing from the "Lord of the harvest." The candidates' class for confirmation is largely attended; comprising nearly all the young persons who have left our day school for trade and other employments. They are not so serious as we could wish; but I try to remember the old adage, "We cannot put old heads upon young shoulders." Mrs. Brierley continues her Bible class for young men between 16 and 30 years old, every Sunday morning from 6.30 to 7.30. We have great cause to hope the instruction they receive is much blessed by the Holy Spirit to their hearts.

Prayer for afflicted brethren.

We have commenced a Prayer-meeting twice a week in our village schoolroom, on behalf of our persecuted brethren in Abeokuta and on the banks of the Niger. Many earnest prayers are offered by several of their own tribe, who have been brought here, and to whom the truths of the Gospel have been savingly blessed. It is very delightful to hear them pray most fervently that their brothers and sisters in their fatherland may stand fast in the faith, and not be drawn back again into heathenism; but there is another expression in their prayers which has struck me much, and it is that the good people in England may not "grow tire" to send out Missionaries; and most appropriate are some of the texts they quote to encourage and cheer themselves and others.

Wilberforce and Wellington.

Divisions have arisen in the congregation at Wellington, which comprises about 100 persons, and the Rev. G. J. Macaulay, Native Minister, has been transferred to that charge from Wilberforce. He has been enabled to promote harmony, but the description of the people now committed to his care claims the sympathy and prayers of Christians:—

There is a great work to be done here for God. Heathenism is still lurking in some corners. Egugu dancing is being revived among the Colony-born. Hundreds of souls are famishing in the midst of plenty. Sunday idlers are to be seen in almost every corner of the streets. If they would not come to God's own house for heavenly bread, we must take it to them in their own houses. May the Lord enable me to realize my responsibility as His servant, and nerve me for the great work. May He keep me humble and make me useful in my day and generation. I desire your prayers that health, wisdom and grace may be vouchsafed to me. The work at Allen Town is steadily progressing.

Examples of simple piety.

Among the examples of simple piety mentioned by Mr. Macaulay may be especially noted that of a poor destitute widow, to whom a pious member of the Church ministered with much assiduous care. Having thankfully received the sacrament of the Lord's Supper in her own house, because no longer able to attend church, her faith was manifested in a farewell remark to her minister, "Master, you have done your own part, and Jesus, the Great Master, will do His own."

EDUCATION.

Fourah-Bay Institution.

The important work of preparing Native Pastors and teachers has been continued in this Institution under the Rev. H. J. Alcock M.A., the Principal, assisted by the Native Minister, the Rev. D. G. Williams. Of the five students found by Mr. Alcock, when taking charge of the Institution about a year ago, two were removed on account of their ignorance of Greek and Latin. Eight have subsequently been admitted, the Grammar School supplying the majority of these junior students. Instruction in the Scriptures, conducted in such a manner as to give full and complete views of the great truths of revelation, especially engages the attention of the Principal. A weekly Prayer-meeting, conducted by the Students, indicates the spiritual tone prevailing in the Institution, and mental discipline is maintained by attention to such studies as Butler's Analogy and Whately's Logic. By the blessing of God on this Institution, a Native Ministry and Native Teachers may be expected to arise who shall be alike able to preach the truth of the Gospel and refute the errors of the times.

Spiritual tone and mental discipline.

BULLOM MISSION.

The Native Minister's work beyond the Colony.

The efforts of the Rev. H. Boston, Native Minister, have been successful both among those who have proceeded from Sierra Leone to the Bullom Shore, and among those who were born in the Mission district. The Native Teachers have laboured harmoniously and diligently. There are more than 240 Native Christians, and nearly 100 communicants. For Missionary and other religious objects, the sum of 20*l.* 2*s.* has been raised in the Yongro, and 8*l.* 5*s.* in the Ro Banny congregation. Measures are in progress for placing the Churches of the district on a self-supporting basis.

A retrospect of six years enables the Native Minister, the Rev. H Boston, to measure the expansion of the work in that period:—

The number of our congregation just now is nearly double of that in 1861. In the year 1864, Ro Banny was taken up, and in this present year two more places, Robenkeh and Kitonk, were added to the Society's stations. The statistical accounts at the close of 1861 and the present year are as follows:—

Stations.	Agents of the Society.	Number of Congregations.	Average Attendance.	Number of Baptized Persons.	Communicants.	Candidates for Baptism.	Day Scholars.	Sabbath Scholars.
In the year 1861.
Yongro	2	100	60	50	10	8	27	46
In the year 1867.
Yongro	2	190	125	104	56	10	49	46
Ro Banny . . .	2	100	50	38	15	1	23	30
Robenkeh . . .	1	100	70	50	18	2	30	40
Kitonk	1	30	15	10	6	1	5	10
	6	420	260	202	95	14	107	126

In making a contrast between the past and present, the measure of success observable should for the Lord's glory be acknowledged. Our own feeble and unassisted efforts could have effected nothing, save only as the Lord is pleased to own and bless them. Everlasting praise is therefore due to His great name. But our work done appears as nothing, when we view the great number of the people amongst whom we labour; and the mass of the surrounding population, living still in ignorance of themselves and of their need of a Saviour.

Native Teachers and Converts sustained by the Gospel in the hour of death.

In recording the removal by death of an efficient Native Teacher and of two earnest Native Converts, Mr. Boston can testify to the support and consolation derived from the promises of the Gospel in a dying hour :—

At my return from Ro Banny, I found Mr. Coker very ill. We did all we could to aid him by applying medicine. He was suffering from pain and cough, the effects of cold contracted some months ago. The next morning I found him the same. Spoke with him about the Saviour's love and preciousness. He said that his entire confidence was reposed in Him. In the evening he was evidently very weak. I asked him whether he was prepared if the Lord were pleased to call him. He said, "My heart is fixed on the Lord: I look to Him, knowing that what He says and appoints is good." Left him before bedtime, after he had received some medicine, but was soon roused up again. I went and found him declining fast, perspiring profusely and very uneasy. He could not breathe freely through the severity of the pains. I spoke with him, and the fears which I perceived he was under were calmed. He said, "Sir, I don't think I could last till 4 P.M. of the next day." I asked him whether I should read to him. "Yes," he said. "Tell me what part of Scripture you love, and would wish me to read."

He said, "John xvii." Read that beautiful chapter and made remarks, after which I engaged in prayer. He thanked me much. It was then thought advisable to take him to the doctor. The canoe being ready, preparations were made, and he was taken to Freetown and attended to; but all was in vain; he expired in the afternoon. Three years was the period of his labours in the good cause. The time he was with me, though usefully spent, was short; but such is the Master's will who has called him to his everlasting rest. The burial-service of our Church was read, by the Rev. D. G. Williams, over his mortal remains, which were committed to the grave in hope of a joyful resurrection at the last day.

Two other members of our Church were also called to their eternal home. Thomas C——, the man who delivered his idols to me three years back, suffered much from a lingering sickness. All the while he was a praying man. In his last moments he said, "I am going home to my Father." Samuel W——, also, was long tried and often tempted to make sacrifices to idols, that he might recover. "No," he said; "the Saviour's sacrifice is sufficient for me, whether I live or die." Two days before he died he said to me, "Bless God; my sins have all been forgiven—all removed. I feel Jesus near; Christ is near to me; I am near to Him also; He is in my heart."

"Too good news for one alone to hear."

The message of the Gospel, as delivered on a Mission journey, is felt by the woman who heard it to be "too good news for one alone to hear," and, like the woman of Samaria, she finds and brings others to listen to the Word of Life. The Catechist at Ro Banny thus mentions the incident:—

Had breakfast at 8 o'clock, after which we proceeded to Rowal. Found only an elderly woman and a sickly-looking girl in the town, the rest of the people having gone to their farms. I asked the woman whether she recollected seeing me there. She replied in the negative. I then told her that I had visited the people there some time ago, and taught them how to worship the true and living God, and then asked her whether she would like to be thus taught. She replied in the affirmative. I then told her about man's fallen condition, and the lovingkindness of God in sending His Son into the world to save us from the miseries to which we are subject in consequence of the fall, and that whosoever believeth on the Son of God should not perish, but have everlasting life. While I was thus speaking, she interrupted me by saying, "Stop, this is too good news for one alone to hear: I should like you to tell all the people about it. My memory," she continued, "cannot retain all that you have said, or I might tell the people when they return. Wait a little, and I shall send for them." Having acceded to her request, she sent the girl for the people, and in a short time they arrived. I spoke to them of our blessed Saviour as being the Way, the Truth, and the Life, and rehearsed all

I had said to the woman. They appeared greatly interested. Afterwards Mr. Wilson prayed in Timneh, and then we separated.

The case of another hearer of the Gospel is worthy of special notice:—

I have been cheered by the testimony borne by a heathen man to the excellency and adaptability of Christianity in raising mankind from their fallen condition, in contrast with Mohammedanism. This man had come from the interior to this place for the purpose of trade, and was invited to service by Mr. Wilson on his way thither. In reply to Mr. Wilson's invitation he said, "I was very anxious to go to church; many a time I had a mind to do so, but thought that none but Christians were permitted to enter in." Mr. Wilson then assured him that the church is opened to all, whether Christian, Mohammedan, or heathen. Upon hearing this he readily went with him. When he entered I observed that he went to a seat pointed out to him by Mr. Wilson, and sat down. He was very attentive during the time I was engaged in reading prayers, and after I had gone through the same we sang, prayed, and then I announced my text from 2 Cor. v. 17. Though unacquainted with English, in which the discourse was delivered, and, in consequence, did not understand what I was saying, yet he did not manifest the slightest indifference to it, but behaved most properly till the sermon was ended. Afterwards Mr. Wilson stepped forward and addressed him in Timneh. His attention was riveted. It was very affecting to witness the effect of the sermon upon him. At intervals he would smile at the discovery of help to be found in the Saviour; often exclaiming, "Is it so? yes, true," expressed in Timneh. His heart was full, and out of the abundance of his heart he spoke. The following were his sentiments, uttered in Timneh:—"I have heard strange things to-day; to-day I know that I am a sinner, but in Christ I have found a Saviour. I have attended the Mohammedans in their mosques for the purpose of prayer, but they said I did not understand; it was to me as the noise of many waters. Mohammedanism could not teach me what you have taught me to-day."

Sherbro.

The Rev. M. Pearce, an ordained Native, has been one year in charge. The combined influence of heathenism and Mohammedanism retards the extension of the little Christian Church, but the number of children in the school has increased, and an interest in Mission work has been shown by the contribution of 15*l.* towards the Sierra-Leone Church Missionary Association. At Bonthe, where a Native Catechist is placed, the sum of 9*l.* has been raised for the same Association.

Outbreak at Abeokuta.

In the Yoruba country a cloud has arisen to darken the sunrise within the tropics. At Abeokuta, Missionary work of the nineteenth century seemed at one time to resemble Apostolic work of the first century in success and power, and now appears to be assimilated to it in suffering and persecution. In the principal church, restored after its destruction by fire in the previous year, songs of praise and thanksgiving were raised by the Christian congregation in the Spring, and sounds of violence and destruction were uttered by heathen assailants in the Autumn. With one exception, the churches were despoiled. On the 13th of October the Missionaries were prevented by the heathen authorities from assembling the Christian converts for public worship. On a sudden the sound of the church-going bell ceased. After several weeks spent in fruitless negociations with the fickle and uncertain rulers of the place, the Missionaries retired to Lagos, awaiting the time when He, who is His own interpreter with regard to events which affect the progress of His truth, shall make plain their path, and trusting that "a great door and effectual" will yet be opened, even though the presence of "many adversaries," which characterized Apostolic labour in Ephesus, should mark their Missionary labour in Abeokuta. Without presuming to fathom all the causes which have combined to produce this sudden outburst of heathenism against the Gospel, it may be affirmed that a desire on the part of some heathen chiefs to restore the interior slave-trade, with which the presence of the Missionaries and the progress of the Gospel necessarily interfered, may be regarded as contributing to the outbreak of violence and hostility. But it must be allowed that the imperfect organization of the Native Church exposed the Mission to such an outrage; and this Abeokutan persecution seems only to express, with an emphasis which cannot be neglected, the paramount duty of developing the Native Church wherever converts, "walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Ghost" are multiplied. Even now it is chiefly in the direction of the Native Ministry that a bright outline to the dark cloud can be seen.

Causes of persecution.

At Otta, between Abeokuta and Lagos, the Native Pastor continues his ministry. Some Native Teachers have returned to their spiritual duties in Abeokuta. At Oshielle, an out-station, the Native Pastor not only remains with his people, but he admits to baptism nine candidates from Abeokuta, who urge their admission to the Christian Church when the persecution is at its height. The members of the Oshielle Church agree to spend the first half hour of every day in prayer to God for their brethren suffering for Christ's sake, and the words of the African Pastor of that Church may inspire courage in English Christians. "I look," says he, "upon the whole of the distressing affair, gloomy as it is, with hope that the present seeming extinction of the glorious light of the everlasting Gospel in Abeokuta will only be for a short season; because the Lord has, as it were, kept a little ray of the Gospel light still burning here in a corner of the land, to show that He has not wholly given up Abeokuta."

African Pastor's hope amid these troubles.

In forming an estimate of these events, it is necessary, as far as the community is concerned, to "look to the rock whence they have been hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence they have been digged." The Christian Church in Abeokuta arose amid a mass of heathenism which has differed little from the ferocious and savage barbarism of surrounding countries. A recent visit to one of these countries, Dahomey, will at once reveal the horrors of African existence unblessed by the Gospel. In March 1862, Doherty, a Christian Teacher at Ishagga, was carried away as a captive by the King of Dahomey. His son, accompanied by an European merchant, commissioned for the service by the Lagos Government, visited the Dahomey territory early in 1867, for the purpose of obtaining the release of his father. After much delay, the King was induced to liberate the captive, whose life had been preserved in the midst of the most horrible murders constantly perpetrated under the directions of the King. During the visit the shedding of human blood, termed, in the language of the country, "the sprinkling of water," was of daily occurrence. Human heads were at a moment's notice procured to ornament mounds of sand at the entrance of the King's gate, the blood being sprinkled around as if to prevent the rising of dust. The King frequently requested the captive Christian Teacher to read portions of the Yoruba Scriptures, and at length determined that he should be slain in a manner that indicated a strange mixture of superstitious credulity and savage cruelty. The directions were that the captive should hold in one hand a portion of Scripture, and in the other a lamp, in order that he might carry to the late King the message of the Christian's God, and might have the advantage of light for himself, if the pathway were found dark and difficult. A mistake made by the executioner caused the death of another instead of the intended victim.

Cruelties practised in the Dahomey country.

Christians, communicants, and contributions at Ibadan.

Ibadan has been urged to imitate the example of Abeokuta, but has responded by assuring the Missionary of protection and peace. There are more than 200 Native Christians, of whom nearly 100 are communicants. In June, the intelligence of the Society's financial difficulties reached this infant Church, and before December they had raised, by a method similar to that of Missionary boxes, the sum of 15*l.*, expressing the desire that, for the present year, the contributions might be given for the relief of the Society, and next year be paid to a Native-Pastorate Fund.

LAGOS.

Character of the people an obstacle to progress.

The character of the people at this place is stated by the Rev. J. A. Lamb to be a serious obstacle to spiritual progress. Amid much to discourage, however, he can record some gracious encouragements, and therefore, though sometimes cast down, he is not in despair. There are nearly 100 Native communicants in his congregation, and a mixed school for boys and girls contains about 120 scholars.

The Rev. L. Nicholson being compelled to visit England, the Bread-fruit station has, since April, been under the care of the Rev. A. Mann, who has been enabled satisfactorily to continue the work, assisted by the Rev. T. B. Macaulay, Native

Minister. At the Yoruba morning service there are usually about 300 adults and 150 children; and at the afternoon service 120 adults and 130 children. At the day school there are 220 children in daily attendance. Mr. Mann has, amid many difficulties, advanced the work at the Palm Chapel, the progress of which Bishop Crowther thus narrated when recently visiting the Governor of Lagos:—

Attendance at Church and School.

First Mr. Mann had only a piazza; then he saw an empty, half-finished house: he took it up, but had no school, no congregation. He then began with three children, then were two added, then another, then another, and he had only five, seven being his congregation. Then the school increased; he got a site from the Governor; and now he has a place in a very good situation, a school containing seventy or eighty children, and a good congregation. God gave one after the other, and, finally, money to erect a temporary church.

Badagry.

After many years of anxious labour, the Native Catechist, Mr. S. Pearse, finds the fruits of past exertion an inducement to future effort. The Rev. A. Mann visited the place in September, and the Lord's Supper was administered to twenty communicants. There were also on that occasion ten baptisms, six of the candidates being adults.

The conversion of a young Mohammedan is briefly noticed by Mr. Pearse:—

Conversion of a young Mohammedan.

I may mention a young Mohammedan, Sule by name, formerly of a farm village of Porto Novo, who, in a short time after his escape to this place for protection, heartily joined us, and abandoned his former faith. He is now reading the Yoruba Testament. He is between twenty-five and thirty years of age, and is not ashamed to stand or sit among the children at the day school in order to learn to read and write. He once remarked to me, "I had formerly thought there must be a better mode of worshipping God, for the Mohammedans scarcely understand what it is to love one another." He had sold his Mussulman books, or rather pamphlets, before I was aware of it, and when I bought him a Yoruba Testament, at his request and expense, he was very glad and thankful.

Otta.

The work of the Native Minister in charge of this place, the Rev. James White, has been in some measure interrupted by the death of his wife, and by the disturbing influences of the outbreak at Abeokuta. Otta being situated between that place and Lagos, there arose a division of feeling among the inhabitants, which caused difficulty to the Native Pastor. The services have, however, been well attended by the Native

Embarrassment from the outbreak at Abeokuta.

Christians, and some of the heathen have also frequented the house of God. The Gospel has been preached in the streets, the public places of concourse, and in the homes of the people. The little Christian community is about eighty in number, of whom one half are communicants. As an indication of the progress made in civilization, it may be stated that 10,000 bricks have been made by converts of Otta. Two years ago they were quite ignorant of brickmaking, and then accompanied Bishop Crowther to Lagos for the purpose of learning the process.

Progress in civilization.

ABEOKUTA.

The church of Ake, rebuilt after destruction last year by fire, was again opened for public worship on the 24th of March. A Native Teacher thus adverts to the opening service, little anticipating, at the time he penned the description, how soon it would be despoiled by an outbreak of popular violence:—

Happy day! To-day the large church which was destroyed by fire last year was re-opened. It was crowded by people from the different Churches in Abeokuta. The service was opened with one of the hymns translated for the occasion, and was conducted by the Rev. H. Townsend. He preached from Psalm xxxiv. 1. I am unable to describe my joy and feeling when seeing how the people and children heartily and willingly empty their bags and other small things, in which the cowries brought were contained, on the ground floor at the entrance, while singing was going on, as thankofferings for the restoration of the church. The contributions continued several weeks by those who were not present when it was opened. Many thanks are due to all kind friends who have been very liberal in contributing to the restoration of the church.

Native Pastor able to remain at his post.

Violence similar to that exhibited at Abeokuta was expected at this place, but the wrath of man was restrained, and the Rev. W. Moore, the Native Pastor, has been enabled to remain in his sphere of spiritual duty. Prior to the outbreak in Abeokuta an accidental fire had destroyed Mr. Moore's house at Oshielle, while he was attending a Prayer-meeting at the former place. The Native Christians are 130 or 140, of whom 56 are communicants. During the year there have been 19 baptisms. Mr. Moore asks the prayers of the friends of Missions in these evil days, and refers at the same time to the arrangements for prayer among his own people:—

I earnestly request that the friends of Missions will bring the present state of the Abeokuta Mission before the Lord always at the throne of grace, that He may not forsake the place, but that it may please Him to grant repentance unto the inhabitants. My people, the converts here, have made it a rule since the outbreak to spend half an hour every morning in prayer to God that it may please Him to overrule for good the present trial which has befallen Abeokuta.

IBADAN.

The Rev. D. and Mrs. Hinderer have been able to resume their work at Ibadan in recruited health. For a time it was found necessary to expend much labour in the repair of buildings required for the efficiency of the Mission. The Native Agents and members of the Church heartily rendered assistance, and afterwards, with not less diligence, commenced the "street and farm preaching," which is systematically and effectively conducted in and around Ibadan. The feudal system which prevails must be regarded as a bulwark defensive of error, and hence "Ibadan as a Mission-field is still a hard ground, and must yet be softened by many prayers." The Native Christians exceed 220 in number, and there are more than 90 communicants. During the year 22 adults have been baptized. The appended quotation from Mr. Hinderer's review of the year shows the readiness of the Christians to contribute to the support of their spiritual teachers, and their desire, in the first instance, to assist in relieving the pecuniary pressure on the funds of the Society:—

"Hard ground, to be softened by prayer."

Preliminary arrangements for Native Pastorate.

I have been trying to pave the way for Native Pastors to take our places, if possible, at no distant future time; namely, by bringing the subject before the converts, and asking them to make a beginning of pecuniary aid. For this purpose I called them together on the first Monday in June, for a Missionary Meeting without a contribution, my object being to explain to them their future duty and privilege of helping to spread, and, in the first place, to maintain, the teaching of the Gospel among themselves. To this end I proposed a Missionary Meeting the first Monday of the month in every quarter, to hear Missionary news from every part of the world, to stir up their own hearts for the work of doing and giving as well as receiving. I also proposed that each one should have a bag called the Apo Oluwa (a bag for the Lord), into which they might drop smaller or larger sums of cowries from time to time, all the year round, as they were able to afford it, giving them a few hints, as to thank-offerings on certain occasions, giving the tenth of produce or earnings, &c.; the money then to be collected before, and accounted for at, the last quarterly meeting of the year. This meeting we had last Monday, December 2nd, and the result was very satisfactory, considering the short time since June, as well as the fact that many of the adults had not yet got into the way of keeping an Apo Oluwa. The children did best in this respect, and some of their bags have had with them some pleasant features; and no doubt the children's success with their bags will excite the adults to a wholesome emulation, so that next year we shall do a great deal better than this; but, as a beginning, we think we may consider it a success, especially as we have mostly poor people, our richest being small farmers. The total amount from the natives was 15*l.* 5*s.* 7*d.*, to which we added 5*l.*, making a total of 20*l.* 5*s.* 7*d.* The financial difficulties of the Society were also brought before the meeting, upon which they agreed that they would like the money to be sent as a contribution to the Society this year, with earnest prayers for their future blessing and success, and begin with the Pastorate Fund next year. Thus far the year ends well also as to the outward conduct of our people. However, we do keep strict discipline in the Church: it is needful, even for the sake of the heathen. But we have also a few very sickly sheep. But most of all have we to pray for an increase,—an enlarging of the Church; and may it be given to many a faithful Christian with us to pray that the Ibadan ice may break at last, if I may use such a term in this melting country.

NIGER MISSION.

Onitsha, 1857; Akassa, 1861; Lokoja, 1865; Bonny, 1866.

Conducted by Native Teachers, under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop Crowther.

Bishop Crowther seized by a lawless chief.

THE dark clouds of Abeokuta have extended to the Niger. Condensed from popular violence into personal villany, they have burst, but harmlessly, over the head of Bishop Crowther. Last year the Bishop was received as an honoured visitor by the friendly King of Idda: this year he was captured as a valuable prize by a lawless chief. The ascent of the Niger had been accomplished in safety on the steamer, and the Bishop had returned from the Confluence at Lokoja to Idda in his own open boat. Ascending again to the Confluence, he learned that a chief whom he had known during twenty years was encamped on the bank of the river. He landed to exchange friendly salutations, and suddenly found himself the captive of the chief to whom he desired to show respect. A large ransom was demanded; but when intelligence of the capture reached the Confluence, Europeans and Natives united in the determination to rescue rather than ransom the Bishop, who had so completely secured their affection and esteem. They immediately descended the river, landed where the Bishop was detained a captive, and endeavoured by remonstrances to obtain his release. Finding the chief inexorable, they withdrew with the Bishop to the vessel, defending themselves like Parthians as they retreated. An arrow from a native bow wounded the Vice-Consul of Lokoja, who had bravely undertaken the rescue, and the wound proved mortal as the vessel cast anchor at the Confluence. In descending the Niger the Bishop prudently abandoned the Idda station, the King of that place not having promised protection to the Missionary.

Rescued the Vice-Consul of Lokoja and others.

But, as in Abeokuta, there is a bright as well as a dark aspect of affairs. At Akassa a sacred grove has been obtained as a site for Mission premises. The acquisition of such a grove for such a purpose has hitherto been regarded as an impossibility. At Onitsha, Christian converts and Christians in Sierra Leone have united with Europeans in the erection of a substantial chapel, larger than the one which had become dilapidated, but not too large for the increasing congregation. At Lokoja, where tongues as well as waters meet, the Gospel is preached in the Haussa, Nupe, Igbira and English. Hither the German traveller Rohlfs recently repaired, as to a sanctuary, having started from Tripoli in 1865, and having from that time wandered in Central Africa. Here he was astonished at the sight of the civilization which the Gospel had produced; and here, had he arrived at an earlier date, he might have seen the Christians at Lokoja united with the Christians of the whole world in the observance of a week of prayer at the commencement of the year.

United prayer.

Bishop Crowther, in the retrospect of the calamities which, both in the Yoruba and Niger Missions, have impeded, perplexed and embarrassed those who are earnestly seeking the spiritual and temporal welfare of the African race, is solemnly impressed by the number and magnitude of adverse events crowded within the year. The Bishop's own language when recounting and reflecting upon these events may be given:—

Bishop Crowther's retrospect of the year.

In taking a retrospective view of the past year, we see throughout it a mysterious hand of Providence upon Africa, the movements of which we cannot understand. In the midst of apparently encouraging success to persevere in pushing forward the long made arduous efforts to explore the continent, to discover its internal facilities and resources, with the two-fold noble object in view of introducing legitimate trade in the place of traffic in a fellow man, and of planting Christianity with its attendant blessings in the room of heathenish superstition and its numberless accompanying evils, a gloom is permitted to be cast over the face of these laudable attempts, as if Africa were doomed to perpetual isolation, and to be barred out from intercourse with the civilized world; as if she were bent upon self-destruction and everlasting debasement, through the abominable slave-trade, by acting through ignorance in direct opposition to the best wishes and pious and benevolent labours of her best friends.

The sudden attacks by the Abeokutans upon the stations of the Church, the Wesleyan, and the Baptist Missionary Societies in that promising field of labour which had been occupied for upwards of twenty-one years, must be regarded as painful circumstances to which flesh and blood are very reluctant to yield.

These dark clouds extended to the Niger Mission also. On her annual visit up the Niger this year, H. M. ship "Investigator" was barbarously attacked by the natives of the Delta, unprovoked, when some men were killed and injured, and damage done to the ship.

When, humanly speaking, our hearts were glowing with gratitude and praise to the God of Missions for the apparent favour He had given us, and the access we had obtained to the heart of the King of Idda, which prompted us to project new and salutary plans for further good results both spiritual and temporal, as well for the good of the King as for his subjects, most unexpectedly, not only were our projected plans thwarted, by myself and my son being treacherously captured by a covetous, rebellious chief, but the loss of a most valuable European life was occasioned, and the abandonment of the promising Idda station followed as a consequence.

All these events are against Africa's improvement and advancement, and occurred one after the other during this year. Had we been left to reflect upon these reverses alone, and nothing else, to show us that, though these things were permitted to take place, yet they might be for some wise purposes unknown to us, but which our gracious God will unfold in His own good time, we might be cast down and be in despair. But we have been instructed to stand upon our watch-tower, and wait to see and hear what the Lord will say unto us, and what we shall answer when we are reproved.

These things might have been permitted to happen, perhaps to convince the surrounding tribes of the worth and value of those whom others had so barbarously dealt with, and thus be led to value the like privileges when extended to themselves, and a more careful attention to those who desire to do them good.

Perhaps such occurrences may be a rebuke to us that we have not made use of such adequate means as were in our power to accomplish the object undertaken, and that redoubled efforts should be made to meet the nature of the work taken in hand.

Akassa.

Decadence of superstition.

The decadence of superstition at this place, and the desire to receive the Christian Missionary are noted by Bishop Crowther, who has succeeded in obtaining an idolatrous grove for the site of a Mission house. The transfer of the property is mentioned by him:—

I have succeeded in obtaining the purchase of one of the sacred groves here to remove and build the Mission house upon. Some years back the Natives would not think of selling it for any price, although I had asked for it then, it being a much better place; but now they unanimously voted its being sold to me, with an adjacent piece of land, for 15*l.* only; and they are very indifferent as to the place to which the gods may be removed. This is a sign of a noise and a shaking among the dry bones.

Brass River.

Conference between the Native Bishop and heathen chiefs.

The description given of the arrangement between a Native Bishop and heathen chiefs for the establishment of a Mission resembles the accounts of similar agreements when the early Bishops of the Church advanced into the heathen countries of Europe. Bishop Crowther thus states the details of his intercourse with the heathen authorities of Brass River:—

The urgent applications of this people have compelled me to take steps to begin to do something for them, though without any certain prospect of getting any one to station here at present. My present object is first to enter into a good understanding and a definite arrangement between me and the chiefs; to secure a proper locality; to order the cutting of building materials; in the meanwhile I shall be on the look out for s suitable person to locate here, trusting that the God of Missions will provide us with such an one. Mr. Lyons, Agent of the Company of African merchants, was kind enough to send his boat to Akassa, in charge of Mr. Hook, to convey me to Brass River. Ere we rounded Point Trotter, we found the canoe of Orkiya, one of the senior chiefs of Brass, at anchor: he was going to Akassa on some business, waiting the return of the tide. Orkiya hailed us to come alongside, which we did. On seeing me in the boat, he came in, and said he had been very anxious to see me about the establishment of a Mission at Brass River. I told him I was going there for that purpose. He was very glad, and promised to be back in the course of two days to meet me there. I visited the principal chiefs of Tuon village, to prepare them against the return of Orkiya, to give them time for a mature consideration of my proposed arrangements. Orkiya returned, according to promise. The site was selected, and the agreement drawn and signed between me and Orkiya, who has given land for the use of the Mission, and promised to clear it of trees and roots, and agreed to bear one-third share (100*l.*) of the estimate of 300*l.* to put up the necessary buildings, and I agreed to bear the remaining share (200*l.*). Similar agreement as to the Bonny school fees of 2*l.* a year, or 3*l.* for an advanced class, was agreed upon and signed also by King Orkiya and seven of his chiefs.

Details o arrange-ments.

Mr. Lyons has rendered me great service in arranging with King Orkiya: his suggestions in many things were valuable to prevent any misunderstanding and unpleasantness hereafter. He has readily offered his help in getting up the establishment as much as lies in his power. Thus the Lord has opened another door of usefulness to us in the Bight of Biafra. Though the people of Idda are not ready to receive the seed sown, yet the people of Brass seem to be white already for harvest. King Orkiya has anticipated me in his wishes to establish a Mission station among them.

Onitsha.

A destructive fire has occurred at this station, and among the property burnt was the house of the Native Pastor, the Rev. J. C. Taylor, who was at the time visiting Sierra Leone for the purpose of renewing his health and energy. Before his return to the Niger, Christian converts and heathen chiefs had, by their united efforts, so far restored the building that Mr. Taylor was able to inhabit it on his arrival. Europeans at Lokoja, including the lamented Vice-Consul, Mr. Fell, whose life was sacrificed in rescuing Bishop Crowther, contributed towards the restoration of the property destroyed by fire, and a general sympathy with the Mission work was thus shown by Europeans, converts, and the heathen.

Mission buildings restored by Christian converts and heathen chiefs.

Bishop Crowther furnishes some details of this calamity:—

I am thankful to record manifold mercies of the Lord towards us during the past year. Though the agents in the Mission have had to pass through many trials and difficulties common to Missionary life, yet the Lord has upheld them through all, and has continued to encourage them in their work, by enabling us to gather an increased number of heathen as attendants on the means of grace.

The leading of God's providence has been very singular in the steps taken to extend our operations among the people.

Two years ago, when Lokoja and Idda stations had just been taken up, and our Missionary force was divided between them, a civil war broke out soon after at Gbebe, which destroyed it, with the Mission premises at that place, and the Mission agents then found shelter at Lokoja and Idda.

Occupation of new out-stations.

Two out-stations have been occupied during the year,—Obori and Odojari. The former is about a mile to the south-east of Onitsha, and contains a population of 500; the latter is near the King's gate. A congregation of 50 or 60 persons assembles at each place. At the Onitsha church the congregation has varied from 150 to 190 persons.

Last year two out-stations were commenced at Obori and Odojari, the two extreme ends of the town, each about a mile distant from the central station. No sooner had the two agents removed into them, with their families, than an accidental fire took place at the central station, from a neighbouring grass-field set on fire by some careless person, which communicated to and burnt the old and new Mission houses, with all the private property and furniture in them. The houseless inmates found shelter in the new out-stations of Obori and Odojari. But for these stations, of which the teachers took advantage, they would have been exposed to great inconvenience before shelter could be provided; but I am thankful to say the store containing the Mission property at the Industrial department was saved through the exertions of all present, and of Iyasexe, the head chief, though the store took fire three times. The mud walls of the iron-roof store were not then completed, but the store is now secure from fire.

Of the sufferers from this fire, Mr. Taylor's losses were heavy. The house not being ceiled, as he was not experienced in that mode of building, all he left in it on his visit to Sierra Leone was totally consumed, except the church harmonium, which was rescued from the flame partly burnt. A large portion of his books, being in the study at the Industrial buildings, were also saved.

The church escaped the ravages of the fire; but, being both dilapidated and too small for the increasing congregation, it is proposed that a new church be built. On this subject Bishop Crowther remarks:—

Larger church required.

The necessity for a new and substantial church is not only now felt, from the frail and dilapidated state of the old temporary one, but a larger place of worship is also required, from the fact that the place has become too strait to contain the increasing congregation on the Lord's-day. Our Christian friends at Lagos have laid the foundation of a liberal and substantial contribution towards this church, which was added to by some kind friends in Sierra Leone.

After vividly depicting some of the horrible cruelties of heathenism, a Native Teacher thus appeals for additional labourers:—

A Native Teacher's appeal.

Men of God, assist us, and slack not in the lifting up of holy hands, so that the Lord of the harvest may influence the hearts of His people in Christian lands to offer themselves willing labourers in His vineyard.

Some impression of the darkness and cruelty of heathenism may be gathered from the description of a human sacrifice furnished by one of the Native Teachers at this place:—

Cruelty of heathenism.

I have been trying to rescue a woman bought by a man, in order to make human sacrifice of her towards the burial of his mother, but I could not succeed. We were opposed more particularly by the King, who said to us, when we went to see him on the following morning, that if he hindered others what would he himself do when it came round to him? I asked, "What can that profit him?" He said, "It is the tradition of their fathers, and it is absurd for him to deviate from it." I answered, "Yes, it may be so; but remember that it was never said to your fathers what we are now telling you, that 'Thou shalt do no murder;' and, 'Whosoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed.'" On hearing these words he evaded the subject, and left it with an angry countenance. In the evening I heard, to my sorrow, that this poor woman was made a victim by beating her to death with a pestle. O Christians, when shall we who are among the heathen cease to insert in our journals this horrible account of bloodshedding, and no longer give you restless nights and dejected minds?

Lokoja.

War and pestilence have affected the preaching of the Gospel and the work of the Mission school; but amid these trials the Native Minister, the Rev. T. C. John, has been encouraged by some accessions from the heathen to his little Christian flock. Adults, as well as children, attend the Sunday school, which has often been crowded. A youth brought from Ruka, in the Bornu country, was presented by Mr. Rohlfs, the German traveller, for baptism. Mr. John's language in reference to this visit may be quoted:—

By request, I baptized on this day (March 31, 1867) the youth whom a European traveller of the Lutheran Church had brought here with him from Bornu. This great traveller had been from place to place since the year 1865, in Central Africa, starting from Tripoli; and in the course of his travels he at length found himself in Adamawa, where he heard that there were Europeans living on the junction of the Rivers Quarra and Tshadda, at a settlement called Lokoja, which was also a Church Missionary station. On the receipt of this news the drooping spirit of the traveller began to revive, and, as he himself said, he would have gone further on in his travels but for the want of coffee and quinine; and knowing that Europeans always had these necessary things in Africa, he at once made up his mind for Lokoja, where he arrived on the 28th (March). The inhabitants were all glad to see him, and the majority of them mistook him for the Consul, who it had been reported would come here from Lagos by the overland route. On landing he was cordially welcomed by Mr. Fell, who made him his guest. The settlement seemed to the traveller as being not in Africa, surrounded by what, comparatively speaking, he called the comfort of home. "Who would have thought," said he, "that Europeans were in such a place as this; and also a Church Missionary station? How important is such a place!" Such were the feelings of the hitherto dejected traveller. It was indeed a remarkable providence that had directed his steps to this place, and this not only with regard to himself personally, but also the new settlement and the Mission work, and especially to the youth who on this day was admitted into the Church of Christ by the ordinance of baptism in his own country, and who, it is hoped, will be properly trained up in Europe, so that he may be useful on his return to his country. The prayers of Christians are requested in behalf of this promising Kanuri youth.

The superstitious ignorance of the people induces them to resort to trial by ordeal for the purpose of discovering the perpetrators of crime. A robbery having been committed, the customary mode of trial was adopted. The description calls to mind the ordeal through which Queen Emma passed in Winchester cathedral:—

Example of trial by ordeal.

This ordeal was tried upon several parties concerned in the robbery committed at the Consulate. It is done in this manner:— A country pot is bored through on the sides so as to admit of a man's arm from one end to the other; a fire is kindled in it as hot as it can be made, then an axe or a hoe is held on the opposite side of the person suspected to have committed the crime, and which hoe or axe, as the case may be, he is to receive from the party holding it out to him on the opposite side of the pot, through the fire: his arm is said to be besmeared with a slimy matter before it is thrust through the fire. If, in thrusting his hand through the fire to receive the axe or hoe from the man on the opposite side of him, no injury is done to his arm, then he is acquitted of the crime with which he has been charged; but if, on the contrary, he shrinks at the sight of the red-hot fire in the pot, and so declines thrusting his hand through it, or if, in thrusting his hand, it is burnt by fire, then he is convicted of the crime laid to his charge.

The attendance at church of the people dwelling in the Igbira town not having been satisfactory, the minister visited them, and urged greater diligence in the use of the means of grace. His expostulations, and the disposition of the people, may be gathered from his account of the interview:—

After the service I asked them all to sit down, and then brought again before them the subject of attending service at a house set apart altogether for the worship of God. They then and there conferred with one another, and came to the conclusion that they would undertake to erect their own place of worship, if only I would visit them every Sunday. To this I readily agreed, telling them at the same time, that although they thought now that my chapel was distant, yet the time is coming, in the providence of God, when they would wish to attend the worship of God in his house, even if it were five miles distant from their abode. At the same time I assured them that if they would only give me a hearing, I for my part would most certainly preach to them, "for therefore am I sent." I moreover pointed out to them Mount Patty, at the foot of which they live, and said, "You see that hill; if it does not come to you, you can go to it; so if you will not come to me, I will go to you." They all said, "True." Then came the subject of children: five of them had from the commencement of our school been given to attend it, but during the past year two of these were removed to a distant village, and only three remain. I asked them whether I could not get more than three to attend school, and I said I required the whole of their children to go to school, for I had taken the precaution to have the children attend the service, of whom I had seen about twelve fit to attend school. They all agreed then to send me some more children, and at the same time thanked me for my patience with them, saying that it was then only they began to hear those things; that their fathers and grandfathers never heard them or told those things to them.

Lokoja station is becoming a centre and nucleus of the settlers and the surrounding tribes, where many languages are spoken, but the Haussa takes the lead as the medium of communication and school education, with the English: the Nupe and Igbira languages are also retained.

A small preaching-place was in course of erection last October by Salamalaku, a chief of the Bunu tribe, at one end of the settlement, for the use of his people who do not understand the Haussa language used at the Mission chapel, and he promised that it should be ready for service the following Lord's-day.

MEDITERRANEAN MISSION.

(Commenced at Malta in 1815.)

I. Turkish Mission.—II. Greece.—III. Asia Minor.—IV. Palestine.

CONSTANTINOPLE.

First occupied, 1819; relinquished, 1821; re-occupied, 1858.

European Mission Establishment:

Difficulties arising from Turkish bigotry.

ALTHOUGH greatly retarded by the opposition of Turkish fanaticism, yet the work has, during the past year, slightly advanced in the Mediterranean Mission. Restricted toleration rather than religious liberty exists. Many Turks would inquire concerning Christianity, did they not dread the severe persecution which would immediately attend such inquiry. A Mohammedan of some influence is seeking instruction from the Missionaries with a view to Christian baptism, and the difficulties of such inquirers may be estimated from the following statement:—

Belief in the Gospel not avowed for fear of persecution.

An intelligent and extensively read person lately came to our rooms, as he has often done for some years, and in conversation said to me, "You know that I have quite thrown Mohammedanism overboard, and I believe in Christ and in Christianity even as you do, but I depend on the pension from the Turkish Government for myself, wife and children, and I know that as soon as I openly profess Christianity this pension, which forms my whole income, will be discontinued. Is it not possible to become a Christian, and keep the matter secret from the Turks? Or can you show me how I might gain my living as a Christian?" Such men really risk and lose a great deal by embracing Christianity; and we can hold out nothing to them but the sure and precious promises which the Lord has given those who forsake all things for Him and the Gospel.

Death of an old convert.

One of Dr. Pfander's oldest converts died last summer in the Christian faith. He had made himself useful as a teacher and translator of Turkish, and, when suffering under a disease which ultimately proved fatal, he continued to assist in the translation of the Psalms.

The work of the Native Catechist of Constantinople, as now described, justifies the assertion that the Turks are more inclined to listen to the Gospel than the authorities are disposed to tolerate it:—

The Catechist driven from Constantinople

Our active Catechist has continued, as formerly, to seek to draw the attention of his countrymen in the capital to the only way of salvation by Jesus Christ. Sometimes he succeeded, but, on the whole, he found it very difficult to gain access to them. After having had several opportunities in a respectable café, frequented by officers of the army and other gentlemen in Government employ, of conversing with persons who happened to sit near him, the owner of the rooms, who was favourable to his object, was peremptorily requested either to forbid him coming again, or to prevent his introducing the subject of religion. His opportunities being so rare in the capital, we all the more readily agreed to his visiting the Kurds of Asia Minor, in the neighbourhood of Siwas and Egin, they having sent an express invitation for him by name, and he declaring that he felt a strong and almost irresistible desire to comply with their request.

Tour in Albania and Western Turkey.

A Missionary tour in Albania and Western Turkey had been arranged by the lamented Dr. Pfander and Dr. Koelle, but was prevented by the unexpected death of the former. During the present year Dr. Koelle, accompanied by Dr. Thomson, the Agent of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Turkey, has completed the intended tour. Amply supplied with copies of Scripture in the languages understood by the different races visited, and with a tract in Turkish entitled, "The Life of Christ," recently printed in Constantinople at the expense of the Religious Tract Society, they spent two months in this exploratory Mission journey, passing through Yanina, Argyrocastro, Berat (the ancient Antipatria), Elbassan, Ak Hissar, and Scutari in their route. In the early part of the tour their luggage was examined by a negro, who was as delighted as surprised when addressed by Dr. Koelle in Bornu. The meeting between this native of Africa and Dr. Koelle, who was formerly a Missionary in Sierra Leone, aptly illustrates the ramifications of the Society's work. Throughout the whole journey, the travellers were well received. Discussions were held with learned Mohammedans, interviews were obtained with the local authorities, and communications opened with the Greek Christians. Western infidelity, derived chiefly from French publications, appears to have recently affected the upper classes of the Moslem population, and Islam does not seem to possess the same influence over its European as over its Asiatic adherents. A consciousness of this tendency has induced the Turkish authorities to endeavour, by the establishment of schools and the erection of mosques, to revive the Mohammedan faith in Western Turkey. It is remarkable, that in some of the places visited the Scriptures were purchased by the Moslem and refused by the Christians.

A visit to one of the churches in the early morning is mentioned:—

In a country like Albania, where Christianity has long been oppressed and held in contempt, and where a majority of the population have purchased the prestige of a dominant faith by forsaking the religion of Christ, those who, in spite of the persecution and oppression of centuries, still hold to the profession of a crucified Saviour, must enlist our special interest and sympathy, however strongly we may feel and regret errors of doctrine and practice into which they may have fallen. To give expression to these feelings, we attended their public service, where we found a crowded congregation of men and boys as early as five o'clock in the morning, the women being out of sight in latticed galleries. The touching petition of "Kyrie eleison!" was frequently repeated during the service, which culminated in the Holy Communion, administered to the little children as well as to the adults. There was no sermon after the service, and the whole was conducted in the ancient Greek language, which is greatly to be regretted, as it is unintelligible to most Albanians. After service we were again invited to the Bishop's rooms, where we had another opportunity of speaking with some priests and other people, expressing both our sympathy and our objections. It was highly pleasing to us, in passing through the bazaar, to find all the shops of the Christians closed throughout Sunday, a fact we also noticed in the other towns through which we passed; and my Scotch companion confessed that the sight really reminded him of his own favoured land.

A discussion on man's future state and on the comparative merits of the Mosaic, the Christian, and the Mohammedan economy, was thus conducted:—

Discussion with a learned Mohammedan.

"Will you tell me," said the learned Mohammedan, "what the Gospel teaches concerning man's future after death?" I opened Matthew xxv., asking him to read the close of the chapter, which he did slowly and thoughtfully, acknowledging it to be an answer to his question. "But," said he, "this is not all: I will show you what all the three books teach on the subject." He then took up one of the smoky Arabic volumes lying on one end of his sofa, with the title "Netaig' ul funūn" (i.e. the ends of the sciences), and read a passage from it, to the effect that, according to the teaching of the Torah, those who believe in it will be in paradise for 15,000 years as mere souls, and then be converted into angels, whilst the unbelieving souls will be for 15,000 years in torment, and then be converted into devils; according to the teaching of the Gospel, those who believe in it will be raised at once as angels to enter paradise, whilst the unbelievers will be raised as devils to enter hell; but that, according to the teaching of the noble-ranking Koran, those who believe in it will rise with body and soul, in the same state in which man was originally created, and thus enter paradise, whilst the unbelievers will go into fire, likewise with soul and body. Another passage of the same book characterized the supposed three stages of divine revelation, as respectively represented by Moses, Christ, and Mohammed, in the following manner:—the Mosaic dispensation is eminently practical, every thing in it referring to deeds and practices; the Christian dispensation is pre-eminently spiritual, corresponding to the purely spiritual nature of Christ, He being born without father, by the breath of the Holy Spirit, so that every thing in Christianity aims at inward aspirations and principles, rather than outward actions; and the Mohammedan dispensation is both practical and spiritual, and consequently perfect, having been ushered in by "the seal of the prophets." In replying, I could truly acknowledge that what had been read to me was beautifully expressed, but had to assert that it did not agree with facts, since Christ, of whom we read that the Word was made "flesh," was not such a purely spiritual being, and I felt entitled to claim for Christianity a symmetrical union of the spiritual and the practical. But his confidence in his Arabic author was not to be easily shaken: nevertheless we parted with mutual good will, and a cordial invitation on his part to visit him again as often as time permitted.

On another occasion the arguments for the Gospel and the Koran are urged respectively by the Missionary and the Mufti:—

Arguments concerning the Gospel and the Koran.

I called on the Mufti, whom I found in the college where he is wont to spend the day; and there, surrounded by several professors and students, we conversed for more than an hour in a friendly manner, many questions being asked and answered concerning the Gospel. At last they also asked whether I had read the Koran; and when I answered in the affirmative, they again inquired, "Then why did you not become a believer?" To this I replied frankly, "Because I was not convinced of the Koran being a higher revelation than what we possess already in the Gospel." They then wished to know my reasons why I thought it was not a higher revelation. I rejoined, that as the tree is known by the fruit, so also, if the Koran were a higher revelation than the Gospel, the effects of Islam in Mohammedan countries would have to approve themselves as better and nobler than the fruits of Christianity in Christian countries. Upon this they said, "Then you do not think the state of the Moslem countries better than that of your own?" And when I said in reply, that whoever knew and compared the Mohammedan East with the Christian West could hardly come to such a conclusion, they smiled at each other, talking in Albanian what I interpreted to mean, "Perhaps he is, after all, not quite mistaken on this latter point." But lest I should be left triumphant on the field, they said to me in Turkish, "The state of society is one thing, and religion is quite another thing."

Arrived in safety at the end of his Missionary journey, Dr. Koelle briefly mentions the disposition of the people, and records a prayer for a blessing on the good seed of the Word sown in their hearts:—

Banyalaka was the pleasant terminus of this first Missionary tour among the Mohammedans in these western parts of Turkey, whom I found throughout more civil, and better disposed to enter on religious conversation than I had anticipated. May all the words spoken in love, and all the Scriptures of truth put in circulation, prove so many germinating seed-corns, to yield fruit for the harvest of eternity, to the glory of our triune Jehovah!

Nearly 200 girls, whose parents belong to the Greek Church, have received instruction in schools under the care of the Rev. F. A. Hildner. More than 6000 children have been educated in these schools since they were opened in the year 1830. The examinations, attended by some members of the School Commission, were satisfactory, and, in connexion with the school arrangements, 500 copies of Scripture or Christian tracts have been sold.

to the labourers in this part of the Mission-field. The obstacles in the way of access to the Turks, and the opposition in the shape of hostile authority, remain unchanged. Gloom, therefore, has been cast over the scene of labour, but it is not untouched with rays of light and hope. Scriptures and religious tracts circulated among the people produce inquiry concerning the truths of the Gospel, both among Turks and Greeks. The Rev. J. T. Wolters, who has now completed thirty years in the Society's service, thus speaks of the circulation of Scriptures and tracts:—

The night is dark and long, but it will be succeeded by a day of grace sooner or later. In spite of all the opposition of fanatical Mohammedan rulers, and so-called Christian hierarchs and people, the truth has made progress in this land, and is making progress.

Opportunities of making known the Gospel to individuals are never wanting here and in the country around. Since my arrival from Europe I have visited Cassaba. Our faithful agent, Mr. Montesanto's evangelistic labours are very interesting, and his influence is good and hopeful in that dark place. The circulation of God's Holy Word, and of Christian books and tracts (as long as they are not directly controversial), is still permitted in Turkey. Our public book-store in the bazaar of Smyrna is working well. The copies of Holy Scriptures and books and tracts issued from it are going forth among the people, with our earnest prayers that they may be blessed by the Lord to convince sinners of the error of their way. In our Mission Chapel, too, we may proclaim, though to small numbers only, the glad tidings of salvation.

Distribution of the Scriptures.

A few words from the son of Mr. Wolters, who is associated with his father in the work of the Gospel, will show the extent of Scripture distribution by the satisfactory process of sale:—

In the book-shop, Scriptures have been offered for sale as usual; and though there is a general stagnation in business, and men think twice before they open their purses, we have been able to sell Scriptures which have realized about 30*l*.

In the summer, Mr. Wolters, sen., visited his native country, Prussia, after having devoted twenty-one years without interruption to Missionary work. He adverts to the spiritual refreshment obtained during the visit, and to the spiritual dedication proposed on his return:—

The change has done us good. Our health has not only been preserved, but also improved. But in an especial manner it has done our souls good to be refreshed and strengthened by the faith and hope and love of so many who love the Lord Jesus Christ and His work, and whom we had the privilege of seeing on our journey. And I pray that the good we have enjoyed may be lasting, and the remembrance of it be ever new and fresh to my soul during the remaining part of my life. I have returned to this field with the humble desire "to spend and be spent" in the Lord's service as long as strength shall last. "Wear out in the service of Christ!" said a dying Missionary to his brethren who were assembled round his bed. This I am ready to do, humbly relying on the grace of Him, whose I am and whom I desire to serve. But the dying Missionary spoke another word to his brethren. "Live near to God!" he said. Oh may I have grace to live nearer to my God! In this, and in this alone, lies a Missionary's strength, comfort, light, peace and blessedness. The more I advance in years, the more deeply do I feel this. It is with this feeling uppermost in my mind that I resume my labours in this part of the Lord's vineyard, in which I have spent already so considerable a portion of my life.

Dedication of the Missionary to his work.

Cassaba.

Both among Turks and Greeks Mr. Montesanto continues to make known the doctrines of the Gospel. He is respected by all classes, and thus often obtains the willing ear when testifying of the truth as it is in Jesus. Frequently he is visited by inquirers, at one time by Turks, at another by Greeks. His communications with a Turk now recorded manifest at once the superstitious views of the opponent of idolatry, and the readiness of the Society's agent to embrace a favourable opportunity for speaking of Christ's salvation:—

Inquiry manifested by Turks and Greeks.

A Turk at Cassaba begged me to see his child who was very ill. I went for two days in succession. On the third day I found him giving the child something to drink out of a tumbler. It looked like muddy water in which were small bits of paper with some writing. I asked him, "What is that you are giving your son to drink?" "Zem-zem-suyir," he said, "and the bits of paper are Nus-khas, written by an Arab Sheikh." "And what," said I, "do you expect from these things?" "Oh, they have," he replied, "great efficacy. The water is from the well out of which God gave Ishmael and his mother to drink in the wilderness. And the bits of paper contain passages from the Koran. This is why they have so much efficacy for us. As for you, I do not know whether you are acquainted with these things." "Effendi," I answered, "know that I believe what the Word of God teaches. The myths of men we do not believe." "These things," he said, "are not myths." "Suppose," I remarked, "that this is water from the well you speak of, and that these passages from the Koran are good, what benefit can they bring to a man when he eats and drinks them? Every good word is written to be read by man, so that they may learn God's will, but not to be eaten and drunk." Then I added, "You Mussulmans say that you detest idolatry." "True, indeed," he added. "Well, then, are you not now guilty of idolatry?" I asked. "God forbid," he answered. "But if you believe, Effendi, that this water and these bits of paper have power to save the sick one, you put your trust in them, and that is equivalent to idolatry. The Gospel alone is able to teach men the truth. It alone can open the eyes of men, so that they may learn what they must do to be saved." I thought he would have become angry, but he merely added, "There are many strange things in this world."

Extensive journey in Caria and Lycia.

Caria and Lycia were in the spring visited by Mr. Wolters, jun., of Smyrna, and Mr. Weakley, of Constantinople, who travelled more than 1000 miles on horseback, in a country thinly peopled and often infested with robbers. The Turks were generally found reserved or indifferent. In some places, copies of the Scriptures were readily purchased, but ignorance in things spiritual, and depression as to things temporal, were exhibited by the great majority of the people. Even a Greek Archbishop, on receiving an edition of the Modern Greek Reference Bible, remarked that the Scriptures in the vulgar tongue were undesirable, inasmuch as bad men would make an evil use of them, and good men would find doctrines a superfluity. At Istenaz the summer resort of the people of Adalia, the Missionaries spent a Sabbath, which is thus described by Mr. Weakley:—

The presence of the Missionaries excites interest and discussion at Istenaz.

Hardly expecting to do much more than enjoy the rest and spiritual refreshment of the Lord's-day, we were not a little surprised at the interest which our presence and mission awakened in this somewhat singular place. Early in the morning our room was crowded with Turks: they had heard that we carried books, and were anxious to see them. In the first batch that arrived was a man who had visited the capital, and who, on that account, was esteemed an authority, and reverenced accordingly by his poor ignorant fellows. He attempted to read a few verses to them, but made sad work of it, stumbling at every third or fourth word. After a few efforts to talk with him, frustrated by his painful conceit, he left, and his companions followed him. Not long after, we again had the room full, including the chief Imam and several of the more respectable inhabitants of the place. While they were looking into the New Testament, I drew their attention to Rev. xxii. 18, 19, and put before them two or three simple arguments to show that the wilful corruption of the text by Christians was impossible. To this position they assented, and the Imam inquired about the Christian Sheri'at, or religious law, remarking, that the penalties attached to the omission of one of their religious duties were very heavy, giving several instances, such as, "that the neglect of one of the five daily prayers would have to be expiated by 5000 years of hell fire, &c. &c."

Prefacing my remarks with the reply that the Christian Sheri'at dwelt not on outward observances, but consisted of love to God and love to all men, I went through a great part of the Sermon on the Mount with him, pointing out the spirit and meaning of our Lord's words. Questions were then asked about Jesus as the Son of God; as to whether we held the doctrine of His Sonship, and what the Gospel said about it. To which I replied that we distinctly held Jesus to be the Son of God, not after a carnal manner, as in the human relationship, but in a manner high above our comprehension, expressing a relationship in the mysterious, ineffable and unique Godhead. I then turned to John i., and spoke of our Lord's person, and the work which He came into the world to accomplish, reading, in conclusion, His own words, Matt. xi. 27—30. All seemed very much interested, especially the Imam, who was evidently held in great consideration by the others. It being now midday, they went off to mosque, saying they would return in the afternoon, and we took the opportunity of this interval to have Greek service with our servant, and eat our homely dinner. This was scarcely accomplished when they returned, accompanied by an apparently well-to-do Turk. They asked for the New Testament at once, and the Imam asked more questions, less in the way of starting difficulties than of seeking information. We now learnt that the Imam was very anxious to possess the sacred book, but being too poor to purchase it, he had persuaded the new comer, who is one of the chief men of the place, to make him a present of it, which he did, to the Imam's great delight. After this, they stayed a long time conversing; and when they rose to go away the chief man said, "We would ask you to stay here that we might have further intercourse, but to-morrow the Corban Bairam commences, and it would be impossible to see you, as we shall all be too much occupied with slaying the sacrifice, and performing other duties connected with our feast. We shall meet again some day."

JERUSALEM.

The aspect of the Society's Mission in and around Jerusalem remains, for the most part, unchanged. There is one language, the Arabic, but many creeds, both Christian and Moslem.

Aspect of Mission work in Jerusalem.

Inquiry increasing amid persecution.

Division among the Mohammedans seems to threaten the destruction of Islam. On the one hand, the persecution of Protestants has been more active; but, on the other hand, inquiry has been more frequent. By private conversations, by the visitation of the surrounding villages, by the Arabic services in Jerusalem, and by the circulation of the Scriptures, many have learned the great doctrines of the Gospel in places where He who "spake as never man spake" once uttered them. The present field is thus depicted by the Rev. F. A. Klein:—

Varied character of the work in and around Jerusalem

The field on which I have endeavoured, during the last year, to sow the seed of the Word of God is the Arab population of this city and the neighbouring district; though by means of the dissemination of the Word of God, and other useful religious books and tracts, I trust your Jerusalem Mission has become instrumental in extending its influence beyond these narrow boundaries. The people with whom we are more immediately brought into contact are, as far as their language (Arabic) is concerned, one nation, and this offers great advantages; yea, the extensive spread of this beautiful but difficult language in the whole of the East—yea, to the very heart of Africa—allows us to entertain the hope of a more extended usefulness of our Jerusalem Mission by means of the circulation of books and tracts specially suited to the wants of the Moslems, to whom I am glad our Society have determined to bring the glad tidings of salvation through Christ in a more immediate and direct manner than it has been done in former years. But though, as far as the language is concerned, we have here to deal, as it were, with one nation, still, as regards its religious character, there is perhaps scarcely on the face of the globe a place presenting within such narrow limits such a variety of creeds, and religious tenets and prejudices, party spirit and sectarianism, as we have here, and on which we are called to exercise our influence for good. Not mentioning Jews and Turks, who are without the limits of our Arab Mission, I would only refer to the Native Protestants (our own congregations in Jerusalem and the villages), the Greeks, the Latins, the Armenians, the Copts, the Greek Catholics, the Syrians, all more or less under the influence of their respective convents, and actuated by a peculiar party spirit, and very often a strong religious fanaticism. Most of the members of these various denominations being strongly tied to their respective convents by regard to their worldly interest (pecuniary assistance, house-rent, bread, and political protection), offer peculiar difficulties to the work of an Evangelical Mission. On the other hand, the Protestant Mission offers no worldly attractions: it cannot and would not afford the assistance the convents do; and, besides this, native Protestantism has, during the last few years, systematically been repressed and discountenanced, and put down by Government from the honourable position it held like other Christian denominations, which, considering the peculiar circumstances of these countries, is a serious check to Protestantism, at least it is meant so to be; and we have in various instances seen the injurious effects of the system. But the Lord may put to shame the plans of the enemies of His kingdom, and bring good out of evil, as He has so often done in His dealings with His people.

Divisions among Mohammedans.

The Mohammedans also, outwardly one united body, are in reality a most heterogeneous composition, more than confirming the famous saying of Mohammed, that the Christians were divided into 72 sects, but that his people should be divided into 73, all doomed to perish except one. Here we have the orthodox Sunnite Moslem scrupulously believing in the divine origin of the Koran, and conscientiously performing all the rites and ceremonies enjoined by the Koran and Sunna; then the modern Moslem, trying to reconcile the Koran with modern civilization, and explaining and twisting the meanings of the Koran, yea, curtailing it till its religious system agrees with what they consider the requirements of the age. Of this class there are as yet few in this country, yet it has its representatives, and the tendency will increase with the progress of education; then there is the legion of Dervish and Soofi systems through all shades of mysticism and confused systems, reminding one vividly of the ancient Gnostics and Manichæans, all complete Pantheism, which I have heard several respectable outwardly quite orthodox Moslems profess to me privately. All these divisions are secretly working and contributing to prepare the dissolution of Islam, which work of secret destruction will become more apparent when once religious liberty is granted in the Turkish empire. This peculiar composition of the body of Islam also offers difficulties to the Christian Missionary in dealing with them. In arguing with one Moslem, and adducing proofs in support of what I said from the Koran, I was told that the Koran could not absolutely be received as the book of the religion of Islam; by another, that the literal meaning of the Koran was not the real meaning, and that the learned doctors and commentators were the worst enemies of God and Islam.

It will be seen also, from another statement made by Mr. Klein, that he has been engaged in the preparation of treatises specially intended for the Moslem:—

The revision of the Arabic Mizān is being continued, and, I trust, will soon be ready for circulation, as such a book is very much needed in our evangelistic labours for the benefit of Moslems. It being of the utmost importance to induce Moslems to read the Bible without their usual prejudices, and to read it as the "Word of God," unaltered and uncorrupted, I have, in the course of last year, composed a treatise on the Testimony of the Koran to the truth, and genuineness, and uncorrupted preservation (up to the time of Mohammed) of the Holy Scriptures; wherein I prove, from the Koran itself, and works of learned Moslem doctors, that Preparation of works in the Arabic intended for Mohammedans.

Mohammed admitted the genuineness of the Torah and the Injil without the shade of a doubt. Another treatise I have begun, very much needed also, is Historical testimony to the genuineness of the Torah, and chiefly the Injil. On the desire of Dr. Koelle to have his "Life of Christ" translated into Arabic, I have made the necessary arrangements with a native of this place, and I trust that the Tract Society, to whom Dr. Koelle will apply, will undertake the printing of this little work. Similar arrangements have been made with regard to the "Food for Reflection," the printing of which Dr. Koelle will undertake. Books and tracts of this character will be very useful in reaching the Mohammedan mind.

Visit of Colonel Roxburgh to the Palestine Mission.

The testimony borne by Dr. Sandreczki, after another year's labour in Jerusalem is, that many difficulties and some encouragements characterize the work. The visit of Colonel Roxburgh as a representative of the Committee cheered and strengthened the Missionaries in their arduous service. An effort has been made to establish a school among the Arab population of the south-east of Palestine, but prejudice has prevented any decided results. Dr. Sandreczki can speak of the Christian decision of a young man belonging to Nablous, who manifests by his life and conversation "whose he is and whom he serves." A brief quotation will show the character of the work in which Dr. Sandreczki is engaged:—

A Moslem girl, about twelve years old, from a neighbouring village, who had been sick for many months, and always listened to my teaching with much attention, and often declared that she believed in Christ, has been admitted by the Deaconesses into their boarding school, with her parents' consent of course, and she is very happy now, and improving in every respect. At the Bishop's school, too, there are a few Moslem boys, and when I examine them (on Lord's-day in the afternoon), or read to them an Arabic Missionary newspaper, they give their answers, or make their remarks from the Scriptures with all readiness. My small audience of Bulgarians and Armenians, and sometimes Greeks, is very fluctuating, as most of them reside here but transiently.

NAZARETH.

Mohammedan power still opposes the open proclamation of the Gospel to the disciples of Islam, but regular services and Bible classes are not prevented or disturbed. A girls' boarding school has been recently established, and promises to exercise an important influence on female education.

Contact with European influences seems to have increased the vigilance, if not the hostility, of the Turkish authorities. Some extension of his work can, however, be reported by the Rev. J. Zeller. About 500 Native Christians, including sixty-five communicants, together with five schools containing 176 children, of whom forty are girls, form the principal statistics of the Mission. At Caiffa a number of Greek Christians, and at Tiberias a number of Roman Catholics, have declared themselves Protestants. Concerning these movements, and the congregation at Nazareth, Mr. Zeller gives the following account:—

Effect of the Mission on Nazareth.

In Nazareth itself great external changes have begun. The town, which was in 1850 scarcely better than other wretched villages, has greatly increased and materially improved, and has become the centre for the Christian population in Galilee. The Christians use considerable activity to obtain a more respectable position among the Moslems. Our Mission has much contributed to this change, by rousing the emulation of the different communities, so that now two Greek Bishops have taken their seats here, and great improvements have been introduced in the education of the Natives. A spirit of inquiry has been awakened, for the light of the Word of God has shaken old prejudices, traditions, and ecclesiastical tyranny.

At the beginning of the year the warlike spirit in Europe was reflected here by the excitement among the Mohammedans against the Christians, but the danger was averted.

Steady progress in the Native Congregations.

During the course of the past year our Native congregations at Nazareth and the neighbouring villages made not a great but a steady progress. A hopeful sign for our work is the circumstance, that many Christians in Caiffa and Tiberias are inquiring after the Word of God. In Caiffa the movement was caused by a Greek priest who disagreed with the Bishop. The priest was reconciled with the Greek Church by the Patriarch in Jerusalem; but a number of the people, after having compared the state of their Church with the doctrines of Christ and His Apostles, protested, were excommunicated, and thus separated from their idolatrous Church.

In Tiberias a number of Roman Catholics were driven by circumstances connected with their priest to join the Protestant Church. They have lately undergone much persecution in consequence of their determination to live more according to the teaching of the Bible than to the dictates of their priest. These two towns are indeed important stations, and our inquirers there must be carefully taught and assisted, that the seed of the Word of God may not be crushed, but may spring up and bear fruit. By occupying Caiffa, where our Catechist has been stationed since September, the missing link between us and Jerusalem and Beyrout is supplied; and through the Protestant congregation at Tiberias the road to the east of the Jordan and the connexion with the Hauran will be opened. The latter is now particularly important, as the Turkish Government has this year succeeded in subjecting the Hauran and the Belka. Our sphere of labour has thus considerably extended, for the visitation of these places, and the instruction and care of all these new inquirers, take up much time. Michael Kawar, accompanied by a member of his congregation at Shefamer, made, in the summer, a tour through the villages in the north of Galilee, and had several excellent opportunities of preaching Christ, especially at the large village of Rameh, inhabited by Roman Catholics and Druses.

Our services on Sundays have been regularly kept in Nazareth, Shefamer, Raneh, Yafa, and, since September, in Caiffa. The schools in the same places have been carried on as usual.

A more general review, alluding to the relation between political and religious influence in Palestine, is added:—

Changes in Syria and Palestine during the last few years.

In reviewing a longer period of years, it is at once evident that considerable changes have taken place in Syria and Palestine, for these countries have again come into contact with Europe, especially since the Crimean war in 1854, and the massacres in Lebanon in 1860. Christian travellers and pilgrims are flocking to Palestine, and are investigating the land of the Bible, so that even closely-watched Moslem sanctuaries, as the temple-place in Jerusalem, and the Machpelah in Hebron, have been opened to Christians. The Turkish Government has been obliged to recognise European influence, of which the visit of the Sultan in Europe is a striking example. But as a beginning in the way of reforms has been made, the difficulties become more apparent, and seem overwhelming. It is undeniable that Missionary efforts are greatly influenced by the political aspect of the country. The kingdom of Christ is not of this world, and in a land where religion and politics are so inseparably united as in the Turkish empire, the antagonism of principles must cause peculiar obstacles. Our difficulties here with the Turkish authorities continue, for the Government curtails the rights of Protestants, and favours persecution. It has been a great comfort to us to experience the Christian sympathy of Colonel Roxburgh, who recently visited the Society's Missions in this country.

Work among the Mohammedans.

AMONG the Mohammedans of this city, the Rev. J. G. Deimler has continued to labour, greatly aided by Mrs. Deimler until the early part of September, when she was unexpectedly removed by death. Her efforts to make the secluded women of the Zenana acquainted with the truths of the Gospel had long been highly appreciated by those who had the opportunity of witnessing her zealous prosecution of this always difficult and often discouraging work, which in one of Mrs. Deimler's letters is thus described:—

I have altogether fourteen Mussulman families on my list, to which I have access. My husband, who has intercourse with the men at his preaching-places and in their houses, often introduces me to new families; for it always depends on the master of the house if the Missionary lady may be admitted or not. I have most hope for the women of the so-called reforming party. The men of this party have various doubts about their religion and their prophet, and have forsaken many of the customs of this people. They are educated: many of them have been to school in England, and speak English, and see the need of female education. One of them, to whom I was lately expressing my satisfaction at being permitted to visit his wife whenever I pleased, said, "Come as often as you please and speak to her and her mother, and the other women of the house, for they need to be enlightened, and I hope your words will produce an impression." He was not thinking of Gospel light, but it is good to see that their views are enlarged, even to this extent.

Visitation of the female members of Mohammedan households.

Thus I go my rounds among the poor women, and can say nothing yet of results; hardly has a beginning been made. Spring does not immediately follow sleighing-time, nor harvest spring. It is the Lord alone that gives the increase. I remember when I was last in Swabia, I was often asked, "How many have you converted?" The question always seemed to me to come out of the ice-cellar. Sometimes you hear it from Europeans in this country. I am not aware, my good people, that Christians are made by machinery. We learn daily that we can do nothing with our own poor strength; no preaching can of itself convert: it is the Spirit of God who must make the word effectual and impart the new life.

The general tenour of his work in Bombay, the effective co-operation derived from Native Assistants, the systematic prosecution of street-preaching, and the spiritual result in several instances, are stated by Mr. Deimler:—

I am glad to say that I received in Daud Mohkam, of the Sindh Mission, an able and valuable Catechist, and I can sincerely bear witness to his humble and spiritual character. Preaching in the streets has been carried on by us morning and evening, as regularly as possible: twice a week Mr. Appaji Bappaji lent us his assistance. The Rev. Mr. Munger, of the American Mission, in a truly catholic spirit, permitted us to use his Chapel for preaching whenever he himself did not require it. Thus preaching could be carried on sometimes in the rains. Every Sunday Divine service has been held in the morning; a catechetical service in the afternoon; and explanations of Scripture, with prayer, every evening. Several persons were under religious instruction. My dear wife instructed some females and children. One Mohammedan, from the neighbourhood of Dehra Ishmael Khan, was baptized the Sunday after Mrs. Deimler's death: on the same day several Chojas, whose wives and daughters and female relatives Mrs. Deimler used to visit, came to my house to ask why Mrs. Deimler no more called on them; whether she was angry with them. These, the reformed party of the Chojas, are a very hopeful portion of the Mohammedan population of Bombay, amongst whom Zenana visiting was especially carried on by my dear partner. Superstition has no hold on them, prejudice is giving way, and enlightenment is dawning on their minds. On several occasions I was taken with Mrs. Deimler into the Zenana, and on one occasion we were visited in our house by a whole family. These people ought to be kept in view, and influenced by the Missionary and his wife. Several of them, and amongst them educated men, regularly called on me. I used to read with them some portions of the Scripture, and had sometimes prayer. A Beni Israel came once with them, avowing, to my great joy, his belief in Jesus Christ as the true and promised Messiah. His father, an old schoolmaster of our Society, died in the faith of Christ, without, however, receiving baptism, and admonished his children to believe in Christ. If the Spirit of the Lord blow upon the dry bones they will live. Preaching and conversation have also been carried on once a week among Mussulman prisoners in the jail. Mrs. Deimler also commenced to visit the women there. Visits have been paid to Mussulmans. By this means some have been reached who otherwise would not have come in contact with the Missionary, as an Amir of Sindh, and others. I very much regret the want of a Persian-speaking Catechist. I called once, with a Catechist belonging to another Society, on a Persian gentleman and a Moulvie of Shiraz, who were exceedingly polite and civil to us.

Belief i Christ avowed.

Allusion is also made to the slave-trade on the East Coast of Africa, to the evil influences to which rescued slaves landed in Western India are subjected, and to the necessity for an arrangement under which such rescued slaves might be transferred to the Mauritius:—

Suggestion as to disposal of Slaves captured on East African coast.

I had for a couple of months under my superintendence and instruction a few rescued East-African slaves, amongst whom was one who had accompanied Dr. Livingstone on his way to Central Africa, and who, being left behind sick, returned to Bombay. After Mrs. Deimler's demise I had to dismiss these unruly men, and I hear now that they all became Mohammedans. Here I must inform you of my firm conviction that India is by no means a suitable place for Africans. I do not know whom I shall bewail most, those who, after their arrival here, are made over to Mohammedans, and adopt their religion, or those who, after having been instructed in the way of life in our Institution at Sharanpur, are then thrown amongst the very dregs of European society on the railways, participate in their sins, and are a shame and dishonour to Christianity. It is high time that the Church Missionary Society should adopt some plan by which these Africans could be rescued from this twofold perdition. I, for my part, from an experience of many years, know no other and better plan than the following—Make Mauritius the colony for liberated slaves, give them a Christian training in their vernacular (no English education except to a few who prove to be worthy, talented and spiritual), and employ them in whole gangs in the plantations. This I am sure will work better towards the end in view than whatever may be done here in Western India for them. I can now only throw out a suggestion without proofs and details; but I shall feel most happy to assist the Society in bringing about some good means for rescuing, from a second and more formidable slavery, these poor East Africans. Some arrangement with Government will of course be necessary.

Marathi Schools in Bombay.

The Six Marathi schools under the care of Miss White, have afforded a sound religious education to the children in attendance. The schools contain 190 girls and 58 boys. The Scriptures form a principal element of instruction, and evidences of the beneficial influence of these schools is often manifested in the subsequent lives of the scholars. Miss White has also held a Sunday-afternoon class for reading the Scriptures, at which Brahmins and others have not only been present, but have listened with careful attention.

Native Minister's varied duties.

The Rev. Appaji Bappaji has continued his pastoral, evangelistic and educational duties through the year without interruption from lack of health and vigour. He has ministered to a Native congregation containing 41 adults, of whom 35 are communicants. He has also preached in the bazaars, and has given Bible lessons, not only in the Money School, but also in six Vernacular Schools, containing 275 children, the Marathi being the language in five schools, and Gujerathi that of the sixth. The altered aspect of Missionary operations is portrayed from the Rev. Appaji Bappaji's personal knowledge :—

Altered aspect of Missionary work in Bombay.

I have learned from personal knowledge that many heathen have totally abandoned idol worship. They read the Word of God with reverence; they show more respect towards Missionaries than before; they give credit to Christian converts who have forsaken Hinduism or Mohammedanism; they attend our lectures and preachings; some are trying to establish religious meetings, although not exactly in accordance with Gospel truth, but I regard it a preparatory step to Christianity; they possess better knowledge both of false religious systems and of the immortal truth of the Gospel of Jesus Christ; they purchase Christian Scriptures and tracts, and they read them with care. Nearly a dozen persons get their living in Bombay itself simply from the sale of Christian tracts under one anna. May I be allowed to ask in return what has brought this change about? Is it the effect of our beloved Sovereign's peaceful reign, or the neutral policy of the British Raj with respect to religion? I am sure every candid man will confess, either amongst the Natives or Europeans, that it is the teaching and preaching of Christian Missionaries, who have brought about this vital change; and to a searching mind much satisfaction and encouragement will be found, and zeal and sympathy, instead of being damped, will be increased towards the Mission and Missionaries. From acquaintance with the affairs of the last thirty years, I find a vast change. At first our tracts and portions of Scriptures were put, by force as it were, into the hands of the heathen, and they in return tore them in our faces. A Missionary in Nasik required two police peons to save him from being pelted and from other harsh treatment. Christian converts found difficulties in passing through the streets of Bombay, and thousands and thousands of abuses were poured on his head from street to street. Compare the two states of things, and see how different the state of things now is from what it was at the commencement, and who can tell how far the Gospel tree has taken root downward, so that, in the time of the Lord, it may bring forth a great harvest upward.

Education.—Robert-Money School.

The duties of this school have pressed heavily on the Rev. T. Carss. Deprived of the expected and experienced co-operation of the Rev. A. H. Frost, who, finding his health equal to itinerating preaching, preferred that work to the Principalship of the school, Mr. Carss has been called to sustain the arduous duties of his position under difficult circumstances. Two Native-Christian masters, both energetic and effective, have also retired from the staff of teachers during the year, one being compelled to resign on account of continued ill health, and the other having accepted an appointment in connexion with the Abyssinian expedition. The school, however, so far satisfied the Government Inspector at the time of examination, that a grant exceeding 150*l.* has been made for the year. The course of instruction includes those subjects required by the Inspector, and those necessary for matriculation in the Bombay University. Eight candidates offered themselves for the matriculation examination during the year, and five of them passed. The Government standards appear to be higher than in England, and the matriculation examination seems to be higher than that of the London University. Mr. John Jackson, a successful schoolmaster in England, has recently been appointed English master in the school. There are 334 scholars, of whom many are the children of Brahmins in poor circumstances, some are the children of Mohammedans, and a small number are Protestant and Jewish in their parentage. The number of Portuguese children, which, two years ago, formed a majority of the whole school, has been so much reduced, that it is now little more than forty. Mr. Carss alludes, in his annual review, to the value of Mr. Frost's sympathy and advice:—

Success of the Money School.

Number and variety of scholars.

This year has been one of peculiar trial and difficulty, though it opened with great promise. Mr. Frost's appointment to the Principalship excited great joy and expectation in myself, as well as in the community; but these feelings were doomed to have but a short exercise, for before even entering upon his duties he felt himself called to resume his old work of itineration. Though not connected with the school, he takes great interest in it, and I have ever found him to be the thorough Missionary, the competent adviser, and the true friend.

The moral and spiritual influence of the school, more especially in reference to the senior boys, is thus sketched:—

Moral and spiritual influence of the Money School.

All the boys possess a very fair acquaintance with the leading truths of Christianity, and the deep and accurate knowledge of the Bible, which our senior boys have, is fully equal, if not superior, to that of boys of their age in England. I believe that few, if any, of the senior boys have the slightest faith in Hinduism, and that many of them have an intellectual faith in Christianity. One lad, who went up this year to the matriculation examination, desired me to say that his religion was Deism. He said that he was so firmly convinced of the folly and error of Hinduism, that he did not wish to be designated as such.

There can be no question that the religious and secular instruction here imparted raises the lads socially and morally, and in every way influences them for good. I believe that there is not one of our senior lads, or rather I should say young men—for they are all about twenty years of age—who would not think it beneath him to tell me a lie, or to defile his mouth with profane or indecent language.

NASIK.

Resumption of itinerating preaching by Rev. A. H. Frost.

On reaching India at the close of 1866, the Rev. A. H. Frost found his health sufficiently restored to justify the resumption of his itinerating preaching, and prepared to enter upon that work. At Nasik he was able, during the rainy season, to assist the Rev. W. S. Price in the organization of plans for future Mission action, more especially in reference to the development of Native agency, on which subject Mr. Frost submitted his views to the Conference of Missionaries in a carefully written paper. Towards the close of the year Mr. Frost commenced his work of itinerancy, in the hope of carrying into practical effect the theory which he had advocated, and which his Missionary brethren had approved. At Nasik, a Native candidate for holy orders has received valuable assistance from Mr. Frost while pursuing his study of the Greek Testament.

Missionary Agencies at Nasik.

The varied Missionary agencies connected with this place have been in active operation; and the Rev. W. S. Price, who has guided and directed these agencies, is enabled to close the year with notes of thanksgiving, and in the spirit of hope. The Native Christians number about 450, of whom 100 are communicants, and 19 adults have been baptized. The state of the Native congregation is first mentioned by Mr. Price:—

There have been nineteen adults baptized within the year, and most of these were persons who, for longer or shorter periods, have been living at Sharanpur, under regular instruction. It affords me pleasure to mention two as peculiarly the first-fruits of the labours of our new evangelistic body—the one Vitoo, of Hursool, and the other Ramdass (now Christidass) of Sinnur. The latter I baptized under a tope of mango trees two Sundays ago, in the presence of a number of his caste people and neighbours. Both these men were Gosavies, having each a considerable following of disciples. They remain in their own villages, distant respectively twenty-five and twenty miles from this place; and though at first they have to suffer persecution, we trust they may have grace and strength to witness a good confession for their new Master, Jesus Christ, and that they may be the instruments of leading others to Him.

Baptisms and peculiar first-fruits.

For the Native congregation there have been held regularly two services on the Lord's-day—a monthly administration of the Holy Communion, a Missionary meeting on the first Monday in each month, and a weekly meeting for reading the Scriptures and prayer every Thursday evening.

The various services and devotional meetings have been generally well attended; and though we do not see all the fruits we could wish, we must nevertheless acknowledge with thankfulness that a blessing has rested on the means of grace, and that, in some degree, they have served to keep up the spiritual life of our people. The congregation is made up of artisans and labourers. There are no wealthy members, yet all, with the exception of the inmates of the Poor Asylum (twenty in number) live by their own labour. Nor have they been backward in giving out of their poverty for God's work. The collection at the monthly Missionary meeting has maintained three probationary Evangelists through the year; and the Offertory alms of the Native Church have amounted, on an average, to about Rs. 10 a month.

Services and devotional meetings.

The manner in which Native Evangelists are employed for the conversion of the heathen, and a record of some fruits of the system adopted, are given:—

I am thankful to say that we, in common with Committees and Missionaries everywhere, have opened our eyes at last to the great importance of Native agency in the work of evangelization. The wonder is that we did not see this long ago. For the last eight months I have had under my direction ten zealous Native Evangelists, seven paid by the Society, and three by the Native Church, and they have gone far and wide through the Nasik districts preaching the Gospel.

Native Agency in work of Evangelization.

I have divided Nasik—which may be compared to a very large county containing five extensive boroughs—into small districts, each having about fifteen villages. I send out the Evangelists two and two, for about three weeks at a time, appointing them their districts. Having completed their round, they return to Sharanpur and their families, and spend a week, during which they receive special instruction, and at the same time go out from day to day to preach in Nasik and its near villages. Whilst the Evangelists are in, we arrange to have a celebration of the Holy Communion, and the Missionary meeting, at which they give the Church an account of their work. Thus refreshing and being refreshed and encouraged themselves, they proceed again upon their Mission.

A blessing has already been vouchsafed to the quiet labours of these simple agents. Two men have been led to the Saviour, and I am much encouraged to hope that these may be regarded as only the first-fruits of a large harvest. These agents are not men of much education, so far as book-learning is concerned, yet they are in many respects well qualified for the work in which they are engaged. They are men of approved character, and who, we believe, have received the truth in the love of it. They know the people to whom they go, and their difficulties, and can present the Gospel to them with an earnestness and eloquence which appeals to the understanding and hearts of their hearers. I should only be too glad to double my number of such helpers, and hope the day is not far distant when each zealous Missionary will have a staff of well-trained Native Evangelists. Not till then can he hope to "sow beside all waters," or to effect much towards the propagation of the Gospel among the masses of the people. For the present my number of Native helpers has been diminished. Two I have made over to brother Schwarz, who was all alone in his work, and one, Temaji, has been called away to his rest. The old man came with me the first stage of my journey to Sinnur. In the evening he went with the other Evangelists, and was preaching late into the night to the people of the place where I was encamped. Next day he was taken ill. I proposed to send him in a cart to Sharanpur, but he said, "No, I am going to die, and I wish to die in God's work." The wish was granted him. On Sunday morning, two days after being taken ill, I had him carried into my tent, when he said, "Now I am going to die." One of the brethren said, "Are you afraid?" "No," he replied, "I don't fear death: I am going to heaven: I am ready;" and with these words his spirit peacefully departed.

Death of an earnest Native labourer.

The extent to which a Christian education is afforded to the young of both sexes may be gathered from Mr. Price's summary of school arrangements:—

School arrangements.

Our school system has been considerably developed during the year. We have now—

1. The Vernacular and Anglo-vernacular school, conducted by Mr. C. Johannes and an assistant, attended by ninety-nine boys and girls.

2. An infant school, with an attendance of fifty-seven children.

3. A girls' school with forty-two scholars, and a boys' with twenty-five, both connected with the African Asylum, and conducted by a rescued slave, who was himself partly educated at Sharanpur.

4. A class of elder girls, taught in English by Mrs. Price.

5. The Normal Training Institution, which was commenced in June last, and has already eleven pupils—five in its vernacular and six in its Anglo-vernacular division—and in which the instruction has been given by Mr. Frost, myself, and Mr. C. Johannes, with occasional assistance from Mr. Ruttonji.

6. A school for heathen boys in the village of Mukmalabad, four miles distant, under Lucas, having an attendance of twenty-six boys.

All our schools are under Government inspection, and the examination which has just taken place shows very favourable results, especially considering that we do not go out of our way to bring our pupils to the Government standard, and that we give particular attention to several subjects which do not count in the Government estimate.

Having acquired some knowledge of the language at Malligaum, the Rev. L. E. W. Foote has removed to Nasik, the scene of his future labours.* The efficiency of the school arrangements, and the condition of the village of Sharanpur, which is inhabited by converts from Hinduism, impressed him on reaching this station, and he is now earnestly looking forward to the time when his knowledge of the language will enable him to go forth as an itinerating preacher among the surrounding heathen.

The beneficial influence of the Industrial Institution at Sharanpur is thus stated in a review of the Institution regarded as a Missionary agency:—

Beneficial influence of Industrial Institution.

In our estimate we must not omit the effect which such an Institution is calculated to have upon the heathen. To these it is a representation of Christianity reduced to common life, and, as such, serves to remove many false impressions, and prepare the way for the preacher. I remember when it was a very common belief that the profession of Christianity implied the giving up of ordinary occupations and means of support, and adopting a strictly religious life. It was a mischievous persuasion, and one not easily removed, so long as the small body of Native Christians was divided into the two classes of preachers and paupers. The Institution has dissipated this illusion. Its fame has gone abroad for many miles around, and by its means not only has the Christian religion been brought prominently before the heathen, but wherever the Institution is known it will be found that the Natives have clearer views of what Christianity really is. They see men and women, of the same position of life and circumstances as themselves, living by its rules, and yet maintaining themselves by honest labour; and can no longer doubt that, though preached to them by foreigners, it nevertheless is adapted to the wants and capacities of men in every station of life.

Dr. Livingstone's testimony to the services rendered to him by Africans trained at Nasik.

The following testimony has recently been borne by the great African traveller, Dr. Livingstone, to the service rendered to him by six Negro Christian youths, educated as liberated Africans at Nasik, when deserted by his attendants in the interior of Africa:—

We have been a long time in making our way here, but some of the delay was pleasant, for I had intercourse with people who had not engaged in the slave-trade. We came round the south end of the lake. I was apprehensive if I took my Johanna men round the northern extremity they would bolt at the first sight of danger. They actually did run away on mere report of the doings of the terrible Mazitee, or Zoolus, and I was left with a following of nine Africans, six of whom are Nasik boys. The Johanna men had proved themselves such thieves, it was a relief to get rid of them. The most influential chief on the water-shed between the coast and a Lake, called Mataka, wished very much that some of the boys would remain with him, and show the use that could be made of his cattle in agriculture. Abraham met two uncles there, but no entreaty would induce him to remain, though Mataka was extremely liberal, and seemed to please them all. "How can I stop where I have no mother and no sister?" was the invariable reply. I promised to try and get some boys acquainted with Indian agriculture from the same school, but the system of teaching for India, and not for Africa, had better be altered. Abraham has done good service to me since, so I have no reason to be dissatisfied with him.

MALLIGAUM.

Itinerating preaching among the heathen, regular services for the Native Christians, and constant attention to schools, have occupied the Rev. C. C. Mengé and the Rev. C. S. Cooke. The latter has acquired the language, so as to be able to undertake bazaar preaching. Mr. Mengé records some particulars of his itinerating work:—

Extensive Missionary tours.

Extensive Missionary tours were made in January, February and March, by the Native Agents, Krishnaji and Ganegaboa, who visited all the principal towns and villages along the banks of the Tapti, in the north of Kandeish: they also preached the Gospel at Mahijee's fair, where hundreds and thousands gladly listened to God's gracious invitation to repent and believe in Jesus Christ to the saving of their souls. The number of villages and towns visited was 121, in which about 7385 souls had the Gospel preached unto them.

In February I went with Mrs. Mengé to Wudneir, where the latter had an opportunity of speaking to a number of women, who wished to learn something of Christianity: she also prepared two Native Christian women for the reception of the Lord's Supper. I had also the opportunity of preaching the Gospel to the inhabitants of more than a dozen surrounding villages, who, upon the whole, paid good attention to the preaching of the Gospel of Christ. I was faithfully assisted in this work by Samuel and Anund. On Sundays we had public service in the place built for that purpose by the late Rev. E. Rogers, at which, besides nine Native Christians, some fifteen or twenty heathen attended.

Native Guru baptized after years of hesitation.

After many years of doubt and hesitation, a Native Guru has recently decided on embracing Christianity. He has been baptized at Malligaum, and adopted the name of Shantwar; that is, "Consolation;" because, by believing with the heart and confessing with the lips that Christ is his Saviour, he has, after much fear and disquietude, found comfort and happiness:—

I rejoice to be able to report that one of the spiritual guides, to whom I referred in my last annual letter has come forward and been baptized in the Malligaum church, in June last. At his baptism he received the name of Shantwar: his wife and five children are now staying in my compound, and receive daily instruction in the Christian religion. On the first of this month I had the pleasure of baptizing one of his sons, a youth nineteen years of age, who has very good ability, and is anxious to be employed in Mission work.

The various school operations are briefly enumerated by Mr. Mengé:—

Various Schools connected with Malligaum.

There are five schools in connexion with the Malligaum Mission, viz.: 1st. The Marathi boys' school, containing about eighty boys, who are instructed in the elementary branches of knowledge, viz. writing, reading, arithmetic, grammar and geography; they also receive daily instruction in Christianity from one of the Society's agents; 2nd. The English boys' school, which is under the superintendence of Mr. Cooke, and contains about twenty-five boys. The third school is the Marathi girls' school, which contains about thirty girls, and is taught by Paru-Bai, the wife of the Catechist, Shunkur Nana. The attendance of the girls has been fluctuating, owing to the lady of the Colonel commanding the station opening a girls' school in the regiment. The girls attending the Mission school learn reading, writing, four simple rules of arithmetic, grammar and geography. They also learn sewing and crotchet work, and are instructed in the principles of the Christian religion. The fourth school is a boarding-school, containing twelve boarders: two of them are girls, the rest boys. Besides attending the Mission day-schools, they are taught at home the principles of Christianity. The fifth school is a training school, for training Scripture Readers and Catechists, and contains eight persons. Those that are present in Malligaum are daily instructed in the evidences of Christianity by the resident Missionary, who also accompanies them into the bazaar, and hears them address the people. Besides this class, there are two inquirers, who desire to be baptized, but have as yet not given any decided evidence of conversion. Mrs. Mengé is also teaching four females, who profess to be inquirers, but have as yet not given themselves entirely to the Lord.

There are also two or three persons in the neighbouring villages who profess to have given up idolatry and to seek salvation through Christ. They have promised to send their children to our school to be instructed in those branches of knowledge which are fitted for their station in life.

AURUNGABAD.

Promising aspect of the Mission.

The aspect of the work at this station continues promising. Dangers arising from opposition and persecution seem to diminish, leaving free action for Missionary effort in the numberless villages around Aurungabad. In these villages the Gospel has been constantly preached, and Native Assistants have been prepared for future Mission service. Of the congregations, the Rev. J. Wilson makes the following statement:—

Bringing the adjacent villages under each principal head, there are three congregations:—

1. The Aurungabad Church, consisting of members from Aurungabad, Ambelohol, Valoonj, Toka, and Mundava.

2. The Budnapur Church, consisting of members from Budnapur, Kheda, Vâla, Dhâsla, Somthâna, Gavân, and villages in their neighbourhood.

3. The Saigaum Church, consisting of members from Saigaum, Bootegaum, Soungi, Ava, and Daregaum.

Divine Service has regularly been held on Sundays, both in the forenoon and in the afternoon. The Budnapur Church has been in charge of my Catechist, Bhowanee; and I am happy to report that both his and his wife's influence has proved very beneficial to the Native Christians in those parts; and their children have also been cared for and looked after. Bapoojee Teli, my last year's convert, after finishing a course of studies under me during the last year, has been sent to Saigaum, his native village. The newly-baptized Pantoji (teacher), Balojee, has also accompanied him. I entertain great hopes of their usefulness. Bapoojee has grown steadily in knowledge and in Christian grace. May the Lord of the harvest add many such to the Church here!

A convert's growth in grace.

The manner in which the schools have been conducted, the sympathy manifested by residents, the support locally afforded, and the spiritual influence exercised, are noted by Mr. Wilson:—

The Anglo-vernacular school here is the principal point of attraction. My school now is an established institution, acknowledged and supported by the Residency. This is a matter of great encouragement and gratitude to me. I have spent a large portion of my time in it, and have no reason to regret it, as I have gained the confidence of many respectable natives, which otherwise I might not have done. This school, with its vernacular department, contains close upon a hundred pupils, children, youths and adults. The Scripture and Gospel Catechism have been the basis of my instructions. If you ask what has been the result of my two years' educational labours, then allow me to inform you, that the teacher of the vernacular school, an elderly and intelligent Hindu, has been converted. He was baptized last Sunday afternoon by me. The Parent Committee will rejoice to hear that I have at last succeeded in securing the services of a Christian man from Madras for my school. This will relieve me of a great burden and much anxiety, and give me more time for itinerating work. I am greatly indebted to many of the European residents here for their liberal contributions towards my work, and especially for their sympathy towards me and my family. Besides these schools in the cantonment, I have two others for the children of our Native Christians, one at Budnapur, and another at Ambelohol. It is necessary not only to improve the education of Aurungabad and its districts, but to extend it. Hitherto I have not been able to do much in increasing the number of village schools, but the advantage and necessity of such an undertaking are daily increasing.

Local assistance and spiritual influence.

Conversion of an intelligent Hindu.

In visiting a place called Saigaum, Mr. Wilson is reminded of the contrast between the bitter persecutions raised last year by the baptism of a convert and the earnest prosecution of his spiritual work at the present time :—

I proceeded to Saigaum. You will remember this place. Last year, during the week of prayer, I was engaged in a case of litigation here, connected with the conversion and baptism of Bapoojee Teli. What a change has come over the place! The very man who was persecuted, imprisoned, and his property confiscated, is now located here as an Evangelist with another brother who is a teacher. It is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes. These two are living under a tree, literally bearing the heat and burden of the day, as suitable ground cannot be obtained for the erection of a small house for them, the villagers being against their living within the precincts of the village. If self-denial and hardship for the sake of the Gospel be sought for, here is an instance of them. These men seem contented with their lot. They are cheerful and happy, and actively engaged in their Divine Master's work. Before leaving Saigaum, I had the privilege of administering the holy rite of baptism to fourteen individuals—eight adults, and six children. The congregation connected with the Church at Saigaum, numbers forty souls. I hope that, ere long, we shall be able to follow in the track of our American brethren at Ahmednuggur, and appoint pastors over our several congregations in this part of the Lord's vineyard.

JUNIR.

Junir again occupied.

Transferred from Booldana in the early part of the year, the Rev. C. F. Schwarz resumed his labours at Junir, where, by reason of the ill health of the Missionary, and the urgent claims of other stations, the work had been for a time interrupted. Such intermittent action was not intelligible to the heathen, one of whom, regarding only the claims of Junir, compared the course pursued with that of a "man who had planted a tree, and who, when it had begun to grow, cut it down, instead of patiently watering it." Mr. Schwarz is unable to report any accessions from heathenism during the year, but can announce much that is promising in connexion with the vernacular schools, both Hindustani and Marathi. A quotation from his correspondence bears upon this important branch of Missionary work:—

Vernacular Schools.

I re-opened our vernacular schools, both Marathi and Hindustani, under the former masters, both of whom are faithful men, convinced of the truth of Christianity, and I hope will at once come forth with their open profession that Christ is their Saviour. Both schools rapidly filled, and have since borne a clear Missionary character. The Hindustani school, for instance, kept in a most prominent and open place, has the New Testament for its daily class-book, and, in the hearing of many Mohammedans, its doctrines are freely taught without reserve by Catechist Vezir Ali, a convert from Mohammedanism. The boys and young men learn that Christ is the Son of God, and the Holy Ghost is a Divine Person. I confess I rejoice as often as I witness this spectacle, because I remember the time when the Mohammedans would not hear such teaching. This is surely progress. The Marathi school counts 110 pupils. The more advanced of these have gone through the Gospel of St. Luke and the first half of the Acts of the Apostles with the Missionary, and, during his absence in the district, they committed the Christian Vernacular Education Society's second Catechism to memory. Once a week the whole school has been catechetically instructed from the book of Genesis. The Bible truth with which we store their minds is the best gift which we can give them on their voyage through this life. May God grant His blessing that many of them may find the narrow way which leads to the haven of eternal rest and joy.

It will be seen, however, that Mr. Schwarz mainly directs his energies to the preaching of the Gospel:—

My chief attention must, as a matter of course, be given to the preaching of the Gospel to the adults. This had been too long suspended, at least in Marathi, to the Hindus, who make the bulk of the population in town and country. From August 1863 I had been absent—two years in Berar, at different times, and two years in Europe. On my return, therefore, to this station, it was my first desire to renew former personal acquaintances, so as to gain their attention for the message I was anxious to deliver to them. The hearty welcome I had received from many of the townspeople encouraged me, with my Catechist (to give him also an introduction), first to make visits from house to house, and generally we were most friendly received, and nearly all expressed their satisfaction in seeing us back among them. Afterwards we commenced street preaching again, in four different localities in the town, which was regularly carried on during the monsoon; besides, neighbouring villages have also been visited.

Preaching of the Gospel in and around Junir.

Amid disappointments and discouragements, a convert appears, whose Christian conduct, like a bright star on a dark night, cheers the labourer in his toil. The account of this convert, as given by Mr. Schwarz, though somewhat detailed, can scarcely be abridged:—

An interesting convert cheers the Missionary amid discouragements.

A most interesting case shewing how God leads the simple and sincere by the hand and provides for their souls, I cannot withhold. It is so fresh to my mind, as it has happened only during the last week of the year. It is also the more striking, and at the same time instructive, because the kind providence of God, displayed in His dealings with the subject of the following account, is so clearly illustrated thereby.

On the 20th of December we came to a new camp near Naragangaum, on the road from Poona to Junir. On the following Sunday, the 22nd, early in the morning, the wife of my Catechist brought a widow woman, of about fifty years of age, to our tent, who presented herself a most anxious candidate for baptism. She was a traveller, and had put up for the night in a temple, close to which my Native Assistants had occupied an open place during our stay at that village. In the morning our widow traveller recognised my people as Christians, by their reading the Scriptures and by their going off to preach; and when she, upon her inquiry, was told that they belonged to the Junir Mission, she eagerly inquired for the Missionary, and being informed of our presence in camp close by, she at once begged to be shown to us.

Now I must mention that she had come a distance of forty-eight miles, and having become ill of fever on the road, she could but very slowly proceed on her journey, which she had undertaken on purpose to join our Mission at Junir. Indeed, from her last stage she had hired a pony to ride, in order to be in time for Sunday service, which she wished to attend in Junir. The poor woman was rather weak from fever and fatigue; on this account I would not trouble her with many questions, but gave her at once appropriate medicines and food, and Mrs. Schwarz provided a place for her in our own tent. However, of her own accord, she has given the following account of her former history :—

Former history of the convert.

Bhima, for this is the name of our candidate, was the widow of a Native Christian, who formerly belonged to the Brahmin caste, and was a native of Poona. Her husband had been baptized about twenty years ago by the late Rev. James Mitchell, of the Free Church Mission, Poona. She herself would not be baptized at the time, but still she lived with her husband. Papers which she had with her showed that, since 1857, her husband had been employed as overseer by several railway contractors, and lastly he was on the line from Bhusawah to Khundwal, towards Jubbulpore, when he, only a few months ago, died at Berhampore. Now it had been her earnest desire, she said, for a long time, to be baptized, but no Mission being in existence in those regions, and no leave of absence having been given to her husband to go with her somewhere else, her baptism was deferred. Her husband's death seemed to have affected her much : he died, as she said, after a very short illness, and while he was in the act of reading the Scriptures. Her only wish now was to die the same peaceful death her husband died, and therefore her desire for baptism became stronger than ever, and was not to remain unsatisfied. For this purpose she collected her property and returned to Poona, a distance of more than 300 miles. On her arrival there she was sadly disappointed on hearing that Mr. Mitchell was dead, because to him she would present herself for baptism. With whom she stayed at Poona, and whom she consulted, I do not know ; but, strange to say, a certain Mr. G., a Native Christian I believe, with whom I am not acquainted, directed her to me ; and at once, after having put up her things in a hired room in Poona, she most energetically set out on her journey, and thus came to us. So far her own account, the remainder of her biography I am able to supply. Under my treatment and Mrs. Schwarz's own special care and nursing, she seemed to improve for about five days. During this short period she endeared herself to us by her frankness and cheerfulness, and especially by her gratitude for every thing that we ourselves or our servants did for her. She was certainly possessed of much good common sense, and though she was weak, one could easily see that she had been very active and industrious. She spoke often of her husband's death with great affection and animation. Her knowledge of Christianity was simple, varied and precise, and her wish for baptism most earnestly expressive, but it was natural and unaffected. In short, the stamp of truth and sincerity was on her whole demeanour. Her plan was, after her baptism, or, if I wished, before it, to go back to Poona and fetch her remaining property, among which she mentioned a young buffalo cow, given in charge of a cultivator, and then she would live and die in connexion with the Mission. I did not see any reason to mistrust our simple-minded Bhima, nor did I think it necessary to postpone her baptism for an indefinite time; but still, for her own sake and our satisfaction, I naturally wished, before baptizing our candidate, to get a little more acquainted with her. On Christmas Day she most devoutly joined our service in our tent, and, after it was over, she took up a book with large print, and made out several words, saying, in her good humour, that her eyes were getting dim, but formerly she could read Marathi well. We had expected that she would soon shake off her fever and recover her strength, but on the following day her strength rapidly gave way, and other bad symptoms made us doubtful of her recovery. On this account I arranged for her baptism at once. Her mind was quite composed, and to all my questions she distinctly replied. During the following night, she became somewhat uneasy on account of impeded respiration; her speech also failed her, though she remained quite conscious. She would tell us a great deal, but only now and then could we make out what she said. The name of Jesus was often distinctly heard, and about mid-day she almost plainly said, "The Lord may leave me here or take me away." Once, after having given her to drink and made her comfortable, she said, "I give much trouble;" and her smile expressed her gratitude. When she saw Mrs. Schwarz in tears, she said, "Madam—Sahib——" wishing to tell her much, but we could only make out the last words, and these were, "Jesus Christ will take me to Himself." It was now 3 P.M., and we sat down to dinner, leaving Wazir Ali with our dying sister, but scarcely ten minutes had gone when Wazir Ali called me. I offered up a prayer and commended her once more to the Saviour to take her spirit into His own charge, and to bring her to the heavenly joy, and, while thus engaged on her behalf, she fell asleep in Jesus, who, we feel assured, has accepted her.

Peaceful close of life.

KURACHI.

The Rev. J. W. Bardsley died in February, soon after his removal from Kurachi with a view to undertake the work in Bombay, which the Rev. J. G. Deimler, on account of the loss of his wife, has been compelled for a time to relinquish. Bazaar preaching, school work, and the usual services for the Native congregation have been maintained, but without any spiritual results that call for special notice. The Rev. J. Sheldon has returned to Kurachi, after a period of rest in England.

Death of Rev. J. W. Bardsley.

At this seaport, peopled by many different tribes, many dialects are spoken, and hence, in the vernacular school, which contains fifty Mahrattas, forty-five Sindhis, forty-five Gujerathis, and twelve Hindustanis, there are difficulties arising from the use of four languages. On the other hand, there is, as compared with some other schools, less opposition to the Gospel message, and the attention given to the doctrine of Christ crucified inspires hope as to the future. Adverting to a small school for girls, Mr. H. Croley mentions the change in the views of the educated natives on this subject:—

Educated Natives desire the instruction of the females.

The girls' school has remained throughout the past year a success, and opposition has lessened; an evident sign that the elevation of the female sex is a subject not of aversion, but of recommendation in the Native mind. Very numerous have been the earnest, favourable, warm replies concerning this matter that I have received from educated natives. They desire it earnestly, much more so than the poor uneducated Hindu parents. Mrs. Bardsley and Mrs. Croley have superintended this school, in order to teach Scripture and English; while a Native Christian girl taught them their vernacular and sewing. The average attendance has been ten.

HYDRABAD.

"Earnest labour and earnest prayer" needed.

Need of "earnest labour and earnest prayer" is the conclusion to which another year's experience of Missionary work has brought the Rev. C. W. H. Isenberg. Ill health has, to some extent, caused interruption of Missionary effort. Much time has been devoted by Mr. Isenberg to the translation of portions of Scripture intended for the Mohammedan population. The Rev. G. Shirt, having escaped from shipwreck, has joined Mr. Isenberg at Hydrabad, and has taken charge of the Anglo-vernacular school. The spiritual object and intellectual standard of this school are indicated in Mr. Shirt's first review of his labours:—

School labours.

I have daily, except on Sundays and holidays, been engaged in the school. On taking charge of the school in January last I felt somewhat depressed on account of the great difficulties with which I had to contend. Opposite our school stands the Government High School, a handsome-looking building, well furnished with masters, and having plenty of funds. In fact, they had every thing to attract the pride of the human heart. We, on the other hand, seemed to be short of every thing. It was a wonder to me that so many boys could be kept in the Mission school, when one has to bear in mind that the boys themselves are generally suspected by their relatives and parents of having a secret tendency to Christianity. Feeling thankful for what my predecessors had done, I resolved, God helping me, not to be behind them in this good work. The different classes in the school were re-arranged, and the duties of the monitors clearly defined. I took the first class under my own instruction in all subjects except Sindhi. This gave me close work for about four or five hours daily; besides which I instructed the monitors in mathematics, in which subject all except one were totally ignorant. Also I gave them lessons in English and in history. During the year they have made tolerable progress, and have generally shown great diligence in their work, giving their classes to some extent the benefit of my labours upon them. The first class has been pretty well grounded in the first book of Euclid, the whole of arithmetic, and algebra to the end of simple equations. They have also had a course in history, geography, English composition, and the reading of simple English classics. The other classes have also had their circle of work, which I believe them to have done satisfactorily. The Government Inspector of Schools has just been with us, and declares that the oral examination is highly satisfactory. I have hopes that the written part of it will not be less so. In secular knowledge we are now well able, I think, to compete with the Government school, a matter which must always affect the success or non-success of the Mission school. With regard to sacred knowledge, I trust we are keeping pace with our other work. The first and second classes have read the Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles in such a manner as to give me great joy. One boy in particular has done this part of his work so well, that he has often astonished me at the depth and cleverness of his answers. The Rev. G. B. Anderson, of Kotree, examined these classes in Scripture in May last, and expressed himself greatly gratified. In one of the lower classes the Gospel of St. John has been read, and in another the "Bible Stories." A few days ago, by the kindness of Major Haig, I was able to introduce his Sindhi translation of the same into the lowest class. I am longing for the Sindhi Gospels. They are greatly wanted to fill up the gap at present existing in our Scriptural instruction. Still I am comforted with this feeling, that no boy in our school, of whatever class he may be, can continue his studies without learning also about the Saviour.

Favourable Report of Government Inspector.

Knowledge of the Saviour given in School.

The Sunday Bible class still continues to hold together. The state of the school, in a Missionary point of view, is most interesting. It is true we have yet no converts to whom we can point as fruits of our labours; and so we may appear to those at a distance as men who fail in their work. The fruit, I believe, will appear in due time. The Hydrabad Mission school is of great importance: its work is chiefly with a class of men who represent the national mind of Sindh. They are the finest people in appearance; they are probably the most defiled class in the whole province, and do therefore wield their power as a body for evil. Is it not of importance that our educational work here should be carried on with zeal, ability, and discretion, and, above all, with the power of the Spirit? Some may say the Government schools will educate, you should evangelize. Would that Government education were Christian! I would then gladly give up my whole time to the preaching of the Word, a work more agreeable to my taste, and certainly not so difficult. But at present things are not so. We have to deal with things as they are, and not as they should be. With the Sindhi mere intellectual culture is but the feeding of a naturally extraordinary vanity.

A brief statement of work out of school is added:—

The work out of school comprises the learning of the language, and conversation with Natives, Hindus, and Mohammedans. With regard to the former, I hope I have been successful, having passed my examination in September last. I am, however, still continuing my studies, with the hope that I may become a thorough vernacular scholar. From the conversations which I have had with the Natives, I have been led to the conclusion, that with Hindus "caste" is the support of Hinduism. It is a fearful thing: its fruits, I think, are all bad. The Mohammedans have generally a wonderful power of agreeing with all one says, though occasionally one falls in with an exception, and receives as a sign of it a good volley of abuse.

An excursion was made by Mr. Isenberg for the purpose of street preaching; and some particulars of this effort made by a young Missionary are related:—

Street preaching.

Last July, I made my first excursion into the country, in order to try myself in street preaching in Sindhi, and to disseminate the Scriptures. I visited the two chief towns in the neighbourhood, travelling partly on horseback and partly on camel. The first, Hāla, is chiefly inhabited by Mussulmans, who are there particularly bigoted, having been under the sway of a renowned family of Pirs for 350 years. I had a difficult post to occupy, and therefore went with fear and trembling, but the Lord strengthened me to bear testimony to Him to the best of my ability. The audience was each time very numerous, but also very much inclined to controversy, which made it very difficult to keep them quiet. I avoided all questions that were put out of curiosity, and answered only those which I believed to flow from a real desire for knowledge. Aligāra jo Tando, the other town, consists chiefly of a Hindu population. I had a very good audience there, and was listened to with great attention and quietness. I sold a number of copies of St. John's Gospel in Gurmukhee, and heard afterwards, in a conversation with an old Banyah, that there was a great desire for learning English amongst the young people of the town.

General View.

In India the conflict between truth and error is continued amid difficulties and disappointments, facilities and encouragements. The language of one European Missionary is, "The question whether Christianity will extend and cover the whole land need not be asked; the end may be assumed; the means only are to be discussed;" while another affirms, that "discouragements exist, but that encouragements cast them entirely into the shade." Nor is this expectation formed by the soldiers of Christ engaged in the conflict higher than that formed by the experienced spectator. Sir Arthur Cotton, after spending forty years in India, and after traversing it from Hurdwar to Cape Comorin, affirms that "solid progress" marks the work; that the Missionaries "underrate the advance made;" that Islam, idolatry and ignorance are shaken; and that "thoroughly able Native Ministers are rising up in the country." European Missionaries in the present century seem to have been as little conscious of the extent to which they have been moulding the spiritual future of India, as European merchants in a former century were conscious of the manner in which they were shaping its temporal destiny; and the eye of a general of the army views the state of the spiritual conflict with more sanguine hope than the eye of the messenger of the Gospel.

The future estimated by Missionaries.

Unconscious influence of the Gospel labourers.

The survey of the labours of the year justifies the statements which have been thus made on independent authority, though the measure and manner of success have varied in different parts of this wide field, which is at once the greatest Dependency of the Crown and the greatest Mission of the Society. In the North the conversions have been distinct rather than numerous, and the aspect is rather that of bright stars on a dark night than a general diffusion of light. In the South a fuller, clearer radiance of Gospel truth has, like the "shining light which shineth more and more unto the perfect day," cast its bright beams alike upon the Native Church and the surrounding heathen. In the West the clouds have so far been broken and scattered as to admit light and life from the Sun of Righteousness. Nor has the light shone in vain. When Livingstone, in the interior of Africa, was deserted by the Johanna men brought from the coast, nine youths, of whom six were liberated Negroes educated and trained in the Society's Mission school at Nasik, stood firmly by the great explorer in his hour of need. Neither terrified by the dangers of the British enterprise nor tempted by the attractions of their native country, they are now enduring with him the perils of the wilderness, and are proving once more the service which Christianity often renders to the cause of science.

Conversions in the North distinct rather than numerous. Fuller radiance in the South. Light and life in the West.

Service rendered to Dr. Livingstone.

But if, on the one hand, the power of the Gospel must not be underrated, neither on the other must the power of error. Mohammedanism, in all its fierce fanaticism, still challenges to disputation; modern Hinduism, with all its boasted intelligence, still rejects the doctrine of the Cross; and ignorance still listens with a careless indifference to the proclamation of the unsearchable riches of Christ. The momentous question, "Is the Gospel the power of God unto salvation when proclaimed to these different classes?" may be asked with almost a tremulous anxiety. Facts answer in the affirmative. At Umritsur a convert from Islam, who last year received Christian baptism, has thrice met in public discussion the advocates of Mohammedanism. On the third occasion the controversy was narrowed to a definite issue. The Christian triumphed, and the disciples of Mohammed did not again appear. This Christian apologist has declined an offer of Government service, which would lead to influence and competence, in order to prepare for ordination, and thus devote himself to the service of the Gospel.

Conversion of a high caste Brahmin.

The conversion of a high caste Brahmin in the North illustrates the power of the Gospel against Hinduism. His father was an influential Hindu, of liberal mind in matters of religion. The faith of the son in pure Hinduism was shaken by the education given in a Government School. Like many of his countrymen, he fled to the refined system of Brahmoism, but he found that it afforded no relief to a conscience burdened with a sense of sin, and he abandoned it on the distinct ground that it provided "no atonement." Meanwhile a younger brother has been educated in a Missionary school, and has become a decided Christian. He, like a second Andrew, "findeth his own brother," and then "brought him to Jesus." Twice the agitated disciple of the Brahmo Somaj left his home in search of a Missionary; twice his resolution failed him, and he returned. Now he stands forth in the Christian Church as remarkable for the intelligence of his faith as for the earnestness of his life. Nor has the Gospel been powerless as regards those who are ignorant and out of the way. The state of the Santhal Mission forbids such a supposition. On a recent occasion the Bishop of Calcutta confirmed eighty-eight Santhali converts. The heavily pressed European Missionary fears lest the Gospel net should break by reason of the magnitude of the success, and justly "beckons to his partners" in the blessed work that "they should come and help" him. The district, which three years ago only contained three Christians, now contains 400, and within the last year 200 have been baptized.

Brahmoism forsaken because "no atonement" is provided.

Signal success in the Santhal Mission.

Nor must the attitude and action of the Native Church be omitted in the estimation of the spiritual forces available for the conflict against error in India. Wiser and stronger are the efforts made by Europeans for the development of a Native Ministry. The force of the pithy Pushtoo proverb, which describes the felled tree as saying to the axe, "If your handle had not been made from my boughs you could not have cut me down," is increasingly felt in reference to a Native Ministry. Experience has surpassed expectation as to its power. In Calcutta the European Missionary confesses his astonishment that a poor Native congregation should raise 600 rupees per annum for the Native Pastorate, and rejoices that ten adults, all Hindus, have within the year received baptism. At Agra the Native Church Fund, in the second year of its existence, amounts to 1300 rupees, of which 600 are the proceeds of congregational collections. Not only has the Native Pastor at Agra been supported, but substantial contributions have been made towards the salary of the Native Minister of Muttra. Near Palamcottah (South India) a Native Pastor was located two years ago. The European Missionary has recently visited the village. He found a well built church and schools. The Pastor's house was unpretending, but neat and clean. The school was in first rate condition. The people were orderly and attentive. A Missionary Meeting was held, and 100 rupees were collected.

Native Pastor's position in South India.

In North India a Mission at Lahore could not, during the past year, be commenced because of the paucity of European labourers, and a Native Minister was sent to occupy the post. In South India a Native Minister has translated "Butler's Analogy" into the vernacular, for the benefit of the educated heathen of his country.

Native Pastor at Lahore.

But the power of the Gospel is illustrated in the conduct of the Christian laity as well as in that of the Native Clergy. A very poor Christian, rich in faith, and an heir of the kingdom, after having, by patient Christian resignation, triumphed over much physical suffering, made out of his deep poverty, and almost with his dying breath, a contribution to the Mission work. A blind woman, who, like another Anna, was ever found at the services of the Church, was accustomed regularly to gather around her the younger female members of the congregation, and to speak to them of the Saviour's love. A young Christian, in her last moment, could in calm confidence declare, "Jesus Christ will take me to Himself."

Power of the Gospel illustrated in lives of the laity.

The Gospel is therefore found to be "mighty through God to the pulling down of the strongholds" of sin and error. Slowly, but surely, an upheaving process is disturbing the strata of false systems, and is destroying the old rock foundations of Hindu society.

The Gospel mighty against sin and error.

A cyclone of educated thought has violently rent ancient creeds from their earthly anchorage. They are adrift like vessels torn from their moorings, and to the Christian Church is given the opportunity of pointing to that hope, which is as "an anchor of the soul, sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the vail, whither the forerunner, Jesus, is for us entered;" but if the opportunity be lost, the bewildered disciples of error must drift down the strong current to the wide ocean of infidelity.

Duty of the Christian Church.

Can such an issue be permitted? The united voice of more than twenty Native candidates for ordination, whose qualifications for the ministry have been announced within the last month, seems to answer in the negative; and it is for this great Society, sustained by a Christian people who are "wise and understanding," only because they possess "the Scriptures of truth," emphatically to confirm this decision. If the Church at home can send forth men of power, men "full of faith and of the Holy Ghost," men who "count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus the Lord," then the defenders of error in India will be constrained to adopt, in reference to spiritual conflicts, the words of the great warrior of South India in reference to earthly battles, "It is not what I see of the forces of the English which I dread, but what I do not see."

Effect on India if able and devoted men be sent forth as Missionaries.

CALCUTTA.

The independent and corroborative testimony of Major-General Sir Arthur Cotton, to which reference has been made, may here be more fully quoted. Speaking at the Anniversary Meeting in Oxford, last February, he adverts to some features and facts which deserve special attention:—

I am always glad to be allowed to bear testimony as a man of forty years' knowledge of India, and not personally connected with Missions, as to their progress in India. I have traversed India from Hurdwar to Cape Comorin, and have had many opportunities of visiting the Missions, and I would first express my confidence in the Missionaries generally as true men of God, faithful, earnest and able men; many of them of first-rate talents and energy, preaching the Gospel in great simplicity. With respect to the progress of the work, I must state my conviction that the Missionaries generally are disposed to underrate the advance they have made. I compare the case with that of soldiers in the heat of battle; they often think themselves hard pressed, and are doubtful of the event, when a man overlooking the field sees plainly that they are making steady and sure progress, and gaining ground at every effort. I was once advancing with a column against an entrenched position of the enemy, marching in the Engineers' post on the right of the leading company of the column, when it came into my mind to observe particularly the behaviour of the men, and I saw them moving exactly as if on parade, not a man hastening or slackening his pace, or fidgetting to fire, though the fire was getting very hot, and the men were dropping every moment. Then I felt sure that no enemy could stand before them. Just so I look upon the Missionaries in India, and however much they may at times be discouraged by many partial failures and disappointments and innumerable difficulties, I see plainly the solid progress they are making, as proved in many ways. There are, in fact, multiplied evidences that the whole fabric of ignorance and idolatry and Mohammedanism is shaking. One of the most satisfactory evidences of the state of things has been alluded to by a previous speaker, and that is, the increase of Native Agency. There are increasing numbers of thoroughly able Native Ministers of the Gospel rising up in the country. I will mention one case. A brother officer of mine, in leaving for a time his works in a part of the country far from Missions, selected the most able, active and faithful Native he had about him to leave in charge of the stores, &c., the works being stopped while he visited Europe and America. With this man he left a New Testament; and, on his return, he found him fully established in the truth, without having had any communication with Missionaries or other Christians. Though a man of good caste, he had openly declared his intention of being baptized, and had established regular worship on Sundays with any of the Natives he could collect. As soon as he could obtain leave, he went to a Mission station and was baptized, and he continued to instruct all who came to him in the evening and on till midnight; and when he had filled his house, he built a small chapel, and filled that also. He then gave up all his excellent prospects of advancement in the public works department, and accepted a bare subsistence as a Catechist, that he might give himself wholly to Mission work. My brother officer says he has never had a moment's anxiety about him. He has gone on most faithfully and devotedly preaching the Gospel with great zeal and diligence. In this way God is now raising up men from among the Natives themselves, and establishing indigenous Churches throughout India. I could give you many other proofs of the progress of the truth there. I am thankful to have such an opportunity of thus offering you the testimony of a man unconnected with Missions, who has had long and ample opportunity of knowing well what is really going on in that great dependency.

Missionaries generally "underrate the advance made."

Reliable character of the convert.

While adverting to the grievous loss sustained by the death of the "wise and good" Bishop Cotton, the Corresponding Committee at Calcutta express their gratitude for the sympathy and support given to the Missionary cause by Bishop Milman:—

The Committee have now with thankfulness to add, that in his successor the Missionary cause has found one who takes an active and zealous interest in their proceedings and in the labours of their Missionaries.

They have the pleasure to announce that Bishop Milman has accepted the office of President of the Corresponding Committee and Vice President of the Society. His first Ordination, held at Agra in October, was of four of their Missionaries, and his first visitation embraced several of the Society's principal stations in the North-west Provinces. At all these His Lordship has already held Confirmations in the Native language, and strengthened the hands of the Missionary labourers by the heartiness of his sympathy in their work.

Development of Native Church.

The development of the Native Church has, by reason of the paucity of European labourers, demanded special attention. The measures adopted, and the present statistics of the Native Church, are furnished by the Calcutta Committee:—

The inadequate supply of Missionaries from home for the growing demands of the work makes the training of a Native Agency more imperative than ever.

There are now nine Native Ministers in this diocese connected with the Missions of the Society. During the past year considerable progress has been made towards placing the Native Pastors in a position of independence of the Society as regards their salary. The Native Church has, in some instances, subscribed liberally to their support, and their efforts have been greatly encouraged by grants-in-aid from Bishop Wilson's Native Pastorate Fund. This fund, originated by one of the Society's Missionaries as a memorial of the revered Prelate to whom this Diocese owes so much, has begun to foster, in a marked degree, the development of a Native Ministry in the Indian Church. The Fund is under the management of trustees independent of any particular Society, and is available for the augmentation of salaries of any Native Minister of our Church. The amount invested will soon be insufficient to meet the increasing demands. To those who are retiring from the country, no more suitable object could be presented by which to testify their gratitude to God for preservation from peril, and their permanent interest in India's evangelization, than a Fund which aims at securing to the Native Church the spiritual benefits of the Christian Ministry.

Statistics of the Native Church in North India.

The Statistics of the Native Church up to September 30th give the total number of Christians at 10,063; the regular communicants at 1371; the baptisms in the year at 661, of whom 101 were adult converts.

The features of the work have remained for the most part unchanged, but death and illness have caused some changes among the labourers in the field:—

Death of Mrs. Long.

Mrs. Long, the wife of one of the Society's most laborious Missionaries in Bengal, herself a devoted Missionary and exemplary Christian lady, has been called to her rest. After a painful illness, she died at sea, a fortnight after leaving Calcutta, in the early part of the year, absent from her husband, who remained at his post in India, but sustained by the presence of the Lord she had faithfully served.

Two experienced Missionaries, Mr. Bomwetsch and Mr. Dyson, have taken furlough to Europe. To supply the place of the latter in the Cathedral Mission College, Mr. Hooper was brought down from Benares, his distinguished University career eminently qualifying him for scholastic employment. Mr. Bomwetsch, during his three years' residence in Calcutta, laboured amongst the class of educated Natives, and had some seals to his ministry in the baptism of several families occupying a good social position and of independent means.

The Committee regarding this new movement with peculiar interest as the germ, possibly, of a truly independent Native Church, were thankful to have in Mr. Welland one who could take up Mr. Bomwetsch's work, and carry it on in the same wise and tolerant spirit. In addition to his share of teaching in the College he has, during the past year, conducted the Bengali service in Christ Church.

The important question "How to make the Native Church in Bengal self-supporting," was recently discussed in a paper read at the Church of England Missionary Conference, held at Calcutta, in the Bishop's palace, by the Rev. J. Welland, and may here be introduced as evidence of the advance made in the employment of Native Ministers:—

Desirableness of Native Pastorate.

It is, I suppose, altogether unnecessary to say any thing about the desirability of the object here proposed. We are all of us very well aware of the evils of the present system, both as regards the Native Church and the Foreign Missionary, and the whole cause of the Gospel here. It is not, probably, through any want of appreciation of these evils that so little has been done to remove them, but because of the difficulties which beset any attempt at remedy—difficulties which are still very formidable, and until lately were perhaps wholly insuperable. It is these, then, which demand our attention. We have long since learned, by bitter experience, and the growing anticipation of still greater harm, that they ought to be encountered as soon as they may be with any hope of success, and we have now only to inquire whether that time has yet arrived, and how we are to set about such a task.

We shall do well, I think, to remind ourselves, that very much of the difficulty before us is due to no fault either of ours or of the Native Church. The whole idea of self-help seems to be modern, and probably neither benefactors nor recipients were prepared to profit by the idea until very recently. This may go far to excuse much apparent backwardness on both sides, and to account for the presence of habits and expectations, very obstructive to be sure, but, after all, very natural, and therefore tolerable. Again, all movement in this country is greatly impeded by the necessary friction of the two forms of civilization which come in contact, wherever foreigner and native unite in any object. Among the Negroes, or the Karens, or the Coles, where our superiority is beyond question or even comparison, the Missionary has both more power to mould the people as he sees fit, and the people are more facile and impressible in his hands. Here, however, the foreigner and the native stand much more nearly on a level; and the result is, that many mistaken views are adopted on each side, under the circumstances inevitable.

How may independence be created in Native Church?

The first great difficulty lies, I believe it will be acknowledged, in the question—How to awaken in the mind of the Native Church a hearty desire for independence or self-support? And to this I think the answer is simply—Give to them, with all possible speed, something worthy of their support. If any one is to be taught to help himself, the first step must be to teach him self-respect; to make him feel, not alone that he can do much, but that he is verily worth the utmost he can do. If we want self-support in the Native Church, we must give it a self which can command support. This is a point which might be very largely illustrated, but surely it does not need argument. We may at once go on to inquire what that thing is which we must give the Church, in order to fire it with a zeal for independence. This thing is, I believe, the Christian Ministry. Till they know this, it is hopeless to expect them to appreciate it, and, as things are, it seems to me they do not and cannot know it. I speak only of country districts in Bengal. They know what a Missionary is and what a Catechist is, but what a Pastor is how can they know? A Missionary is to them not only a Clergyman performing the stated duties of his office, but also (and perhaps even more) the foreign agent of a foreign Society, and the paymaster of a large staff of assistants. Partly from mistaken notions, and partly from shrewd surmises as to the probable consequence to themselves, Native congregations do not, so far as I know, desire to see their fellow-countrymen hold this office, still less then do they wish to be at the cost of such an appointment.

Natives must understand what a Pastorate implies.

Let us make haste to bestow upon them, so far as in us lies to do it, this inestimable gift; for, setting aside the question of how this Ministry comes, the thing itself is a most real good, which cannot be imitated, and which admits no substitute. It is the gift of our glorified Lord to His own Church, His body, and it is the Holy Ghost Himself who appoints and enables those invested with it. So that he who is truly called a Minister of Christ is brought into the most affecting relations, both with the Chief Shepherd in whose blessed name he is to speak, and with the flock which God purchased with His own blood. It is his to stand before the people as the very messenger of their Saviour, chosen and set apart to this office by the Spirit of Christ, and at the same time to bear in his bosom the care of the whole flock; to know that the blood of each one that perishes shall be laid at his door, and that each one saved is his joy and crown; to be obliged, under the weight of so huge a responsibility, in utter failure of any other help, to cast himself wholly upon his Great Master; to enter into all those searching temptations, to experience all those conflicting emotions, that dear agony of spirit, to which every faithful Minister owes so much, and where that truest affection for his people is born, a love which afterwards glows in his looks, and his words, and his deeds, drawing to him the esteem and gratitude and obedience of his people, procuring for him their confidence, and securing to them an efficiency in all his ministry not otherwise attainable. But of all this what does the Native Church for the most part know? And if they know it not, how can they value it? It cannot be fully realized in the ministry of the Missionary, because he is so much more besides a Minister; it cannot be realized in the services of a Catechist, because he is so much less than a Minister. What, then, shall we do that the Native Church may learn what rich blessings await them in this ordinance of the Christian Ministry?

Inestimable gift of the ministry of the Gospel to a people.

Various plans might be suggested for carrying out such a course: let me propose in rough outline one, not as the best, but merely for the sake of distinctness, and to afford some means of testing the practicability of such a scheme.

Measures to be adopted.

Notice might be given to the village congregations occupying a given district, that after a certain date, be it one, or two, or three years distant, the Catechists shall be withdrawn; that each congregation must at once look out for some faithful man, approved by the Missionary, to be a candidate for holy orders, who shall in the meantime receive such training as may be deemed necessary; that he, being accepted by the Bishop, shall receive ordination in the midst of the congregation to which he is to minister at the time appointed; that thenceforth he shall be paid from the Pastorate Fund to which the congregation shall contribute at the least a certain stated sum per month; and that, till there be a Bishop able to devote his whole time to the supervision of these congregations, a properly qualified Missionary act as Archdeacon (or Rural Dean), presiding at the meetings of the Pastors, and exercising towards them whatever of a Bishop's functions may be delegated, thus securing unity, strength and purity to the whole.

This is of course a mere outline, but it will suffice to bring us in contact with the practical questions which any such scheme must meet. Of these I shall notice only two or three which seem to be the most important; and first, as to the funds whence such Pastors should be paid. The principle I started with being that the Native Church should have something worth supporting before we expected from it much zeal for self-support, we should, I think, at first fix the minimum contribution of each congregation to the common Pastorate Fund at some very small sum, supplying the rest from other sources.

Difficulty as to social position of Native Pastors.

Of much greater difficulty is the question of the social and ecclesiastical position these Pastors would occupy; but I think there are facts and considerations before us sufficient for the solution of this also. It is true, that, as brother Ministers of the same Church, they would be entitled to a perfect equality with ourselves, and, what it is of more consequence to remember, with educated Native Clergymen in the city, while yet in education and refinement they would continue to be much our inferiors; but over against whatever inconvenience would result from this, we have to set the grand fact of the true Christian Ministry enjoyed by thousands of people; the consideration that these Pastors would be far more efficient Ministers among a rural population than their better-educated countrymen.

Lastly, is the time come for such a change—the time, that is, judging by the progress of other Missions? Are we warranted in expecting such things in Bengal by success of this kind in other countries within so short a period? The Church Missionary Society occupied Sierra Leone in 1817-18, and in 1862 an independent Native Church was organized there which now supports nine Native Pastors. The Church Missionary Society occupied the Burdwan District in 1817, but the Kishnagurh District not till 1831, so far the comparison might counsel patience. But, on the other hand, a new station was opened in Tinnevelly in 1837, which in four years gathered 4000 adherents, and in 1866 supported one Pastor (with a salary of 15 Rs.) and fourteen Catechists (with a stipend of 8 Rs. each). Tinnevelly, in general, has been occupied since 1817. It is reported that 30,000 Native Christians there raise more than 16,000 Rs. a year for religious purposes; that Native Pastorate endowments have been commenced in twenty-one districts, whose united sum amounts now to 33,000 Rs.; and that at present more than 100 Native Pastorates might be supported by the contributions of the people. This, I think, may well animate us to push forward. And though, indeed, but little emphasis can be laid upon comparisons of this superficial character, yet they may serve to indicate that stores of zeal and rich mines of self-devotion lie hid in the Native Church, ready to yield sufficient supplies, so soon as they be discovered by a reasonable appeal, and worked with resolute and trustful energy. The history of the Church in Bengal seems to teach us to expect less trust in foreign advice, and obedience to foreign influence here, than is experienced in those other countries. It only remains, then, to let the people know what a Native Pastorate is, give them a Christian Ministry of their own, and then to await the self-support which surely will not be wanting.

Examples of the Native Pastorate in Missions of the Society.

Notwithstanding his severe domestic affliction, the Rev. J. Long has been able to give attention to vernacular schools, vernacular publications, and to the maintenance of communications with Native authors. Some notes of his efforts are given:—

When at Simla I had some correspondence with the Viceroy, Sir J. Lawrence, on the subject of vernacular education. He has taken the question up, and I trust something will be done on this long neglected point. The Viceroy requested me to send a letter to him, officially stating what the requirements in Bengal are. I did so, and my letter has been forwarded to the Government of Bengal for their consideration.

Vernacular Education.

My wife's illness prevented my seeing Native gentlemen at my house, or visiting at theirs, as much as I could have wished, but I hope this year to engage more in this important work. The same remark applies to distributing the Scriptures among Native authors. I have about 600 men on my list, and the number is annually increasing, showing the spread of vernacular literature. They are a class per se, and exercise at the present time an important influence, as a link between the highly educated and the masses. At the request of the Commissioners of the Paris Exhibition I collected the vernacular works of 1866, which were forwarded to the Paris Exhibition, along with a printed catalogue, which I compiled. One sign of the times struck me in it, a Koran, printed in Calcutta, in Arabic, under the patronage of a Khansaman!

The Social Science Association is gradually working, and winning its way in Calcutta. It may be a very useful instrument in bringing forward the condition of the masses, and tending to check the tendency of Missions in North India towards a bureaucratic system. It is a source of encouragement that the present Bishop is fully awake to the evils of Native Churches being kept in a Saxon groove. I had a good deal of conversation with him on the subject, and I feel he is not the man to encourage a sickly English exotic among the children of the sun.

Works in the Vernacular.

I have in the press two works, which I trust will be of use to the Native population, and hereafter in Missions, when the importance shall be more clearly seen of casting Christian ideas in an Oriental mould, whether for the pulpit, the press, or the schoolroom—the "Proverbs of Bengal," which I have been collecting for the last fifteen years, and the best Proverbs of Europe and Asia, translated into Bengali. I have used for years in my schools a collection of emblematic texts of Scripture, which I compiled to illustrate the great truths of the Bible by Oriental imagery. I am preparing a commentary on these and on the Proverbs of Solomon, which I hope may be of use in providing a species of Oriental Homilies for readers, affording raw material for interesting biblical instruction in schools and chapels. I have ready for the press a guide to the literature of Bengal, pointing out the books suitable for useful reading. With education for the masses going on, it is necessary to have a healthy food.

Educational operations.

The character and extent of the Society's educational operations in North India, together with the statistics of the Cathedral Mission College, and the personal efforts of the Pundit Nehemiah, are summarized in the Calcutta Report:—

The educational branch of the Society's work has been vigorously sustained. Its range is extensive—geographically, from Thakurpookur and the villages south of Calcutta, to beyond the Indus at Peshawur, and the still more distant Bunnoo; socially, from the candidates for degrees in the Calcutta University, to the peasants' sons, whose sole ambition is to read and write in their own vernacular, so as to be saved from the rapacity of Mahajuns and Zemindars.

Cathedral Mission College.

The Cathedral Mission College has completed the third year of its existence with a fair measure of success. The average number of students on the rolls has been fifty-five. All these are matriculated alumni of the University, with which the College is affiliated. In the first examination for Arts of this year, the College sent up sixteen candidates, twelve of whom passed, one in the first division. While these results are encouraging as to the educational value of the College, the Missionary staff of professors have not been without cheering indications that the College is exercising a decidedly Christian influence, justifying them in their belief that, with the Divine blessing, it will stand forth amidst the rising flood of secularism and infidelity, as a beacon light to guide to the saving truths of Revelation.

Christian influence of the College.

The other affiliated Colleges of the Society, namely, Jay Narain's at Benares, and St. John's, Agra, have also sent up successful candidates to the University Examinations. In addition to these, many candidates for the Entrance Examination have been supplied by the various Anglo-vernacular Schools at all the Society's principal stations. The total number of those who have passed in one or other of the University Examinations from the Society's colleges and schools amounts to forty-one, being a considerable increase on any previous year. This improvement in the educational result of the schools supplies the Missionary with at least a more intelligent material on which to bring to bear the regenerating influences of the Gospel by his Christian instruction and example. The returns for the past year exhibit a total of 13,300 as under instruction in Schools of all sorts: of these, about 1500 are girls, and the same number are Christians.

Labours of the converted Pundit Nehemiah.

In connexion with efforts to reach the educated mind of the upper classes, mention should be made of the visit to Calcutta of Nehemiah Goreh, a converted Pundit of Benares. During the greater part of the year he has been a sojourner in this city, working in his own way amongst his countrymen, striving to find out who amongst them are worthy, and laying the claims of Christianity before all earnest truth-seekers. It is an interesting fact that our English language now supplies an easy medium of intercourse between educated Natives belonging to different parts of India. The Pundit has not only held oral communication in this way with the Bengalis, whose vernacular is different from his own, but has also addressed them in a letter, printed, as a small pamphlet, at the expense of the Committee. The Venerable Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge has made, at the instance of the Bishop, a liberal grant of 15*l.* to print a second edition. The letter is a concise and persuasive argument to prove that the new system of Brahmoism has derived all that is valuable in its tenets from Revelation.

Letter to the Brahmoists.

As an example of the service which may be rendered by the ordained Native, the occupation of Lahore by a Native Pastor may be noticed:—

Occupation of Lahore by a Native Minister.

Another post, which may ultimately be of much importance, has been occupied in the Punjab—the city of Lahore. This, as the political capital, would long since have been made a station of the Society, but for the circumstance that the able and successful Missionaries of the American Presbyterian Mission were already in the field.

One of the Church Missionary Society's fundamental laws is, that "a friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ;" and in pursuance of the principle thus authoritatively laid down, this Committee has ever been careful to avoid entrenching on fields of labour already entered on by other Societies, the only deviation from this rule of procedure being in the case of the Presidency towns and other large cities, where any one Society would be inadequate to the work to be done, and where there is obviously room for the harmonious co-operation of all. In the case of Lahore, important as the city is, its size alone would scarcely have justified the Society in establishing a second Mission. But the fact of its being the centre of administration for the province has led to the result that many of the Society's supporters, and the majority of the Punjab Church Missionary Committee, are there resident, to secure whose valuable co-operation it was of importance that one of the Missionary body should be stationed at the capital. This object had been partially secured hitherto by the frequent visits of the Missionaries from the neighbouring Umritsur. But there was one desideratum which such occasional visits could not supply, namely, the spiritual oversight and pastoral care of an increasing body of Native Christians, attached by early associations to our Church, who have migrated to Lahore for employment in the public offices. To provide some ministrations for them in connexion with the Church of their baptism seemed in every respect desirable. It was, therefore, with alacrity that the Committee accepted the proposal which came to them unsought from the American Missionaries of Lahore, to extend their operations to that city. This appreciation by the agents of another Society of the interests of our Mission, and their generous offer of a welcome into a field they have so long and so successfully occupied, is characteristic of the catholic spirit which has ever distinguished the American Missionaries of the Punjab. Such practical concord does much to wipe out the reproach of a divided Christendom.

A Native Pastor has been accordingly placed at Lahore, and has at once collected around him a congregation, many of whom had been sadly negligent of the means of grace and public worship.

Mirzapore.

Constrained to visit China for the purpose of regaining health, the Rev. J. Vaughan reviewed on the voyage the work of the year, and found many grounds for thankfulness in connexion with it. The street preaching had been supplemented by services in a chapel opened within the year, and the congregations often included persons belonging to the higher classes. In the visitation of Native gentlemen, the intelligent Brahmin Pundit Nehemiah sometimes accompanied the Catechist, and thus, by his Christian meekness and simplicity, exercised a most salutary influence. Ten adults, all Hindus have been admitted into the Christian Church in the course of the year. A greater number might have been received, but the Missionary rightly thinks that "one real convert is worth more to the Church than a hundred doubtful ones." How far the Native Church has exceeded the expectations of the Missionary who has fostered it, may be gathered from Mr. Vaughan's own language:—

"One real convert worth more than one hundred doubtful ones."

As regards the respectability, manliness and independent feeling of our people, a really striking advance is noticeable. Indeed, in these respects our people now present quite a contrast to what they were some years ago. The miserable, cringing dependence of that day has gone. Instead of their constantly crying, "Give, give," now they would be ashamed either to beg or to receive. Then the idea of their subscribing for their own church would have been scouted as utterly absurd; now all admit that to give of their substance to God is a moral and religious duty.

Independent feeling on the increase.

They have, moreover, reduced this improved conviction to practice. If any one had told me, even four years ago, that the poor Mirzapore congregation would give 60*l.* a year out of their own pockets, I should have been disposed to smile incredulously; yet they have done that and more. From their contributions, supplemented from other sources, we have realized for the Pastorate Endowment Fund no less a sum than 5000 Rs. Nearly 4000 Rs. of this amount have been expended in the erection of substantial pukka houses for the Native Christians to live in. These houses are all let, and bring in a rental of 40 Rs. a month. God prospering us, we hope to add other houses by and bye. Thus, the prospect, which I almost thought Utopian once, of a competent endowment for the support of a Native Pastor, comes quite within the sphere of probability and hope.

Liberality of a Native Congregation.

The building of good houses for our people will benefit them in many ways. It will especially secure them against such a calamity as has befallen them twice in the last three years. The cyclone of 1864, and again the cyclone of Nov. 1, 1867, tore their frail dwellings to shreds, and exposed them to imminent peril of their lives.

Here I cannot help noting a fact to the credit of our people. In 1864 and 1867 they saw their houses ruined and their property destroyed. They knew, moreover, that funds were being freely distributed to relieve the poor and distressed; yet they asked for nothing. They left the Hindus and Mussulmans to enjoy the gifts of charity; whilst they, like noble Christians as they were, set themselves to repair their own losses as best they could.

The Brahmist movement, which commenced about twenty-five years ago, is graphically traced by Mr. Vaughan through its different stages of reliance on the four holy Vedas, on nature, on intuition, and the ultimate influence of this movement is estimated:—

The Brahmist movement.

It is very curious to trace the variety of phases which the Brahmist school of thought has exhibited. It is the old story over again; its whole history adds but one to the many lessons of experience, that man by searching cannot find out the Almighty to perfection. In this, as in every kindred effort of unaided reason, there has been a good deal of noise and energy and argument, a great show of common sense, of self-sacrifice, of yearning after the truth, of regard to moral obligations. For a considerable time there appears to be, and is, a kind of progress; but the fiat goes forth, "hitherto shalt thou go and no further." The proud seekers after truth go on well and hopefully up to a certain point. Reason, aided by certain glimmerings of Revelation, carry them a long way, but her limit is at length reached; then comes the test: if sincere, they will inevitably cast about for a divine guide; if not, they either lapse into indifference, or may be find their way back to the point whence they started. Both these results are being verified amongst the Brahmos of to-day. Brahmoism has run its course; it, as a distinct system, is in its dying throes. It commenced between twenty and thirty years ago by professing a rigid adherence to the teaching of the four holy Vedas. Those Reformers argued that those sacred books were of divine origin, and that they and they only contained the pure religion of their forefathers. The Puranas (they said) were the wood, hay and stubble of human conception, added in a later age. Hitherto there was no idea of breaking with Hinduism. The attempt was to restore it in its primeval integrity. For a few years, the ethics of the Vedas were the sole watchword of the Brahmists. Such they called themselves, as being the worshippers of Brahmo, the one supreme god, to the exclusion of every other name. But by and by a deeper insight into the teaching of the Vedas, quickened by the friendly attacks of Missionaries, gave birth to certain doubts as to the security of their position. Hereupon four pundits were despatched to Benares, in order that, by a thorough investigation into the claims of the Vedas, on such sacred ground, and in the midst of the most famous Hindu doctors, the question might for ever be set at rest. It was set at rest. After a close study of the subject for two years, the pundits returned with the declaration that a personal God and the grand distinctions between virtue and vice were unknown to the Vedas. The Vedas were forthwith given up. The Brahmos now betook themselves to external nature. They set themselves to find out God by studying that portion of His works which met their eye. They got on bravely for a time: fine essays were written and lectures given by all, to show how easy it was to learn about God from one leaf of Nature's book. They made out the Holy One to be nothing but love and kindness to all His creatures.

Decay of Brahmoism.

First the trust is in the Vedas.

Then external nature is trusted.

It needed but one stroke of the controversialist to shatter their theory. The more stern and terrible features of nature were pointed out to them: how were they to reconcile these with the notion of a God all love and mercy? Besides which, external nature said nothing of worship and duty.

Next intuition is adopted.

Ultimately that position was deserted. The next phase showed the Brahmos clinging to the rock of intuition. Now the cry was, "Listen to the voice of internal nature; she cannot mislead you."

Now the Brahmos bent their ears inward: what they heard they again preached and wrote; ominous sounds of discord were heard truly, yet they went on for a few years. Five years ago all agreed that God was too loving to punish, and that nothing but repentance was needed to procure a full and free pardon. Discussion by and by opened up a new light on the subject, and then the cry was heard from a large section—"No; God is just, and therefore must deal out a just meed of punishment to every sinner. He cannot freely forgive." In these, and many other respects, the Brahmos have been compelled to see that even internal nature utters an uncertain sound. They have sought the help of Parker, Newman, and others of their school; but again the sounds of clashing have fallen on their ears; whilst the varying theories of the different tribes of men was another feature hard to reconcile with the unity of nature's voice. Thus the poor Brahmos have, step by step, found themselves beset with difficulties. The ground has repeatedly given way beneath them. Their truest friends have hoped and prayed that ultimately they would find their way to the Word revealed and the Word incarnate. Very pretty things have they said of the Bible and of Christ. But, alas! a wide gulf has ever existed between them and the Gospel. A garbled Bible they could praise; a self-conceived Jesus they could reverence; but to the Bible as it is, and to the God Man set forth therein, they have ever experienced the deep, strong enmity of unrenewed nature.

Ground has repeatedly given way beneath the Brahmoists.

I should be very sorry indeed to say that no good has come out of the movement, and that no beneficial results will hereafter be witnessed. I think, and have always thought, that this is one of the many wheels which God has set in motion to work out His own glorious ends. There is no doubt whatever that this is a very important vibration of that mighty moral lever which, sooner or later, is to raise India from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sons of God. But "His ways are not as our ways, nor His thoughts as our thoughts;" therefore, without precipitation on the one hand, or despondency on the other, let us do our duty and wait His time. "Be still, and know that I am God."

College work and Native services.

While devoting himself mainly to secular instruction in the Cathedral Mission College, the Rev. J. Welland has ministered to the little congregation of which the Rev. C.

Bomwetsch had charge until his return to Europe. The difficulty of permanently interesting young students in the statements of Scripture and the refreshing influence of conducting services for the Native congregation, are noticed by Mr. Welland:—

In religious lessons we find the classes as they advance more difficult to interest; the novelty of the subject wears off; the fact that they have never grasped it, prevents their advancing to higher views of it, so that it necessarily loses in interest; but yet there are moments when it asserts its power, and at all events one feels that we have done the best we could for the students whether they will have it so or not. Since Mr. Bomwetsch left in February last I have had charge of his little congregation. This is an interesting and thoroughly ministerial work, but is not just at present of much Missionary importance. The more direct Missionary work I have not been able to carry on largely. Occasional street sermons, and the oversight of two or three Catechists, has been all my vernacular work in this direction.

Visitation of Natives at their residences.

Engaged principally in the Cathedral Mission College, the Rev. W. Hooper has been enabled to devote some time to the visitation of the Baboos of Calcutta in their own residences. To these efforts he thus refers:—

The work which has most delighted me this year is one which I can scarcely consider myself to have fairly embarked in yet, viz. that of visiting the Baboos here in their houses or lodgings. Though the reception which (not I, for I have always been received politely, but) my message has met with has been very various, yet I have a growing conviction that, of all the ways in all of which we are permitted to proclaim our Master in this land, while with none of them we are at all properly satisfied, this is after all the surest, most extensive, and certainly least expensive. There is something in the opportunity of private, unrestrained, unlimited conversation with those who at least know what reasoning is, and have a fair knowledge of things as they are in the world, something very precious and delightful.

After adverting to the little perceptible results of the Mission College operations, Mr. Hooper expresses his earnest desire for spiritual fruit in connexion with his labours:—

Another year has passed without any spiritual offspring to present to my Lord. I thought at one time I should have such offspring, and I still believe I shall some day. I know I do not deserve this blessing; and very likely the Master sees that I desire it not purely for His honour. If spared through another year, may I live more holily, and labour more diligently. The results I leave in His hands for whom I desire them.

Kidderpore.

The Native Minister, the Rev. M. S. Seal, has continued in charge of the Native congregation at this place. The new church, built and endowed by W. Dent, Esq., of London, has been consecrated by the Bishop of Calcutta. The Gospel has been preached in neighbouring villages and in bazaars. The conviction of the truth of Christianity seems to be extending, the confession of the Natives often being, "Our religion is false, and Christianity is of divine origin: if we wish to be saved we must become Christians." In addition to his duties as Pastor, Mr. Seal superintends twelve vernacular schools, containing nearly 600 children.

Native confession as to the truth of Christianity.

Agurparah.

The care of the small Native congregation and the schools of this station, has not prevented the Rev. T. Sandys, accompanied by the Rev. F. J. De Rozario and Native Readers, from visiting the inhabitants of other places, for the purpose of making known Christ. Sometimes advantage has been taken of the railway to proceed to a distant locality, and to call upon the better educated classes. The extent to which idolatry has lost its influence over these classes is mentioned by Mr. Sandys in connexion with one of these visits:—

Idolatry losing its influence.

We find many educated men who profess to have given up their trust in their many gods, and to have become Brahmists, or worshippers of one God only. We have many interesting conversations with such persons, when we endeavour to show the need of a divine Mediator, and that Jesus Christ is the only true Mediator between God and man.

Many of the places having been formerly visited by us, we generally meet with very friendly recognitions, and many willingly give their time to the discussion of the religious topics which we advance. In the case of the Brahmists we have no longer to show the vanity of idol-worship, but the need of a Mediator between God and man, and of an adequate atonement with a view to reconciliation with an offended God, and the pardon of sin. It seems that the Brahmist movement has greatly loosened many from the popular idols, although I have observed that many of the Brahmists continue the practice of idol-worship in their houses. These persons, when spoken to on the inconsistency of so doing, plead in excuse that they themselves no longer worship idols, but that the other members of the family still follow the old religion, hence they permit the usual idolatrous practices to be observed. We usually give a Gospel or some portion of the Holy Scriptures, or a suitable tract, to each person visited.

Among the respectable Native females, Mrs. Sandys, assisted by a Native female Christian teacher, has carried on a work which promises to exercise much influence on the future moral condition of the people. Mr. Sandys, when alluding to the improvement of female education in his own district, dwells upon its important bearing on the future of India :—

Work among Native Females.

I ought to mention, as an encouraging feature in our work here, that Mrs. Sandys has been enabled, during the past few months, to gain access to the female part of a number of respectable Native families in the neighbourhood, to whom she has been going almost daily, in the afternoon, generally accompanied by a Native Christian female teacher, when she gives instruction to the groups of girls and women who assemble from several families in the vicinity, evidently desirous of learning to read.

I consider that the desire of the upper classes to obtain instruction for their wives and daughters, or at least the desire of the wives and daughters of the upper classes to obtain instruction, is one of the most cheering signs of the times in reference to the general amelioration of the condition of the Native community. The instruction being generally given through the medium of Christians, cannot fail to produce a favourable impression in respect to that religion which influences their teachers to labour for their welfare. For some years past now, the instruction of Native females in Calcutta by Zenana teachers has been carried on, and it is likely, by degrees, to spread throughout the country, so that, ere long, it may be no longer considered that dense ignorance is a mark of respectability in a Native female, but that it will be considered that some degree of learning and ability is essential to the formation of a truly respectable and estimable character. The efforts of Christians should, I think, now be principally devoted to the advancement of Native female education and improvement.

If the females be now, by God's blessing, elevated to their proper status in the family, moral improvement and advancement in civilization will doubtless take place, and it may be hoped that the minds of some, if not many, may become opened to the influence of divine truth, and enabled to seek the salvation offered in the Gospel. It is doubtless in this hope that Christians labour in this cause, and no labour, however long it may be before the object seems to be attained, will be without producing, through God's grace and blessing, the desired result, if it be only carried on in the spirit of prayer, and a firm reliance on the Divine promises.

Widow of a Native schoolmaster manages a Native Female School.

Connected with the views thus enunciated by Mr. Sandys, the fact may be noted that five adult females have been baptized during the year. The management of a Native female school by the widow of a Native schoolmaster is a point of cognate interest :—

A Native female school is kept up at Rajahaut, under Ruth, the widow of Netra Chand, our late master of the vernacular school here. The usual attendance is about twenty-five. Ruth has also gained access to Native females of families who do not send their children out to school, and she intructs them at their homes, which she visits at stated times for that purpose.

The progress and present state of the Anglo-vernacular school are stated by the Rev. F. J. De Rozario, who alludes also to the efficiency of the Native teachers, and the spiritual instruction given in the school:—

State of the Anglo-vernacular School.

The Report for 1866 showed 276 students on the rolls for December of that year. This number kept increasing, and came up to 334 in July last; but decreased as usual during the rains. Thirty-four Christian lads, in consequence of their removal to Burdwan, and forty-two others, left school during the year, leaving on the rolls, in December last, 258. The average daily attendance from January to August was 235, and from August to the end of the year, 200. The entrance class commenced the year with sixteen select students from the Preparatory class, and three others that had failed at the Entrance Examination—nineteen in all. Eight of these left school within May and October; and the rest, eleven in number, were sent up to the Entrance Examination after the usual test in connexion with the Cathedral Mission College. One of these, who was sick in October, was tested privately. It is gratifying to state that eight out of the eleven candidates have passed, one in the first division, four in the second, and three in the third. All the other classes have been duly prepared to take the places of the higher ones successively as the entrance class goes out; yet promotion from one class to another depends upon the result of an annual private examination of the whole school, whereby also prizes are determined to the most proficient. The elements of Sanskrit have been introduced in some of the classes, so as to enable the entrance class for 1870 to pass in that language in order to be eligible to junior scholarships.

Indefatigable labour of Christian head master during 25 years.

The staff of teachers has continued without any change. Babu Guruchurn Bose, Christian head master of the school for more than twenty-five years, has been as indefatigable as ever, and much of the success of this Institution is due to his persevering exertions. It affords me much pleasure to testify of the assistant teachers also, that they are not eye servants: they act by nobler principles instilled by the Gospel in most of them when they were pupils in this school, and indeed in all of them by the reading and hearing of sound Christian morality in the weekly teachers' Bible class, and by Saturday lectures to the whole school. It is by the united earnest endeavours of all the teachers, that the efficiency of the school is kept up, and the pupils are stimulated to application and successful industry.

BURDWAN.

There is no material change in the work at Burdwan. The events of former years have been, for the most part, repeated. The sower has gone forth to sow with diligence and regularity, but not often has he returned with the joy created by successful labour. Yet the heart is sustained amid hope deferred, as is evident from the Rev. A. P. Neele's remarks :—

During the evenings of most days in the week I am somewhere in the town of Burdwan, either to preach or to call upon people in their houses. Thursday evening is given to preaching in the town chapel. On Wednesday my voluntary Bible class is held. On Tuesday evening I conduct the prayers at the Christian boys' school; on this day, therefore, and on others, when time does not admit of town preaching or visiting, I go to some of the many neighbouring villages. I have nothing special to report in connexion with the preaching of the Gospel. We grieve to say that it does not appear to come "with demonstration of the Spirit" and with power. We meet occasionally with angry opponents; but more frequently with quiet yet altogether indifferent hearers. Still we are not deterred from our work: the Gospel is preached as a witness; the knowledge of the truth grows; a persuasion that Christianity will eventually prevail extends; secret believers exist; while many are deterred from professing their faith simply by a view of the certain social degradation which awaits them, together with the probability of being cast upon a foreign Missionary for support. The danger is, lest we should tacitly acquiesce in this state of things; and against this we constantly strive in prayer and labour.

But while the multitudes have not perceived either their need of a Saviour or the salvation provided in Him, one convert has discarded a system providing "no atonement" for the Gospel which sets forth Christ crucified :—

Spiritual history of a high caste Brahmin convert.

The convert Krishna is a Brahmin of high caste; his father was a leading Pundit at Santipore, the great seat of Brahminical learning in Bengal. Various causes have, in the good providence of God, worked together to produce his conversion to Christianity. His father, though an influential Hindu, and a "Guru," was a liberal-minded man, who had often conversed with Christian Missionaries. He always said his sons should be free to follow their convictions in matters of religion. Krishna, after leaving school, was sent to a Government Training College, presided over by a Native teacher of particularly enlightened views, but not a Christian. Here it was that Krishna's faith in Hinduism was completely shaken, and he became a believer in the Brahmist system. He was, however, at heart discontented, and this especially because that system afforded no hope or plea to a conscience burdened with a sense of sin:

it provided no atonement. Meanwhile a younger brother, who had been a pupil in a Missionary English school, had embraced Christianity: this drew his attention more strongly to Christ. Fear, however, restrained him from an open confession of faith, and he strove against his convictions. Twice he set out from his home to seek a Missionary, and twice his resolution failed him, and he returned. At length he made up his mind to come to Burdwan, as it was at a distance from his home and Hindu friends, and he hoped the place would suit his health, which was at that time very poor. It was thus that he met with the first-mentioned convert, who, in his turn, brought him to me. After a period of probation, he, too, was admitted to the Christian Church by baptism. Krishna has exhibited many signs of sincerity in his profession of faith in Christ; his belief is a steady and intelligent one. He has had to give up much in embracing Christianity. He is now regarded as an outcast by those who looked up to his father as a God. He fears to visit his parental home, as he might be forcibly driven away by the neighbours; or, if this did not occur, he would be admitted only into the outer court of the house, and would not be able to obtain an interview with his own wife.

KISHNAGURH.

The year has been eventful to the Rev. C. H. Blumhardt, whose knowledge of Abyssinia, from which he was expelled as a Missionary thirty years ago, induced the Government to make liberal offers for securing his presence in the expeditionary force. Mr. Blumhardt, however, preferred the continuance of his Missionary duties in Kishnagurh, but prepared a small vocabulary in English, Urdu, and Amharic, together with a rudimentary grammar in the latter language, for the use of those engaged in the expedition.

Indifference to the message of the Gospel.

Indifference to the message of the Gospel seems to characterize the great majority of those to whom Mr. Blumhardt ministers, but the work is continued in faith and prayer. There are 78 communicants out of a Native community of 339, and the Native congregation has raised ninety rupees for the Pastoral Fund. One passage from Mr. Blumhardt's correspondence is selected:—

Public preaching in the town and bazaars is daily attended to, and generally there are many hearers, not many gainsayers and opponents. The soil has been so often ploughed up, and the good seed sown, that the people are accustomed to hear the Gospel truths, and many even like to hear it, but yet their hearts are closed so far that they do not come forward and embrace Christ. Every morning two of my readers go into the neighbouring villages round the town to preach to the people; and their reports, which I receive daily, both as to the subject they preach about and the attendance they generally have, is very encouraging; but we need the Spirit of God to open the hearts, like that of Lydia, to listen to the Gospel savingly.

The various schools under the superintendence of Mr. F. Gmelin have been continued. The account of the working of the schools arrived too late for the present Report.

KAPASDANGA.

A wide field, embracing Kapasdanga, Rottenpur, Bollobpur, Solo, Joginda and Chupra, has claimed the attention of the Rev. F. Schurr. The Native Catechists have earnestly discharged their duties, and the condition of the congregation has consequently been improved. The famine of 1866 seems to have terminated the system of gratuitous temporal assistance to the Native Christians, and the effect of compelling those in poverty to perform work for the relief afforded by benevolence has contributed to create a more manly and independent feeling. The spell of dependence has been broken, and activity has arisen. A large majority of the 4455 Christians in the district are still unrenewed in heart; yet the preaching of the Gospel is exercising a beneficial influence, and the efforts made to render the Native Church more independent, are not without encouragement, though on this subject the history of the past constrains to moderate expectations. Mr. Schurr announces, as will be seen from annexed quotations, an advance in spiritual life:—

Improvement in the Native Congregation.

The Sunday services are well attended, and most Christians keep the Sabbath holy, though a considerable number in several villages desecrate it by working in the fields, against which, however, I constantly protest, and have latterly seen some improvement. Many of the Christians have begun to edify themselves by devotional meetings at night, held alternately in their houses; also some mothers exercise a blessed influence upon their family circles, for which thanks be rendered to God, who is the Giver of all good. Several of the female teachers, and two other women, act as Bible women—only two of the former being paid a small sum for their work by a kind lady in England—visiting the houses of Christian, Hindu and Mohammedan women in the surrounding villages, and finding great acceptance, both among men and women, many requesting them to come again, deploring their ignorance, when they contrast it with the intelligence of these educated women. A few Christians have died in reliance on the Saviour; one recently at Bollobpur, who had been a school girl of Rottenpur, and read and prayed with the family every night, which has evidently been blessed to their souls.

Native females acting as Bible women.

Operations connected with schools for the heathen are succinctly stated by Mr. Schurr:—

There are eleven heathen schools in connexion with the six Mission stations in this district. They exercise a beneficial influence upon the whole heathen community by softening down old prejudices; and it is a most pleasing fact, that, with the exception of two assistants, all the teachers are Christians, as the heathen parents offer no more opposition to them as Christians, nor to the reading of God's holy Word. Young men educated in our schools have obtained respectable employments, and are, on the whole, more truthful and moral than others, believing the Christian religion to be true, and only waiting (as they say) for the time when they will be independent. How far this is the truth the future will prove. However, when preaching now we meet with no opposition, and more respectful and earnest attention than some years ago.

Influence of the schools.

BHAGULPORE.

Little change is to be recorded in connexion with this station. The congregation is small. The schools contain 370 children, and Native Christians render a larger amount of assistance in the work of instruction than might be expected from so small a Native congregation. Some effort has been made in the direction of self-support. The Rev. E. Drœse, earnestly desires to transfer the management of the Mission to other hands, and to devote himself entirely to preaching to the heathen.

SANTHAL MISSION.

The success among the Santhal people has been such as to cause thankfulness for the present aspect of the work, and expectation of still greater results in the future. The Rev. W. T. Storrs can state that, in every month of the year, some have been added to the Christian Church. The Gospel is making progress, and, as a consequence, opposition has been manifested by the heathen. The Native Christians, though for the most part poor, have contributed liberally to a general fund for religious purposes. Special offerings have been made towards the erection of a new church. The Gospel of St. Matthew, translated by the Rev. E. L. Puxley into Santhali, is now passing through the press in Calcutta, and its circulation is expected to give an impulse to the evangelistic work throughout the district. The Rev. W. T. Storrs thus reviews the labours of the year:—

Progress in the Mission.

At Taljhari itself there has seemed to me to be a growing spirit of real piety, and I often feel greatly encouraged as I look on the eager, attentive faces of my congregations there. My two Catechists there are both most loveable and true Christians, men not of so much energy or talent, as men of real piety, thoroughly trustworthy; men whom I can treat as real friends, and with whom I can in this lonely place feel that I have not lost the communion of saints. My readers, generally, are not so satisfactory, but one or two of them are very valuable men, with much heavenly wisdom and real earnestness. Among the Santhal Christians all the older men, who, from their age and position, might have had some influence, and whom I might have put in some authority, are so entirely uneducated, unable to read or write a letter, that I cannot make them the spiritual leaders in their villages; and all the better educated and more intelligent are so young that I cannot leave them to stand alone, nor will the people listen to them as they would to those of more mature age. The Christians are so scattered,—a large number being forty miles or more from Taljhari, with a country between them and us which is for many months in the year almost impassable,—that I cannot keep up the perpetual supervision of them which is necessary. Those who only know the plains of India can have no idea of the difficulties of travelling about in this district. The Gospel is gaining ground so steadily, that without some very competent assistance I cannot carry on the work. This week I have had the happiness of baptizing nearly sixty people, who have been waiting for baptism for some months, but the roads were so bad, and I so weak, that I could not reach them. Once I started, but was attacked with fever on the road, and obliged to turn back, after lying four days ill in a little shed. Even at this time of the year the country is impassable on horseback; Native carts even cannot pass; and the sheds in which we put up (I am writing this letter in one of them) are full of holes, through which the rain comes, and are such places as no one would use for a cow-shed in England. I do not write of this as a hardship, for it is no hardship at all, but a great pleasure to me to wander about among the people in this way. There is evidently a feeling among the heathen that we are steadily increasing, and, in consequence, there is much more bitter feeling against us than when I first came into this district, four years ago. There seems to me to be a very wide open door here, and that it is not improbable that another year or two may see an overwhelming amount of work for two or three Missionaries. I am very anxious at once to begin to make the people support entirely their own ministry. At Taljhari, where most of my agents reside, there is a very commendable spirit of liberality. All subscribe monthly to a general fund, and, besides that, I have not unfrequent additional offerings. My head Catechist returned me his whole month's pay in August, as his offering towards the church which I hope to begin to build next month. One of the teachers' wives gave me, a few days ago, six shillings, as her churching offering, out of a pay of two pounds per month. I hope all are beginning to learn the pleasure of giving, and as soon as we have a Native Pastor here, which I hope may be very soon, I am sure they will gladly give for his support according to their means. This is among the teachers, &c., at Taljhari, who are principally Hindustanis and Bengalis. As to the Santhals, they are so poor that we must not expect very much, but already they have begun to give something, and will give more. I teach them to look to me for nothing but spiritual instruction; and I never fail to tell them, that, as regards temporal matters, even connected with the church, such as building, &c., they must act for themselves. It will be difficult to stand out on this point, but I am determined to do it from the first. Almost all the Santhal Christians are simple agriculturists, and though not wealthy, yet with the temperate habits which Christianity will bring with it, they will not be really indigent; and I think I can already see an improvement among the Christians in the clean clothes and better material which they wear than their heathen neighbours. I have given no encouragement in the way of support or help in any way to those who wish to become Christians. Those who come into Taljhari as inquirers or catechumens bring their food with them: I will not even lend them a single pice. On Sunday I have two Hindi, and one Santhali service. As soon as I get an ordained helper, I shall transfer one or both the Hindi services to him, and take two Santhali services myself. The attendance at the Santhali service has been steadily increasing; many heathen attend it as well as Christians: this service has been a great encouragement to me. The Training School is much smaller than it was. I have weeded out of it many young men who had no capacity for teaching. Nearly half the young men in it at present are Christians, and in most places in the villages they have been the means, under God, of first awakening the people, and bringing them to Christ. The village schools have not prospered this year: I could not get a good inspector, and without competent inspection they are a failure. I have now succeeded in making what I hope will prove a really good arrangement for inspection. My wife has had a very successful mothers' meeting once a-week, quite a happy gathering, never less than twelve or fourteen present. She has also an infant school, in which she is the only teacher, but is trying to instruct a Santhal girl to help her. There are two or three Santhal young women who have begun to learn to read; and as soon as the people get the Gospel printed in their own tongue, I feel sure there will be a great impulse given to reading. The Gospel of St. Matthew, most admirably translated by Mr. Puxley, is now being printed in Calcutta; and I hope the Psalms, which he translated, may be printed next year. I do trust the Society will not curtail the expenses of this Mission. There is nowhere more promising work in North India, and if we do not take advantage of the opportunity God has given us here now, we may find the door closed against us by the ever-increasing efforts which Satan is making, by means of Hinduism, to entangle these simple people more firmly in his net.

Translation of St. Matthew into Santhali.

The Bishop of Calcutta confirmed eighty-eight Santhal converts at Taljhari early in December last. There has been spiritual prosperity in the Mission. In the course of the year 180 baptisms have taken place, and the baptized have remained in the villages where they lived before embracing Christianity, instead of crowding into the Mission compound, according to the system so common in India, and so injurious to the development of independent character among the converts.

Some particulars of the Santhal Mission have been received from Mr. Storrs since he transmitted his review of the work for the year. From the quotations now made, and more especially from the one which is dated early in the present year, it will be seen that the movement continues :—

Increase of converts.

Nov. 2, 1867 — I have been immensely encouraged during these few days by seeing the way in which Christianity is spreading. The name of Christ is spreading quietly from family to family; and I have had the happiness of baptizing about seventy persons since last Sunday. On this day week, about three o'clock, I rode to a village called Chlunchli, and spent a long time in examining inquirers; and on the following evening (Sunday) I went again and baptized them—I think about forty souls. They all had already undergone a little trial of scoffing and petty persecution, and I hope really believe that Christ is their Saviour. . . . . Tuesday and Wednesday I spent in examining candidates for baptism and confirmation; and the next evening, under the shade of a gigantic cotton-tree, baptized twenty-one more souls in the pretty river Gumani. . . . . On Friday afternoon I rode in the rain to a village three miles off, examined some inquirers, and again, the next day, I went and baptized them among some rocks in the river—twelve souls.

Confirmation of converts by the Bishop of Calcutta.

Dec. 8—Bishop of Calcutta's confirmation. A good number came—ninety-six—all of them from a distance of at least twenty miles, many of them from a distance of more than forty miles, bringing their food with them, being two days on the road here. I did not admit all these to confirmation: some were too young, some too recently baptized; and, indeed, including all the people here and in the immediate neighbourhood, I only presented ninety-eight candidates. On Sunday, at the afternoon service, there must have been nearly three hundred present. On Monday afternoon the Bishop arrived in a special train, which stopped opposite our house. . . . . He inspected the site for the church, and said he had never seen a place which seemed so exactly made to build a church upon. He has promised to do what he can for it, and to send all the necessary communion-plate, as soon as possible; and that he will have a collection for the church in the Cathedral, and will himself give another donation. . . . . After the confirmation was over the Bishop examined the Training School (for the preparation of Native schoolmasters and Clergymen), and said repeatedly that he was greatly surprised to find that it was so good, and that these rough Santhals should know so much.

Dec. 30—This afternoon I baptized more than twenty people. How happy I ought to be! Oh, how many Missionaries would give any thing to have the encouragement which God has given me! . . . . . I stand, and look, and wonder.

Baptism of twenty persons.

Jan. 2, 1868—I feel we have a special claim here. Others ask for money that there may be a work. I ask because there is a work. I have not counted our number every Sunday afternoon, but my impression is that it must be nearly two hundred, if not quite; and some come four miles to church—women with babies even! There are now nearly four hundred Santhal Christians, where, three years ago, there were only three.

Plea for special help because a great work exists.

II. North-west Provinces.

The North-west Provinces comprise eleven principal Districts, viz. Agra (commenced 1813); Meerut (1815); Benares (1817); Gorruckpore (1823); Juanpore (1831); Kotgurh (1847); Jubbulpore (1854); Lucknow (1858); Allahabad (1859); Azimgurh (1861); Fyzabad (1862).

ALLAHABAD.

Disappointments experienced.

Disappointment has been experienced by the Rev. Brocklesby Davis, both with reference to some of the Native agents and to some of the inquirers. In other respects there has been encouragement, the bazaar preaching having been successfully continued, and the schools showing increased efficiency. Mrs. Davis has taken charge of the city girls' school. Concerning the various schools, the Christian congregation, and the visit of the Bishop of Calcutta, Mr. Davis writes:—

Our schools have made some progress, especially the Anglo-vernacular school, in our compound, which now contains about twenty more pupils than it did at the end of the year. The bazaar schools—i.e. those in which only the vernaculars are taught—are now one more in number; but as another has rather fewer scholars, owing to the American school opened in its vicinity, which has been alluded to in previous letters, the number of boys on the whole is about the same as it was before. We are hoping—as I mentioned in my last quarterly note—to get up a good building for the first-mentioned school, but of course cannot begin it till some way has been made in raising the necessary funds, towards which steps are now being taken. The Christians in our village have, upon the whole, gone on satisfactorily under the care of their Native Pastor. They were all assembled to dinner in my compound at the time of the Bishop's visit about a month ago, and were much pleased at having a few words addressed to them by him on the occasion, in Hindustani. His Lordship also examined our schools, and expressed himself much pleased with them. At the confirmation, which he afterwards held in our congregation, twenty professed their faith, and ratified their confession before the Church. May the solemn season be a time much to be remembered by them, and a commencement of consistent walk before God and his people!

JUBBULPORE.

Preaching among the Gonds.

While devoting his main energies to the schools, the Rev. E. Champion has given some time and effort to the preaching of the Gospel among the Gonds. This itinerating work is, as will be seen from the subjoined quotation from Mr. Champion's review of the year, regarded by him as full of interest and promise:—

In reviewing my work during the past year, I place the efforts among the Gonds first, because the work among them is most loved; not because it had occupied me most. As will presently appear, schools have drawn largely on my time, and yet I have rescued enough to make two tours among these interesting people. Moreover, as I have before informed the Committee, I wish the work among the Gonds to be both first and last—to be my one great work; and for this I patiently, but not less earnestly, look. Still, having actually done so little of this work as yet, it cannot be a matter of surprise that I have little to say about it. This much, however, I can say, that a deeper acquaintance with these people, and even with the same individuals, leaves my confidence in their simplicity and truthfulness unshaken; and, which is much more, I still find that they are as teachable as ever, and that they listen with the most hopeful attention to the simple truths of the Gospel. Between this and Mandla is a tract of country inhabited almost entirely by the Gonds—in which I am now pretty well known—where I am received without that dread which generally takes hold on the timid Gond on the approach of a stranger. In going about in this district, if one wish more than another has possessed me all along, it is to make the future Gond church properly independent of European support. I have confidence in myself, that, by God's assistance, I may be able to do this; and therefore I have asked the Calcutta Corresponding Committee to leave this part (a small one) towards Mandla entirely to me, that I may work out my ideas and plans uninterruptedly. But when shall I be able to give a sufficient amount of attention to this work? When the Society, by sending a Missionary to take entire charge of our important schools here—of which, I think, I shall be able to show they are fully worthy—sets me free.

The sum of what I have been able to do among the Gonds is this:—I have made myself known in a number of villages and to a number of villagers as a friend who has their best interests really at heart, and who treats them with the utmost justice and consideration; while, on the other hand, I have taken no steps even in the smallest matter, that enabled them to form undue expectations, or to cherish a spirit of undue dependence. If this is little, I do hope it is, as far as it has gone, good and sound work—a good foundation for the future.

The wide influence exercised by nine schools, containing nearly 700 scholars, and the Missionary spirit in which the instruction is given, is evidenced in the following paragraph penned by the Rev. J. Stuart:—

School work.

Our schools are now nine in number, and contain nearly 700 scholars. The large English school in Low Gunge—the mother school—has continued the even tenour of its way, making, I hope, steady progress. We have just sent five boys to the entrance examination of the Calcutta University. We do not know the result yet, but the mere fact that so many were thought likely to pass, shows the educational standard we aim at, and with what approximate success we do so. It must be confessed that the apparent results of our spiritual work are not nearly so hopeful. One boy professes to be ready for baptism when certain hindrances are removed; this is all we can point to. Yet we believe that the results which are not apparent are by no means unimportant. Who shall measure the silent working of God's word with which we strive to permeate the hearts of these boys? Who shall calculate the ultimate effects of that Divine truth which is like the wind in its operations,—silent and unseen, but most powerful and real nevertheless? The Sudder Bazaar school has dropped to the standard of a large branch school, which perhaps is not to be regretted, as it makes up a system of branch schools, together with seven others, which have become connected with the Mission during the year. Of these, five were taken over at the request of the Director of Public Instruction, and Government has sanctioned a grant of 45 Rs. a month for their support. Two others have been added, to make the system of branch schools, as feeders to the parent school, more complete. These eight branch schools, scattered about the town, and connected with the large school, will, it is hoped, when time has sufficiently consolidated the arrangement, present a very perfect and efficient network, which will enable us to compass and influence the youth of the whole town in a way which is permitted to few Missions. There is now no Government school, and only one Native one of any size or importance, in Jubbulpore, so that we have nearly the whole field before us.

Influence of an able and earnest convert from Mohammedanism.

The Christian conduct, intellectual power, and extending influence of a convert from Mohammedanism who retains his position in the Government service are especially noticed:—

Of my dear friend and brother, Moulavie Safdar Ali, I am thankful to say that my most sanguine anticipations are fully realized in him. He is the same as ever, wise, and kind, and earnest, ever ready to be about his Master's business, and yet always speaking and acting in the wisest, quietest way, "giving none offence;" "speaking the truth in love." In a convert from Islam this is very remarkable: in dealing with Mohammedans it is most important. For reasons which I thoroughly approve, he declines at present to become a Mission agent. He thinks he will have more opportunities of doing good while in his present position, and that what he is able to do will be more influential. Especially it shuts out that explanation of his change of religion which would destroy its whole moral effect, viz. that he became a Christian for the sake of Mission employment. When at Agra, he paid a visit to the Rajah of Dhowalpore, in whose state his father occupied the honourable position of judge of the Mohammedans. The Rajah asked some of his attendants what position the Moulavi then occupied, and on being informed that he was Inspector of Schools, just as he was before, he replied, "Did I not say he was not the kind of man to become a Christian for the sake of service?" He is constantly visited by people for religious conversation. This is more frequent when he is out on a tour in the villages than in Jubbulpore, as there is an old Moulavie there who warns people from going, telling them that they are no match for Safdar Ali. On one occasion he had to put up in a shed in which an European also took shelter. The latter (who appears to have been a Mormon), mistaking him for a Mussulman, took the opportunity to speak against the Bible and Christianity, fully expecting a hearty response. He found, however, that the Mohammedan, as he appeared to be, knew more of the Bible, its history and evidences, than he did, and at last withdrew his statements, and attempted to cover his discomfiture by declaring he was not in earnest in what he said. His "Niyāz-nāma," or letter to his "Mussulman brethren" (it is really a book of 300 pages), has been out some time, and is much sought after by those who know him in different parts of the country, and one reply (or more) is being written. I hope much, under God's blessing, from the loving and conciliatory tone in which he writes.

BENARES.

"A measure of strength" is, through the mercy of God, acknowledged by the Rev. W. Smith, who has so long laboured at this place. Itinerating was undertaken during the cold season, and some incidents are recorded which show that the foundations of false systems are shaken:—

Foundations of error shaken.

I have hope of the Gosain at one place. He has approached much nearer to us. He says he can find no satisfaction in Vedantism, and he laughs at idolatry. He told an amusing story of some one bringing images of the gods to his village for sale, the price of one being 11 Rs., of another 9 Rs., and so on; and added, "I dared not laugh before the people at the idea of giving a year's profit of a field for one of these things, so I turned away, and walked off in disgust." There is a young Brahmin of the same place who appears promising, and an uncle of his, who, it appears, is very fond of our books.

I went to another place, and saw the son and grandson of a Pundit, who, many years ago, seemed on the point of becoming a Christian. He died some years ago, I would fain hope, in the faith.

Disappointment is often experienced by the Missionary, and loss of faith in a false system does not necessarily lead to a real comprehension of Christian truth:—

Loss of faith in a false system does not always lead to the adoption of Christianity.

My morning work is becoming more and more conversational rather than preaching. Men, Hindu and Mussulman, have applied for baptism, professing their unbelief in their own religions, the former, I believe, quite sincerely. But I have no heart to baptize those who manifest no proper perception of the nature of sin and of God's holiness, and the need of Divine help, and no desire for it. With two Brahmins we have been grievously disappointed. They had come from a distance, and one of them especially had again and again expressed his determination to be baptized, and used to attend morning and evening service in the city on Sundays. But he has discontinued it all within the last few weeks. I suspect that threats and fair promises have prevailed against him.

The Rev. C. B. Leupolt has continued to preach to the heathen, to superintend schools, and to assist the Native Pastor, the Rev. D. Solomon. Almost all the Native Christians subscribe to the Church Fund, and responses have been freely made to appeals for special charitable purposes. The local Church Missionary Association has raised 15,981 Rs. The influence of the Gospel over the native mind is thus represented by Mr. Leupolt, whose experience enables him to compare the past and present:—

Present conviction of many as to religion.

There are many who acknowledge Christianity to be superior to their own religion, not from any undefined and vague ideas which they possess of the truth, but from the deep conviction, that if there be a revealed religion, that religion is Christianity.

The Gospel is a leaven, leavening the thinking population, and that leaven assimilates their minds to its own nature; and with many it has done far more than they themselves are aware of. Young Hindustan will set aside idolatry as degrading to human nature, if not in practice always, in theory at least; the Puranas are held in low esteem; defenders of Hinduism cling to the Vedas, because the contents of these are unknown. They conceive that the Vedas hold the substance of those views which the Brahma Somaj confesses, though I have more than once heard young men acknowledge with a smile, that perhaps Christianity may be the real source, and not the Vedas.

Some on the threshold of the Church do not enter.

There are some who stand on the threshold of the church of Christ, but have not strength and courage enough to enter. They have become conscious of the effects which the Gospel has produced on their minds. They profess to pray, and certainly speak like Christians. One of them wrote the other day to a friend of his, urging him to be baptized at once, as time was short, and salvation of unspeakable value and importance. In meeting four Baboos the other day, one of them made the following remark about the Bible—"If the Bible declared that every one who was good, kind and holy, and loving every one would be loved by all men, I should say the Bible is not true, for I see that such is not the case; but because the Lord says, 'All men will hate you if you follow me, never mind how good and holy and loveable you may be,' I say the Bible is true, for such is the case. The Bible is the only book which describes things as they really are, and therefore I say the Bible is the Word of God." When you pray for us, pray for these men also, that the Lord may strengthen them, and enable them, by His grace, to confess the name of Jesus.

The various school operations in which Mr. Leupolt has, to a greater or less extent, been engaged, are mentioned; the success in the girls' school having exceeded the expectations formed at its commencement:—

In the educational department I have likewise taken a share in teaching and superintending:—

(1.) Orphan Boys' School—We have, at present, forty-six boys. They continue to attend the practising and model school. At the beginning of the year, six entered the normal school, and this year several are ready to follow them. The Lord is still with us. Several young men, who occupy honourable and responsible posts under Government, Pastors, Catechists, Readers and Teachers, have come from this Institution. For these mercies we praise the Lord. School operations

We continue our evening prayers twice a week together. For morning prayers they join the normal boys. On the Lord's-day they attend my Bible class. Thursday is appointed for examining the boys on the sermons of the previous Sunday. The boys chose Thursdays in preference to Monday, assigning as a reason that thereby they thought more on the sermons than they would otherwise do.

(2.) Normal Schools—(a) Male Department—This is in charge of Mr. Treusch. I merely help when my aid is required, advise when needed, and provide the ways and means for carrying on the work. The largest number of students Mr. Treusch had during the year was forty-seven: at present there are only thirty-six.

Whilst we have great cause to thank God for the excellent spirit that is manifested by the young men, Mr. Treusch has had his trials. He had to dismiss six of them—three had to return home on account of their health, and two left of their own accord. These trials are much more difficult for Mr. Treusch to bear than the hardest work that may devolve upon him.

(b.) Female Department—When we first started this school I never thought we should have above twenty girls, if so many, but, thank God, we have upwards of thirty, and very nice girls they are. Some of them, we hope, are Christ's; others well inclined. They enjoy excellent health, are cheerful and happy. Success of the girls' school.

The school is in charge of Miss Leupolt, but I am still Principal. The progress of the girls has been good. We call these schools Normal schools, but they are only such in part, as the pupils of both schools have first to be prepared for the Normal, or that branch of the school where the pupils are instructed how to teach.

At the close of last year, and in course of the present, we sent out seven girls as teachers: our whole first class was thereby broken up.

The Normal schools are an important field of labour. May all the young men and women sent forth from our schools be indeed Christ's, and labourers that need not be ashamed. This is the great end for which we unitedly pray and labour. The Lord help us to obtain the same.

(3.) Infant School—This keeps up its efficiency. It numbers seventy children. The children learn to read and write in Hindi and Urdu native character, and also a little English. The school continues a blessing to the Christian village.

After recording the conversion of a young Mohammedan, and recounting the difficulties and persecutions of a Hindu Brahmin convert, Mr. Leupolt mentions other signs of spiritual life in the city:—

Signs of spiritual life in Benares.

In the city there is a good deal of life at present. Two years ago a young Mohammedan, when among the Viceroy's followers, received a copy of St. Matthew. Later, he obtained a copy of the Din-i-haq, examined all the passages of the Koran, and learnt them by heart too, and lately he presented himself as an inquirer.

He is a Native Doctor, seems sincere, and is as bold as a lion. He is beset all day by the Mohammedans. Whilst bold, however, he is humble. Another young Moulwie has joined him, and this evening we are to have a great battle. A number of Mohammedans, knowing that on Tuesday evening I am at the Aurungabad chapel, will come and meet us. I am glad, and shall be glad if they come, for the Lord of Hosts is with us.

Our friend the Tahsildar, or Native Collector, has come back to Benares. He is anxious that his wife also should receive instruction. Mrs. Leupolt has met her several times. Another man is anxious too that his wife should join him, but I agree with Ram Chunder, that if their wives will not join them, it is their duty to confess Christ alone. The Lord help them and us.

Jay Narain's College.

About 500 heathen students in this College continue under the care of the Rev. H. D. Hubbard. The removal of European Missionaries from this Institution to Calcutta and Lucknow has caused the work to press heavily upon Mr. Hubbard, whose health and strength have, however, been maintained. He adverts to the spiritual stagnation in Benares, and, while deploring the apparent want of success, refers to the great preparatory work manifest to those who have long observed the course of events:—

In spite of our apparent want of success, I believe that there is a great preparatory work going on in the minds and feelings of the people regarding Christianity; and although the actual number of conversions is not much, if any, greater than it was perhaps twenty years ago, yet those who are able to make the comparison between that time and the present, speak of a wonderful change, both as to the way in which the preaching of the Gospel is everywhere received, and also as to the extent of knowledge of the facts and doctrines of Christianity manifested by the people, even in villages.

No doubt much of this is owing to the spread of education and the facilities of travel and intercourse afforded by the railways; but in whatever way it may be accounted for, it is a mark of progress, and so far it is encouraging. As to my own special work in the College, there is a marked improvement visible in the moral habits of the boys who come within one's influence. The majority of them are still young, and under the control of their parents and friends, who are naturally hostile to Christianity. And of those who are older, we find few willing to take up the cross, however convinced they may be of its necessity to salvation. They go on, many of them, I believe, hoping that something may turn up which will make the important step of baptism easier than it is at present.

We greatly need the prayers of the Church at home for an outpouring of God's Spirit upon our efforts, and their sympathy also in the great trial which this state of things is to us.

On the first day of the year the Rev. S. Carter reached this place. His attention has been chiefly given to the acquisition of the language, but sometimes he has assisted in Jay Narain's College, and sometimes he has accompanied Mr. Smith in his visits to the bazaar. Several attacks of fever have retarded his progress in the language, but health having been restored, he is expecting, at an early date, to pass the required examination.

AZIMGURH.

GORRUCKPORE.

The details of operations at Gorruckpore having been received much later than those from the other Mission stations, it is only possible to glance at the main features of the work. There is apparently little progress. Services have been energetically conducted, but the visible results have not been encouraging. The Missionary in charge deplores, while he acknowledges, the fact. The schools contain about 400 children.

FYZABAD.

In this place the influence of Mohammedanism is great. Few have renounced Islam and embraced Christianity. The character of the opposition shown by Mohammedans is evident from an incident mentioned by the Rev. C. Reuther:—

In the beginning of the year we made an itinerating tour into the district, and went as far as Allahabad. We preached the Gospel chiefly at Purtabgurh and Sultanpore. In these places we had been before, consequently we were recognised and well received by many. Our first visit had created a great stir among the Natives. Large numbers came to hear the Gospel. In the bazaars, as well as at our tent, they surrounded us, and many religious books were distributed. Among others, a New Testament had been given to a Native, who had since been baptized at Allahabad. For this reason the Mohammedans, on our second visit, looked on us with suspicion. They opposed us a good deal, and said, "You have taken our land, and now you try to take our religion too." But in the midst of all opposition, we felt that the word of God among them was quick and powerful, and that the day was not perhaps far distant when the Gospel would be to them not in word only, but also in the power and demonstration of the Holy Ghost.

Opposition of the Moslems.

AGRA.

In connexion with Agra may be mentioned the labours of the Rev. C. F. Schneider, who has, after many years' service at this place, retired to Landour, where he is engaged in preparing Hindustani works for the spiritual benefit of the Natives. He has also directed the studies of a Native teacher, who has combined with his studies the visitation of the people and the preaching of the Gospel to them. At the request of the Agra Missionary Conference, Mr. Schneider, accompanied by Mr. Däuble, made a tour through the Etah district, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it would be desirable to establish a Mission station at this place, through which the trunk road between Allahabad and Delhi passes. They were assisted by two Native readers and two colporteurs. The people were found willing to listen to the Gospel, and the Missionaries would rejoice if the Society's resources in men and means would permit the commencement of a Mission at Etah.

Tour through the Etah district.

Exclusive of out-stations, there are four stations superintended by the Rev. H. W. Shackell. He is able to announce a steady progress in the district. Concerning the Kuttra services and Church Council he writes:—

Services and Native Church Council.

There are prayers twice a day in the (Hindustani) city or Kuttra church, besides various prayer-meetings—one monthly, the rest weekly—at the houses of different members of the congregation. The attendance on the Sunday services has sensibly increased; so also has the number of communicants. Eight adults have been baptized during the year, including one student (of Christian parents) and one teacher of the Mission College. On the last day of December we conducted a midnight service in the church, commencing an hour before midnight: it was well attended, and seems to have been much liked. Our Church Council (to which the few subscriptions from the Muttra congregation are also paid) has now entered upon its second year of existence. During eight months of 1866 it was responsible for the salary of the Native Minister of Agra; for 1867 it has undertaken, in addition, the payment of 30*s.* monthly towards the salary of the Rev. K. M. Nundy, of Muttra. Its total income for the latter year will probably be about 1300 Rs. Of this the (Native) congregational contributions will amount to over 600 Rs., the rest being received from Bishop Wilson's Pastorate fund, an endowment, &c. The return of congregational contributions (Rs. 755 . 7 . 2) includes the offertories at the holy communion, as well as the value of new covers for the cushions in the church, generously given by one of the congregation.

An itinerating tour between Agra, Hatras and Muttra has been recently undertaken by the Rev. C. E. Vines, accompanied at one time by the Rev. H. W. Shackell, and at another by a teacher of the College. The Gospel preached received in some places attentive consideration, and in others was openly rejected.

St. John's College.

While the routine of school work has been continued as usual, three baptisms in connexion with the College have taken place. One of the persons baptized was employed as a Munshi, and had long been under the influence of the teaching of the Rev. J. Jacob, the Native Minister at Agra. Subsequently to his baptism he has, under the instruction of the Rev. C. E. Vines, made considerable progress in Christian knowledge.

Special efforts have been made to increase the amount of instruction in the Bible, and examinations have been held in the different schools for the purpose of forming a comparison between them in respect of Scripture knowledge. The influence, present and prospective, of Mission Colleges is represented by Mr. Vines:—

Present and prospective influence of Mission Colleges.

The experience of another year confirms me in the belief that our Mission Colleges and schools are exerting a great influence. It is difficult to meet with an educated young man who does not know something about Christianity, and many appear, from the questions they ask, to have thought about it. To-day I had a visit from a well-educated Hindu from Gazipoor, who said he could acknowledge Jesus as a good man and a prophet, but "he could not believe in Him as God. How could God be crucified? and why did not God, who was Almighty, employ some easier or simpler way of saving man?" Another young man, a Mohammedan, an old pupil of my own, paid me a visit lately on his return to Agra from the Punjab. He said also, "I cannot believe in Christ as God or the Son of God. I think he was the beloved of God." There are many young men in this condition of mind, of whom we might say they are not far from the kingdom of God. But what is Christianity if Jesus be any thing less than God? It is shorn of its strength, there is no more room for faith, no atonement has been made for sin, our labour is vain; but we do not doubt these truths, and therefore "we endure as seeing Him who is invisible." To Him we commit our work, who is God of gods, Lord of lords, the Alpha and Omega.

The statistics of the College are given in connexion with lectures on Christianity, one of which was delivered by the Bishop of Calcutta:—

The great hall of the College has on two occasions been used for lectures on subjects connected with Christianity by Mr. Tinling and the Bishop of Calcutta. On both occasions the claims of Christianity on the consideration of educated men, have been urged before large audiences, who are not reached by the ordinary machinery of Missions.

Number on the College rolls.

The average number on the College rolls during 1867 has been 353, the average attendance 322; the fees paid by the students during the year amounted to 2097 Rs. Those of a small branch school to 80 Rs. The number of candidates sent up for the University Examination this year is 17, a larger number than has been sent up in any previous year.

In the enjoyment of stronger health than formerly Mr. A. H. Wright has been actively engaged in the English department of St. John's College.

SECUNDRA.

The Rev. C. G. Däuble has continued in charge of the Secundra Orphanage, which contains about 330 children. The importance of this institution, in a Missionary point of view, is urged by Mr. Däuble, whose remarks are introduced by a glance at itinerating work in the Etah district:—

In November I made a tour with Mr. Schneider in the district of Etah, which our Agra Conference decided should be occupied by the Church Missionary Society. The district has in many places never been visited by evangelists, and in those places we and our message were received with great eagerness and attention. I met with several intelligent men, who were educated in Mission schools. Their number throughout the country is increasing, and some of them at least are always drawn towards a Missionary. They do most probably nothing direct in spreading the truth, but they carry about with them, unconsciously, a glimmer of light, visible in the surrounding darkness. But it is time I should say something of the Secundra Orphanage, where my work consists in watching over the temporal and spiritual interests of this Christian colony, with its schools, industrial establishment, and growing Native Church. My long-continued efforts to secure such assistants who would relieve me of the greater part of "the multitude of secular duties," necessarily connected with the management of such an esta-lishment, have at last been successful. A superintendent for the industrial establishment, a competent head master for the boys' school, and a head mistress for the girls' school, have, in answer to much prayer, been provided by our gracious Lord. If, for the growing Native Church, a worthy Native Pastor can in time be procured, the whole may be considered complete, and the Missionary, if not entirely relieved, will yet in no way be hindered from pursuing direct Mission work. Besides statistical results, I must not omit to draw your and the Parent Committee's attention to some facts, which may show that the superintendence of such an Orphanage is, far more so than the education of Hindus and Mussulmans, a legitimate branch of work for a Missionary Society. The mere existence of an institution like this is a glorious witness of the purity of Christ's religion against the immorality and degradation of the females, especially of heathen and Mussulmans. To Natives of this country, an institution where girls grow up to womanhood undefiled is a moral impossibility. Had these orphans not been taken in by the Missionaries, the girls, without exception, would have wandered over the country as so many prostitutes and slaves; the boys as thieves, slaves, eunuchs, &c. Let me quote a blind girl's letter to her friends in Ireland:—"When I was a heathen, I knew not God, and knew not good from evil. But now, thousand thanks to God that He has brought me, with His mighty arm, out from among the heathen, and granted me His knowledge. Now, I can discern good from evil." So, many slaves and instruments of the prince of darkness have been rescued from his power: some are trained to swell the number of Christian teachers, some to become in time evangelists, and a number to become honest artisans or cultivators; while the girls, as their wives, keep their house for them; if not, some are, as is now the case, employed as teachers. No one, who has the good of the heathen at heart, could possibly help rejoicing at the immense contrast of what these outcasts are and will be, to what they were and would be, if not rescued; much less could he object to Missionaries being employed in such a work of love, and Mission funds being spent in such an object. During the cholera season last year we observed a most marked improvement amongst the sick, since 1863, when we were first visited by that dreadful scourge. Several of those girls especially who had been in the institution for some years evinced that they knew in whom they believed, by the peacefulness with which they looked death in the face. The same feature has been witnessed at several death-beds in the Christian village.

Need of Orphanages.

A blind girl's testimony.

Peaceful deaths.

Allygurh.

The number of Native Christians connected with this station is small, and much consequently devolves on Mr. E. A. Steller, who, amid the pressure of his evangelistic work, is able to speak thus hopefully of the influence of Divine truth upon the community:—

The result of our labours cannot of course be distinctly set down as so much profit; yet if a conscientious man would come and compare the state of the Native mind concerning religion with what it was a few years ago, he would find that the Word of God is certainly effectual, now, as ever, to lighten the Gentiles. I am confident that the work of God is going on well indeed in this place; not that we can with any certainty calculate when the upheaving and spiritual revolution will have done its work, and the people, one and all, become the loyal subjects of their God and Saviour. The progress made, and the general tone of Native society, justify us in expecting great things: so much so, that I pray, hope, trust, that the Lord will give me grace to labour, and strength to last, till I see the most of the people of this district become the Lord's.

Accessions to the Christian Church.

The little Christian Church has been increased by the baptism of nine persons, received during the year from heathenism. In reference to the labours of one of these converts, and to the efforts of two Bible Society's colporteurs, and of two Bible women, Mr. Steller says:—

Converts and Colporteurs unite to make known the Gospel.

One of the converts is, I am happy to say, already proclaiming to his brethren the glad tidings of a crucified Saviour; and although at present not quite able to give the Gospel message in all its bearings a concise and tangible form, yet I trust that he will become a great help. Also, one of the first two converts the Lord vouchsafed to my preaching here is now daily trying to say something to the darkened, careless people to arouse them. Then, there is here the bearer at the English church, paid by Government, who comes regularly now to preach with us five times in the week, of his own accord. He is a zealous old man, and a good preacher. The two colporteurs of the Bible Society are also spreading the Word of God, both by preaching and selling it to the people. Mrs Steller, with her two assistants (Bible women), is trying to do her best among the Native women, and there seems to be some opening for them.

MEERUT.

Much attention to the Gospel seems, in this district, to be combined with much indifference to its doctrines. The spiritual stagnation is indicated by the baptism of only two adults during the year. A new outpost has, however, been occupied at Mowana, under hopeful circumstances, where the Tahsildar, or Native revenue officer, who is an earnest Christian man, is warmly interested in the advancement of Christ's kingdom. In October the Bishop of Calcutta confirmed seventy-one Native candidates, after having addressed them in their own language, the Hindustani. The general operations of the Mission, and the special Zenana work, are described by the Rev. C. T. Hœrnle:—

Confirmation of 71 candidates.

I am thankful to say, that in the midst of many trials and weaknesses from within and without, we have been permitted not only to keep intact the ground already occupied, but to push forward and extend the limits of our operations. The Gospel of Jesus Christ has been proclaimed throughout the year with little interruption, in the city of Meerut, the district, and at melas more or less distant from head quarters. There is never any lack of hearers. We have often large assemblies round about us. Many, especially Hindus, attentively listen to the good tidings of a Saviour, and do not hesitate to express their approbation and even conviction of the truth, whilst determined opposition has almost entirely passed away. But they are perhaps, on that account, not nearer the reception of the truth.

Zenana school opened.

To the number of our educational establishments, a Zenana school has been added in the city of Meerut. It is superintended by one of my daughters, who has her whole heart in this kind of work, and attended by sixteen to twenty girls of respectable Hindu families. Young women also occasionally come to see, hear and learn. Family visits have been made by Mrs. Hœrnle, and much encouragement experienced by the readiness with which the good message was received by poor secluded women. This work is in its infancy, and has to contend with the old prejudice which is still rampant here against female education; but it is not without germs of progress and ultimate success.

III. The Punjab.

The Punjab Mission comprises six principal Stations—Umritsur, commenced 1852; Kangra, 1854; Peshawur, 1855; Múltan, 1856; Derajât, 1861; Cashmir, 1863.

UMRITSUR.

Some features of unusual interest are discernible in the more recent operations at this place. While, on the one hand, individual members of the Native Church have been diligently occupied in controversial writing and itinerating preaching, the Native Church has, on the other hand, adopted active measures in an organized and corporate capacity. Such an aggressive movement on the part of Native Christians seems more than to compensate the interruption of European efforts, from which this station has greatly suffered. The reflections of the Rev. R. Clark, embodying a Pushtoo proverb in the way of illustration, are given:—

European labours interrupted.

From its commencement in 1851, the Punjab Mission has continually been weakened by the loss of its English Missionaries. In Umritsur alone we have had at least fourteen Missionaries in sixteen years. The progress of Mission work has been thus greatly retarded, for well-matured plans have not always been carried out, in consequence of the departure of the Missionaries who made them. Experience, dearly bought at the expense of health and life, has not always been made use of, and influence amongst the people has often been lost.

We may perhaps learn, from God's providences in Umritsur, to make greater use of the Natives of the country in our Missionary work. They have more vigour of character and independence in action than in some other parts of India; and if it pleases God to work through their means, we may be even more thankful than when the same work is done by Europeans. The church's policy is not an exclusive one. A vigorous sapling does not increase in strength and expansion when it is too much beneath the shade of a wide-spreading tree. It requires room for natural growth, or it will become dwarfed and stunted by repression. Whenever spontaneous Missionary action emanates from India itself, and is able to act without great dependence on foreign support, Christianity in India will become not only indigenous and popular, but will become also vigorous. Until this appears it will not easily spread. There is a Pushtoo proverb, in which a tree just felled, is made to say to the axe, "If thou hadst not made thyself a handle out of my boughs, thou couldst never have hewn me down." This proverb is true in Missionary as well as in worldly matters, for until the Gospel axe is handled by natives of the land, the overshadowing tree of superstitions and old human doctrines will not easily be laid low.

Native Ministry illustrated by a Pushtoo proverb.

The bold and self-denying course pursued by the Rev. Daud Singh in proclaiming the Gospel to the Sikhs is one of the native efforts to which reference has been made:—

Readiness of a Native Minister to proclaim the Gospel.

Our Native Pastor, the Rev. Daud Singh, has again requested liberty to go forth to preach the Word of God to the Sikhs, as a native unfettered by European ideas or ways. An experimental tour was made by him last spring, with two companions, to see how far they were able to copy the example of the Apostles when they were first sent forth to the lost sheep of the house of Israel; and how far they were able to travel as fakirs of the religion of Jesus (Isa panti), in accordance with the custom of the country. The journey was continued through the Umritsur and Sealkote districts to Jummoo, and everywhere they found abundant opportunities of preaching to great numbers of people, and especially to the officials of the Maharajah of Cashmir at his own capital. The experiment was arduous enough, for it was not everywhere that they were well received, and they often had to sleep beneath trees, and to eat such things as were placed before them. Daud's two companions have hesitated to repeat the experiment, but he himself considers that it was satisfactory; and he has now gone forth again alone, to teach Christianity in purely a native way. In a province where Ram Singh and Soolab Das can count their followers by tens of thousands, we may well long for the time when some Christian Guru will plant the standard of the cross; and, severing himself from connexions that make him appear to be a mere agent of a foreign race, may seek to draw together the Sikhs into a national Christian Church.

Victory of a converted Moulvie over Mohammedan opponents.

The Moulvie, Imaduddeen, who last year received Christian baptism, has been challenged by a number of Mohammedan Moulvies to a religious discussion. It will be seen from the appended account by Mr. Clark, that the Mohammedans retreated after three discussions in public. The fact that Imaduddeen is in the service of the Government, and not in that of any Christian Society, gives a special value to these proceedings, which are summarily stated by Mr. Clark:—

The Moulvie, Imaduddeen, was challenged some months ago to a religious discussion with several Mohammedan Moulvies. After three public sittings, an excuse was made by them for discontinuing it; thus giving an example that truth in a Native's mouth can appear so strong that error can think it prudent to avoid it. The objections brought forward in the attack against Christianity were culled from many an infidel and Roman Catholic work, and were replied to. But Mohammedans do not now generally wait to defend Mohammedanism; and when it became their turn to reply to objections against their own religion the field was deserted. We can thank God that it was a native of India, and one in the service of no Christian Society, that stood up for the defence of the Gospel against many subtle and unscrupulous adversaries. At the last sitting they rested the issue of the whole discussion on one single point, whether the names of certain Apostles were to be found in an Arabic commentary of Beizáwi, as Moulvie Imaduddeen had asserted. He was enabled to produce the passage in their presence.

Controversial writing as well as discussion has occupied the Desire of the converted Moulvie to be admitted to the Ministry.

Moulvie Imaduddeen, and he is now desirous of relinquishing all the temporal advantages of the Government service, in order that he may receive ordination as a Minister of Christ:—

During the past year, Moulvie Imaduddeen, who has already, since his baptism, published three useful works in Hindustani on subjects connected with the Hindu and Mohammedan religions, has prepared with much labour, and no ordinary power, an elaborate reply to the "Ijáz i Isani," which appears to be the chief arsenal in India from which the learned amongst the Mohammedans draw their most dangerous shafts in their attacks on Christianity. For twelve years since its publication this work has remained unanswered; and it is an encouraging sign that it should be now answered by a Native Christian, who of himself originated the idea, and has carried it out, simply because he felt the urgency of the need that the inquiry which the "Ijáz i Isani" is causing should be counteracted. The Moulvie is now a candidate for the Ministry, having declined an offer of Government service, which would lead to influence and competence, from the desire to spend the remainder of his life in teaching Christ's Gospel to his fellow countrymen by word and by writings. May we not ask the prayers of all who learn these tidings, that he may become a faithful and humble Minister of the cross of Christ, living by faith in Him, and taught and animated by His Spirit?

Spiritual labours of Natives.

Before adverting to the formation of an organized Native Church, the labours of other Natives may be noticed:—

The Rev. James Kadshu has been appointed a Native Pastor in Lahore. Although stationed alone, and only occasionally visited by a Missionary from Umritsur, he has shown considerable aptitude and diligence, and has already collected together a congregation of twenty or thirty Native Christians of our Church, few of whom attended any place of worship before. Baboo Yuhanna, who was baptized by Dr. Pfander in 1854, and who has spent mauy years as Catechist in the Peshawur and Kangra Missions, has, during the past year, been located in Batala, where he has been for a part of the time alone, and appears to have faithfully preached the Word of God, and to have gained the respect of the inhabitants.

Constitution, contributions and work of the Native Church.

The constitution, contributions, and operations of the Native Church are thus epitomized by Mr. Clark:—

The effort has been successfully made (in accordance with the suggestions of the Parent Society, made through their Calcutta Secretary) to connect the Native Christian congregations generally with direct Missionary work, by means of a Church Council, consisting of the Native Pastor, and three members of the congregation, chosen by the communicants and the Missionary. A Church fund has been established, to which the sum of 380 Rs. has been contributed by Native Christians during the year. Application has been made to the Archdeacon of the Diocese for a monthly grant of 25 Rs. from the Native Pastorate Fund, with the help of which it is hoped that 50 Rs. a month may be set apart towards payment of the Native Pastor's salary. A serai for Native Christian travellers and for inquirers has been erected during the year (towards which the Native Christians contributed largely), and is now managed entirely by the Church Council, who are also the medium of giving assistance to inquirers and poor Christians, the native offertory being placed at their disposal for the purpose. A Savings' Bank for Native Christians has also been established by the Council, having been set on foot by the efforts of Baboo Ishan Chundar Singhe, one of the members of the Council, and head master of the Umritsur Mission School. A printing press has also been established during the year in the boys' Orphanage, by Mr. Williams, another member of the Church Council, in which some of the old pupils are engaged. It is hoped that several Native Christians may gradually find employment in it. We thank God that the time has come when our Native brethren have taken a special part of Missionary work into their own hands.

The Rev. Townsend Storrs having been compelled to return to England, on account of the very serious illness of Mrs. Storrs, his brother, the Rev. C. E. Storrs, was transferred to Umritsur, in October, and is entirely occupied in the extensive educational work connected with the station.

In the Narowal Mission and school, with branches at Sydoki and Kotli, the number of boys in three day schools is 170. The Rev. W. G. Mallett is not able to give a very satisfactory account of these schools; but arrangements, with a view to improvement, are in progress. Mr. Mallett has also undertaken an itinerating tour.

KANGRA.

After eight years Missionary service at Lucknow, the Rev. J. P. Mengé has been removed to this place, in order to supply the vacancy created by the Rev. J. N. Merk's visit to Europe. Mr. Mengé found little discipline and order in the Mission. His health being somewhat impaired, he has not been able to conduct bazaar preaching and the visitation of Natives of influence so systematically as he desired. The Native Minister, the Rev. J. Kadshu, has, during the year, been transferred to Lahore.

MÚLTAN.

The aspect of the work has been more encouraging than it was last year. A Brahmin, after long and deliberate inquiry, has embraced the Gospel, and has received Christian baptism. The schools for boys have progressed satisfactorily; and of those for girls the Rev. G. Yeates thus writes:—

Female schools.

Mrs. Yeates has carried on her five female schools with very fair success, considering the difficulties which attend such labour among a population composed chiefly of Mohammedans.

These schools are held in separate localities, chiefly the suburbs of the town, in the teachers' houses, or school-rooms built quite close to them, where the girls will not have to go out of their own immediate neighbourhood. In this way the difficulty of getting the girls to school at all is overcome; but the plan has its drawbacks, for, being so close to their own and the teachers' houses, they require the utmost vigilance to keep them up to their work; but, notwithstanding, we are glad to say that the progress made by the girls has been very fair. Many of them are able to read and understand the simple historical parts of the Gospel, and have also made some progress in arithmetic and writing. To the introduction of the New Testament no more objection was made than to any other book; indeed, what met with most opposition was the writing. "What use could writing be to a girl?" is now the universal question, and, next to that, the idea that reading was to imply understanding what was read!

One of these schools—the one conducted by a Christian woman, and the only one among the Hindus—was broken up in June, owing to reports getting abroad that our intention was to baptize them all by force; and up to the present it has not been resumed.

Here, too, help is much needed: the four schools now in existence claim as large a portion of Mrs. Yeates's time as she can give, devoting a day to each in the week. Had she an able and willing assistant, the number of schools might be increased to three or four times what they are at present.

DERAJÂT.

After ten years' energetic service in the North India Mission, the impaired health of the Rev. R. Bruce has constrained him to visit England for the purpose of obtaining renewed strength and vigour. On the eve of his departure from India he naturally surveys the difficulties of Missionary life, and adverts to the spirit in which the work must be conducted:—

The devotion of a life required for Mission work.

I am more than ever convinced that Mission work requires a life's devotion, or at least a devotion of thirty to forty years of life, and that no one branch of the work is to be exalted above the other, but that whatever a Missionary finds to do he should do it with all his might. I have ever had a painful feeling, that, as Missionaries in India, we have a mighty foe to wrestle with, and that we are separated necessarily from our enemy by a great barrier; that in our efforts to influence the Native mind we move too often as oil above the waters; and that the greatest part of our preaching is in no sense a witness for God, because we fail to leave behind us any idea of the message we have brought. In fact, we do not bring home a savour of Christ to the mind of the hearers, either for life or death. I have sat time after time, after preaching for perhaps an hour to a village congregation, while they, like Henry Martyn's beggars, cried, "Shah bash, kig-khub" ("Hear, hear, how good"); and asked in vain what it was they approved of. I have seen my honoured friend, John Newton, of the Loodiana Mission, who, more than any other, taught me Mission work, turn round to me in my first year, almost weeping, and say, "What can I say more? Could you not add something for me?" His spirit wrestled for God; but, though a first-rate linguist, the foe seemed never to be aroused to the struggle.

Having been brought, contrary to his earnest desires, to apply his main energies in educational work, Mr. Bruce confesses that he has found much satisfaction in this sphere of labour, and records the extent, as well as the character, of this work:—

Faithful Christian teachers employed in the Mission school.

We have now over 400 boys, 300 in Dera, and 100 in Bunnoo; and God has raised up for us faithful Christian teachers to help us in the work. Our first class have most of them passed away: the two or three left have a thorough knowledge of the Word of God; and though they are still Hindus, yet are of immense assistance to us. One of them being sent to Bunnoo has been of great use in teaching Bible stories to the boys there; and in my last visit to Bunnoo I was agreeably surprised to see him in the English church. Our next class, of thirteen boys, reads the Bible daily with me. As most of them are still young, we hope much from them, as we have four Christian teachers, all provided for us unsought for. Each class is daily taught the Bible, and it has lately been introduced into the branch schools. I was agreeably surprised to find grown-up Mussulman lads come forward to be examined at the Annual Examination in the Bible, and, though self-taught, they gave a good examination.

The manner in which educational and evangelistic labour is combined, and the arrangement by which Natives possessing a knowledge of medicine use such knowledge for the furtherance of the Gospel, will be seen from a passage in the local report of the Derajât Mission:—

The head master of the Dera Ismail Khan school, Babú K. D. Chakrabarti, was removed to Bahawulpoor in May 1867, and his place has been temporarily filled by Babu John Williams, second teacher. Though Babu John Williams constantly preaches the Gospel in the town, of his own free will, out of school hours, and his zeal for the truth is well known by all the Natives, yet not only were they not thereby deterred from committing their children to his care, but the number of scholars at once increased greatly under him. Babu Mulaim-ul-din, the second Christian teacher, also accompanies John Williams in his preaching. Another Christian teacher, Imdad Masih, who before had the superintendence of eight branch schools in Bareilly, has been lately appointed over the three branch schools in Dera Ismail Khan. Yahiya Bakir and his Christian servant, Ibrahim, have been removed from the Mission compound to the centre of the town, where, in order to attract the people to them, they practise as Native hakims (or doctors), and greatly astonish the Natives by their rigid persistency in declining to accept any present as a return for their services.

In the same document, the importance of sustaining in efficiency the work of preaching is set forth:—

The preaching of the truth deemed of paramount importance.

Preaching the truth of God is the first, the last, the noblest work of the Christian minister. It is his highest joy, his holiest privilege. It is that work which angels would envy him, and to take part in which God himself comes down from heaven. For "we preach with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven."

Every other work,—relief of the poor, teaching the ignorant, or healing the sick,—must have this as its ultimate object. And each of these bears the same relation to preaching and teaching the Word of life, as our Lord's labour in Joseph's workshop and healing of the sick bore to his preaching, or Paul's making of tents to his.

A book-shop, with a preaching-place in front of it, has been built in the chief thoroughfare of the town. One kind friend contributed towards it 200 Rs., very nearly half the cost of its erection. In the beginning of the hot season, preaching was daily carried on, and very valuable help given by the Christian teachers of the school. It was soon, however, interrupted by the ill-health of the Missionary, and by additional work having been consequently thrown on the teachers. However, it is still carried on whenever occasion offers. On going through the town, an intelligent shopkeeper asked, "Why have you not been preaching to us lately? We often see your teachers, but miss yourself." He was answered, "I have been ill and unable to come; but whether our voice is heard in your street or not, there is a voice going among you from house to house, that Jesus is the true and only Saviour."

The heathen inquire after the preacher.

Rules for the management of the Native Church.

In order to enable the Native Church to defend itself against the impositions often practised by those who are ready to profess any creed, provided they can obtain temporal aid, the following regulations have been adopted:—

1. One of the Native Christians has been set apart as Pastor of the little flock.

2. Monthly contributions of alms are collected by the Pastor, the Missionaries taking no part either in collecting or spending them.

The offertories made by the Missionaries at the Holy Communion are also at once handed over to the Native Pastor, and added to his fund.

3. All inquirers are supported by the alms of the Native Christians; or, if any supplementary aid is ever given by the Missionaries themselves, or from the Mission funds, it is given through the Native Pastor.

4. No one is baptized and admitted as a member of the Native Church without their approval and consent being asked.

5. A great part of the services, both on Sundays and week-days, is conducted by the Pastor, and sermons and addresses are given by the other teachers also.

6. No one is baptized who is not in the way of earning a respectable livelihood for himself.

7. No one newly baptized is made a reader or teacher of religion until he supports himself by honest and respectable labour.

The schools have been efficiently conducted. In the central school there are 145 Hindus, and 61 Mohammedans. The branch schools contain 60 of the former, and 71 of the latter. Favourable testimony as to the management and instruction have been given by the Archdeacon of Calcutta and the Rev. E. C. Stuart, Secretary of the Corresponding Committee at Calcutta, who have personally inspected the work. Colonel Graham, now Commissioner, and late Deputy Commissioner of the Derajât, presided at the last distribution of prizes, and left the following permanent record of his estimate of the success attained by Mr. Bruce:—

Testimony of late Deputy Commissioner of the Derajât.

No one knows better than myself, who have been Deputy Commissioner of this district for four years past, the extent and formidable nature of the difficulties which the Rev. R. Bruce has had to overcome in the establishment of this school, the amount of unremitting zeal and labour that has ensured its progress, or the high degree of popularity and favour which it has attained in the regard of all classes of the Native community.

At Bunnoo a Christian schoolmaster has charge of a school containing forty Hindus and fifty-four Mohammedans. Many difficulties have arisen, and much opposition has been raised against this effort to establish, for the first time, a Christian school among an ignorant and fanatical populace. Kindness and support from several Christian residents have materially aided the zealous schoolmaster amid these difficulties.

PESHAWUR.

The Rev. T. R. Wade and the Rev. T. P. Hughes—the former being superintendent of the schools, and the latter being in charge of the Native Christian Church—have been joined by the Rev. W. Ridley. There has not been a case of adult baptism during the year; but the sum of 804*l.* raised and expended in the Mission, inclusive of 370*l.* granted by Government for schools, shows the appreciation of the work by those who daily behold it. Only the personal expenses of the Missionaries have been furnished by the Society. The Missionaries thus write concerning bazaar preaching, the introduction of controversial works, visitation of the people, and school operations:—

Bazaar preaching.

Bazaar preaching has been regularly carried on. Large crowds frequently stay to listen. Sometimes the preacher obtains a patient hearing, but more frequently he is disturbed by the shouts of the people. It is felt that, on the whole, a less obtrusive way of introducing the Gospel amongst the people of Peshawur is more likely to meet with success, such as the distribution of controversial works and visiting the people at their homes.

Schools.

The Anglo-vernacular boys' schools in connexion with the Mission have 448 names on the books. There has been a considerable decrease in the numbers, in consequence of the very severe sickness which has prevailed in the city and neighbourhood for some months. We are, however, glad to observe that there is a considerable increase in the proportion of Mohammedan pupils: hitherto it has been found difficult to induce them to send their children to English schools, but the increase in the attendance of Mussulmans during this year induces us to hope that this prejudice is becoming less strong.

At the commencement of the year there was a very encouraging class of young Afghan gentlemen reading in the school. During the visitation of cholera some of them were induced by their religious teachers to give up the study of English; two or three, however, are still reading in the school, and it is hoped that the others will soon be induced to return. At present there are very few English-speaking Afghan gentlemen. The best educated amongst them is the head master of our city school, Kazi Syud Ahmad, formerly a pupil in the school. There can be little doubt that as soon as some of the upper classes throw aside their prejudices, and send their sons to English schools, the masses will follow their example, and our schools will become the most important Missionary agencies for introducing the Gospel amongst this uncivilized people. One of the boys of the first class is about to go in for the Calcutta University Entrance Examination this year.

The Nowshera school has been temporarily closed. As a competent Christian teacher could not be found, it was considered unadvisable to expend Mission money upon a school which was not exerting a direct Christian influence.

The girls' school is still carried on by Mrs. Hughes in the midst of many difficulties. There are now thirty-four names on the books, all Mohammedans.

Testimony of the Archdeacon of Calcutta.

The Archdeacon of Calcutta, when visiting Peshawur, attended the assembly for prayer of the little Christian flock. His impressions at the time of joining this assembly, and his estimate of the Mission, are recorded in these terms in the journal of the Mission schools:—

I was present at family prayer with the small Native Christian flock. Mr. Wade read a portion of Scripture and explained it to them, and asked them questions. I could not help being reminded of the gatherings of the early Christians in the catacombs, meeting to read together the Epistles of St. Paul and other Scriptures concealed from their fierce persecutors. For though we are under the protection of the British Government, still there are hundreds and thousands in this city who bitterly hate us as Christians, and would be glad to do us any injury. I look upon this Mission as one of great interest and promise. May it please God perpetually to strengthen my dear brethren and sisters, the Missionaries and their wives, for their important and difficult work; and may Peshawur rise to become a light in the midst of these regions for the enlightenment of the numerous tribes who here meet in a centre.

Courage of Native Christians in time of cholera.

Nearly a year has been passed at this frontier station by the Rev. W. Ridley, who describes the place as a Babel where different races use their respective languages, and where the schools contain Hindus from the Brahmin to the sweeper class, Moslems from many parts of Asia, some pure Afghans, together with a Turk from Constantinople, and an Armenian from Cabul. During the cholera, the Native Christians exhibited an union of courage and tenderness which contrasted favourably with the conduct of Mohammedans and heathen. Reference is made by Mr. Ridley to the work done among the females by the wives of Missionaries:—

It will be interesting to you to know that something is being done for the female part of the community. Mrs. Hughes is in charge of a Mohammedan girls' school, with an average attendance of twelve or thirteen. My wife occasionally visits it and gives a Bible lesson in Urdu, but is giving her attention chiefly to visiting the women at their prison-like homes, but they cannot speak Urdu. My wife, therefore, has addressed herself vigorously to Pushtoo, and has made sufficient progress to enable her to commence the instruction of two women who speak only Pushtoo. She goes to their houses three times a week, and, besides instructing in Bible history, teaches them to do several kinds of needlework. These women are very fond of pictures, and were delighted with a number of paintings in water-colour of flowers which Mrs. Ridley painted during our stay on the hills. The work is one of difficulty, and liable at any moment to be stopped through the inveterate prejudices of these people. Our work, however, from beginning to end, is one of hope. "In due time we shall reap if we faint not."

On the occasion of the visit of the Rev. Dr. Norman McLeod to Madras, the principal Protestant Missionary Societies held a large Missionary Meeting in the Memorial Hall. It was a manifestation of Christian unity in the great work of evangelizing India. His Excellency Lord Napier, Governor of Madras, was present, and the Bishop of Madras presided. The speech delivered by the Rev. D. Fenn on behalf of the Church Missionary Society contains a succinct and graphic description of the Society's operations which deserves to be permanently recorded:—

The Church Missionary Society has four distinct Missions in this Presidency. First, at your very doors here in Madras, we have three Native Clergy, who, with the European Missionary, have the care of five congregations, containing 600 Native Christians. There is also, under the superintendence of the wife of one of the Native Clergy, an interesting work carried on in the homes of Hindu ladies,—a work which, though small at present, gives every hope of expanding, and has already met with encouraging results. It is a work that is probably known to many here present, since it has received the highest patronage. There is also a circle of vernacular schools, about twelve in number, taught, according to a uniform method, under the guidance of the English Missionary. I was myself present at the annual examination of these collected schools on Monday last, and saw the interest with which questions were answered on Scripture history, and heard the boys repeating from the Bible entire Psalms, without a mistake, in their own language.

The four distinct Missions of the Madras Presidency.

Three hundred miles north of Madras, in the district of Masulipatam, is our Telugu Mission. The most prominent feature in this Mission is the large English school, established in 1841, for the higher castes, by the late Rev. Robert Noble, which, though not so large as the similar institutions in this town, is fully able to compete with any school here or elsewhere in this Presidency. The Government Inspector has borne the highest testimony to its efficiency, and so did Sir C. Trevelyan when Governor of Madras. There are also English schools in Ellore and Bezwara, though on a smaller scale. There has been, too, since 1859, a movement in operation on which, from my own experience, I look with very great hopefulness—a movement towards Christianity among the poorer villages in several parts. Small bodies have placed themselves under Christian instruction, amounting now to about 800 in thirty different villages. It seems to me that quite as much may be expected towards the final prevalence of Christianity from these movements among the lower castes, as from the English Scriptural instruction of high caste heathen.

The Telugu Mission.

Poorer villages inclined to Christianity.

I now pass on to the third Mission of our Society, 400 miles to the south-west, in the districts North and South of Cochin. Among the special features of this our Malayalim Mission, is the contiguity of the ancient and interesting, but fallen, Syrian Church. The object of the first Missionaries, among whom I may mention that my own father was one, was to endeavour to resuscitate this church, so that, through it, they might work upon the surrounding heathen. This connexion was maintained for twenty years, and was then abandoned as hampering the labourers. Since a more unfettered course has been adopted, God has largely blessed the work. There are now above 11,000 persons under Christian instruction, and ten Native Clergy. Nor has that first attempt to evangelize the Syrian Church been altogether fruitless. Out of the ten Native Clergy, I understand that nine were originally Syrians, and it is an interesting circumstance that the tenth was a Brahmin. Another feature of interest in the Mission is the work carried on among the Hill Arrians. These are a tribe of those mountain aborigines who are found in different parts of India, of whom the Gonds near Jubbulpore, the Santhals in Bengal, and the Todas and Badagas, of whom many of us have heard, near Ootacamund, are examples. Of these Hill Arrians 1000 are now baptized. There has also been of late years a very interesting movement among the slaves of Travancore, of whom very large numbers have been received into the Christian Church.

The Malayalim Mission.

Eleven thousand under instruction and ten Native Ministers.

The Tinnevelly Mission.

And now I come to the Mission with which I have myself been for ten years connected, that in Tinnevelly. Here our Society has on her rolls 24,000 baptized and 12,000 unbaptized, making a total of 36,000 under instruction. Nor is this all. The 29,000 of whom Mr. Hall spoke as being under Christian instruction in South Travancore, and the 18,000 in Tinnevelly, included in Mr. Symonds' numbers as connected with his Society, are all side by side with these 36,000 of our Society. As Mr. Symonds has remarked, the Mission of the London Society interlaces with that of the Propagation Society. The Tamil language, after reaching Cape Comorin, creeps round the Southern extremity of the western Ghauts, and runs up the western coast as far as Trevandrum. And it is in the narrow strip of country between that town and Cape Comorin that Mr. Hall's 29,000 Christians and adherents are to be found, and they are of the same classes and character with our Tinnevelly Christians. Adding, then, these three figures together, and joining to them 6000 gathered in Madura in connexion with the labours of the Missionaries of the American Board, we have a total of 89,000 Tamil Christians and others within 150 miles of Cape Comorin. Add to these the 11,000 Malayalim Christians already spoken of, and you have 100,000 Native adherents of Christianity, all separated from heathenism, formed into congregations, their names all on the various Mission rolls, in the extreme southern corner of the peninsula. Here is a fact easy to be remembered, which any of my fellow-countrymen here present, who may be ere long returning to England, may carry away with him, even though he may have been prevented from seeing with his own eyes our Mission work.

Liberality of Native Christians.

I may add that our Native Christians, like those spoken of by Mr. Symonds and Mr. Hall, subscribe liberally to religious objects. The contributions from the whole body last year were 17,000 Rs., being very nearly at the rate of half a rupee a year for every man, woman or child baptized or unbaptized in our number. In one district every Christian teacher is paid by the contributions of the Native Christians; in others a portion of them: and now I will only further remark that there is a fair amount of Missionary spirit in our Christian body in Tinnevelly. At all events there is a readiness to go to preach the Gospel in other parts. When, with

Mr. Ragland and another Missionary, I first started on an itinerating Mission to the heathen in the northern parts of Tinnevelly in 1854, we applied to the Native Church of the South for teachers, and we requested that, for the term they were at our tents, all their expenses should be borne by the Native Church. This was cheerfully acceded to; and although the number of Catechists that came from the south to assist us was greater than we had anticipated, yet the contributions so far exceeded the sum required, that the difficulty was to know what to do with the money. Let me give another example. A year ago I was appointed to take up the work of a brother Missionary in superintending the Mission to the coolies on the coffee estates round Kandy. There I found that the fifteen or twenty Catechists employed were almost entirely Tinnevelly men. Besides this, a few months ago three young men from Tinnevelly voluntered to go to the island of Mauritius, to preach to the coolies, and are there now engaged in the Mission. And even Madras owes much to Tinnevelly. Two of the three Native Clergymen are Tinnevelly men, and so are, I believe, ten of the catechists and readers, besides some of the schoolmasters. When I look at these things, I am not ashamed of the Tinnevelly Church, though it may be often spoken against as of little worth. I see no reason why that distant corner of India, those poor and despised Christian congregations, should not be made the means, in God's hands, of sending the Gospel through the length and breadth of the whole of India.

Comparison of past and present position in Tinnevelly.

Relinquishing the Tamil Cooly Mission in Ceylon, which he had temporarily undertaken, and resuming his itinerating work around Madras, the Rev. D. Fenn is naturally led to compare the past and present. He spent seven weeks in Tinnevelly when journeying from Ceylon to Madras, and was not only impressed with the increased liberality of the Tinnevelly Christians, even in times of scarcity, with the promising aspect of the Mission work at Mengnanapuram, at Palamcottah, and in the North Tinnevelly district, but was also refreshed by the renewal of Christian intercourse with European and Native brethren, who had formerly been fellow-labourers in the work of the Gospel. The statistics exhibiting the liberality with which Tinnevelly Christians contribute for Mission purposes many well claim the earnest attention of English Christians. Supposing the English population of 20,000,000 to be divested of its redundant wealth, and to live, on the average, upon two shillings a day, the contributions for Mission purposes should, even under such a supposition, be 4,000,000*l.* per annum, if the Tinnevelly scale of liberality is to be reached. This fact, together with others of equal interest, may be gathered from Mr. Fenn's own account of his visit to Tinnevelly:—

Scale of liberality reached by Tinnevelly Christians.

Both in Ceylon and Tinnevelly the brethren seem to me to be labouring with vigour, and to be receiving encouragement from the Lord of the harvest. I spent my first Sunday in Mengnanapuram and the rest in Palamcottah. There is in all the presence of the fact that the Protestant, Evangelical, and Missionary spirit is not declining; I mean, the increasing support given to Mission objects. The Christians, including under that term the large number of unbaptized adherents, are now throughout Tinnevelly giving for Mission purposes at the rate of almost a shilling a year for every man, woman and child on the rolls. Remembering that a labourer can live there for five pence or sixpence a day, you will at once be able to compare this with English liberality. Their contributions have kept up, and, in fact, have rather increased during two or three years of great scarcity. It was a great pleasure to preach again in Mr. Thomas's cathedral-like church to a Tamil congregation of more than 1000; to see and converse with the students of the two educational institutions in Palamcottah—students now, hereafter to be the pastors and trainers of the Tinnevelly Church, and, still more, to enjoy the society of my dear Missionary brethren, and to see how heartily each was working at his post, and how much, in spite of drawbacks from without, or depression of spirits within, each had to cheer him on. But of course the greatest treat was my visit to North Tinnevelly, and staying with my long-tried, dearly-loved brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Meadows. While there I made a short tour to the head-quarters of my two Native brethren, and formerly itinerating colleagues, Messrs. Cornelius and Devanayagam, where I met with converts of former days, from different villages and very various castes, still holding fast their integrity. I was permitted to preach in the three completed North Tinnevelly churches, and to see the rising walls of the fourth. I found, too, that the borders of the outward and visible Church of Christ, at all events, were sensibly extending; for out of our 1200 or 1300 villages and hamlets, there are now about 180 in which there are some who have separated from idolatry; and, indeed, in a great portion of our Southern border, in part of which, when our itinerancy began in 1854, there was not a single Christian or inquirer, they are now to be found in every second village.

Visible expansion of the Tinnevelly Church.

One of my most interesting days in North Tinnevelly was on the occasion of our meeting at Mr. Meadows' bungalow, with the two above-named brethren and Mr. Daniel, the Native Deacon, when each went over his own part of the field, and one and another interesting fact came to light about villages to which, with Mr. Ragland or Mr. Meadows, I had gone as an evangelist in years gone by, or in which my own solitary tent had been pitched, when there was nothing to make one hope that they would soon form the subject of discourse for Christian pastors. I was glad, too, to find how, through the judicious arrangements and unabated vigour of Mr. Meadows and his coadjutors, as well Catechists and Clergy, regular evangelistic work is still carried on in, I believe, every single heathen hamlet; although of course in some places at considerable intervals of time, owing to want of agents.

Itinerating around Madras.

In resuming the Madras itinerancy, the Rev. D. Fenn adverts to the assistance expected from the Native Church, and the manner in which the work is conducted:—

Assistance of the Native Church in the itinerating work.

We are at present to the north of Madras, where the Telugu language prevails even within twenty miles of the city, though as yet we have found very few who do not understand Tamil also. With respect to Native helpers, we are hungry for them, but we try not to be impatient. Mr. Macdonald, our old itinerating colleague, sent us a man, but he had to return immediately, owing to an attack of fever. We hear that the Native Church is intending to send us help; and it is in order to draw this forth that we are purposely abstaining for the present from applying to the Madras Corresponding Committee for a grant, and to our Tinnevelly brethren for men. As to the spots where other Societies are working, I made what inquiries I could while in Madras, and believe we shall have for the present a sufficiently wide field in the ground unoccupied by them. We follow the old plan of going forth morning and evening to surrounding villages, and moving our tents once a week. We go forth in God's name, and fortify ourselves by united prayer before and after preaching. And we try to imitate Abraham's faith, being fully persuaded that what God has promised He is able to perform. We are hoping to be joined by Mr. Gordon in two or three weeks time.

The Rev. G. M. Gordon has been compelled by illness to visit Australia and New Zealand. In the latter colony he obtained a knowledge of the Society's Missionary operations, and returned at the close of the year to South India, where he is now engaged in the study of the Tamil language, in order to qualify himself for joining the Rev. D. Fenn in his itinerating work.

Education.

The number of boys attending the Harris School has not increased, but the Rev. E. Sell, who has had charge of it, considers that in some other respects solid improvement has been made. About sixty boys attend the school, which was established especially for the purpose of reaching Mohammedans by a scriptural education. In the Triplicane, or Mohammedan quarter of Madras, there has recently been much controversial agitation, but the school has not been thereby materially affected.

Native Church.

Some preliminary steps have been taken towards the organization of the Native Church. The Native congregations in Madras have been placed in the charge of Native Pastors. The Rev. W. T. Satthianadhan, who has undertaken the Southern Pastorate of Madras, including about 250 Native Christians, of whom more than 100 are communicants, speaks hopefully as to the organization of the Native Church, although he regards Madras a difficult sphere for the establishment of the system.

II. Tinnevelly.

The Mission is divided into 14 districts, viz. 1, 2. Palamcottah and Alvarneri; 3, 4, 5, 6. Mengnanapuram, Asirvadapuram, Satthankullam, Pragasapuram; 7. Kadatchapuram; 8. Suviseshapuram; 9. Dohnavur; 10. Panneivilei; 11. Pannikulam; 12. Nallur; 13. Surandei; 14. Sivagasi.

PALAMCOTTAH.

Evidences of spiritual life.

Gratitude for evidences of decided spiritual life amid much acknowledged indifference is the tenour of the Rev. E. Sargent's review of the past year. Many of the Christian converts influence heathen of their own class; and some bold confessions of Christ are from time to time made by disciples won to the Saviour from the higher ranks of society. The Native agents are becoming increasingly effective in their various duties.

Referring to the inferior or unworthy motives which sometimes induce Natives to seek Christian instruction, the Rev. E. Sargent mentions some accessions from heathenism consequent upon supplying a Christian teacher when the Brahmin landowner of the village refused to repair the devil temple:—

I know of one case last year in which the people were being exercised by a natural sense of religion, and as the demon temple was in a very pitiable plight, they applied to the Brahmin landowner to allow them to take in a little more ground, and make the place more decent, and so render the demons more propitious. The landowner would pay no regard to their entreaties, so they argued thus :—Our own great men, our Gurus even, will not show us any sympathy in our worship. Our relations in such a village renounced this worship, and adopted a new mode, which has at once improved them, and made them respected: we will follow their example; then we shall find union and kindness and sympathy. They came to me for a teacher. I sent one; and, after a few days, went there myself, and preached from the place where heretofore had been seated the demon idol that was supposed to have ruled their destinies. It was a very confined shed, and as the twelve families that met together to hear the Word of God sat down there was hardly room to contain us all. One man that sat touching my feet I observed to be blind. He was a fine old man in other respects. I said to him, "Well, friend, you have lost your sight." "Yes, sir," he said, "blind—blind in the eye, and hitherto blind within; but (touching my knees with his fingers, he added) may light henceforth shine and gladden my heart!" Now I only wish other villages around Palamcottah would invite me from the same inferior motive that these people did. Gladly would I go to them in the Lord's name, and preach pardon and peace through the Saviour. I would receive them with open arms, and take advantage of the opportunity to open to them the treasures of the Gospel. I have lately baptized thirty-eight of the men, women and children of this village.

Dilapidated Devil-temple leads to inquiry for a Christian teacher.

Whether the accession of nearly 1000 Christians in three years, or the amount of self-support, or the spirit of the labourer be considered, the closing paragraphs of Mr. Sargent's review claim attention:—

Addition of 1000 Christians in three years.

In various ways the increase this year in the number of Christians in this district is 335; last year it was 331; and the year before 321; nearly 1000 in three years. The whole number of those who profess the Christian name within a radius of about eight miles round Palamcottah is 2485 persons, living in forty villages. Of the Native agents employed, all but two schoolmasters are supported by the people themselves; so that the Church Missionary Society have only to pay two masters. The number of communicants is 368. We have in our school 620 children, of whom 121 are girls.

I desire to close this year with a thankful remembrance of God's goodness. "The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad." He has preserved me and my family in health, and given us abundant opportunities of being useful. If I seem to speak too much about self, let me once for all say that my object is to magnify Christ in what He has been pleased to do through His servant; for from the bottom of my heart I would say, "Yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me." "Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the Word of the Lord may have free course and be glorified" more and more.

Incidentally the practical Christianity of a convert, and the caste difficulties of some of his companions, are noticed:—

Native Layman's view of the influence of Christianity among his associates.

While writing this letter, a convert of some eight years' standing came to pay me Rs. 97.8 as., which he has been collecting for the Native Church Fund. He is employed as a writer in a Government office, an employment which he got without any interest or interference of mine. I asked him what he observes as to the views and feelings of others in the office in regard to Christianity. He says that the old hands are all more or less attached to their old idolatry, but that there are some eight young men who make no secret of their disregard of Hinduism, and their conviction of the truth of the divine claims of Christianity. Some of them, however, have doubts, he says, about Jesus Christ, and come to him for explanation at times on matters affecting this subject. Did caste not stand in their way, several would at once openly embrace the Gospel. As it is, they defend the course they take by the plea that God is gracious; He knows their desire and their difficulties, and will not be severe with them.

An effective Native Pastorate.

The satisfactory commencement of a Native Pastorate may be gathered from some facts succinctly narrated by Mr. Sargent:—

We are endeavouring to introduce the pastorate extensively in our Tinnevelly Mission. V. Simeon, formerly Catechist of Palamcottah, was ordained at the last ordination here, and appointed to a village about seven miles north-east from this place, Manarkadu. I went there last week to hold a Missionary meeting, and was particularly pleased with all that I saw. Every thing nice and clean, the church and schools nicely built and tiled, the pastor's house unpretending, but comfortable and clean, the people orderly and attentive, school in first-rate condition. I took home above 100 Rs. from the meeting, 21 Rs. of it in copper.

Education.

The Vernacular Training Institution remained under the charge of the Rev. H. Dixon until the Rev. T. Spratt, on his return from England, resumed the office of Principal. The teachers and students, as a token of their esteem and affection, presented a testimonial to Mr. Dixon on his retirement from the guidance and management of the Institution.

Diligent application to the study of the Tamil has enabled

Mr. Thomas Kember to pass a satisfactory examination in that language, and thus to enter upon teaching in the vernacular. The nature of his work, and the spirit in which he enters upon it, may be gathered from his own expressions on the review of the year:—

I have now commenced my real work in the vernacular. In addition to the English classes from 7 to 9 every morning, I take two classes in Tamil every day, in history and geography, and as I get more accustomed to Tamil work, I shall have more Tamil teaching. I continue to read daily two or three hours with my Munshi. In conjunction with Mr. Spratt, I take an active interest in all the concerns of the Institution, as a whole, and, as far as possible, a particular interest in each student individually. Ever since April I have regularly had a class for Bible instruction in Tamil on Sundays; and as each Sunday comes round I find I have greater facility in communicating my thoughts about Divine things, and Divine life in the soul; and am able to press more earnestly upon the minds of those who form my class the nature, glory and blessed effects of that great salvation wrought out for lost man by our blessed Redeemer. It is impossible to estimate too highly the importance of my position in reference to influencing the minds and hearts of the students placed under our charge. Oh, may the Holy Spirit help us continually! May all connected with our Institution be made to prosper! And oh, may God Almighty raise up from amongst our students a faithful and devoted army of soldiers to go forth in the full power of the spirit of the Gospel of Christ, and battle successfully against the powers of darkness amongst their fellow countrymen!

Sarah Tucker Female Training Institution.

Sarah-Tucker Institution.

In the month of January 1867 Mr. and Mrs. Lash landed at Madras, and, the Bishop being absent from the city, they were detained for a time by the Corresponding Committee, in the hope that Mr. Lash might be ordained before proceeding to Palamcottah. After the ordination, Mr. and Mrs. Lash left Madras for Tinnevelly, and reached the scene of their future labours in April. They have since made considerable progress in learning the Tamil language, Mr. Lash being able to give a Scripture lesson, and Mrs. Lash to make herself understood colloquially among the Natives around her. The Female Institution is now well supplied with a large number of pupils, and its prospects of usefulness are very encouraging.

Anglo-Vernacular School.

Conve in connection with Miss on School.

The conversion of a young man, nineteen years of age, has been marked by circumstances which stand strongly in contrast with the commotion which formerly was an inevitable consequence of a determination to accept the salvation offered in the Gospel. At first, his heathen father manifested the most decided opposition to the baptism of his son, but the opposition was speedily withdrawn, and he attended the house of God in order to be a witness of his son's admission to the visible Church of Christ. This conversion is remarkable as an illustration of the spiritual effects of patient continuance in Mission-school work. In the school of Mr. Cruickshanks the youth held a "Wilson's Scholarship," for which the funds have been supplied, during many years, by the earnest friend of Missions whose name it bears. The same scholarship was formerly held by one of the Madras Native Clergy, and it is satisfactory to learn that the recent convert has, simultaneously with his baptism, announced that he no longer intends to seek Government employment, but to devote himself to Missionary service.

Attendance at the School not diminished by reason of the conversion.

Mr. Cruickshanks, whose school labours have thus again been made by the Divine blessing instrumental in the conversion of a heathen scholar, states that, contrary to experience in similar cases of conversion in times past, the attendance of boys at the school has not been diminished.

The Rev. E. Sargent supplies some of the more important particulars connected with this conversion:—

I must not close this letter without giving you an account of the conversion of another caste pupil in Mr. Cruickshanks' school. Ramasamy has been a long time learning in the school, and holds a scholarship for a year or more, and has been expressing his intention of renoucing Hinduism and embracing Christianity, but it was only at the end of last month that the matter came to a point, and he intimated his determination to act out his convictions. Mr. Cruickshanks came with the youth to me (nineteen years of age), and we had a long conference. The young man's wish was to leave home at once, and obtain baptism before his father had time to interfere (he, the father, having an appointment in a village some thirty-five or forty miles away). Mr. Cruickshanks was disposed to recommend the same course out of sympathy with the young man's feelings; but I talked the matter fully over, and showed them that there was a better and wiser way of glorifying God and accomplishing our great object. The youth must profess Christ at home, and make his friends fully informed of his intention, and not leave home till compelled to do so. If, after such a profession, he wished for baptism, in a fortnight's time I would gladly baptize him, and receive him into the Christian brotherhood. He consented to act on my advice, and Mr. Cruickshanks was willing that in such a matter he should be guided by my counsel. The young man, who was living with his uncle, wrote to his parents, and told them all his mind. The father came in after a day or two, and, it being Sunday, thought I was going to baptize the youth that day. So he came with the uncle to me, after morning service, and spoke very angrily about the ingratitude and wickedness of his son in now wishing, at such a period of life, to forsake his family, and become an alien. "But I see now," he said, "that I might long ago have concluded that the day when I sent him to your Mission school I gave him up to Pluto." I reasoned with the man, and placed the matter before him in as sympathizing a light as possible, and his anger somewhat abated, only he had two requests to make. First, that I must not baptize him for three months; and, secondly, that I must not let him break caste. To the first I gave my word that he should not be baptized at once, but I could not say that three months must elapse. Secondly, that I did not wish his son should eat with degraded or dirty people, but that there were respectable Christians here, and that, as his minister, I should expect that he would eat with me. He was rather disappointed at this, and went away. Next morning he came to say, "I see it is no use obstructing my son in his wishes, and I cannot spend more time here from my work; so if he is to be baptized, let it be done to-morrow, and I ask to be allowed to come and see what is done." I had seldom seen such a direct answer to prayer. All that we could plead at the throne of grace was, that the Lord would soften the heart of the father, and preserve the youth and us from molestation. But here the father himself came forward to ask to have his son baptized, and there, in God's house, the heathen father and uncle were spectators of the simple initiatory rite of our holy religion. I hear that, on going home, the whole family were excommunicated from caste communion. Who can say where this may end in reference to the conversion of the parents and other relatives? He was baptized by the name of David. I am very glad to find that he does not desire to qualify himself for Government employment, but wishes to study theology and prepare for Mission work. May the Lord direct his heart aright, and give us a right understanding in all things to act for the glory of His ever blessed name!

Another conversion.

Since the baptism of David, another convert has been brought to Christ through his instrumentality. He is thirty years of age, and was once in Mr. Cruickshanks' school. Frequently he received instruction in Christianity from David, when a heathen, and his conversion is another example of one Hindu leading another to the Saviour, even while he himself is a stranger to the way of life.

Past and present state of this school.

The school-roll contains the names of 225 boys, the average daily attendance being rather more than 170. Mr. Cruickshanks briefly mentions, in the subjoined quotation, his own past labours, and the present state of the school:—

This school has now been in existence twenty-four years. It was begun under me in 1844, and I have been ever since entrusted with the charge of it. And here I cannot do less than express my gratitude to our Heavenly Father for His care of me and mine hitherto, and return my thankful acknowledgments for the steady support and kindness which I have all along received from the Madras Corresponding Committee, as well as the Home Committee in England.

In February of the year under notice the school was visited by Mr. Marden, the Government Inspector, who considered the results to be, on the whole, satisfactory, and reported accordingly.

KADACHAPURAM.

The Native Minister, the Rev. Jesudasen John, laments the existence of much indifference and worldliness. The average attendance at the Lord's Table is not 300, although there are 530 enrolled communicants. On the other hand, in individual instances the Gospel has been adorned in life, and its comfort experienced in death. The day schools contain 210 boys and 140 girls. The Bible classes comprise 141 men and 132 women. Twenty-seven converts from heathenism have been made in the course of the year, and twenty-two communicants have been added to the church.

Converts and communicants of the year.

MENGNANAPURAM.

Arrived at the sixtieth year of his natural, and at the thirty-first year of his Missionary life, the Rev. J. Thomas, while thankfully recording the goodness and mercy which have followed him, is enabled to rejoice in a renewal of his strength. The three Native Ministers associated with him, one as a Native Pastor, and the other two as Assistant-Missionaries, have rendered effective and faithful service. The extent of the spiritual work of the district may be inferred from the fact that there are more than 11,000 Native Christians, of whom more than 1500 are communicants, and that more than 2300 children are taught in the schools. While possessing a perfect knowledge of the weaknesses and defects of the Native character, Mr. Thomas is prepared to present twelve candidates for ordination, and trusts that not fewer may be presented whenever an ordination may again be held. He thus glances at the spiritual state of the district, and the liberality of the Native Christians:—

Native Christians, communicants and school-children.

> The state of things in the districts under my care is as satisfactory as one could hope for, considering the depravity of human nature and the incessant activity of the powers of darkness for evil. It is a palpable fact that the congregations are surprisingly improved, compared with what they were two years ago. There is among the people generally far more intelligence; more manly bearing and character among the men; more self-confidence, with becoming modesty instead of painful shyness, among the women. General knowledge has also greatly increased, and there is a far better acquaintance with the Christian truth, and, above all, I believe, more earnest piety. These are the impressions made on my mind by recent visits to all the principal congregations under my care. In the course of these visits large assemblies will everywhere come together, at almost any hour of the day, to hear the Word of God; and it is delightful to preach to them, for the most marked attention is paid by all, and deep impressions are evidently made upon their minds; and I feel persuaded that the Holy Spirit is blessing the preaching of the Gospel in a very remarkable manner.

Increased liberality of the Christians.

The liberality of the people increases year by year. Besides a variety of general contributions, the sum of 2000 Rs. have been set apart for the Native Church Fund, and I confidently expect that we shall still go on improving. We had our annual meeting here a few days ago, for receiving the people's contributions. The sum of 283 Rs. was realized in cash, and about 42 Rs. will be paid before the close of the year; making a total of 325 Rs. I have several meetings of a similar kind to attend this week, and I have no doubt but that the result will be equally gratifying. I never witnessed in England, at public meetings, any thing like the liberality shown by the Shanar Christians of Tinnevelly. I feel, however, that the permanence of our organization will very much depend upon the Church Fund being administered principally by Natives, and the spiritual oversight of Native Pastors committed to a Native Bishop.

The origin, growth and progress of Christian villages in South India are illustrated by the history given by Mr. Thomas of a district during the last twenty-five years:—

Interesting review of past labours.

In a north-easterly direction, ten miles from this place, there is a populous locality in which there are several villages built consecutively. In one of these, a man who had heard a Missionary preach in the streets of a distant town some years before, (such was his own account) felt ill at ease ever after, and at last determined to repair to a Christian teacher, and gain additional information. He was received as an inquirer, and, not many months after, his brother joined him. No opposition was at first offered by the heathen, but in the course of time a large number joined me, and gave up their heathen temple, for the purpose of being converted into a place of Christian worship. On a fixed day I went to the place and had to encounter a furious opposition from the remaining heathen. While standing in front of the temple they surrounded me, pressed on me, but no hand touched me, though one of the people, who afterwards became a convert, threw his arms about my head and seemed in a frantic rage. I kept perfectly calm, and by degrees the storm abated. We then entered the demon temple:

all the stone idols were carried out by the converts, and broken to pieces in front of the building, and, this being accomplished, I stood in the elevated place where the principal idol had stood, and preached from Acts xvii. 30, 31. After this the people had to endure a fierce persecution, and many went back. The first convert was obliged to leave the village for a time, and his brother turned out a false and hollow fellow. Matters now seemed in a very languishing condition. In one of the cluster of villages we had a fierce enemy, a rich, unprincipled and abandoned villain, who did all in his power to root out the Gospel from the place. But from the day that he set himself against God's truth, his worldly prosperity came to an end: he withered under pecuniary losses and disease of body, and ultimately died a wretched death. His name will be held in abhorrence among the Christians of the neighbourhood from generation to generation. After the death of this man things gradually improved, and separate congregations were formed in the different villages. At the central one, Suppramaniapuram, a spacious and well-ventilated building was erected, and used both as a school-room and place of worship. To the south a very suitable little church was erected at Rasamaniapuram, and a Catechist appointed to instruct and look after the people. On the north a much larger place of worship was erected at Madathuvellei, and a catechist appointed there also; and, lastly, further north still, another Catechist was appointed to Poovarasoor, where also a prayer-house was erected. At present there are 565 Christians in these villages taken together, of whom 442 have been baptized, and 117 are communicants; so that Christianity may be regarded as having acquired a permanent footing in this locality, and will, in God's appointed time, absorb the remaining heathen population, which is still very considerable. I cannot imagine any thing more gratifying than these results. Let the impugners of Missions take the trouble to examine these details on the spot, before they venture again to deny any success to the preaching of the Gospel.

We have a flourishing school here, in which there are 138 scholars, with an average attendance of 91 boys and girls. The salaries of the master and mistress are defrayed by the school children of Southborough, in Kent, and this is called the "Southborough School." These villages are regularly visited every month by me, my son, or by the Native Missionary, and the Lord's Supper is administered at the central village, Suppramaniapuram. I was there recently, and in contrasting the present state with "the day of small things," when the work began, I felt an overwhelming sense of God's goodness towards these once ignorant idolaters. The assembled congregation amounted to, between three hundred and four hundred people. I preached from the words, "For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater: so shall my word be that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." (Isaiah lv. 10, 11.) A plentiful fall of rain suggested this text.

View of old demon temple from the Communion rails, and recollections therewith connected.

The people themselves were a living proof that God's Word shall not return unto Him void. From the communion rails I could see the site of the old demon temple, at the door of which the heathen crowded around me in hostile demonstration upwards of twenty-five years before, and now I was about to administer the Lord's Supper to upwards of a hundred converts, some of whom had, in all probability, formed part of that frantic crowd, but they were now "in their right mind, and sitting at the feet of Jesus." At this place is a comfortable little bungalow for the accommodation of the Missionary, built with very considerable help from the people. They are generally well to do, and this year one of them gave 100 Rupees, towards finishing the spire of our Gothic church, and has promised 200 Rupees more towards the Native Church Fund. May the Lord pour down upon these people the abundant dew of His blessing! There are several other congregations which have a history of their own, but, in the leading features, are very like what has been already described, and I shall not, therefore, enter into particulars respecting origin, growth, and progress.

The ardour with which this veteran Missionary desires spiritual blessings upon the agency employed, is manifested in the closing passages of his review :—

Summary of labour and spirit of the labourer.

In the retrospect, I see much to be thankful for : I am not disposed, however, to regard all that has been effected as entirely satisfactory. It is true, I am surrounded by a large community of professed Christians amounting to upwards of 11,000. Some thousands of these have been won from heathenism, since I settled down in this locality. I have baptized large numbers, and admitted hundreds to the Lord's Table after personal examination. I preach every Sunday, and have done so for twenty years, to a congregation of from 1100 to 1300 souls. Churches or prayer-houses have been erected in a great number of villages in every direction, and Catechists appointed to reside among the people as their pastors; schools for boys and girls have been established in every considerable congregation: the machinery is complete. Well, so far so good; but all this may be the "wood, hay and stubble." The great question is, How many souls will appear at last to have been saved? This is indeed enough to make one tremble, and exclaim in the language of St. Paul, "Who is sufficient for these things?" Our only resource is, to confess that we are unprofitable servants, and to cast ourselves upon the mercy of God in Christ Jesus. If permitted to labour longer, I trust every sermon I preach will be directed more than ever to impress on my hearers the necessity of personal conversion, of a Divine change, with the present enjoyment of salvation by Christ, and the utter folly of resting in the observance of outward means and sacraments. And now, after thirty-one years' experience, I would affectionately say to my younger Missionary brethren in every section of Christ's Church, who may from year to year enter upon this blessed work, "Labour from the first for the true conversion of all your people, and never rest satisfied with any thing else."

Of the vernacular day schools, which are more especially under his supervision, the Rev. J. D. Thomas writes:—

Vernacular Day Schools.

Altogether there are sixty-four vernacular day-schools in operation at forty-seven of the villages in the combined districts. Of these, 19 are for boys exclusively, 17 for girls, and 28 are "mixed schools," where boys and girls learn together. These are taught by 41 masters, 22 mistresses, and 3 monitors or pupil-teachers. Nine of the smaller schools are under the care of Catechists. The total number of children in all our vernacular schools at the end of the year was 2204, of whom we have an average attendance of 1362 daily, or somewhat less than two-thirds, which, considering the status of the people, and their absolute indifference to the benefits of education, arising from the fact that it yields them no appreciable advantage, is as fair an average as we can expect.

SUVISESHAPURAM.

Encouragements and trials.

Encouragements and trials have formed the mixed experience of the Rev. W. P. Schaffter in this district. In many respects progress has been made. A greater desire has been shown for education in the Mission school, and the liberality of the Native Church facilitates a gradual movement towards independence. There are in the district forty congregations, nearly 5000 Native Christians, 700 communicants, and 900 children in the schools. Several villages have either partly or entirely adopted Christianity during the year. Some of the Missionary's labours, trials, responsibilities and resources are enumerated by Mr. Schaffter:—

Christians, communicants, and school children in a South Indian Missionary District.

My work here is threefold—scholastic, evangelistic, and pastoral. With each of them is connected a great amount of secular work, part of which can be done by Christian Native helpers, but most of it falls necessarily upon myself. At times I feel inclined to exclaim, "Who is sufficient for all this?" Turn where I will, I am loaded with burthens of divers kinds. In one place a new church is to be built, but the funds are not sufficient for it, or if they are at hand, the heathen landlord will not allow us to build. In another place the heathen are oppressing the Christians. Again, in another village, a serious dispute amongst the Christians threatens to split an otherwise promising congregation. Again, illness, or some other calamity, has proved too much for the faith of a poor Christian, and he has been tempted to backslide. Or Christian young men or women are given in marriage to heathen, or perhaps parties come for redress against the unjust treatment of their landlords. Thus days pass, weeks, months, yea, years, and still the call for work, a small specimen of which I have just given, is as great as ever, always on the increase, and this in addition to the care of all the churches, schools, and Mission agents in this district. There is no leisure for the mind, which is always burdened with a weight of responsibility, at times sufficient to drive it to distraction.

But how precious at all times, and especially in times of mental oppression, caused by responsibility, to be able to pour out into the heart of Jesus every thing that distresses us; to be able to ask for guidance and wisdom to do all things aright, to lean on Jesus the Rock of Ages, the Pillar of His Church. If we Missionaries had not the means of approaching the throne of grace, mercy, strength and wisdom, miserable indeed should we be. No one ought ever to attempt Mission work who is not on praying ground.

DOHNAVUR.

The congregations in this district have steadily improved during the last ten years, and the number of Native Christians, now nearly 2800, has been increased by 100 souls within the year. The sum of 1406 Rupees has been contributed by the Native Christians, which is a larger amount than has been given in any previous year.

PANNEIVILEI.

Change effected in a quarter of a century.

The spot on which the Mission house of this district has been built was merely a plot of palmyra-trees on a bed of sand in 1843, when the late Rev. J. T. Tucker entered upon his work. Mentally surveying the district from this place, the Rev. J. D. Simmons perceives a lack of vitality in the Christianity of the Natives as a community, but can at the same time point to some bright examples of individual piety. There are twenty-four seminaries or schools, containing more than 700 pupils. The adult Native Christians are nearly 1400 in number, inclusive of nearly 400 communicants. Only ten adult baptisms have taken place during the year. It is, however, a hopeful indication, that four or five Natives are qualified for ordination, and the congregations to whom they will minister are prepared to raise a considerable portion of the funds required for their support.

PANEIKULLAM.

Encouragements cast discouragements into the shade.

Although the physical strength of the Rev. J. Whitchurch has been somewhat diminished, yet he has been able to continue his labours. While mindful of discouragements, he does not record them in detail, because "he considers that the encouragements cast them entirely into the shade." The heathen have exhibited a friendly disposition towards Mission work: some have definitely placed themselves under instruction; one whole village has expressed its readiness to learn the truths of the Gospel; and one person has renounced his half-share in a devil-temple when soliciting instruction in Christianity. The statements of Mr. Whitchurch, more especially in reference to independent action and self-support, seem in harmony with the encouraging view he has taken of the work:—

Increased effort has been made by Christians towards the support of their agents, and in very many instances there has been a clearly perceptible growth in grace and knowledge of Christian truth. The heathen also have shown themselves more favourably disposed towards Christianity, and have evinced a greater readiness to put themselves under Christian instruction. All this I acknowledge with gratitude.

Readiness of Native Christians to support the means of grace.

We are using every effort, I may say "straining every nerve," to induce the Christians to approve themselves sincere in the matter of self-support. Next to the vital godliness of our Christians, this is the matter uppermost in all our minds. It is with great satisfaction we find that the material we have to work upon is of the right sort. Very many Christians are willingly doing their utmost, and though some come behindhand, yet I feel sure we shall eventually succeed, and be able to depend upon ourselves entirely for the support of Mission agency. If you in England could see things as we see them, or if a congregation of the kind we usually meet with were to be transplanted into your meeting at Exeter Hall, and those present were told to fix upon the amount such a congregation ought to give, after taking all circumstances into consideration, I venture to say a lower amount would be proposed than what is actually given. The duty of self-support has not been gradually, but suddenly, brought before the people here, and this, too, in addition to one or two other things equally sudden, such as taking the entire responsibility of buildings, &c. &c. So that it is scarcely reasonable to expect that they should all at once accomplish every thing, or that there should be no fluctuation in the amount raised. From sundry causes, such as more money spent in repairs, there might be a deficiency in the amount raised for self-support of agents; yet this would be no proof of the Christians not doing what they were able in the matter.

At present the Christians are not able to bear the entire support of their agency, and to insist upon it would be to paralyze all support, from the apparent vastness of the undertaking thus thrust upon them all at once. On the other hand, let help be continued but a few years longer, if you like in the form of "grants in aid," and the Christians will be encouraged to persevere until, within a few years time, all extraneous support will have become unnecessary. We have confidence in the genuineness of the work, and speak without hesitation about it, let mockers say what they will. In connexion with this matter of self-support, I may here say that in this district we have continued the pay of six agents during the year, at an expense of 50 Rupees upon an average; this, of course, in addition to all the other subscriptions, &c. One schoolmaster, feeling his indebtedness to the Committee, has declined all remuneration for more than a year and a-half, and depends entirely upon his own resources. He is most active in getting contributions from the Christians where he resides. As an illustration of the work in his village, I may just say, that, at a meeting held there last month, the amount of 75 Rupees was arrived at, to which five heathen subscribed one shilling each, and seven heathen sixpence each, the schoolmaster himself contributing 10 Rupees. This little incident will show also how the heathen associate themselves with us at these meetings. In this same village six people, male and female, have agreed to devote one entire day in a month, for several months, to speaking to the heathen in some adjacent village.

Examples of Native liberality in the matter of self-support.

The Lord's Supper has been very frequently administered in five or six different parts of the district by the Rev. J. Nallathambi and myself, and the communicants have not only increased in number, but have given me much satisfaction by their consistency. Although my attention has been principally devoted to congregations, yet the heathen have not been neglected.

SURANDEI AND NALLUR.

There are more than 5000 Native Christians in these districts, which have continued another year under the charge of the Rev. N. Honiss. There are 850 communicants and 1500 children under instruction in the schools. Nearly fifty adults have received baptism in the course of the year. Mr. Honiss has had the assistance of three Native Pastors, two in the Nallur and one in the Surandei District. There have been 305 members added to the Church, four new churches have been built for that number of new congregations, and in one instance the little flock recently received into the fold of Christ erected their church entirely at their own expense. More than 3000 religious tracts and nearly 400 portions of Scripture have been sold within the last twelve months, and several examples of earnest piety are mentioned in connexion with recent deaths. A blind woman, who on all occasions was found at service in church, was wont to gather around her the younger members of the congregation, and to speak to them of the Saviour's love. A very poor Christian, who was, however, rich in faith, triumphed over much suffering, and out of his deep poverty made a last contribution for Mission work. In the efforts for the formation of the Native Church, great difficulties arise from the circumstance that the Christians are widely scattered in many different villages. Concentration of energy is not easily practicable. These difficulties have, however, been in some measure surmounted, and the number of Native Pastors will, it is believed, gradually increase. One Catechist has, during the year, been examined, and accepted as a candidate for the Ministry, and the labours of an ordained Native are described by Mr. Honiss:—

Extent, character, and success of the work.

The Native Pastorate is regarded as the most hopeful feature.

The Native Pastorate is the most interesting and hopeful feature in the present position of our Tinnevelly Missions. The Native Pastors are the pillars upon which we are to place the weight and care of the Churches: it is important, therefore, to examine their stability, The Rev. A. James was ordained about two years ago, and since then he has had charge of the congregation at Ukkerankotie. I visited his village last month, and it was rather late on Saturday evening when I arrived, wet and tired. The bell —for they have a bell at Ukkerankotie—soon after summoned the people to evening prayers, and it was a most pleasing sight to see about 200 persons gathering round their own Pastor in a most substantially brick-built church. After prayers there was a reading class for adults, which was attended by about twenty men and women, five or six of whom had learnt to read by means of this class only. On Sunday, the following day, we had the Lord's Supper, which almost all the adults attended, and throughout the services all manifested a degree of attention and heartiness in the responses and singing which is seldom met with. Here were no quarrels to quench the influence of the Spirit, and no lawsuits to choke the word of the kingdom. Nor did the Native Pastor suggest that his house was rather small for him to maintain a suitable appearance, though it is the same that he lived in as a Catechist. He did not suggest that his means were limited, considering his position, though he receives but half the amount allowed to the Native Clergymen generally. During the past year this congregation have given about 100 Rupees towards the completion of their church, and the salary of Pastor A. James has been paid by the subscriptions of the district generally, so that Ukkerankotie has not received any funds direct from the Church Missionary Society during the past year. Thus the infant Church in this district has made one step towards independence, and it must be a matter of congratulation to the fostering parent in England to see that her child shows signs of health and strength.

A step towards independent action.

In illustration of the spiritual condition of his people, Mr. Honiss adverts to a physical feature of the district:—

There is a hill in connexion with the Western Ghauts, situated about twelve miles to the west of Surandei. The hill commands an extensive view, taking in the whole of the Surandei District. We can see those parts of the district which are blessed with the partial showers which fall at that season of the year, for the favoured spots stand out dressed in living green, while the brown, parched localities, unblessed by the industry of man or the dew of heaven, are equally apparent. I could wish, in taking a review of the spiritual work in the district during the past year, to look from some equally advantageous position. I feel sure there would be much to cheer the eye and heart in places where the seed sown by our Catechist has been blessed with the dew of Divine grace and yielded a good return; while there would be much more to mourn over where the words of life have been scattered among heathen and nominal Christians, and nothing but barren sterility the result. It may be difficult, in the smoke and dust of the battle, to determine the exact position of the day. The nature of our work is such that a Missionary may in many instances be deceived, but, with the help of the statistical return before me, we may obtain some general idea of what progress has been made.

A spiritual survey.

Within the past year the Native Christians of the district have raised, for Missionary and other spiritual purposes, the sum of 1170 rupees.

Contributions of a South Indian District.

SIVAGASI.

Growth in grace is stated by the Rev. R. R. Meadows to be perceptible in individuals rather than in congregations, although the spiritual condition of the congregation is regarded as more encouraging than at the time of last year's review. Two Native Ministers have visited all the villages in their districts, while Mr. Meadows and his assistants have preached at least twice in 750 towns and villages. There is not a general disposition to embrace Christianity, little opposition is offered, and the need of salvation from sin is not often manifested. Individual instances, which give evidence of the power of the Gospel over the heart, are, however, to be found. A youth has lately become a convert from heathenism, and it is somewhat remarkable that a heathen inhabitant of the town supports him in the Mission boarding school. Examples of Christian decision and earnestness, that would "adorn any congregation," are mentioned by Mr. Meadows:—

Individual rather than general growth in grace.

Pedhuru, a baptized Christian, about fifty years of age, is a day labourer, and works with a heathen partner; but he not only refuses to work himself on Sunday, but has used his influence to prevent his partner also.

No Missionary can visit Putthur without being gladdened by what he will see there. There are four individuals at least among the Christians who would adorn any congregation. The son became a Christian first, learnt to read, and is so consistent a man, and so decided an evangelist, that I am hoping from January 1st to make him the unpaid Catechist of his village, with a view to his conducting prayers, preaching, &c., in the absence of the Native Deacon. I am, in consequence, removing the Catechist of his village to another place, where he is more wanted. I have mentioned him in former reports, and so I have his aged father and mother, of whom, especially the latter, I cannot speak with sufficient praise and thanksgiving. There is another farmer in that neighbourhood who might be employed as an unpaid Catechist in his own village, were he not very poor, and unable, through poverty, to be at home sufficiently.

I cannot pass over the conduct of another Christian, of the lowest caste—a grade below the Pariahs—who, unable to read himself, takes his little daughter about with him to read the Bible, while he himself preaches. But it is not the most forward Christians, whose very forwardness brings them into notice, who are in the sight of God the most precious. Many secret, humble, retiring Christians show, by their avoidance of reviling, of lying, of quarrelling, that they are taught of the Spirit.

The increased contributions of Native Christians for spiritual objects, during the last eight years, deserve attention:—

Progress in the direction of self-support.

Self-support is making decided, and, to my mind, satisfactory progress. We began in 1859 with about 50 Rs. for this object. Now this year the people subscribed 1300 Rs. We began with supporting one Catechist; this year we leaped far beyond even our last year's position, and are supporting eleven. I tremble for our prospects for the next year, but trust that God our Saviour, who watches the interests of His own Church, will not suffer us to go backwards. The Christians show much spirit in the matter, and will make an onward effort.

A Native Minister's review of the year.

Contributions of Christians nearly doubled.

The Native Minister, the Rev. J. Cornelius, in a retrospective and comprehensive survey of his district, announces that the baptized Christians have advanced from 327 to 363 within the year; that the Native Teachers, whether Catechists or schoolmasters, who are associated with him, have been animated by the love of Christ; and that, although the people are very poor, their contributions for religious purposes have amounted to 432 Rs., being nearly double the sum given last year. Caste is said to be losing influence, but worldliness and indifference prevail. There are, however, instances of Christian piety and faithfulness too numerous for specific and detailed notice.

III. Travancore and Cochin.

(Commenced in 1816.)

The Mission comprises nine districts: 1. Allepie, 1816; 2. Cottayam, 1817; 3. Cochin, 1817; 4. Mavelicara, 1839; 5. Trichur, 1842; 6. Pallam, 1845; 7. Tiruwella, 1849; 8. Kunnankullam, 1854; 9. Mundakayam, 1855.

COTTAYAM.

Cambridge Nicholson Institution.

The Rev. J. M. Speechly has continued in charge of this Institution, which now contains twenty-three students. The North Travancore Missions have also been placed under Mr. Speechly's care. There are 671 Native Christians in the district, and 191 communicants. Concerning the Native Agency, the following remarks are made:—

The developing of our Native Agency is a most important subject. We need not a mere instrumental material, but a living, active energy. To obtain this, we need ruling minds, men whom the Natives will respect, follow, and be impressed with their spirit and energy. Many men may make good Ministers and Missionaries, but they work as units. In these Missions, men are needed who will multiply themselves. The principle of the division of labour is true in affairs ecclesiastical as well as in secular. We should know our man whether Native, Cleric, reader or schoolmaster, and, when we can place confidence, relieve ourselves of every burden which he can well undertake.

Cottayam College.

In consequence of the return to England of the Rev. R. Collins, the College has been temporarily under the care of the Rev. W. Johnson and Mr. Thomas Lane. The Rev. J. H. Bishop has been appointed Principal of the College. Mr. Lane has mainly undertaken the instruction of the classes. The conduct of the pupils, and their progress in study, have been satisfactory. There are 134 boys, of whom fifty-six are Syrian Christians, fifty-nine are Protestants, and seventeen are Hindus.

PALLAM, &c.

The Rev. Henry Baker, assisted by four Native Ministers, has charge of more than 6000 Native Christians in Pallam, Mundakayam, and Tiruwella. He is also in charge of the Cochin itinerancy. Before quoting from the communications of some of the Native Clergy, a general statement from Mr. Baker's pen is given :—

General view by Rev. H. Baker.

I have superintended 6058 Native Christians, 1336 communicants, and 1243 children in schools. I have baptized 389 adults in 1867, besides infants, and, in the last January, 120 more. I have been ably assisted by the agents of various grades in my districts. The Rev. Messrs. K. Koshi, Jacob Chandy, K. Jaco and I. Eapen have carried out, in their sub-districts, many improvements in their working which I conceive very beneficial to the Mission. The great need of Europeans, skilled in the language, has caused Mr. K. Koshi to be removed, though, I trust, temporarily, to Trichur. Mr. Chandy still remains in a feeble state of health; and while Messrs. I. Eapen and K. Jaco are reading for priests' orders with Mr. Speechly, I have been joined by Mr. Oomen Mamen, whose peculiar quiet Christian demeanour has proved him eminently fitted for the sturdy minded people of Mallapalli. I must, too, acknowledge the kind help I have had in the Church services from the Revs. W. Hope and W. Johnson in the Pallam District, while themselves studying Malayalim. Some of my Scripture Readers are old tried men who have worked with me twenty years and upwards; others are young men sent me from the Cambridge Nicholson Institution, where the many habits of Christian thought, the entire conscientiousness of action, and freedom from Syrian prejudice instilled into them, have combined to make them (what I believe the majority to be), true helpers in our work. Some of the village schoolmasters are not such as I could wish—teach too much by rote and memory; but, taking the whole of the three Districts of Pallam, Tiruwella and Mundakayam, I think we need not despond, but be encouraged, by looking rather at the blessings granted, than the numerous disappointments met with.

In the Candenāde, or Itinerating District, there have been always two Readers from the other districts, in turns. There are four schools, and Messrs. K. Koshi and G. Matthan each took a tour, and I have been twice with one short trip to it.

TIRUWELLA.

The Native Christians at Tiruwella, numbering nearly 550 of whom more than one-fifth are communicants, have for the last three years been under the spiritual care of the Rev. G. Matthan, Native Minister. During that period he has baptized 194 persons, the greater part being converts from heathenism. Many of the Christian converts are diligent in their endeavours to bring their heathen relatives to Christ; and though the members of the congregation are extremely poor, they have paid all local expenses connected with their church, and have raised 122 Rupees for religious purposes. The Native Minister cannot announce many conversions from the rich and powerful—"to the poor the Gospel is preached"—still, in some instances, persons of position and education inquire concerning the Gospel system. Such an instance is mentioned by Mr. Matthan:—

Results of a Native Minister's threeyears' labour.

Besides the work going on in connexion with the station already occupied, which consists of efforts to bring in strangers to the fold of Christ, as well as to edify those who are already within it, the seeds of Gospel truth are widely spread among heathens as well as nominal Christians, as well by means of oral communications, as by the circulation of printed books. The spread of general education having created a taste for reading among the higher classes, religious books are also sometimes received and perused. One well-educated and influential young man, in a letter to me, sent but a few days ago, says, "As a historical record, I should like to read the Bible: I will thank you if you could get me a copy. The nicely-bound volume you gave me kindly when at Quilon I gave away to a friend. I will pay for the one I want."

Leisure hours have been devoted by this Native Minister to the preparation of Butler's Analogy in the vernacular. The first part has already been published, and has been found to appeal forcibly to learned Hindus unacquainted with European literature. Bible lessons are an essential part of the instruction given daily in the schools, which contain 115 boys.

MAVELICARA.

A thoughtful retrospect induces the Rev. R. H. Maddox to look with hope to the future. The influence of Missionary labour in Travancore has been great, as well in reference to the Syrian Church as to the Native Government. Although some special trials have marked the work of the year, yet the European Missionary can record that the Native Clergy, Catechists and Readers, labouring with one heart as brethren in the unity of the Spirit and the bond of peace, have heartily combined their efforts for the spiritual welfare of the district. There are thirteen congregations in out-stations, which stand in the relation of branches to Mavelicara. Although constant and careful attention is necessary in the spiritual culture of these branches, yet the Missionary can safely testify that the majority present every appearance of vitality. Pastoral, evangelistic and educational work has consequently been actively maintained. Sometimes the preaching has been by the wayside, sometimes in the bazaars, and sometimes at the Syrian feasts, while the heathen have been visited in their homes and in their temples. The schools, more especially those for girls, afford ground for encouragement. A young man, whose conversion has taken place during the year, after having received instruction in the Mission school, has been admitted at the Cottayam Institution, and is now a very satisfactory student.

A recent convert becomes a satisfactory student.

There are 3400 Native Christians, of whom 600 are communicants. While furnishing the statistics of his own district, Mr. Maddox enunciates his views as to the gradual prevalence of Christianity in India:—

Gradual prevalence of Christianity.

I believe Christianity in India is settling itself upon a firm basis. The question whether or not Christianity is to take up its abode in this country, and gradually extend and increase until it cover the whole land, I believe has not to be asked. The only question which it appears to me necessary to be considered is, whether or not there may be some things necessary to introduce into our present plans of operation, as well as some things to be omitted for the future. The time has now come when the whole must be considered, and proposed alterations adopted or rejected as the experience of the past may recommend. The foundation in many places has been laid upon too narrow a basis. I refer to the custom so generally adopted in earlier times, of so establishing Churches as to make them entirely dependent on extraneous assistance. In such cases former defects must now be remedied before so much as one stone more is added. All this is underground work, but it is none the less important or necessary for all that.

The Native Pastor, the Rev. Jacob Chandy, has, by reason of ill health, been under the necessity of retiring, to some extent, from the duties hitherto discharged. He will, however, continue in the district, and render such service as his diminished strength will permit. Mr. Chandy gives the present statistics of the district:—

A Native Pastor's sphere of labour.

There are in connexion with the district of Thallawaddie 852 souls, of whom 566 are baptized, and 286 unbaptized. Number of communicants, 217. They are scattered in six different villages. The Sunday services in these places are carried on with the help of the two readers and some of the schoolmasters. The number of children learning in the schools attached to these villages is 146. At Thallawaddie people are converts from Syrians, Roman Catholics, and Chogans. At Neranum all are converts from Syrians. The remaining four congregations are entirely composed of Pulayan slaves. Of 852 professing Christians of the district, 200 are Syrians by birth, 47 are converts from Chogans, and 605 are converts from Pulayan slaves.

Monthly prayer meetings are held in every village, and collections made for religious and charitable purposes. The sum of money raised during the past year amounts to Rs. 127. 8 a.

Some of the young men of Thallawaddie, educated in the Cottayam College, are usefully employed in other Missions.

The Rev. J. Tharien, one of the three Native Ministers of the district, furnishes a few general remarks on the state of the Native Church:—

My station is the most southern, not only of the Mavelicara district, but also of the Travancore Mission. Kunneet, where I live, has under it three other out-stations, viz. Gnakenal, Puthupally, and Thévalakara. The members of my congregation, with the exception of two families, are entirely converts from heathenism. Myself, and the four Scripture Readers under me, conduct the Sunday duties in these stations. With reference to the people under my immediate charge, I am happy to state that they are decidedly improving in their spiritual condition. As a test of this, I may mention their readiness to attend the means of grace, and their heartiness to contribute towards the Native Church Fund. Their rate of subscription is yearly increasing. It is highly gratifying to see a band of poor men, not much advanced in learning, and having nothing but their Christian conduct to recommend them to their heathen neighbours, whose only happiness consists in the amount of wealth they possess—I say, it is gratifying to see these poor people bringing in their contributions cheerfully. When one considers the difficulties our people have to contend against for finding the means of subsistence, the inference drawn must be, that the truth of God has come to them not only in word, but also in might and in power.

Native Minister's estimate of his people.

I have in my congregation six prayer-meetings in a month, when the Word of God is explained to the people, and prayer offered.

MALLAPALLI.

The Native Minister, the Rev. Oomen Mamen, has ministered at Trichur and Kunnankullam, but at the close of the year was located at Mallapalli, where, as Native Pastor, he has a spiritual cure of 760 persons.

The Rev. Ittiyerah Eapen, Native Pastor, removed from Mallapalli to Cottayam in the latter part of the year. Some impression of the character of his labours, and the success attending them, may be gathered from his own language:—

I had the pleasure of working for about four years and a half at Mallapalli, during which time, although my work there was chiefly pastoral, among 760 baptized members of the Church of England, scattered in seven villages, and assembling together for Divine service in five churches or prayer-houses, yet educational and evangelistic work also occupied a good proportion of my time; and in these several branches of my labour I am thankful to say that I was able to realize the gracious presence and blessing of the Saviour with me, upholding and strengthening my weak hands amidst circumstances of discouragement and difficulties. A spirit of liberality is being more and more cultivated amongst the people as a body, and a few of them endeavour to make their Church self-supporting and self-expanding in the midst of a heathen country. The sum of money I had collected during my stay there, and which I had left with my successor when I quitted the station in October, was 508 rupees.

The Scriptures are read by some of the better educated heathen, while some persons, well acquainted with the Shasters, are engaged in the study of Butler's Analogy in the vernacular. Mr. Eapen adverts to a spirit of inquiry in some villages of the district:—

Spirit of inquiry manifested.

The sound of the Gospel is, however, becoming more and more harmonious to the ears of the poor slaves. Though the plan of salvation through a crucified Saviour is generally hidden from the wise and prudent of this world, yet, thanks be to God, it is often revealed to the ignorant. Shortly before I left Mallapalli applications for religious instruction had been made to me from Poonaveli, Chelakeva, Koonanthanum, and other places; and I have since heard, that immediately after my departure from that station a temporary prayer-house was erected in the first of these places by Mr. Baker, and that arrangements have been made to instruct the little congregation of inquirers there. I sincerely trust that similar arrangements will be made with reference to the other applicants; and I am fully confident that my zealous successor, Mr. Oomen Mamen, will warmly enter into the fields, now become open, and water the tender plants requiring careful treatment, that both he that planteth and he that watereth may rejoice together at that growth which God alone can give.

ALLEPIE.

Although there have not been in the course of the year any remarkable illustrations of the power of the Gospel at Allepie, yet the general state of the district is encouraging. The Native Teachers have largely aided the Missionary, the Rev. A. Johnson, in his work, and the Native Christians, numbering about 550, have, in order to relieve the funds of the Society, made an additional effort to maintain spiritual agents. The church has been completed, and was opened for Divine service late in November. The various schools contain nearly 300 teachers, and have been improved by frequent inspection.

The assistance obtained from Natives, both in evangelistic and pastoral labour, is acknowledged by Mr. Johnson:—

Assistance rendered by Natives in evangelistic and pastoral work.

In the evangelistic department of the work I derive much help from my five readers. They daily visit the heathen, Mohammedans, and the Roman Catholics in their houses, and read the Word of God to them. They also read and preach in the bazaar, and by the way-side. I have not been able to devote myself as much as I wish to this work on account of weakness. Still, however, I have gone in the early morning to the houses of different heathen, and read and spoken the word of life to them. I have also accompanied the readers to preach in the town. The heathen and Mohammedans receive us kindly, and listen with respect.

Besides the congregation in the town of Allepie, I have also four others—one at Mohamail, two at Cawalum, and a fourth at Neduwaddie. At each of these places there is a prayer-house, where the people assemble for Divine worship on the Sabbath, which is generally conducted by a reader, for I am unable to visit each place oftener than once in two months. On the second Sunday of the month I have visited Mohamail and Cawalum alternately, and conducted Divine service and administered the Lord's Supper; and on the fourth Sunday I have visited the slave congregations at Neduwaddie and Cawalum alternately. In the Cawalum congregation I have thirty-three catechumens and ninety at Neduwaddie.

TRICHUR.

The Native Minister, the Rev. K. Koshi, has recently entered upon the pastoral duties of this place and Kunnankullam. The number of Native Christians rather exceeds 400, including nearly 200 communicants.

COCHIN.

The Rev. G. Curian, Native Minister, labours at Cochin. Within the year a division of the Mission district has been made, and Mr. Curian is now in charge of a Native Pastorate. The adult Native Christians are 240, nearly 100 being communicants. He announces, with rejoicing, the arrangement for the endowment of this pastorate:—

A Native Minister rejoices over the progress made.

It is a matter of gladness and joy to us to understand that the Endowment Fund for this pastorate is completed, which will not only afford to Cochin the permanency of a Native Pastor, but is also an important step gained in the progress of the Mission work in the Travancore and Cochin Mission: this will stimulate other districts and stations to do likewise. It is the opinion of some that the raising of an endowment in the present state of the Mission is next to impossibility, and I have heard some reflecting upon the Cochin attempt as an instance of failure, if not of impracticability. With zeal and perseverance, coupled with confident and depending prayer, every thing is possible to the Christian, even in the midst of hopelessness and discouragement.

MASULIPATAM.

Death of Rev. J. E. Sharkey.

Since the publication of the last Report the Society has been deprived by death of the Rev. J. E. Sharkey, which took place off Masulipatam on the 27th of May. Although he had for some time been in failing health, he had nevertheless continued to discharge the full duties of his Missionary work. Having been at length induced by his brother Missionaries to relinquish his labours at Masulipatam, and to visit Madras, in the hope of restoring his health, he was conveyed, whilst suffering from weakness and exhaustion, on board the steamer about to proceed to that city; but in the course of a few hours, and even before those who accompanied him to the vessel had returned to the shore, his spirit quietly passed away, thus suddenly removing him from the prosecution of those Missionary labours which he had energetically and successfully conducted for more than twenty years. His remains were landed from the steamer, and interred near those of the late Rev. R. T. Noble. The following Minute was adopted by the Madras Corresponding Committee, on receiving the intelligence of Mr. Sharkey's death:—

The Committee record their feeling of deep sorrow for the sudden termination of Mr. Sharkey's valuable labours in the cause of Christ and Missions. For four years as a devoted Catechist, and for twenty years as a most efficient Missionary, he gave his heart and his strength to the Master's work in connexion with the Masulipatam Mission, of whose vernacular and evangelical branch he may justly be said to have been the head and stay. After the removal of the late Rev. R. T. Noble the Committee had felt in a double measure the value of Mr. Sharkey's experience and labours, and they looked forward to his future work with increased expectations under the new and hopeful circumstances of the more rural part of his district.

Minute of Madras Committee on Mr. Sharkey's death.

But it has pleased their Master and his to call their valued brother to his rest in the midst of abundant labours and plans of increasing usefulness, and they bow their head in humble submission to His unerring wisdom and love. They commend very specially to the Lord's sufficient grace his bereaved partner and true fellow-labourer in the work of Christ, and thankfully learn that she proposes to continue her connexion with female education. And they pray that fresh and competent labourers may be sent forth by the Lord of the harvest into this field of plenteous promise, to the aid of those, who now, with diminished resources, are bearing the burden and heat of the day.

In connexion with Mr. Sharkey, the conversion of one, who was once actively occupied in the service of idolatry, may be especially noted:—

Conversion of one formerly an active servant of idolatry.

Among the families recently baptized is that of a Mála priest, who for many years lived by carrying a few little brass idols from village to village, and obtaining money and rice by deceiving the people. Once he thus happened to be at Angalúr, where Mr. Sharkey had opened a vernacular village school. He conversed on religion with the schoolmaster. By this conversation his faith in heathenism was somewhat shaken, and, wanting to know more of Christianity, he begged to be introduced to Mr. Sharkey, who was then not far off at Gudivada. His first conversation with Mr. Sharkey made such an impression on his mind, he says, that he could not continue to go about with his dumb idols to delude the people. He was invited to Bunder, and has since been regularly instructed in Christianity, and presented his idols to the Missionary. His brother, too, has been led by him to become a Christian, and both have been for some time in the training class for Colporteurs, which has been maintained here for two years by the Bible Society. Being men of some education for their station, and address acquired in their former line of life, they are likely, by God's grace, to be extensively useful.

Education.

The important Anglo-vernacular school at Masulipatam has, by its enlargement, greatly overtaxed the powers of the Rev.

The Anglo-vernacular school—its numbers and influence.

J. Sharp, who urgently needs the assistance of a well-qualified educational Missionary. The influence of the school is great in the Northern Circars. The average attendance for the first six months of the year was 250, a number larger than at any previous period; but the loss of valuable Native assistance by the transfer of labourers to other parts of the Telugu Mission, and the paucity of European Missionaries, greatly endanger the efficiency of the school. The extent to which this school affects the educated Native mind renders the appointment of an additional educational Missionary absolutely necessary at the earliest possible date. One of the pupils was last year second in the list of Bachelors of Arts in the Madras University; and another, although not yet a Christian, described himself in the Government return as "Non-Hindu," in reference to religion.

On the death of the Rev. J. E. Sharkey, the charge of the Missionary district of Masulipatam devolved upon Mr. Sharp. Assisted by the Rev. A. Bhushanam, Native Minister, Mr. Sharp continued the street preaching and the village preaching in and around Masulipatam. Distant villages were also sometimes visited. The Native Christians are more than 300 in number, and of these, 60 are communicants. The Native congregation is steadily increasing, and a greater spirit of liberality is manifested in the contributions for religious purposes. Statistics, showing the attendance, the race, and the religion of the scholars, are supplied by Mr. Sharp:—

The year here taken is that between the Government inspections in November, and the changes for two years are given.

	Admitted.		Withdrawn.		Net Increase	Net Decrease
	1865-6	1866-7	1865-6	1866-7	In 1866-7	In 1866-7
Hindus - - -	129	169	143	97	72	..
Mohammedans	20	18	14	27	..	11
Total - -	149	187	157	124	61

The arrangement of the school, and changes in the several classes for the year Nov. 1866 to Nov. 1867, are shown below:—

Tabular view of the Scholars.

Classes.	Hindus.										Mohammedans.				Total.		Grand Total.
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	1	2	3	4	Hindus.	Mohammedans.
Pupils—Nov. 1866	4	10	...	17	8	12	22	28	16	50	12	11	10	...	167	33	200
Pupils—Nov. 1867	6	7	8	11	11	15	27	22	34	98	4	...	7	11	239	22	261

Greater advantages have been offered to the Mohammedans during this year than ever before in this place. For the first time an European (Mr. Mason) has been specially assigned them, and taught in their language daily. For some months, too, a first-rate Urdu scholar, from Calcutta, was retained as Munshi. Yet the numbers have diminished, and show such a want of appreciation of the value of education, that such expensive arrangements for their special benefit, cannot be maintained. Only the lowest Mohammedan class will therefore be kept distinct, and others must join such Telugu classes as they can manage to study with. Discipline has been much improved, however, in the Mohammedan department, and better progress in study made, I believe. In pleasing contrast with the apathy of the Mohammedans is the increasing desire for education in a class which long neglected it—the Vaisyas, or shopkeepers and merchants.

Increased daily attendance.

During the year 1866-7, on an average, 45 more boys have been taught daily than in 1865-6, and 87 more than in 1864-5. In June the number on the rolls was 290. But in the quarter August—October, every year, the attendance suffers a good deal from the fever and sickness which prevail then.

Zenana work.

The necessity for prosecuting Zenana work is mentioned in connexion with a lady who was compelled by the death of her father to return to England:—

In October 1866 a lady arrived for the purpose; but, on the death of her father, returned to England in July 1867. Now the work is entirely in abeyance, but sorely needed, and likely to reward richly self-denying and sustained efforts humbly to proclaim "the unsearchable riches of Christ." Who will ask Him to enable her to undertake it? During 1867 a Brahmin living in the town has himself started a little school in the verandah of his house, for his own wife and a few others, and, in spite of opposition, perseveres in getting them instructed.

Mr. Sharp thus refers to the efforts of Native Christians:—

Larger collections for the Church Fund.

The work goes on. The Native Clergyman, Bhushanam, has baptized seven adults and I twelve children; and at the meeting we were enabled to announce that the amount collected for the Native Church Fund was more than had been collected in all the five previous years put together. This was by means of a system of household boxes, started by Mr. Sharkey a year ago.

On the death of the Rev. J. E. Sharkey the Central Training Institution, which is connected with a system of vernacular village schools, was placed under the management of Mr. J. Thornton, in order that, with the assistance of a Native Christian master, he might introduce more of the Normal Converts sulting from school work.

School character. The progress has thus far been satisfactory. Converts have resulted from these educational efforts; and in one village many inhabitants recently received Christian baptism on the occasion of the visit of the Bishop of Madras.

ELLORE.

There has been a considerable, but not remarkable increase in the communicants, Christians and inquirers at this station. Two Missionary circles have been formed in the course of the year, and an experienced Catechist has been placed in each of them. The Rev. F. N. Alexander is induced to hope that some of the Native Teachers now employed will eventually become Native Pastors, and the readiness shown in contributing to the Church Fund gives promise of the support required for such a Native Pastorate. The Anglo-vernacular school contains 105 scholars, but its present state is not satisfactory. Measures will be adopted for its improvement.

BEZWARA.

A careful review of Missionary effort during the year is made by the Rev. W. Ellington. In various directions there is promise of expansion. His testimony with regard to such expansion is subjoined:—

Expansion during three years.

When Mr. Darling left (January 1865) there were Christians in eight or nine villages; since then the Gospel has penetrated into six or seven more: about sixteen require to be, and, if possible, ought to be, visited by the Missionary nearly every month; in order to which, he in travelling simply from one out-post to another, and thence home, must make a circuit of 100 miles. When he arrives at these out-posts he will hear that there are some still further on, who have a strong desire to hear, that is to say, are crying, "Come over, and help us." Moreover, in some of the older villages, the numbers are steadily increasing. My impression is, that as regards these parts, and this class of people, the tide has fairly set in; and at first, when I hear of new accessions, a feeling of solemn responsibility comes over me, as well as one of rejoicing. Remembering what human nature is, I cannot, and would not, be without my fears lest some of these should be coming over to us from other than the right motives, and lest, at some future day, our God may see fit to humble us by means of their inconsistencies; but not forgetting, at the same time, what the great Head has told us, that His visible Church should consist of, as well as what His gracious dealings have been with His professing people from the earliest days; not knowing, moreover, what His purposes may be towards the children of those who may themselves be acquainted with only the form of Christianity; I see real cause to thank God and take courage: for fully persuaded am I, that whatever may be the quality of some of the materials of which the superstructure is being composed, the Spirit was at work in the beginning, and that we are building upon a living foundation.

Some facts of special interest are added to the general review:—

Facts of special interest.

The last tour I made with Mr. Darling, we called at a village where there are some persons who are connected with our Raghapuram Christians. The man with whom we entered into conversation seemed much better disposed towards Missionaries and their message than he had ever appeared to be before. At the close of the conversation he was willing for us to have prayers in his house. He himself has remained firm, and now there are in this village altogether thirteen candidates for baptism. I am thankful also to be able to state that the inquirers at Bandipulliam have greatly improved in other respects besides knowledge during the last nine or ten months. It has been real hard work to them to learn the Creed, Lord's Prayer and Ten Commandments; but they have well got over that difficulty; and as I hear on the whole a fair report of their general conduct, they will, I hope, very soon receive "the outward and visible sign of the inward and spiritual grace." There are about thirty-nine candidates in Bandipulliam and its immediate vicinity. There are also, between thirty and forty candidates in another direction, whose first impressions of the truth are to be traced to one of their number having come to Raghapuram to be present at a wedding, and to his relative having kept him at his house for a month, in order that he might become acquainted with the saving truths of Christianity. He went home, and communicated what he had learned to such as were willing to listen to him. They reside at Ramakristapuram, a distance of more than thirty miles from Bezwara, and have had but few spiritual advantages; but it is a great pleasure and encouragement to witness their simple earnestness.

In Raghapuram, within the last few days, four familes, consisting of thirty-nine persons, have cast away their idols, and placed themselves under Christian instruction. In the next village, also, and in the next to it again, a family has been added during the last few days.

The several Mission schools under his supervision are noticed by Mr. Ellington:—

Vernacular Schools.

With respect to vernacular schools, we are in a less forward condition than they are in the other districts of the Telugu Mission. There, I believe, the work has begun, in some cases, by the opening of a school; and so the Missionary has been able to work upon the parents by means of his influence with the children. Here the case is different, though I believe we shall have more schools as soon as the teachers are ready. In some villages, however, as the number of Christians is but small, and the rest are opposed to us, we must be content for a while to let the schools remain in abeyance. At present there are three village day schools, and there would be a fourth, only that we were compelled to remove the teacher a few months ago to a more important station, and to where quarters could be provided for him on his marriage. We have also a night school, some of the pupils of which are married men with families, who have succeeded well, and can now read the Word of God. The attendance at our Bezwara Anglo-vernacular school has not materially increased during tbe year, so that we dispensed with the services of one of the masters at the end of June. We have to be thankful for the service which Mr. Thompson, Christian teacher and head master, has been able to render during the past year. In our station boarding school, we have twenty girls, besides two day scholars. I think that they have made steady progress in their studies, and my wife is able to bear the most satisfactory testimony as regards their obedient, steady, and industrious conduct out of school hours.

CEYLON MISSION.

Division of Mission.—I. Colombo. II. Baddagama. III. Kandy. IV. Jaffna.

I. Colombo.

Cotta commenced, 1822; Colombo, 1852.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. John Ireland Jones, B.A. (m), 1857.
Rev. William Edward Rowlands, B.A. (m), 1861.
Rev. Stephen Coles (m), 1860.

COLOMBO.

WHILE in some parts of the Island of Ceylon a listless formality, rather than a living spirituality, characterizes the Native Christians, there are discernible in other districts some signs of "refreshing from the presence of the Lord."

The illness of some Native agents, and changes in the location of others, have, together with the demands made by the large English element in the work at Colombo, involved the Rev. W. E. Rowlands in duties almost beyond his strength. He has also been much occupied in the erection of a boarding school for Tamil girls, towards which he has in various ways raised 1376*l.*, and for which he requires an additional 325*l.* Preaching in frequented thoroughfares, and distribution of portions of Scripture by sale, have been zealously continued, but without much evidence of success. On the other hand, the Mohammedans have exhibited greater disposition to listen to the Gospel, and have even sometimes voluntarily opened a discussion on Christianity when the Missionary has visited the bazaar. One instance of conversion from Islam has attracted some attention, and concerning another Mr. Rowlands writes:—

Disposition of Mohammedans to listen to the Gospel.

> A few months ago a respectable shopkeeper received from us a complete New Testament, as a loan, which he says he is reading as he has opportunity; and for the last six months or more another man—an intelligent young fellow—has subscribed, through me, regularly for an excellent little work, published by the London Missionary Society at Nagercoil, and containing articles relating to the Christian religion, as well as those of a secular character.

Signs of progress.

The Singhalese services have almost entirely devolved upon the Native Catechist, and the numbers in attendance have increased. Considerable advance has been made by the Tamil congregations in their contributions towards self-support, and the Singhalese congregations are also exerting themselves in the same direction. The Colombo Church Missionary Association has raised during the year 242*l.* 10*s.*, being 50*l.* more than in the previous year.

COTTA.

Resuming the charge of this district after an interval of five years, the Rev. J. I. Jones is naturally led to compare its present with its previous condition. While there are examples of decided and energetic piety, the Native Christians, regarded as a body, are described as unsatisfactory. The separation from heathenism is not sufficiently decided, and the knowledge of the Gospel is very limited. Mr. Jones attributes this indifference and ignorance to the defective attainments of the Native Catechists, and he is endeavouring to remedy the evil by a system of careful and regular instruction. Some encouragement is found in the increased contributions given by the adult Christians towards the support of Native teachers, and the notice of initiatory measures in connexion with the Native Church, contained in the annexed quotation from the Missionary's annual review, is not without promise of a satisfactory issue:—

The first and most important point is the uniting of Cotta with Talangama, so as to bring both under the same superintendent and the same plans. Mr. Jayesinhe had at first the charge of the united districts, but, on his removal to Kandy, the superintendence devolved on me. The time which has since elapsed has been, however, too short to enable me to do more than form my plans for future operations.

The second point of interest is the formation of a Native Church Council, to represent the Christians of Cotta, Talangama and Galle Face. It was thought that in such an extensive district it would be difficult to elect members from the whole body of Christians, and the plan has therefore been adopted of selecting one person to represent each congregation numbering more than twenty adults. Only one or two meetings have as yet been held, but I am encouraged to hope that the plan will work well, and be productive of important results.

In the schools considerable alterations have been made with the desire of increasing their efficiency, and at the same time bringing them within manageable limits. My feeling is, that inefficient and badly superintended schools are not only of no service, but are a positive injury to our work. I am therefore endeavouring to retain only such as have good teachers, and are so situated as to be within the reach of constant inspection.

COTTA INSTITUTION.

The difficulty of maintaining this Institution, as hitherto conducted, has resulted in the discontinuance of resident students. The Rev. Stephen Coles has been removed from Baddagama to the Cotta Institution, and while continuing the English day school of the Institution, has also remained in charge of the Vernacular Training Institutions for Catechists and schoolmasters, which has been transferred with him to Cotta. It is hoped that some of those who were resident students will attend the day school, and reside with the head Native master.

Mr. Coles was ordained Deacon by the Bishop of Colombo at Christmas. He relates the conversion of a Buddhist youth, a scholar in an upper class of the Institution:—

Conversion of a Buddhist youth.

I cannot forbear relating the case of one young man in an upper class of the Institution. He was reported to me as a Buddhist, and much opposed to many things contained in the Bible. I called him, and had frequent consultations with him, and, having gained his confidence, asked him to tell me his objections. This he did by degrees, and, when not satisfied with my answers, he did not fail to tell me. At length, after a long conversation, he said with great earnestness, "Oh, Sir, I cannot think that we can be saved by mere looking to Christ, without something done on our part." I then felt where his objections lay, and, assisted by God's Spirit, endeavoured to set forth the exceeding richness and exclusive perfection of God's mercy in Christ, and our entire sinfulness and helplessness. While doing this, he exclaimed, in a manner I can never forget, "Oh, Sir, I see it now. I do believe—I do believe." Then, with broken hearts, we knelt down and thanked God for the exceeding riches of His grace and His kindness towards us in Christ Jesus. I am happy to say, that ever since he has conducted himself well, and earnestly desires to be baptized. I think it better, however, that he should be kept waiting a little while, that his heathen relatives and acquaintances may know that he is sincere.

TALANGAMA.

A Native Missionary's report.

The Rev. C. Jayesinhe, Native Missionary in this district, which contains about 700 Native Christians, of whom nearly 100 are communicants, has removed to Kandy for the purpose of taking charge, as Native Pastor, of the congregation in Kandy.

Concerning Talangama, Mr. Jayesinhe reports:—

The contributions of the district for the maintenance of Pastors, as well as for the keeping up of Churches, have been small, amounting to 10*l.* 14*s.* 7*d.* Various means to facilitate, as well as to increase contributions have been suggested to the congregations; but these suggestions have not yet produced the desired effect, but I trust that better times and larger contributions are not far distant.

In the commencement of this year, the number of schools was seventeen; but afterwards, since various causes rendered it necessary to close some of them, the present number fell to eight boys' schools and five girls' schools. Of these, the boys' schools of Talangama and Borella are very encouraging, and they give greater satisfaction than the rest.

The enmity of our heathen neighbours against the cause of Christ is daily increasing, seeing that it is taking root in the land; but we simply hope and labour in Him who has said that the gates of hell shall not prevail against His Church.

II. Baddagama.

Baddagama commenced, 1819; Bentotte, 1861.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Richard Thomas Dowbiggin, 1867.

BADDAGAMA.

Spiritual care of the Native Christians, varied efforts on behalf of the heathen, and responsible supervision of Training Institutions, have occupied the Rev. E. T. Higgens. There are not at present any Native Pastors in the district, and the number of professed Christians has been reduced by raising the standard of Christian decision and devotedness. The schools have made good progress, and there are several candidates for baptism among the scholars. Mr. Higgens adverts to an effort for the establishment of a permanent Native Church:—

First step towards a permanent Native Church.

We have been able during the year to take the first step in the establishment of a permanent Native Christian Church, by the connexion of three pastoral districts, and have a Native Church (village) Council, to whom is committed the management of Church affairs, and the raising of subscriptions for the support of the Native Pastoral Catechists. The Pastorates are Baddagama (village), Dodandiwa, and Bentotte. This new work is quite in its infancy at present, but, thank God, every thing has hitherto worked well, and gives promise of future extension.

"Second stage of Missionary progress—opposition"—has been reached.

On Christmas-day eight adult converts from heathenism received Christian baptism. The "second stage of Missionary progress, that of opposition," has been reached, and the character of the work among the heathen may be learned from the following statements:—

The work among the heathen is carried on in all our stations by means of street, road-side and field preaching; preaching in school-rooms, houses, and rest-sheds, or any other convenient places; and also by house-to-house visiting in the scattered villages like Baddagama, where it is difficult to collect numbers in one place. We seem to have reached in this district the second stage of Missionary progress—that of opposition; and the opposition made is exceedingly violent and bitter. It is very seldom now that we can gain a quiet hearing, but have almost always to preach the word in the midst of contention and disputing, and frequently in the face of much abuse and blasphemy. To be obliged constantly to do this is very trying to faith and patience, and we often feel cast down; but still we are not left entirely without encouragement, as we have some few inquirers in heathen villages who seem to be sincere, and are pursuing their inquiries after the truth in the face of very great opposition from their friends and neighbours. The position of one or two of my Native Catechists stationed in heathen places is at present very trying. They are constantly exposed to abuse and annoyance, and often threatened with violence; but hitherto they have persevered in their work stedfastly.

Early in April the Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin landed in Ceylon. Having previously had the advantage of studying the language with the Rev. J. I. Jones before leaving for the Mission field, he was enabled, by diligent application, to pass the required examination early in December, and at Christmas received Priests' orders from the Bishop of Colombo.

KANDY.

Help rendered by a Native to a Missionary who has laboured for thirty-two years.

After thirty-two years' labour in Kandy, the Rev. W. Oakley has been compelled in some measure to relax his efforts, and to exchange personal service in Kandy for a general supervision from Newera Ellia. The schools are still supplying a knowledge of the leading truths of the Gospel to the young; and in the good providence of God the Rev. C. Jayesinhe, an experienced Native Pastor, has been able to supply Mr. Oakley's lack of service. Of the congregation and the recently appointed Pastor, Mr. Oakley thus speaks:—

The entire separation from heathenism manifested by the members of our congregations in Kandy is a pleasing feature at this station, and one which calls for our gratitude to God. It was not so when I first knew the place. It was not so ten or twelve years since. Our present congregations, though comparatively small, are, I believe, composed, with very few exceptions, of those who have entirely renounced heathenism; and many of them are, I trust, sincerely desirous of living as Christians.

Their character and conduct will now be put to the test, and we shall see what course they will adopt, now that a Native Pastor is placed over them. The leading men in the congregations will now be called upon to take a more active part in the management of the affairs of the Church. The appointment of the Rev. C. Jayesinhe to the position of Native Pastor in Kandy is one for which I have special reason to be thankful. I have been stationed in Kandy for more than thirty-two years, and now that I am needing a little rest, God has been pleased to raise up a most valuable and thoroughly experienced Native Missionary to take my place, and to supply my lack of service.

A more detailed account of the Rev. C. Jayesinhe's past career is also furnished:—

Career of a Native Minister.

When the Church Missionary Society commenced operations in Kandy, in the year 1820, Mr. Jayesinhe was engaged, I believe, as Interpreter, Translator and Pundit. He afterwards removed to Cotta, where he was engaged as Catechist, until the time of his ordination. After his ordination he again came up to Kandy as my assistant, and remained there, I think, about six or seven years. He then returned to Cotta, and took charge of Talangama station as a Native Missionary. In that charge he has remained until now.

During the present year, while we were most anxious to carry out the wishes of the Parent Committee in establishing Native Pastorates over all the more advanced Christian congregations in this Mission, the offer was made to Mr. Jayesinhe to take charge of the Kandy congregations; and he at once consented to resign his office as Native Missionary, and to join himself fully to the Native Church as a Native Pastor.

He has entered upon his work in Kandy, and we earnestly look to the great Lord of the harvest, and pray that He will make this arrangement a permanent blessing to the Native Church.

The prospects of the Native Church, and the death of a Native Christian, are also mentioned by Mr. Oakley:—

Contributions of Natives.

The Native contributions received at this station during the past year have amounted to 98*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.* The sums which have hitherto been devoted to the support of an Itinerating Catechist will in future be set apart towards the maintenance of the Native Church, for which additional subscriptions will now be solicited.

The Native Church at this station commences with a good balance in hand. The Kandy Native Pastorate Endowment Fund now realizes an annual interest of about 20*l.* By the additional efforts which will now be made, and which, we doubt not, will be liberally responded to, we may hope that, in the course of a few years, the Native Church at this station will not only be able to make ample provision for all the claims which may be made upon its funds, but will also be able to lessen considerably the annual demands which are now made upon the funds of the Parent Society.

Death has removed from us, during the past year, one of our oldest and most consistent Kandian converts. Rajepacsagedera Samuel, of Ratmewela, has been taken to his rest. He has, for some years past, been rather enfeebled in health, and has therefore not been able to attend at the Mission Church, Kandy, with that regularity which he had been accustomed to do in former years. But throughout his Christian course he has shown the same consistency of character. He met occasionally with some severe persecutions from his heathen countrymen, but he always bore them with Christian meekness, and now he rests from his labours and from his sorrows.

Death of an old and valued convert.

His heathen relatives and his neighbours speak of him with respect, and bear testimony to the fact, that, after he became a Christian he became a changed man, and that he continued a humble, inoffensive and peace-loving man to the end of his days. He was a light in that dark village. The Christians will miss him very much. May the heathen be led to inquire what it was that wrought such a change in his character, and made him such a happy man! and may it please God to grant that some of them may soon be made like him, that with him they may be made partakers of everlasting life!

A brief quotation from the South Ceylon Report may be given:—

Upwards of 1000 copies of the Gospel of St. John, the book of Genesis, tracts and small books, have been sold, and several copies of the whole Bible have also been circulated.

Circulation of the Scriptures.

It may be interesting to mention, as an instance of the self-extending nature of the work among the Christians of Talampitiya, that two Kandian women voluntarily teach the women and children of their villages the things concerning salvation.

KANDY ITINERANCY.

The itinerating operations in the Kandy district have afforded encouragement to the Rev. J. Allcock, who has undertaken the manifold duties connected with preaching to the heathen, organizing the Native Christians, and directing the Native labourers. The preaching has been continued almost without intermission, and probably not fewer than 50,000 have thus heard the Gospel. Portions of Scripture and religious tracts have usually been sold after preaching to the heathen. The Native Christians have contributed more liberally than heretofore towards the support of spiritual agency, those in the Talampitiya district having raised more than half the salary of their teachers. The manner in which the pastoral work has been conducted may be gathered from a few sentences penned by Mr. Allcock:—

The pastoral work, as far as possible, has been done by the agents and members of the Native Church. Pastoral work is very pleasant and edifying, and I like it much, but if you take the charge of one congregation, and feed it well, that alone will take up the greater part of your time: I am therefore glad that I have been relieved from the pastoral work in Kandy. I have visited all our Christian congregations in the jungle as often as possible, and endeavoured to provoke them to love and good works. I think I may correctly say of them generally, that they are not at a dead stand-still, but going forward, some slowly, some a little more rapidly. I would to God they would advance faster. I am happy to say that we have some workers who count it their highest bliss to be the working servants of Jesus, and the benefactors of all men.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

Success of the Tamil Cooly Mission.

The Tamil Cooly Mission continues to afford much encouragement. The planters on the estates are liberal in their contributions, notwithstanding the commercial depression which has prevailed, and the labours of the evangelists are attended with evident spiritual blessing, notwithstanding the moral depravity which exists. On the estate of one earnest Christian planter, where little spiritual life has hitherto been manifested, there are now thirty earnest inquirers.

The Rev. D. Fenn resigned the charge of this Mission to the Rev. J. Pickford, who has, however, been compelled, by serious and repeated attacks of illness, to return to England. A Sub-Committee, appointed to report on the state of the South Ceylon Mission, use the following language with reference to the Tamil Cooly department of the work:—

It is pleasing to find that the depressed state of trade does not affect the willingness of the planters to give to the Tamil Cooly Mission.

The fact of three months' salary, of 3*l*. a month, being guaranteed for a Catechist by one gentleman; the sending a contribution, and promise to support a Catechist, by another; the asking for a Catechist, and engaging to supply the requisite funds for his maintenance, by a third; with evident awakenings and manifestations of the presence of the Holy Ghost in the work, are encouraging marks of blessing and inducement to go onward.

There are now eighteen Catechists at work, and eight more are wanted to fill up openings, the planters being willing to sustain any well-organized plan of operations.

JAFFNA.

The departure of the Rev. C. C. M'Arthur from this place soon after the terrible visitation of cholera, left the Rev. T. Good, who reached it in February, in charge of the three stations—Chundicully, Nellore and Copay. The cholera had scattered the children who usually attended the schools, and had carried away some of the more eminent and useful Native Christians. It will be seen, however, from Mr. Good's remarks, that the pestilence made manifest the reality of the faith of the converts:—

The faith of the Converts proved in days of pestilence.

The schools were all broken up, and children dispersed, while many of our Christian people, and amongst them some of our best and most faithful Native teachers, were cut off by cholera. This dark cloud of trial, which it pleased God to send, however, had a silver lining: mercy was mingled with judgment. The pestilence, which swept away so many into eternity, and spread such terror and consternation among the heathen population, proved a means of testing the sincerity of the Native Christians; and the great body of them, thanks be to God, stood firm and stedfast in the hour of trial; while many, who were taken away, gave evidence on their death-beds, not only of the reality of their faith and profession, but also of the joy in prospect of entering into their Saviour's presence and kingdom.

The growing desire for English education has induced Mr. Good to arrange for opening several schools, with a view to meet this desire. The expenses are defrayed entirely from the fees received in the schools, the Scriptures are taught for an hour every day, the teachers are all Christians, and the school is entirely under the control of the Missionary. The Native Pastors have laboured faithfully, and inquirers are daily increasing in number and interest. Of the Native Assistants, clerical and lay, Mr. Good testifies :—

The Native Pastors, Catechists, teachers, &c., have laboured, and are labouring, most zealously, all striving to repair, as far as possible, the breach made in our ranks by the late visitation of cholera. Our Sunday services, Bible-classes, Prayer-meetings, house to house visitations, Sunday and day schools, bungalow and moonlight meetings (the latter held in the villages during the full-moon, frequently under the shade of a tree, with a few lanterns hung on the branches), have been sustained with regularity and interest. The Chundicully Seminary has suffered much in consequence of the death of Mr. S. Williams, its late efficient head master.

Decimation of the population by virulent fever.

MUCH ministerial duty, arising from the prevalence of fever, so virulent that it more than decimated the population, and much occupation in the management of the temporal affairs of the Mission, have together interrupted the Missionary work under the care of the Rev. S. Hobbs. At Crêve Cœur both the Europeans and Indians escaped the fatal influence of the fever and some who severely suffered at Port Louis were restored on reaching this healthy situation. The local contributions have been well maintained, though necessarily in some degree affected; and such a result justifies the inference that the Society's friends are desirous of sustaining its spiritual work among the heathen. The Government has continued its liberal grants towards the support of Native teachers, and, during the latter part of the year, eleven such teachers have thus been provided. The Native Catechist has been almost entirely responsible for the Sunday services at Crêve Cœur. The old idolatrous temples, formerly mentioned as falling to decay, have not been repaired, while new temples do not appear to be in course of erection. The aspect of the work done by Mr. Hobbs, amid many interruptions, is thus presented by himself:—

Decayed heathen temples not restored.

My itinerating during the year has been necessarily very limited. I have traversed the districts of Savanne, part of Grand Port, Flacq and Rivière du Rampart, but have not been able to pay more than one hasty visit to them, nor to reach the other distant parts of the island. It has been a satisfaction to me to find that, notwithstanding many changes amongst the proprietors of estates, my facilities for carrying on this important and interesting branch of my duties have by no means become more circumscribed, but rather extended. I feel persuaded that if I could but occupy myself in this business without hindrance, as I have always wished to do, I should find no difficulty in visiting almost every camp of Tamil Indians in the island in the course of a year, and many of them more than once or twice. Not only the planters, but other residents about the country, always give me a kind welcome to their houses; and I must make particular mention of the officers of police, by whom I never fail to be received with the most friendly hospitality, and whose stations are conveniently situated for me to go round to many camps while making a sojourn of a day or two with them, as well as to visit the prisons. In these itinerating tours, and also in my visits to the cottages about our own mountains, I continue to meet with the same pleasing attention to my discourses, which I have often before described.

Facilities for work among the Coolies.

Both in the Orphan Asylum and in the congregation under his care, the Rev. P. Ansorgé announces sad ravages from the fever. The former lost 109 of its inmates, and the latter 68 of its members. This terrible visitation interfered for a time with the preaching to the heathen, in which Mr. Ansorgé has been aided by the Native Clergyman and Catechists. There are about 350 Native Christians, including 50 communicants, and there have been 20 adult baptisms within the year. A few passages are given from the accounts supplied by Mr. Ansorgé:—

My congregation suffered seriously. Sixty-eight died during the fever time. My assistant, the Rev. C. Kooshallee—who, just during the time the fever was most frightfully raging, was kept through God's mercy, as well as myself, in very good health—had to do nothing but attending the sick. My Catechists and schoolmasters were, as long as they were free from the fever themselves, engaged in the same way, not only among the Christians, but also among Hindus, Mohammedans and Creoles.

There have been few additions to the congregation during the past year. The attendance on Sundays for Divine services came very low during the time of the epidemic, but I could not expect many, as every family was suffering. Since the fever has abated, I am happy to state that my church has filled again. Attendance at St. Paul's, for the Bengalee morning service, varies from 80 to 100. On Christmas-day I had 300 present. About 30 or 40 attend the Nāgri afternoon service at St. Paul's. My assistant conducts also, regularly, Sunday services in the morning at Pailles, in St. Peter's church: besides this, he has an evening service at Prochenbois.

In the early morning, on Sundays, I have a Nāgri service at the Asylum, and the Tamil Catechist holds, in the evening, a service with the Madras children and some adults.

Mortality among the children of the Asylum.

At the Asylum the number of children was, in January 1867, 300. One hundred and fifty were admitted during the year; 109 died; some were discharged in the beginning of the year and were apprenticed; and only lately I have discharged 28, as they had reached the age to leave the Asylum. The present number of orphans here is 260. Though I kept the school going on during the fever time as well as I could, with the help of the elder children, there has been no progress. All of us were laid up with fever by turns, and the orphans could not therefore give the satisfaction in the examination on the anniversary day as in previous years.

A Catechist has been placed under the direction of the Rev. H. D. Buswell, at Plains Wilhelms, but the result has not been encouraging. The contrast between the unlettered Coolies of Mauritius and the educated Tamils of Jaffna, where Mr. Buswell formerly laboured, is described by him as very great. Efforts for the spiritual welfare of the Coolies are briefly stated:—

in the district, and to form them into a congregation. I am happy to say that every Sabbath we have a very fair average attendance at our service, which is conducted in the house of an intelligent member of our Tamil Church. I am not able, at present, to state the exact number of Christians scattered over the place: I have, however, come in contact with a great many. Some of them, I trust, are consistent, but the majority have, of course, suffered from the lack of "means of grace," and of direct pastoral supervision. I am thankful that the desire for spiritual instruction on the part of those who have joined us is sufficient to insure a tolerably regular attendance at service, and to justify a hope that increased prayerful efforts amongst them would be rewarded by a growth in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Since the commencement of our service we have been joined by three Roman Catholics, and a few heathen have placed themselves under religious instruction, with a view to baptism. I have not, however, since my arrival, baptized any adults, but purpose, God willing, to do so shortly.

Madagascar Mission.

Rev. Thomas Campbell, 1863.
Rev. Herbert Maundrell (m), 1863.

Madagascar presents a wide and promising field. At Andevorante, where the Society's two Missionaries labour, there is much to inspire hope. Vohimare, in the north, which was relinquished when the present station was occupied, has already yielded the first-fruits of the spiritual husbandry which, for a very brief season, was continued. The Missionaries baptized only two converts, but these two have been Native Evangelists among their brethren. A small church has been erected by their unaided efforts, and they now entreat that a messenger of the Gospel may be sent to them. On the occasion of the visit of the Queen of Madagascar to Tamatave she rested for a time at Andevorante, and a considerable addition was made to the ordinary duties of the Missionaries, by the management of numerous Bible-classes required by the Hova Christians who attended the Queen from the capital, and who searched the Scriptures, not only in a spiritual tone, but also with much critical power.

ANDEVORANTE.

For the purpose of making known the Gospel to the Betsimisarakas on the coast, two of the Society's Missionaries, the Revs. Messrs. Maundrell and Campbell, occupy this place and Vohiboahazo. The surrounding country is also visited. The school work has been conducted under great disadvantages, as it is calculated that only five in a thousand Betsimisarakas can read. At Vohiboahazo an earnest and effective Native teacher contributes to the success of the Mission work, and his mother, an experienced Christian, exercises a very beneficial spiritual influence. Mr. Maundrell mentions the baptism of Natives at this place, and alludes to the sermon preached on that occasion by the Native teacher:—

An earnest and effective Native Teacher.

I have had the pleasure of receiving eight persons of this town into the visible church of Christ. Most of them have been under instruction from the time Mr. Campbell and I arrived at Andevorante, so I trust we may look upon them as the first-fruits of this Mission. Oh, that they may indeed be the first-fruits of a large in-gathering of souls in this benighted part of Madagascar! Three of the number make one family, viz. father, mother, and their son, the latter about ten years old. Of the rest, four are men and one a woman. John Ratsiza preached an earnest and appropriate sermon from Luke xxi. 36.

Prayer house erected where martyrs suffered.

The visit of the Queen of Madagascar to the neighbourhood caused a large influx of Hova Christians. The new prayer-house at Vohiboahazo, erected on a spot consecrated by the blood of Malagasy martyrs, becomes during the Queen's visit thronged with Christian worshippers:—

On July 28th I opened our newly-erected prayer-house at Vohiboahazo. Though the doors and windows are not yet finished, it serves well for the accommodation of our numerous Christian friends from the Queen's camp. I had the first service, with holy communion, at 8 A.M. I preached from Matthew iii. 3, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight." Just as the congregation was dismissing, a number of Christians arrived from the camp, having hoped to have been in time. However, they would not be deprived of their object, and I was constrained to commence a second service. One of their number, Ramambazafy (12th honour), preached. Afterwards they all set off to be in time for Mr. Campbell's afternoon service at Andevorante. Our new prayer-house is built on the spot where the five Christians were imprisoned during the persecution of Ranavalona, and where two of them died in their bonds.

Anxiety of the Hova Christians to gain a knowledge of the Scriptures.

Concerning these Christians from the capital, the Missionary can testify that they are most desirous of increasing their knowledge of the Bible. When hoping for a season of rest in order to prepare for the approaching Sabbath, the Missionary is disappointed, because, as he adds in explanation, "the strangers from the capital are constantly visiting us, and the Christians are never tired of talking with us, or of asking the meaning of some difficult text of Scripture."

Bible classes formed.

At length it was found necessary to establish Bible classes for the spiritual benefit of the Christians gathered together by the Queen's visit. Such a class is briefly noticed :—

Many of the Hova Christians, missing much the regular instruction of their Missionaries at Antananarivo, begged for a daily Bible class. I adjourned with them to our new schoolroom, where we considered, with much comfort and profit, the 1st Chapter of Titus. I could not help feeling how profitable it is to the Missionary himself to have an earnest and intelligent flock. How happy I should be if I had a Bible class of twenty or thirty intelligent Betsimisarakas !

A larger Bible class, attended by forty or fifty Hova Christians, is commenced by the Missionary in response to the pressing invitation of the Christians :—

Exposition of Scriptures to forty or fifty Hova Christians in a wood.

After a pressing invitation from several Hova Christians, I have consented with Mr. Campbell to hold the Bible class the other side of the river Tharoka, in or near the camp, to enable many to attend it who could not spare time to cross the river. Besides, many of them dare not go out of the call of their masters. To-day, as we could find no house or tent large enough, we retired to a small wood close to the camp, where I was engaged upwards of two hours on the 1st and 2nd chapters of Hebrews, in the midst of from forty to fifty earnest and intelligent Hova Christians. They have a great desire for a comprehensive and exact knowledge of the Scriptures. I never remember having enjoyed Bible classes more than these. They are an evidence of the great success that has attended the work of the London Missionary Society at the capital.

Representatives of four Missionary Societies under the same roof.

The Rev. A. Chiswell, of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel; the Rev. W. Hartley, of the London Missionary Society; and Bishop Schrender, of the Norwegian Society, joined us. Thus under our roof are gathered the representatives of four large Missionary Societies, all having at heart the evangelization of the several tribes of this large and beautiful island. Doubtless Andevorante never witnessed such a gathering before. Bishop Schrender has been engaged in Missionary work in the Zulu country, South Africa, for 23 years, and one listens with pleasure to his honest statements of Missionary work.

Little more than a year ago Messrs. Campbell and Maundrell found, on their arrival, only one Christian in the district. They are encouraged by the progress made. The prospects of successful labour inspire them with much hope. Mr. Maundrell speaks of the field as "white already to harvest," when alluding to the recent visit of the Queen of Madagascar:—

Good effect of the Queen's visit.

The visit of the Queen of Madagascar to Andevorante did much to remove the fear of persecution which has so long kept the Natives of the provinces from embracing the Gospel. They witnessed each Lord's-day the crowds of Hova Christians who assembled in the open air, in the Queen's camp, for the purpose of worshipping God; and this has done much to assure them that none will be henceforth seriously troubled for becoming Christian. I think, therefore, that, on the whole, there is a movement on the coast in favour of Christianity, at least in the minds of a few at Andevorante and Vohiboahazo. I have often felt that now is the day of grace for Madagascar. No one can preach the Gospel in this country without some measure of success. The fields are "white already to harvest." Many persons, in places far distant from European Missionaries, know much of the truth, but they fall into errors of doctrine and practice because they have no one to direct them in the right way. How very appropriate, at the present moment, are the words of our Saviour as applied to Madagascar—"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that He will send forth labourers into His harvest." I think there is no work in the whole Mission field, more interesting, or more sure of success, than Mission work in Madagascar; and yet only three Missionaries of the Church of England (two of our own Society, and one of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel) are as yet labouring in this country:—

The exertions of the two Native teachers at Vohimare, who, on the removal of the Missionaries from that place, continued the spiritual work which had been commenced, have resulted in the erection of a church; and, as will be seen from the following statement by Mr. Maundrell, an appeal for a Missionary is now earnestly made by these Native Evangelists:—

The two converts of Vohimare erect a small church.

I am happy to state that we receive cheering accounts of the work commenced by Mr. Campbell and myself at Vohimare, on the north-east coast of Madagascar, and which we left under the superintendence of John Ratsiza and Simeon Ratsitera, the only Natives we baptized while there. Though Mr. Campbell and I were prevented from building school, church or house, and great opposition was raised against all who were desirous of embracing the truth, and finally we were called to another part of Madagascar, yet we have now great joy in feeling that our sixteen months' sojourn at Vohimare was not in vain, that the Lord's work is prospering there, and that the two Native Christians mentioned above are zealous in the cause of Christ, and appear to do all in their power to make Him known to their fellow countrymen. They have succeeded in building at Amboanio, the residence of the Governor of Vohimare, a commodious place of worship, and earnest are their entreaties to us that one of us may return to them. The following is an extract from a letter I received from John Ratsiza a few weeks ago:—"This is what I have to say to you. Our church is finished, and we request one of you, whichever of you can, to come and preach to us. Do not therefore tarry, but be quick, for we know that you will be glad to see the church that we have built. And this also I say to you, we have built also two country churches, one at Neatenga, and one at Ambohitrandriana. There are many children whom you could teach, and you would certainly be astonished to hear them respond in the Litany. Simeon Ratsitera is not yet able to visit you, for his business is to teach at Ambohitrandriana. Though he is in distress as regards the means of living, he is strong in the strength of the Lord. The people give him confidence, saying that they have found a man who preaches good tidings to them, and will not suffer him to want."

Journey to Fianarantsoa.

A journey to Fianarantsoa, the capital of the Betsileo country, the most populous part of Madagascar, has been accomplished by the Rev. T. Campbell, who was absent ten weeks from Andevorante. A congregation of 200 Christians was found in the place, which had not previously been visited by any European. The scenery, customs and resources of the country are sketched with a graphic pen, and a cordial welcome to the Missionary is recorded in connexion with almost every place visited. In making quotations from Mr. Campbell's carefully prepared account of his exploratory Mission tour, a description of Fianarantsoa itself may suitably form the preface to other passages selected:—

Description of Fianarantsoa.

Fianarantsoa is a most important town, and has always been closed to Europeans; but now that the spell has been broken, and the mystery which hung over it has been drawn aside, there will probably be no more difficulty about occupying it. It is a large, well built town, the capital of the Betsileo country, the most populous of all the tribes of Madagascar, probably three or four times more numerous than the Hovas themselves. The town, which is situated on the brow of a hill, has three walls, composed of stone piled up, but without mortar. The Betsileo occupy the town inside the first two, but the third, which might be termed the citadel, is occupied by the Governor and the Hova soldiers. The inhabitants of the town proper are probably about 2000; but this gives no idea of the immense surrounding population. Of course, in speaking of immense populations, I do so comparatively, and not in the same sense as the term would be used in India or China; for when it is remembered that Madagascar—a country about the size of France—possesses a population of from three to five millions, of all tribes and races, it will be seen that the greater part of the country is an uncultivated waste, without an inhabitant. Fianarantsoa is, however, reckoned the third town in Madagascar, and follows Tamatave, but, to my mind, is of much more importance as a Missionary station. As no European ever entered it before, and as, from its situation, not many are ever likely to occupy it, there will not be the evil example of Europeans to impede the Missionary in the prosecution of his work.

The place not previously visited by any European.

A conversion in the days of persecution.

In conversation with a Christian, he told me the circumstances which first led him to adopt Christianity. On the departure of the English Missionaries from Antananarivo, Ranavalona made her proclamation that all who persisted in praying should be put to death. This man, then young, having suspected some of his friends, determined to bear witness against them, and have them put to death. The house in which they lived was, I think, a detached one, and at some distance from the town, and was surrounded by long grass. On Sunday, about mid-day, he set out to watch his friends, and, creeping through the grass, came close to the house. He put his ear to the door, or side wall, to listen to what was going on inside. They were praying at the time, and, to his astonishment, they prayed for him by name. He was so completely disarmed and struck by this, that he knocked at the door, telling them to open it and not be afraid, as he would join himself to them. He requested his friends to teach him, and from that time to the present has professed the religion of Jesus. He was overtaken by the last persecution, but happily escaped, his slave having drunk the "tangena" in his stead, and lived. This story struck me as a most remarkable and immediate answer to prayer, and as somewhat analogous to Peter's deliverance while the people of God were in the act of praying for him. One was delivered from an actual prison house, while the other was, we trust, delivered from the bonds of sin and Satan.

The physical features of the country, its mineral resources, and some of the religious observances of the people, are also described :—

We entered a forest where the path was simply fearful, and travelling difficult and tiring to all. The forest was dense and close, and in some places a ray of sunshine had probably never enlightened the darkness or pierced the gloom. I was told that this was a continuation of the great Alamazaontra through which one passes on going to the capital, and that it stretches along almost the whole length of Madagascar. I was astonished at the number of ferns, mosses and orchids with which it abounded, and felt persuaded that it contained botanical treasures which would have made the heart of a botanist dance for joy. But, as "the King's business required haste," I could not dally on the way to gather specimens, and especially as I had no way of preserving them. Some of the trees were among the tallest I had ever seen, while others were so completely covered with moss as to present a strange and ancient appearance. After about five hours' toil we emerged from the forest, and came to the frontier village of the Betsileo country. It was perched on the top of a lofty hill, the approach to it being through a deep ditch dug in the red earth. The name of this place was Ambohipano, or "full village," probably owing to the number of its inhabitants. The houses were small and dirty, chiefly composed of the leaf of the "vacoas," and thatched with long grass. All the interstices were carefully plastered with cow dung to keep out the cold and wind. The floor was simply the ground, while the beds appeared to be fern leaves spread in a corner, and covered with a piece of matting. A few of the houses were somewhat better, being made of bamboo flattened out and plaited together. In the midst of the village was an affair consisting of four poles roughly framed together, on which were two little stages one above the other. Close to this was a long pole, with two horns or prongs like a large goad. Inquiring about the use of this, &c., I was told it was called a "Zafotona," and that sacrifices were offered at it. The bullock which is to be sacrificed is tied to the large pole, while the villagers offer up their prayers to their ancestors, and then sit down to eat and drink. The burden of the prayers of this poor people—as indeed of all the Malagasy—consists of five wants. They pray for children, money, crops, bullocks, and slaves. To these might probably be added prayers for the restoration of health, and thank-offerings when their prayers are answered.

While breakfast was preparing I sat down on a mat outside, and pointed out the folly of praying to dead men, telling them a little of that one and only sacrifice for sin, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Shortly after leaving this we came to the great plateau of Madagascar, our mountain climbing having ceased for the present. Here we were overtaken by a thunderstorm which had been threatening us for some time, but now pelted us in good earnest, the rain which accompanied it being excessively cold. Having passed off, the afternoon was fine, and we reached the village of Landraina early in the evening. Here I was much interested at the Native process of smelting iron, a mineral which abounds in this part of the country, and is so easily obtained that the women are the miners! These start off with their baskets and dig out the ore, which lies near the surface, and then, after washing it, they carry it on their heads to the village. The men's part is to burn the charcoal, and fetch it from the forest, and then smelt the iron, which is made into spades and other articles.

Mineral resources.

The country, to all appearance, is rich in mineral wealth. I was shown spot after spot where the female miners plied their avocation, and could not help being struck as I looked around me on seeing such a rich, healthy, vast, and, on the whole, well watered tract of country, without population, capital or resources. If these mines were worked by men of capital and spirit, and the country opened out, it would be to the advantage of Madagascar in every respect.

On another occasion, the scenery is specially noticed, and the conduct of the inhabitants brings to remembrance Apostolic journeys in Asia Minor:—

Any thing much more beautiful than the scenery of Ambohimaha it would be difficult to conceive. It was wild, but grand, presenting at once hills, mountains, valleys, rice fields, &c., while the village itself lay far beneath me, on a little rising ground, in the midst of the great basin in which it is built. An immense tree, a little south of the town, but which appeared from my standpoint to be close to it, lent a charm to the place. Some of the rice fields which I had passed on previous days were mostly in terraces, one above another, and were separated by little banks of earth, looking very neat. The water is generally brought along a trench at the upper terrace, and, the bank being broken, the water is allowed to spread over the turned-up earth according to the wish of the proprietor. But here the rice fields were mostly in the valleys, which appeared to be well watered.

Scenery of the country.

On nearing the town we overtook some people, who, on seeing me, ran off at full speed, as some had done on the previous day, and on our passing they showed themselves far behind us, while others hastened to the town before us. At the entrance to the village nearly all the population—which was immense for its size—stood and looked at me as I came forward, but on nearing them they rushed away as if I had been a wild beast. I called out to them in Malagasy, and told them not to run away or be afraid, as I was their friend, and was come to teach them to pray to God. This had the desired effect, and all rushed after me, gazing in astonishment. I stood talking to them for some time, until I had got their confidence, as well as that of the little ones, some of whom became very communicative, teaching me one or two Betsileo words.

The house into which I entered was soon crowded, while the multitude about the doors and windows was so great that I was almost suffocated. I talked to all until breakfast was prepared, when my servant requested them to leave. Many, however, continued peeping at me through the doors and windows, which I could not close with comfort to myself, owing to the heat. They were probably anxious to see if I ate like themselves, while my knife, fork and spoon appeared to be rare curiosities. After breakfast I walked about, and all crowded round me, looking at me from head to foot. One old woman, after peering into me until she was satisfied, exclaimed, "Verily, a man!" On my return to this same town, an old man, after sitting down and looking at me for some time, said, "God fallen to the earth!" Of course, in each case I impressed upon the people that I was truly a man, and not God fallen to the earth. How like the remark of the people of Lystra when Paul healed the cripple, "The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men." Though Missionaries of the present day possess not the miraculous powers of the first Missionaries of the Cross, yet they often pass through scenes, and encounter difficulties, in many respects similar to theirs; proving that man's heart is the same in every age and country, and that the great lever which alone can elevate him is the Cross of Christ.

Astonishment and superstitious feelings of the people

Before leaving, I sat down in the shade, and declared my message to the assembled people. All listened with profound attention until I had concluded, when I wished them God's blessing, and bade them good-bye. They thanked me, blessing me in return, while many of the little ones followed me for some distance, and cheered and sang as if they were really delighted.

The arrival at Fianarantsoa, the reception by the authorities, the services with the Christians, the curiosity of the crowds, and the departure from the little band of Christians, are narrated in simple but vivid language:—

The sun went down long before I got to Fianarantsoa, but, desiring to spend the Sunday with the Christians there, I pursued my journey by moonlight. At about 8 P.M. I reached the outskirts of the town, and was led to a house which was found to be occupied. Here I was informed that some Christians were at hand, who were soon apprised of my arrival, and cordially welcomed me. After some short delay I was admitted into the outer gate (for it is a fortified town), and was soon comfortably settled in a small but clean room, which soon became crowded with Christians, who gave thanks to God, who had permitted them to see the face of a Missionary at Fianarantsoa. "Now," they said, "their wishes and their prayers were answered." Being excessively tired, as soon as part of my baggage came, I had my bed made, and, after a few words of prayer with my kind friends, retired for the night.

Inquiry from the Governor.

Early on Sunday morning a deputation came from the Governor to know my "kabary," or business, which I told them in a few words. I was asked something like the following questions:—"Where are you from, the east, west, north or south?" "What is your business?" "Are you a soldier or a civilian?" To the first I replied that I was from Andevorante: secondly, that I was an English Missionary come to preach the Gospel; and, thirdly, that I was a civilian. I was also asked if I had a passport; to which I replied, "The English treaty is my passport." The messengers appeared satisfied, and returned to the Governor; to whom, and to his officers, I sent a note announcing my arrival, and telling them that the reason of my coming so suddenly was that I might not lose a Sunday. In a short time the deputation returned with a written reply to my note; after which I was permitted to pass another gate, and join the members of the Church, who had assembled, and were expecting my arrival.

Preaching in Fianarantsoa.

In the afternoon I walked to church, as I had done in the morning, the streets being lined with people. I felt that the Lord helped me while I preached from 1 John ii. 15—17, "Love not the world, neither the things of the world . . . . . for the world passeth away, &c." Nothing could exceed the attention of the people during my sermon, although, while reading the chapter, the crushing and pushing of the crowds about the doors was so great, that only those who were near to me could have heard distinctly, although I read in a high tone. They cooled down, and got settled, after which they listened attentively. Crowds followed me home, and I shut myself up again, but in the evening I had some pleasant conversation with a few of the Christians.

Eagerness of the people to hear the Word.

The remainder of the week was spent in talking incessantly from the early morning till evening; my house being generally crowded, so that I had scarcely time to eat my bread. The people were waiting at the gate for admittance before I was dressed in the morning; and, once they were admitted, my work commenced. In the afternoons I held alternately a Bible and singing class in the church, and went from that to the market or bazaar, where I was followed by crowds, to whom I preached the Gospel on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. This bazaar preaching is, I think, unusual in Madagascar, though it constitutes an important part of a Missionary's work in such countries as India. There is, generally speaking, little difficulty in getting the Malagasy to visit you in your own house; and quiet, homely conversations there are probably better and more profitable than bazaar discussions. Many doubtless visit us out of mere curiosity, or for some selfish purpose, but the Missionary of course takes advantage of this to declare to all his message.

Sunday services in Fianarantsoa.

Sunday, the 27th of October, was a day not soon to be forgotten either by me or the Christians of Fianarantsoa. When the congregation had assembled in the morning I was sent for, and, on my arrival, found the church so crowded that I could hardly obtain admittance, but was obliged to thread my way through the mass of people who were sitting on the ground, and who made way for me as well as they were able. Others coming in, the young people were sent up stairs into a kind of loft; and, through a large square opening cut in the floor, were able to see and hear almost all that passed below.

Baptisms.

The first thing I did after singing a hymn was to read the baptismal service, and baptize three men and two women. One of the men was an elder brother of Andrianaivoravelona, a Hova preacher at Antananarivo, with whom Mr. Maundrell and I had some profitable intercourse during the Queen's visit to Andevorante, and who had rendered us much assistance by his preaching.

The service was solemn and interesting to all the Christians assembled, as well as strange and novel to the crowds of Betsileo who had congregated about the doors, and who looked on in silent wonder. The baptisms took place in the body of the church; but owing to the press from the numbers assembled I could not arrange the candidates as nicely as I should have liked. The congregation all sat, as is their custom, but the five candidates and the sponsors stood up in their midst. As I had instructed the former on the previous day, they each answered the questions which were put to them; after which I baptized them, and received them as members of the visible Church of the Lord Jesus Christ. Several of them appeared to be much affected, and seemed to realize their solemn situation.

After the baptisms we sang another hymn, when I read a part of the Morning Service, and preached from 2 Cor. v. 17, "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature, &c." I gave advice to all, and especially to the newly baptized, with regard to their conduct among themselves, and in the presence of their heathen neighbours, reminding them, that although the heathen could not read the Book of God, yet they could well read the conduct of those who professed the religion of the Bible, and were not slow to comment upon discrepancies in the Christian character.

On leaving, crowds of people were waiting to see me pass, and a little way out of the town I came up to the Christians, who had all assembled to accompany me part of the way. There must have been over a hundred of them all marching in procession before me, the women taking the lead. They chanted hymns on the way, and it was a grand sight to see them all dressed, chiefly in white flowing lambas, as they wended their way along the path, singing the songs of Zion with sorrowful hearts. This strange and novel sight must have had an effect of some sort on the people about, and may have led some to inquire the meaning of Christianity. Many came running from their fields and houses as we passed along about a mile outside the town. Here we halted, and, after singing a hymn, knelt down on the ground, while good old Ramahatsena offered up a prayer as well as he was able, amidst sobs and tears. I thought of the great Apostle of the Gentiles when separating from some of the Churches, and could enter in a measure into his feelings, when the Ephesians "all wept sore, and fell on his neck and kissed him." After prayer, they came and shook hands with me in turn, while some rubbed the back of my hand with their noses, the Malagasy mode of kissing. All this I felt much, and shall not readily forget the whole scene. I then pursued my journey with a sorrowful heart and a firm determination—if the Lord will—to spend a part of the next good season at the same place.

East-Africa Mission.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. John Rebmann, 1846.
Rev. Thomas Henry Sparshott (m), 1867.

The Mission on the eastern coast of Africa acquires a special importance from the prosecution of a large, and, it is to be feared, increasing traffic in slaves on that coast. The Committee, encouraged by the success which has attended the Society's labours in West Africa, have endeavoured to draw attention to the cruelties connected with the slave-trade in East Africa, and are thankful to announce that the Mission has been strengthened by the assignment of a young Missionary, the Rev. T. H. Sparshott, who reached Mombas in March.

General View.

ALTHOUGH the servants of Christ in Peking are constrained to declare that the night of toil still continues, yet in other parts of China the Master "has been at hand to bless" the efforts made in obedience to His own injunction. The Mission has been enfeebled, partly by the illness and return of European labourers; partly by delays and disappointments in sending forth both old and new Missionaries; and partly by the death of Natives who had faithfully and efficiently done the work of Evangelists. But serious interruptions in the service have not proved fatal impediments to success. At Hong-Kong the Native congregation has given evidence of greater spiritual life, and on Easter-day four adults were added by baptism to the infant Church. At Fuh-Chau, that expanding spiritual movement in the hearts of the people, which was announced last year, has continued with increasing force. In 1866 the number of baptisms was double that of any previous year, and in 1867 the number has been four times that of 1866.

Delays and disappointments in sending forth Missionaries.

Expanding spiritual movement at Fuh-Chau.

Suitable Native teachers have arisen for the extension of the work. Many converts have become Evangelists. The increase in the city converts has been in the proportion of more than three to one. Six new out-stations have been occupied during the year. Prayer for a blessing on the Mission has been offered at every station at a given hour on Saturday mornings, and the Scriptures have been largely distributed. At Ningpo a more general diffusion of the doctrines of the Gospel, and a more friendly reception of its preachers, have marked the work. The Native Christian community has reached 337 persons. The communicants have increased from 118 to 143, and there have been 33 adult baptisms within the year. Hang-Chow has, by the return home of the senior Missionary in search of health, been necessarily placed under a young Missionary, who has not yet acquired the language. In this emergency, a Native Christian of good social position, of liberal education and of earnest spirit, has been the spiritual guide of the little flock. A Native, after twenty-five years' service in the Mission as Catechist and Native Pastor at Shanghae, has died. His Native Church comprised thirty-two communicants and ten candidates for confirmation. The testimony concerning him is, that "he had implicit faith in the Saviour of sinners," and was resolved "to live and die in preaching this faith to others." Turning from the dead to the living, evidence of the power of the Gospel is afforded in various parts of the wide field of China. In one of the villages is a young man, vigorous in health and prosperous in life, who, although he receives only bitter persecution from his father and keen ridicule from his friends, yet calmly and stedfastly pursues his Christian course. Already three persons in his village have been induced by his life and conversation to inquire after the truth. An old man, resident eight miles from the nearest Mission Chapel, walks every Sabbath the distance of sixteen miles in order to attend its services. Another aged convert seems to fulfil the apostolic injunction—"Be not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord;" for after diligently discharging the duties of his earthly calling, he visits villages which the Catechist cannot reach, reads the New Testament and distributes Christian tracts. He has applied all the powers of a vigorous but uneducated mind to the study of the Gospels, and communicates their contents with much force and power to his countrymen. Whether, therefore, the field in its extent, or the fruit on its surface, be examined, the appeal and question of one of its Missionaries may well be seriously considered—"The time has now arrived for which the Church has been long praying. Every province, and city, and town and hamlet in this great Empire is open to the preaching of the everlasting Gospel. The willingness of the people to hear is very remarkable. What does the Church now intend? Will she be an idle spectator of the change effected by her own prayers?"

Solemn question arising from the facilities for preaching in China.

HONG-KONG.

Having passed the examination in the language, the Rev. C. F. Warren has entered more actively into the evangelistic work. The Native Minister, the Rev. Lo-sam-yuen, has been associated with him in the preaching services intended for the heathen, and the facility in the language acquired by Mr. Warren has made it possible to double the number of these services. Brighter hopes are entertained of the little Native Church. In addition to his ordinary labours, Mr. Warren has prepared in the colloquial a Manual of Prayers taken from the Liturgy, for use in Hong-Kong, at the request of the Bishop of Labuan, and a Catechism in the literary style, for the use of Chinese in that diocese. The manner in which the services for the heathen are conducted is stated by Mr. Warren:—

The preaching services have been divided between Lo-sam-yuen, the Native Clergyman, and myself. I attend as often as possible when our Native brother preaches, that I may address a few words by way of introduction or conclusion. The object of these services being twofold—to make some clear and simple statements of the Gospel, and to promote intercourse with the people, they are conducted in a rather informal manner. Sometimes we commence with a conversation, and ground our discourse on the topic discussed. At the conclusion we always invite any present to ask questions, or make any statements they please. In this way questions both interesting and important are put to us. One will ask, "What is it to believe in Jesus?" Another will inquire, "How are we to pray earnestly to God?" Whilst a third will say, with all the self-conceit so characteristic of this people, "There is not much difference between the doctrine of Jesus and that of Confucius." Such questions and statements, oftentimes asked and made from curiosity to hear the foreign teacher speak their difficult language, affords us a good opportunity of bringing the Gospel home to the hearts of our hearers. The attendance at these services has been very satisfactory. Since we have held our service in the evening, which we have found out from experience to be more advantageous to our work, we have sometimes had upwards of a hundred present; but our usual congregation has been, in the warmer months seventy or eighty, and in the cooler weather fifty or sixty.

Looking at our preaching services we have every reason to be encouraged. Since "faith cometh by hearing," we are encouraged to "cast our bread upon the waters," assured that we shall "find it after many days."

FUH-CHAU.

The Mission work in the city of Fuh-Chau cannot be more graphically described than in the language of the Rev. J. R. Wolfe, one of the Missionaries in that city:—

While the greater part of those who have been baptized this year have been gathered in in connexion with the country out-stations, this city has yielded an increase on last year in the proportion of more than three to one. We take this as a token for good, and hope the day is not far distant when this city, now apparently so hardened and bigoted against the truth, will yield an abundant harvest of souls. The opposition of our enemies has been fully sustained here and throughout the country. They have embraced every opportunity of manifesting their hostility to the religion of Christ. But this has not apparently in the least affected the interest of the masses in our preaching and work generally. They still listen to our preaching with attention, discuss in a quiet and oftentimes serious manner points of difference between us, and attend our Sunday services generally with decorum, and, we hope, with profit. Generally speaking, the public preaching of the word has been vigorously sustained during the year. Bodily weakness, however, and the increase of duties consequent on the rapid extension of our Missionary operations in the country, without any corresponding increase of strength from home, have prevented us from doing what we would in this important department of Missionary labours. South-street Chapel has been open throughout the year for daily preaching, &c., and multitudes have heard the simple truth as it is in Jesus. In addition to South-street Chapel, we have opened, at the beginning of the cool weather, a new chapel for daily preaching in the great thoroughfare of North-street. Thus this part of this great city, which has hitherto been left in darkness, will from henceforth have an opportunity of seeing the light. Sunday services have been conducted regularly twice every Sabbath, and many have had an opportunity of witnessing the simplicity of Christian worship. But these are not the only means that have been employed during the year to bring the Gospel to bear upon the benighted millions of this heathen city. The Word of God has been largely distributed. Tracts and private conversation in the streets, by the way side, in the homes and in the shops, and every means, have been used to spread abroad the savour of that name which is above every name.

Operations in the city of Fuh-Chau.

Out-Stations.

At all the eleven out-stations connected with Fuh-Chau, except one, as will be seen from the annexed account, the cause of the Gospel has decidedly advanced :—

Advance made in the out-stations.

The entire number of out-stations at present connected with the Mission is eleven. Two of these, Tong-Ping-foo and Ning-Taik, are situated in the two Prefectures of Tong-Ping and Hak-Ning, or, as they are called in the Court dialect, Yeu-pin and Fuh-Ning. I now proceed to give a short review of those which have been under my own immediate supervision during the year.

The work at Ming-Ang-Teng has made very encouraging progress during the year. At the commencement of the year we experienced a great deal of violent opposition from the gentry and literary classes, who still are doing all they can to stay the triumphant march of truth. But the Gospel has made progress, despite the fury of its enemies. A most interesting work has been going on here among the women, and several of this sex have embraced the truth. But this is not all: those who believed have become most zealous Missionaries to their friends and neighbours, and many, in consequence, are interested in Christianity. One of these women, the first who believed, was the means of bringing seven others of her own sex to Jesus. There are more than twenty Christians in this place, the majority of whom are women. This is a new feature in our Missionary work.

Recent converts zealous in their efforts.

Missionary labours have been carried on at Lieng-Kong city during the year, in the face of much and most persistent opposition. The enemy has disputed every step, but has not been able to stop our progress. Eight members have been received during the year, the majority of whom are women. The school also has flourished beyond my expectations. Thirty boys attend daily, and are brought under the immediate influence of Christian truth. The Catechist's wife has laboured zealously and well. There are a few inquirers at present.

Missionary work was commenced at Tang-Tong about eight months ago, and the little chapel has been daily open for preaching and teaching. The interest of the people in the Word of God has been very remarkable, and already several have placed themselves under instruction; and one old man of considerable influence has been baptized. It is contemplated to rent new and enlarged premises in this place, in consequence of the large numbers who come to listen, and who cannot be accommodated in the present place. The old man who was baptized here is most zealously assisting the Catechist, and voluntarily going about from house to house and village to village, exhorting the people to believe in Jesus.

There has been an addition of five adults and three children at

Lo-Nguong city station during the year. One of these had been a doctor by profession, but is now an Evangelist to his countrymen. We hope and pray he may be made a great blessing in his new character of Christian teacher and itinerant. The Christians here have exerted themselves much by their personal efforts in spreading the Gospel.

I am sorry to say that Ning-Taik is the only out-station in which we have reaped no harvest. Not one has yet embraced the Gospel at this place. But we must work and pray still. Then Ning-Taik will not long continue a barren field.

Conversions amid persecutions.

I was very ill, and unable to take any food, though the dear Christians brought me every luxury the village contained, and, in a variety of ways, showed their sympathy and love. I found that on this occasion the Gospel, the glad tidings of salvation through Christ, had become very extensively known throughout this region, through the efforts of the Catechists and Colporteurs, as well as also those of some of the private Christians. The results are also satisfactory. On Sunday, the 20th October, I was privileged to baptize ten persons, the majority of whom belonged to A-chia. The rest belonged to some of the surrounding villages. To a superficial observer, however, the scene of the baptisms on Sunday, at the little chapel at A-chia, would not present an encouraging prospect, compared with the occasion of the first baptisms at the same place. On this occasion there were none of the headmen present; and others who, on the first time, appeared to take a warm interest in the truth, now even stood aloof from us. On this occasion, too, crowds of the villagers did not attend. On the contrary, none but the candidates and their immediate friends joined us at afternoon service, when the former were received into the visible Church of Christ on earth. The Christians, catechumens, and their friends, however, made up a goodly company, and I could not help praising and thanking God for the blessed results of one year's labours in this place. Several of the friends of the candidates on the occasion have also, I am glad to say, entered their names as inquirers. I have reason to believe that some of them—I hope all—are truly sincere in their search after the truth. But no doubt you are anxious now to know the reason why so many of our former friends stood aloof from us on this occasion. See Matt. xiii. 20, 21, 22, for the exact answer. A severe persecution has arisen in A-chia, "because of the word, and many have become offended."

I rejoice amidst all this discouragement, however, to be able to report that not one of those who were baptized has in any way disgraced his profession; but, on the contrary, all have stood firm amidst much trial and persecution. Those whom I baptized on Sunday, therefore, I consider as the wheat which the wind has not been able to carry away. They have put on Christ by baptism in the midst of a raging persecution, which proves that they could have no other motive in taking this important step than a real love for Christ and His truth. It is my constant prayer that this little band may be kept faithful to the end, and ultimately be the means of converting their enemies to the love of Jesus. On the occasion of my visit I addressed them on Rom. xii. 19, 20, 21; and I could see the smile of satisfaction and assent on every countenance while I pressed on all the necessity of returning good for evil, and praying for those who hate and persecute us. And was not such a scene a full reward for all one's labours, had they been tenfold more trying? Truly it was a scene which lifted me above myself; and, for the joy which it afforded my spirit, made me forget for the time the severe pains of my body. And I have no doubt that the holy angels looked on with joy; yea, that God Himself looked on with approbation on these once heathen souls now rejoicing in the liberty of Christ, and on that evening declaring their determination to practise, for flesh and blood perhaps one of the hardest of Christ's precepts, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you." I cannot refrain from telling of the case of two of those who were baptized on Sunday, as they have since been called upon to suffer for the sake of the Lord Jesus; and also because the measures I have taken on their behalf, if successful, may prove of great importance, not only to the Mission in this place, but to the cause in general in this province.

The converts firmly endure persecution.

First, then, there are a mother and her son—a widow and an orphan. The boy is about twelve years old. He was one of our day scholars in the A-chia school. The simple lessons of Christian truth which he learned from the Catechist, when he went home at night he repeated to his widowed mother. She listened to her child with deep interest, to the wonderful things which he told her of an Almighty Saviour, in his own simple words. These words, however, made a deep impression on her mind, and she was determined to know more about this Saviour from the Catechist. She overcame the delicacy of her sex, and came to the chapel, and became a learner of the truth. At length, by God's grace, she made up her mind to become a Christian; though to do so she knew would expose her to much trial, and probably the loss of all her earthly goods. But she was determined in the course she had commenced, and wished her little boy, who was the means of bringing her to Christ, to enter the Church of Christ with her on the first opportunity. Accordingly I had the great privilege of receiving them both, with eight others, into the communion of the visible Church on Sunday. I was much pleased with the reason she gave, and the answers to my questions. The very next day the storm raged against her. Her friends threatened to destroy her, and pull down her house, and despoil her of her property, on which she and her orphaned boy depended for their subsistence. I believe my presence in the village, though I was very ill, and confined to bed, saved her from personal violence for the time. As soon as I took my departure, however, they carried out their threats, confined her a prisoner in her own house, forbad her seeing any of the Christians, and threatened to do violence to any of them who dared to come to her. In addition, they compelled the poor boy to bow down to the idols, and burn incense to the gods, the poor little fellow crying and protesting the whole time that he did not believe in them; that he only believed in Jesus. I have taken the matter before the officers, through the British Consul; and I hope to secure, through this step, liberty to the Christians of A-chia to profess Christianity without being threatened with the loss of life and property. I know this measure will have the prayers of the Committee, and also that the persecuted widow and orphan will find sympathy in the hearts of Christians at home, as well as a hearty interest in their earnest prayers. May the God of the widow and the orphan preserve them! May His everlasting arms be around them, and protect them from the snares of Satan, and from the evil intentions of wicked men. Our school, too, in consequence of this persecution, has been for the last month nearly deserted, and the teacher and Catechist have been threatened with expulsion from the village. But, notwithstanding all this opposition of the enemy, the work progresses. The grain of mustard seed has taken root, has sprung up, and is spreading its branches; and the ten who were baptized on Sunday, despite this opposition, as well as the interest which is taken in the Gospel in many of the neighbouring villages, prove the truth of these remarks. The school and schoolmaster I have removed to a neighbouring village, at the request of its inhabitants. One of the Christians who resides there has given a house free, to be used as schoolrooms; and already many of the children are enjoying the privilege which the majority of the A-chia people cast away from them.

Besides the little Church of about twenty members, there are several inquirers, and many who wish us well, but fear to compromise themselves by joining us. This remark applies especially to the literary graduate. He is convinced of the truth, comes to church and meeting, speaks for Christ, and exhorts the villagers to put away their opposition. But he will go no further. He has sent me word to say, that if the case of the widow and her son is decided favourably, i.e. if Christians can retain their rights and privileges without violating their conscience, he will immediately enter the Church, and join himself openly to the people of God. I fear I shall have dwelt too long on the subject of this village, but it appears to me important, and also I think the Committee ought to know fully the state of things in this place, in order that you may be enabled to pray more particularly, and sympathize more fully, with your fellow-Christians, who are suffering for Christ's sake at A-chia.

The progress made at Ku-ch'eng and Sek-paik-Tu, together with encouraging accounts of the efforts made by some Native converts, are represented in the Rev. A. W. Cribb's review of the year :—

Promising Native Agents.

I have visited Ku-ch'eng four times during the year, and have found the work gradually progressing. The Catechist Chieng Ong seems to take great interest in his work, and labours with much diligence, and God has blessed his labours. It has been my privilege to baptize six adults this year from this out-station, and I have good hope of them all. One of them was the woman I spoke of in my last annual letter. A young man, who was baptized with her in February last, has been in training for a Catechist for the greater part of the year, and promises well. Another, an elderly man, the schoolmaster of his village, has manifested his interest in the means of grace by walking about sixteen miles every Sabbath to our chapel, his village being about eight miles distant. He was baptized in November last. Two others, baptized at the same time, had been great opium smokers, but, on hearing the Gospel, broke off the habit. They had been kept on probation for about fifteen months, and, during that time, they had frequently, at their own charges, accompanied the Catechist in his preaching tours to the neighbouring villages. The remaining one of the six is the son of a literary man in Ku-ch'eng, who is also an inquirer. These are some of the visible results attending our labours in this place through the blessing of God resting upon them. I may mention further, that several are inquiring the way to Zion with their faces set thitherwards. May the Spirit of truth lead them aright!

Successful labours of a Native Teacher.

Sek-paik-Tu is a large town in the Ku-ch'eng district, about sixteen miles north of the city of Ku-ch'eng. We opened a station here in March last, Lo Siā, one of the Christians baptized by the late Rev. G. Smith, being placed in charge. I am glad to report that he has laboured successfully. Two young men who entered themselves as inquirers shortly after the opening of the chapel were found, on my last visit, to be so well grounded in the truth, that I was able confidently to baptize them. With these, the first-fruits of this out-station, I baptized also an elderly man, who had received the truth at Ku-ch'eng, under Chieng Ong's instruction, and has recently removed to this town. One of the two men mentioned above is a most earnest and zealous helper in our cause. Having found the truth precious to his own soul, he cannot but speak of it to others. While fulfilling the duties of his calling, he proclaims the Gospel to all around, and scatters many a tract in villages which the Catechist is unable to reach. Though an uneducated man, he is remarkably intelligent, and speaks with much fluency. He has applied himself with great vigour to the study of the New Testament in the colloquial, and is fairly acquainted with the contents of the Gospels. I hope great things of him.

The encouragement received at these places has led us to open two other out-stations.

NINGPO.

The Rev. A. E. Moule has, during the temporary absence in England of his brother, the Rev. G. E. Moule, been called to undertake heavy and responsible duties. He records with thankfulness that he has never previously, during his Missionary life in China, enjoyed such health and strength as amid these arduous and special labours. The Rev. J. D. Valentine has been compelled to return to Europe for restoration of health, and a zealous Catechist has been removed by death. Some knowledge of the doctrines of the Gospel is possessed by the majority of the inhabitants of this city, and a more friendly disposition exists towards the Missionaries. A quotation illustrating his work is given from Mr. Moule's correspondence:—

I am thankful to say that there has been an increase, though but a small one, in the number of Christians and inquirers in the city of Ningpo itself. The daily chapel preaching to the heathen has been kept up; but the average number of hearers has decreased. One of the adults baptized last year is a direct fruit of this branch of labour.

The out-station of Tsông-gyiao has been very weakly manned during 1867. Several members of the little Church have removed to other towns, where they will, I trust, become lights amid the darkness; but we long for fresh converts to supply their place. I have rented a "chapel of ease" in a large town, eight miles distant, for 1*l.* per annum. One of the most interesting converts baptized at Tsông-gyiao during 1867 resides near this town. The chapel rent is paid by the Tsông-gyiao church fund.

Sœn-poh, with its three branches, Kwun-hoe-we, Nyüong-kô, Long-deo-dziang, is like an April day—laughter and tears, cloud and sunshine. The clouds have gathered often during 1867, but there has been, I trust, some heavenly sunshine. The church is growing in numbers and extent; there is some improvement in the Church Fund, under the direction of a more business-like and more staid Catechist than the one who formerly directed it. May God cleanse and defend this church. A pious and vigorous Native Pastor would be a great blessing; but meanwhile a resident European Missionary is most desirable.

The diligence of one Native Christian and the endurance of another are mentioned by Mr. Moule:—

I cannot help hoping that the history in the latter half of St. John i., is being repeated in some feeble manner. In Ningpo city, to my great joy, there seem to be some signs of life. This evening our diligent city Catechist, Mico, is holding a Bible reading near my house, with a little band of five Christians and inquirers: two of the latter have been induced to attend service by one of the Christians, who is very poor and very lame, but a contented and earnest disciple.

Diligence and endurance shown by Native Christians.

I was saddened, yet at the same time thankfully amazed, at the evidence of Christianity in the case of a Native brother, who lives in one of the villages. He is a young man, strong, well to do in life, with nothing to gain by becoming a Christian, except bitter persecution from his father, and ridicule from all his friends, yet he goes on calmly stedfast; and I know of three persons in the hamlet who, by his word and example in great measure, are feeling after the truth.

HANG-CHOW.

The visit of the Rev. G. E. Moule to Europe for restoration of health, and the illness of the Rev. J. D. Valentine, have placed the Rev. H. Gretton, who only reached this station in January last, in an isolated position. His time and energies have been chiefly given to the study of the language. A Native teacher has assisted in the services, and the congregations indicate an increasing interest in the preaching of the Gospel, while inquirers and candidates for baptism are also coming forward.

The infant Church has been learning the duty of contributing for spiritual purposes, a small amount having been raised by the Native Secretary and Treasurer. The manner in which the spiritual work has been continued by two Native Christians, the one as Catechist, and the other as Female Bible reader, will be seen from Mr. Valentine's remarks:—

The condition in which I found the little Church at Hang-Chow was somewhat unique. With Mr. Moule had withdrawn the two assistants of the Ningpo staff, who had been engaged in evangelistic labours at Hang-Chow during his residence there. Consequently, our Christians at Hang-Chow, having no spiritual teacher supplied to them from without, had to find one of their own little band to fill up the vacancy. God had provided an excellent substitute in the person of P'un-sin-seng—a name that will, I trust, long and honourably be connected with our Hang-Chow Mission. This gentleman (for such indeed he is, both by birth and in manners) had been received into the Church of Christ only about a year before my arrival. He had been employed as Teacher by Mr. Moule, and had also read the lessons in Hang-Chow colloquial at the Sunday services. Although not the Christian of the longest standing at Hang-Chow, his position and education gave him the first place amongst our little company; so that all seemed to regard him as their spiritual guide. He conducted daily morning and evening family prayers, and every Lord's-day conducted service in our temporary chapel, both morning and afternoon, giving an address or short sermon on each occasion, and not only giving out the hymns, but also setting the tunes and leading the singing in a very correct and admirable manner. All this, of course, was most cheering, and awakened in my heart feelings of gratitude to our Heavenly Father, who, in so short a time, had raised up a Church with such a leader in the midst of the immense but now impoverished city of Hang-Chow. Here was a Native Church, with one eminently fit to be its Native Pastor, after some further experience, training, and study of Holy Scripture.

Besides this valuable helper, I found one of the female Christians—a young widow of fair knowledge and abilities—employed as a Bible reader and visitor. She gathered the female Christians together once or twice a week, for the purpose of reading the holy Scriptures and prayer; and she likewise visited at their own houses any who came to the Sunday services, who seemed desirous to know more about the Christian religion than they could gather from the public preaching.

SHANGHAE.

The Native Deacon, Dzaw-Tsang-lae, who has "in simplicity and godly sincerity," long ministered to the little flock at this place, has died during the year. He had been connected with the Shanghae Mission about a quarter of a century, and had voluntarily resigned more lucrative employment for the purpose of devoting himself to the spiritual care of the Native Christian congregation, which, at the time of his death, contained 32 communicants and 10 candidates for confirmation. Testimony to the character of his ministerial labours is borne by several who were eye-witnesses of his work. The Rev. E. H. Thomson, of the American Episcopal Mission in Shanghae, thus speaks of him:—

Testimony borne to the work of a Native Pastor.

I write to announce the sad fact that Dzaw-Tsang-lae, your Native Deacon, is no more. He left us to enter his eternal rest, at about 3 P.M. yesterday (Oct. 30th). A faithful, earnest, good man has gone from us. I feel his loss very much. There are not many like Dzaw, either in the foreign or Native Church in China. He was not a man of any great talents, but sincere and reliable. In the death of Dzaw your Mission Church here has received a blow from which I fear it will never recover.

PEKING.

during the past year. Great have been the discouragements. One of the Missionaries thus depicts the work and its disappointments:—

Disappointments in Peking.

There is, moreover, nothing in such a night of toil as that during which we labour to stir up the feelings and sympathies of our friends. There is no opposition, no excitement, no scenes of cruelty and depravity, but cold and dull indifference: the most stirring appeals are met with formal and chilling politeness.

Our western chapel has been opened daily throughout the year, and there our faithful Native brother, Chun-sien-shung, and I, have preached the truth to numbers, and pressed it upon their attention in conversation, yet, with the exception of one old man who has become one of us, there has been no encouragement.

The only bright spot in our work is Mrs. Collins's school. The improvement in the appearance and behaviour of the girls is great. Three were baptized in the early part of the year, and several more express an earnest desire for admission to our little flock.

The discouragements of which I write are not peculiar to our Mission, but are felt by our brethren of other denominations in this city. We all seem as husbandmen trying to till the soil still bound by the frosts of winter. I believe that the unfruitfulness of our Missions is producing searchings of heart among us, and our deep need driving us to cast ourselves upon the Lord Jehovah, with whom is everlasting strength, that the sunshine of His countenance, and the blessed influence of His Spirit, may so prepare the ground before His messengers that we may soon sow in good hope of an abundant harvest.

Trials arising from prolonged war.

LONG afflicted with internal conflicts, and much agitated by the numerous collisions of differing races, New Zealand cannot be expected largely to yield "the peaceable fruits of righteousness" to the sower, who too often goes forth weeping as he bears the precious seed of the Word of God. Seven years' war in such an island as that which has been the scene of contest between some of the Natives and some of the Europeans would severely test the morality and Christianity of any land. The insular position, with its impassable bounds of the sea, has intensified the conflict by depriving the combatants of that retreat to other regions which a vast and unexplored continent would have afforded. Considering that the Maori race has only received the Gospel within the present century, the fact that Christianity exists may well alleviate the regret that it has suffered. A Native Ministry is arising amid all the confusion and confiscation caused by war. Several Natives have within the year been ordained. The Bishop of Waiapu describes the body of the Native Clergy as "faithfully labouring" in their respective spheres, while of one more immediately under his own observation he testifies that he is at once an earnest Christian and a zealous Minister. Some of the European Missionaries have been able to resume itinerating preaching in the interior of the island. The welcome received has so far reminded them of the days when the word of the Lord had free course and was glorified, that, in humble prayerful hope, they raise the petition, "Revive thy work, O Lord, in the midst of the days."

Steady increase in the Native Ministry.

The temporal as well as the spiritual prosperity of New Zealand appears to have been seriously affected by the long continued war. The Rev. R. Burrows, Secretary of the Mission, after stating that much distress exists among the Colonists, takes a general view of the Society's work:—

Indifference to spiritual things.

Our Missionaries at Kaitaia are working much as usual. The Natives of that part of the island have not been so much disturbed as they have been in other parts by wars and rumours of wars, but they have partaken largely of the general lukewarmness and indifference to spiritual things which prevail throughout the Mission. The district has been strengthened by the addition of our Native Deacon, Rev. Renata Tangata.

Signs of improvement.

In the Bay of Islands district there are signs of improvement. Drunkenness has decreased, and both the Rev. E. B. Clarke and our Native Minister, Matiu Taupaki, report favourably of the state of their districts. The attendance on Divine worship is better, and their visits are well received.

A great change has come over what was formerly the Rev. T. Lanfear's quiet station. Gold has been found in the immediate neighbourhood, which has led to a large influx of Europeans. The Natives are, as might be expected, much excited, and many of them are busily employed among the diggers. The Government have undertaken to let the lands upon which gold has been discovered for the benefit of the owners, who are the Natives of the district, so as to prevent, if possible, any disturbance between the two races, but we have to fear that some of the more daring among our own countrymen will go beyond the boundary open for prospecting, and thus enrage the Natives who are opposed to their lands being gone over.

The Rev. G. Maunsell has removed his head-quarters from Auckland to the Mission station of Hauraki, to be more with the Natives of that district, who are becoming very demoralized in their habits. There are reported to be 9000 diggers on the spot, many of them, it is feared, setting a sad example to the Maori population. The Rev. Messrs. Chapman and Baker have continued as heretofore; the former in charge of St. Stephen's school, the latter labouring, as far as his strength will allow, among both Natives and Europeans.

I learn from persons of both races who have visited the Taupo district, that the comparatively few Natives are very much scattered, and living for the most part without any religious services whatever.

BAY OF ISLANDS.

Death of Archdeacon H. Williams.

After spending forty-five years in the New Zealand Mission field, Archdeacon Henry Williams has been called to rest from his labours. Prominent among the Natives as a peacemaker whenever wars arose between different tribes, it is remarkable that, by his death, a battle between hostile Natives was prevented. The contending parties had assembled all their forces, and the morrow was fixed for the conflict. Intelligence of the Archdeacon's death was, however, received before dawn. At once it was agreed to postpone the battle until the funeral had taken place. This truce led to a general peace. The influence of the Archdeacon during his long career in New Zealand is described by his brother, the Bishop of Waiapu:—

Respect for his memory caused a truce among hostile Natives.

In noticing the events of the past year, my mind of necessity recurs to that event which most nearly concerns me, the removal of my dear brother to his rest. He arrived in this country in the month of August 1822, some few years after our pioneer, Mr. John King, but at a period when the savage state of New Zealand was as yet in no way restrained by the influence of Christianity. The course to be pursued in those early days required much prudent caution, but at the same time an amount of energy and promptness of action which are not met with in ordinary persons. It was here that the peculiar disposition of my brother was of special service. He was not satisfied with simply preaching the Gospel to the Natives, which they were by no means disposed to listen to, but he at once attacked them on their own ground, following them to their camp towards the field of battle, and thus he established an influence, unawares to themselves, which they were not prepared for. Many cases of this kind occurred in their tribal quarrels, which from year to year were desolating the country. The old warriors at first wondered at this interference, but soon there was an influence established when it was found that it was only their good that was sought for by staying the effusion of blood, and bringing about a reconciliation between the contending parties. The efforts used were often successful, until it became customary with the Ngapuhi chief to appeal at once to "Te Wiremu" for his interference. The earliest of these cases occurred at Hokianga and at Kororareka, in the Bay of Islands, about the year 1827; and when, in the long contest which was carried on at Tauranga, for a length of time the Ngapuhi persevered in their desire to overpower the Tauranga Natives, they at length returned home without accomplishing their object, and then they acknowledged that the Missionaries were in the right, and that they could no longer fight as they used to do. It was immediately after this that a favourable change took place, and that tribe after tribe expressed their desire to receive the Gospel. In after years, when the Government was established in the country, there was another striking occurrence. The Natives to the north of the Bay of Islands at Oruru were quarrelling about the ownership of land, for which the Government were paying one only of the claiming tribes. The quarrel was assuming a serious character, but inasmuch as the Government was now settled in the country, my brother thought it better to leave them to settle the difficulty, and he remained at home in the Bay of Islands. Many persons of influence were at the place where the Natives were fighting, trying to mediate between the parties. Hone Heke, when expostulation was used, replied with a sneer, "Who is going to listen to you? where is our old father, Te Wiremu? Let him come to talk to us, and we will listen." He was accordingly sent for, and peace was soon restored. He was permitted to see the progress which Christianity rapidly made through the country, and to know that numbers without doubt received it in sincerity; and then he had subsequently to mourn over the serious departure of many from the faith, whose fall was precipitated by those events which have long distracted the country, the origin of which has been from within ourselves.

with the Natives.

At the close of his life there was a circumstance of painful interest. There was a serious quarrel not far from Waimate. It was again about the ownership of a piece of land. My brother was in a feeble state, and unable to go among the Natives as in former times, but the mantle which had fallen from the father had been taken up by his eldest son and by his brothers, and they spent much time from day to day in trying to effect a reconciliation. The two parties had become exceedingly embittered against each other, and several lives having been lost, they were bent upon obtaining satisfaction. On the day of my brother's death his sons left home, believing their father was not in immediate danger, and proceeded to the contending parties. The number had very much increased, each party gathering together their allies, and they concluded that day that on the next morning the people of both the pahs should turn out into the open plain and fight it out, when the slaughter must have been great. It was in vain to reason longer with them; their determination was fixed. But some time after dark the messenger arrived to announce to the sons their father's death, the death of the common father, too, of these hostile bands. It was in this way that God was pleased to check their evil course. The cry of lamentation was at the same time heard in both the camps; and first they agreed to a cessation of hostilities until the funeral was over, and then they concluded that they should rather follow the dying advice of their benefactor, and made a general peace. May God grant that this death may be blessed to the life of many, who have been long wandering in the paths of error!

KAITAIA.

The Rev. Joseph Matthews and Mr. W. G. Puckey, assisted by two Native Ministers, have carried on the work of this district. About forty Native teachers and monitors have aided the European and Native Clergy. The heathen element is fast disappearing. An extract from the review taken by Messrs. Matthews and Puckey will indicate the work in which they are engaged:—

We are thankful that we have been able to pursue our duties in peace, and that peace has prevailed, and also that the messengers of peace have been welcomed in their visits. We find in New Zealand that it is in a time of affliction that the peculiar fruits of true religion are manifested in them that believe. There are, however, exceptions to this rule. When a Maori professor dies without leaving a word for his survivors, his friends are very sorry, and they consider that it was owing to his lamp not having burnt brightly while he was living. At the very extreme north of the island, close to the Reinga (Hades), there is a Christian tribe of Natives: their teacher's name was Rupapera.* He was for many years afflicted with distressing asthma, but laboured on to the last in his work of teaching, and has many times come on a journey of seventy miles to our teachers' meeting. While on his dying bed, he was very anxious that some one should be raised by God to supply his place. This manifestation of love to his people greatly affected them, and two young men came forward as the result. These were introduced to us by the Parengarenga teachers during this month, in order that they might have our good word and advice, and also approval. We felt thankful for this renewed instance of the great Shepherd's care of His sheep, and invited them occasionally to visit our teachers' meeting. At a small village, three miles distant from Kaitaia, there died, a few weeks ago, an aged woman (Arihia), who has long been an interesting communicant. She was one who prayed, and had a relish for God's word, and rejoiced to be visited. Renata, our deacon, was much struck with the piety of this aged female, who had long been grey-headed. She was much delighted that Renata should talk to her about Christ, and she rebuked the teachers of the place because they did not visit her oftener, saying, "I have heard of Christ by Renata." She sat up, talked in this way, and died without pain.

AUCKLAND.

The Rev. T. Chapman, finding himself no longer equal to the duties of the St. Stephen's Institution, has resigned his position as director of the education there afforded to Natives intended for spiritual service among their countrymen. The Institution has supplied two Native Deacons to the New Zealand Church during the last year.

TAUPO.

Spiritual state and prospects of New Zealand.

While deploring the present spiritual state of New Zealand, the Rev. T. S. Grace thinks that brighter prospects are opening. He has spent much of the year in visiting the interior; and, as will be seen from his own language now quoted, Mr. Grace hopes much from energetic itinerating among the scattered Natives:—

It is with heartfelt thankfulness to the Giver of all good that we close the present year with brighter prospects than many of its predecessors—prospects of peace, with increased opportunities of preaching the glorious Gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ to the misguided and erring Natives of this land.

I have this year been able to perform my full amount of travelling, having been nine months amongst the Natives. During my journeys I have had many opportunities of becoming acquainted with the present state of the Natives, and am thankful, on the whole, to be able to report favourably.

Decay of the Hauhau fanaticism.

The Hauhau fanaticism, and the war that called it forth, are dying out together. In some instances there is a decided desire to return to the former state of things, as regards religious worship. Many are asking for the word of God, the entire Bible; and, what I have never seen before, except in individual cases, a strong desire that the young people should learn the English language.

I have taken a long journey into the interior. While there, at a large meeting of the Natives who have been hostile and Hauhaus, the desirableness of inviting the Governor, Sir George Grey, and the Duke of Edinburgh, into Taupo, to make peace, was discussed, and was only delayed on account of the scarcity of food, till their crops came in, and the requisite time for them to consult their friends at a distance.

Visits to Taupo.

During the year I have made two visits to Taupo. On my late journey I met with old Native hospitality, even from the Hauhaus; and in one instance when a large number were assembled, and requested that, in place of having my services apart with the few Christians present, that I would hold them in the large house where they were all assembled.

I cannot conclude this report without saying that the prospect for the coming year is, on the whole, bright and encouraging, but the labour for some years to come must be great. I see the work to be done, but do not see the men to do it. Formerly we could meet our people by hundreds and thousands, but now, in their scattered and altered state, by tens and fifties. Native Deacons may render us most important help, but it is hardly fair to expect they will be able to reinstate the Church in its former position.

The labour, for a time at least, will be great, and my fear is that we may fail for want of strength. It is necessary that we should be constantly on the move, living the greater part of the year in our tents. In the present state of things, I hope none of our brethren may be drawn away from the immediate preaching of the Gospel, by attention to schools or other matters, particularly as the Government appear willing to undertake the responsibility of these things.

Eastern District.

Six stations have been occupied in this district in the following chronological order—1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Maketu, 1835; 3. Rotorua, 1835; 4. Turanga, 1840; 5. East Cape, 1842; 6. Wairoa, 1844.

The Bishop of Waiapu, D.C.L. (m), 1825.
Ven. Archdeacon Alfred Nesbit Brown (m), 1829.
Rev. Seymour Mills Spencer (m), 1841.
Ven. Archdeacon William Leonard Williams, B.A., (m), 1853.

The Bishop of Waiapu regrets that, as compared with former years, the spiritual condition of New Zealand is discouraging. The colonization by Europeans, combined with continual war for seven years, has greatly demoralized the Native character. The many difficulties with which the Missionary is called to contend may be learned from the annexed account, given by the Bishop, in which it is satisfactory to note the final revision of the Maori New Testament, and the ordination of another Native Minister :—

Final revision of Maori New Testament.

We are still feeling the depressing effects of this lingering war, and of the severe consequences upon the Christian Church, extending more or less to those parts of the country and to those tribes who have not been engaged in the war. And yet there is some prospect of a cessation of our troubles. The Natives who have been long holding out are, I believe, thoroughly weary of this state of things; and not only has there not been of late any renewal of hostility, but there are many indications which lead us to suppose that there may soon be an established peace.

Towards the end of last year it had been settled that the services of the Rev. Edward B. Clarke should be transferred to the Northern District, where, in connexion with the Rev. Matiu Taupaki, he was to take a general charge of the whole of the Native district, which formerly constituted four of the Society's stations.

The number of the scholars who had remained with us was about thirty-five, and it consequently became necessary that they should be dispersed. Five were sent to join the school at Auckland, which was under the care of Mr. Chapman, and to the instruction of which Sir William Martin has devoted a large portion of his time; the rest have for the present returned to their homes. I am sorry, however, to say that the new regulations of the Government have caused that those five Natives, three of whom belong to the candidates for ordination, have also to return to their homes. The school, however, has added this year another to our list of Native Clergymen, the Rev. Raniera Wiki, a most valuable man, who is much respected by all who have had the opportunity of knowing him. He was ordained, at my request, by the Bishop of New Zealand.

In the months of August and September I spent six weeks in Auckland, in company with Dr. Maunsell and Archdeacon W. L. Williams, making final corrections in the translation of the New Testament, of which the copy has been sent to the Bible Society to be printed.

But while, on the one hand, depressing influences now prevail in New Zealand, there are, on the other hand, grounds for much hope in connexion with the body of Native Clergy, of whom the Bishop of Waiapu thus writes :—

Number and character of Native Clergy.

The Native Clergy are a great source of encouragement. They are now thirteen in number, and are stationed as follows—Three in the Northern District, two in Waikato, two at Tauranga and Maketu, and six on the East Coast. These men are labouring faithfully, and their work is, with only one or two exceptions, duly appreciated. There are also districts which are still applying for Ministers, and are collecting their endowment funds; and it is the more grievous that the hindrances put in our way by the Government have obliged us to disperse the body of students who were under preparation for ordination. But God will overrule this also.

The manner in which a Native Minister is able to supply the place of the deceased European Missionary is mentioned by the Bishop:—

Efficiency of a Native Minister.

I have spent nearly a fortnight at Te Wairoa. That locality, since the death of the Rev. J. Hamlin, has been left under the care of the Rev. Tamihana Huata, who is a good Christian man, and carries on his work with diligence. In the midst of all the deadness which is surrounding us, I had much satisfaction in my visit to the village of Mohaka, which is about sixteen miles to the west of Wairoa, where there are living many Natives who had been long in our Turanga school. It was like old times to see the people assemble for worship, men, women and children, and attending with much apparent earnestness to the instruction given. On the following day, too, after morning prayers, I had the Bible Class, as in former days, and it seemed by their manner that this was their usual mode of proceeding. Unhappily, this is not the general course in other places; but there is the more reason for thankfulness that there is a reaction going on at certain points, and we trust that, by God's blessing, there will yet be a revival among them.

TAURANGA.

Concerning his own efforts, and those of the Native Deacon, made amid all the disorganization and demoralization produced by war, Archdeacon Brown gives the following discouraging account:—

We are still upon our watch-tower, with much to depress and little to encourage us. We wait for light, but behold obscurity,—for brightness, but we walk in darkness. Is there not a cause? I think so. I would not trench upon politics, or speak evil of dignities, but the conviction is forced upon my mind that the unsettled state of this district may fairly be attributed to the Government having attempted to take possession of land beyond the confiscated boundary defined by the Governor himself in a public assembly of the Tauranga tribes; and I have felt it a duty to address both the Governor and the Ministry upon the subject.

The Sunday mornings I have continued to devote to the few Natives who still assemble for public worship at the neighbouring pahs. Our Native Deacon has also held service with his countrymen, whilst I have been occupied with the English congregation. One of my Native teachers, who had joined the Hauhaus, has, I believe, seen the error of his ways, and has again joined the Church. It is very remarkable how many of the old Native teachers have died since the commencement of the war.

I will only add the request, which the contents of this report will, I am sure, strengthen, "Brethren, pray for us." Prayer asked.

TURANGA.

The sad condition of the Natives from the long continuance of war, with its attendant evils, is depicted by Archdeacon W. L. Williams. The main hope of the future in this district seems to be found in the stedfastness and efficiency of the three Native Ministers to whom he refers at the close of the quotation:— Native Ministers the hope of the future.

I regret to say that, to outward appearance at least, this district is in no better, if not in a worse position as regards the religious state of the Maori population, than it was twelve months ago. Hauhauism has indeed altogether disappeared, but the amount of indifference exhibited by the large majority of those who were ranged on either side during the war is truly appalling. This disposition has undoubtedly been fostered, if not in some degree caused, by the unsettled state, as regards secular matters, which the whole district has been in for the two years which have now passed since the disturbances.

I have already said, that in religious matters the people of this district are in a very deplorable state. But though irreligion is so general, it is happily by no means universal. In almost every place there is a number of people who, throughout the time of the disturbances, and ever since, have conducted themselves in a consistent Christian manner. The worst place on this coast is Tokomaru, for there the people of both parties seem to have abandoned themselves to a state of unbridled licentiousness; but even there there is a small number who, in their Christian behaviour keep up an earnest protest against the wickedness which surrounds them. At Waiapu the Revs. Raniera Kawhia and Mohi Turei maintain their ground, as does also the Rev. Tamihana Huata at Wairoa, each, in his own district, serving as a rallying-point for the better disposed.

Western District.

The district was first occupied by Archdeacon Hadfield in 1839. It now comprises five stations: 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842; 3. Heretaunga, 1844; 4. Papawai (Palliser Bay), 1856; 5. Pipiriki, on the Wanganui river, 1856.

OTAKI.

Archdeacon Hadfield in reviewing the year, laments the fanaticism of some who did run well, but who have been hindered by the disturbed state of society and the prevalence of superstition. The spiritual welfare of the Maori race is regarded as dependent for the most part on the preparation of Native Christians to become pastors and teachers to their countrymen. The boarding schools under the Archdeacon's care, containing thirty-four boys and seventeen girls, are making satisfactory progress. In the district there are 1200 Native Christians, of whom 250 are Communicants. The changed aspect of the work and the character of the Hauhau fanaticism are briefly mentioned:—

My congregations are continually decreasing in numbers, so that I do not now gather together so many as I once did. But one reason for this is, that they live more scattered about in smaller and detached villages than they formerly did. But it must also be attributed to the less interest taken by them in their religion. Newly adopted civilized habits, and business engagements with the English settlers, also frequently occasion their absence. Whatever the cause may be, the fact is what I mention. Still there are many who, notwithstanding the various disturbing and distracting influences by which they are surrounded, continue stedfastly to walk in the narrow path, and not only attend regularly to the ministrations of the Gospel, and hear the word gladly, but appear to observe daily, in their lives, its holy precepts. These I sincerely believe do let their light shine to the glory of God, and are the means of preserving the true faith in the midst of much lukewarmness and many declensions.

Character of Hauhauism.

No two persons seem agreed as to what Hauhauism is. No Native with whom I have yet conversed, seems able to give an intelligible opinion concerning it. It seems to me to be a compound of political and religious anarchy—a spirit of independence—a revolt against the dictation of the foreigner, whether in politics or in religion. Blameable though this may be, we find its analogy in civilized communities; and there may be individuals drawn into it, who have not altogether cast off their faith in a Saviour. Anyhow, the uncritical, reckless, ignorant, indiscriminate condemnation of all connected with it is highly censurable, and much to be regretted as tending to finally alienate and harden them.

WANGANUI.

Early in the year the Rev. R. Taylor visited England, leaving this district in charge of his son, the Rev. Basil K. Taylor, who, although he has suffered from illness, has been able to travel in the district, as well as to continue the services of the station. The Natives have, of late, shown more interest in the message of the Missionary; and the services have been more numerously attended, but the war has produced evils which time and the earnest ministration of the word of life can alone rectify. Mr. Taylor's account of the district is as follows:—

Christmas services.

Our Christmas services have been well attended, and we have had a large number of Natives here from all parts. The number of communicants, however, was less than usual, owing in part to the revival of the old heathen custom of tattooing with regard to the women, and to the spread of drunkenness amongst the young men which has increased to a grievous extent since the war broke out; many then acquiring a taste for spirits from the daily rations of rum dealt out to them. There are several, however, I am thankful to say, who still maintain their consistent walk and integrity amid surrounding temptations, and endeavour to restrain the growing evils; and I am glad to encourage the desire for good houses that some of them have, both as a better way of spending their money than in giving feasts to their tribes, on which occasions there is always so much waste, and also as a great social improvement, and more conducive to the health of both parents and children, being a lasting benefit to both.

I wish I could report a better attendance at our daily services. It varies very much, but the Sunday congregations are much as usual, and the Bible class has a fair attendance. The average number of communicants has been between thirty and forty each time, but my severe illness has prevented my administering the holy communion as often as usual. Though we have not had much that is cheering in the past year, yet we trust that now the war has subsided, God will grant a gracious reaction amongst our Natives, and may abundantly pour out His Holy Spirit upon them, to build up the believers in the faith, and bring back the wanderers into His fold.

General View.

AMONG the remnants of the Red Men of North-west America, while the nearer and older stations are assuming the form of Colonial Parishes, those newer and more remote are increasingly occupied with Native and Country-born Clergy. Amid many difficulties arising from climate and from evils beyond his control, the European Missionary reaps the same spiritual harvest as those who have preceded him, while the Pastor born and educated in the land is rising to higher spiritual service. At the Indian Settlement the Pastor of 650 Native Indians, of whom 170 are communicants, officiates where he was educated as a boy. Archdeacon Cowley, who resigned the charge of this station a year ago, says of his Native brother in the Ministry, "The Indian Settlement has passed a full year's probation under the care and management of its Native Pastor, and I am delighted in being able to pronounce it a great success. He has quietly and unostentatiously pursued an even course, 'great among the Indians and accepted of his brethren, seeking the welfare of his people, and speaking peace to all' around. I hardly think that there is anywhere a more manifest triumph of the Gospel. Long may its light so shine before men as to allure other Indians by its brightness, as to provoke to emulation every Native congregation, and as to cause the Christian Church at large to glorify the Saviour for His loving mercy here displayed."

Archdeacon Cowley, in reviewing the work in this Mission, deplores the increased introduction of intoxicating liquors among the Indians, and expresses his fear that the extinction of the race will be thereby rapidly effected. The Archdeacon alludes frequently to this subject in the following summary:— Evils arising from intoxicating liquors.

At Devon the quantity of spirituous liquor imported, as far as I know, is small, and according to our latest advices the Mission was proportionately prosperous. The school was well attended, the congregation on Sundays was large and orderly, and the communicants were many and devout.

Our latest intelligence from English River, Mackenzie River, Great Bear Lake, and the Youcon was very satisfactory. All in that direction, if we except contact with Rome, is very cheering, and for this we bless God and are thankful.

At Portage la Prairie I fear the Rev. H. George has much of evil to contend with, and that any approaches to the heathen around him will be attended with some difficulty.

Touchwood Hills is a delightful part of the country, and I think well chosen as a Mission station in many points of view, specially on account of its proximity to many of the Plain Indians. For it and Fort Pelly I trust, ere long, a better educated Native teacher will be available to supplement the labours of the present Catechists.

In the absence of Baptiste Spence at the College we have sent Baptiste Leclair and his wife, a pious married couple from this settlement, to hold possession of the Islington station till his return, or the appointment of another, and I have confidence that the station, under Leclair, will not suffer loss.

From York Factory I have heard once since the Company's ship left that station. All were then well. They had settled down to winter work, and were expecting to see but little more of the Indians for a long time to come.

Scanterbury is now more hopeful under the care of the Rev. J. Settee. His arrival there is too recent to admit of great doings. His chief efforts have been to prepare for future labours, which I would hope and pray may be abundantly successful.

The duties of Mapleton are shared with me by the Rev. H. Cochrane, the Native Pastor of the Indian Settlement. As a rule, there are two services every Lord's-day, and the Holy Communion is administered once a month. In the evening of the first Sunday of the month Mr. Cochrane and I exchange duties; and when I am absent, as I frequently am, Mr. Cochrane has the sole charge of both Churches, and holds morning service in the one and evening service in the other. There are two day schools in the district of Mapleton; not because of the great number of children, but on account of the distance over which the settlers are scattered; and both are in the charge of excellent and exemplary men. The Sunday school has suffered by my absence from time to time, but we must do the best we can for it. I am very thankful that the application of one of the settlers to get his house licensed for the sale of intoxicating drinks was negatived; but I look upon the attempt as an ill omen for the future.

I.—Red River District.

ST. ANDREW'S.

Parochial aspect of the work.

A glance at the duties and proceedings of the Missionary at this station justifies his declaration that he is rather engaged in parochial than in Missionary work. The morning congregation, which consists of Europeans and Country-born, is, on the average, 400 in number, and there are 230 communicants. The day schools contain 160, and the Sunday schools 200 children. Lectures, a Young Men's Improvement Society, and a reading-room, are among the indications of progress. During the last two years, exclusive of the amount paid as school fees, about 400*l.* has been raised for religious objects; and at the harvest thanksgiving service a collection of 60*l.* was made.

Death of a promising student, son of Rev. H. Budd.

The students who, in St. John's College, are preparing for spiritual usefulness, have advanced to the satisfaction, and even beyond the expectation, of the Warden, the Venerable Archdeacon M'Lean. A great loss has been sustained in the death of one of the most promising students, James Hunter Budd, son of the Native Minister, the Rev. Henry Budd. He was an estimable and pious youth. In his dying hour he was enabled to rest in calm reliance on the Saviour, whose redemption he had desired in due time to proclaim to his countrymen. The Warden of the College thus enumerates the subjects of study, the results of examinations, and the conduct of the students:—

Students and their studies.

I am glad to say that, through the blessing of God, the College continues to prosper, and the work to advance satisfactorily in all its departments. We have now thirty-two students in all, including both those of the theological department and of the Collegiate school. The three students of the senior divinity class are making highly satisfactory progress in their various branches of study. One is already in Deacons' orders, and another, who is a student of the Church Missionary Society, will be ready for ordination in March next. May the Lord baptize them with the Holy Spirit's gracious influences, that they may go forth as able ministers of the New Testament, and be the honoured instruments of bringing many souls to Christ. The junior theological class is composed of five youths, supported by the Society, and one who wishes to prepare for the ministry, without having any definite view as to his field of labour. They are all engaged in the study of the Old and New Testament, Paley's Evidences of Christianity, and Horæ Paulinæ. They were all examined very fully and carefully at the close of the Christmas term last week, with the exception of one of your students, William H. Prince, who was sick, and the result was highly gratifying both to his lordship the Bishop and myself. Kenneth M'Donald and Patrick Bruce, study Latin, Greek and Mathematics; Joseph Hodgson, Latin and Mathematics; and the two Indian youths, George and William Prince, the elements of Latin, in addition to the English branches of the Collegiate school. Of these, K. M'Donald distinguished himself very highly by his progress in Classics as well as in Divinity, while George Prince took the first place in a class of elementary Latin.

Mr. Baptiste Spence, one of your Catechists, is now with us for his second winter term. He is improving, especially in knowledge of Scripture.

With reference to the work of the Collegiate school, generally, I may state that all the students, with but one exception, are in a more or less advanced stage in the study of Latin. Nine are engaged in Greek, and nine in Mathematics, in addition to the usual English branches. The most advanced students are reading Ovid, Sallust, Xenophon and Homer; Algebra, as far as Quadratic Equations, and the first three books of Euclid. The progress made has been such that the Bishop, in giving a parting address to the students at the close of the term, said that in all his experience in tuition, he had never seen it surpassed within a similar period.

I mention these facts, as I am sure it must be gratifying to the Society to know that it is not only fulfilling its main object in training youths for the ministry and the Mission field generally, but that it is becoming the means of diffusing the blessings of a sound and liberal secular education amongst the youth of this territory. May the Lord continue to bless its work; and may many faithful and approved Ministers of Christ be trained within its walls!

The ordination of another Native, Mr. George Bruce, is thus noticed in a communication just received from Archdeacon M'Lean:—

I have much pleasure in stating to you that Mr. George Bruce, one of your students at this College, has recently been ordained by the Lord Bishop of the diocese. The ordination took place at the cathedral.

From the truly Christian character and diligent habits of Mr. Bruce I have every confidence that he will, with God's blessing, make an excellent Indian Missionary; and my earnest prayer will be that God may be pleased to give him many souls as the seal of his ministry.

INDIAN SETTLEMENT.

Native Pastor officiates where he was educated as a boy.

The Native Pastor, the Rev. H. Cochrane, has, amid much domestic affliction, been enabled to continue his spiritual labours among the 650 Native Christians under his charge. Of these, about 170 are communicants; and on one occasion during the year 155 were present at the administration of the Lord's Supper. Mr. Cochrane was educated as a boy at the Indian Settlement, and adverts, when reviewing his work as Native Pastor, to the former positions he held at this place:—

It is my privilege to send you my first annual letter, which I do with great pleasure from this Mission, where, as a boy, I have been brought up, and taught, in course of time, to be a schoolmaster and an interpreter; and now, by the grace of God assisting me, I have been appointed as Native Pastor. I shall now endeavour to give you a brief sketch of the work during the last fifteen months. In September 1866 I took charge of this Mission. The Ven. Archdeacon Cowley went on a Mission visit to Fairford immediately after my arrival: during his absence I took the morning service every Sunday at St. Clement's, which is five miles from St. Peter's; then returned to hold an afternoon service in my own church. When the Archdeacon returned, the usual morning service was resumed in the church, and an afternoon service commenced at the lower school, which is about three miles below our church; with the exception of the first and last Sundays of the month, when, on the first Sunday afternoon, I go up to Mapleton to preach in the Indian tongue; on the last Sunday of the month I have two services, the afternoon sermon being expressly for the children, when all the baptisms and churchings take place. This course I have followed when the Archdeacon went on a Missionary tour and when at home. I also have two week-day services—on Wednesday afternoons, at three o'clock, at the upper school; and on Thursday afternoons, at the same hour, at the lower school.

Native Minister's sketch of his duties.

They are very well attended, especially the latter; and they have been held steadily, excepting in the busy fall and spring seasons, when they have been suspended for a time. The Sunday services are very well attended, responses good, the singing congregational, and the Word of God preached is listened to with great attention. Our monthly communions are always highly interesting; the average number who communicate throughout the year is about 120, but the largest number I have had is 155.

The Sunday schools are conducted by the schoolmasters, excepting that at the upper school Archdeacon Cowley takes it on the first Sunday afternoon of each month. In each school there are assistants. Mrs. Cowley and Mrs. Cochrane go to the upper school on alternate Sundays, when they can. One of the masters, speaking of the Sunday school, remarks—"Our Sunday scholars number from 70 to 75, and it is a great encouragement to see so many children, young men and women, and even married women, come to hear the word of God."

The day schools are nicely attended. The education in each comprises the teaching of the Bible as the basis of all knowledge.

In reviewing my work during the past year, I have great pleasure in saying that I trust my people are gaining in true spiritual knowledge. I am often cheered by their consistent walk, faith, and good works; though, on the other hand, I am sometimes grieved by the misconduct of those from whom I expected better things: but, on the whole, I have much cause for joy.

LA PRAIRIE.

Scarcity, caused by a destructive plague of grasshoppers, and demoralization produced by the facilities afforded to the natives for obtaining intoxicating liquors, are among the difficulties against which the Missionary, the Rev. H. George, has been called to contend. The community is becoming a mixture of Natives, Indians, Americans from the United States, and Scotch Presbyterians from Canada. The Native communicants are forty in number. The school is described as a bright spot, from which rays of light reach the homes of the people. A library of 300 volumes has been established, and is diligently used by the youth of both sexes. The annual accounts of the congregation, which were closed before the pressure of scarcity was felt, show that a sum exceeding 100*l.* was raised for religious purposes. Included in this amount there was 27*l.* raised towards a new school-house, and the same sum was contributed at a harvest thanksgiving service.

At WESTBOURNE a pious and conscientious Catechist has laboured successfully, though much grieved and hindered by the introduction of ardent spirits among the Natives.

LANSDOWNE.

The increase of drunkenness among the Natives has created great impediments in the path of the Missionary in this district. Facilities for obtaining intoxicating liquors are felt by the Missionary, the Rev. R. Phair, to produce evils far greater than those caused by heathen customs, prejudices and habits. The picture is dark, and the prayers of Christians at home are earnestly asked.

II.—Manitoba District.

FAIRFORD.

In September the Rev. J. Settee, Native Minister, transferred the charge of this station to the Rev. D. Hale, who had been assigned to Fairford. The state of the Indians is described as much degraded by unrestricted indulgence in intoxicating drinks introduced by traders. Mr. Hale commences his Missionary work amid many difficulties.

III.—Cumberland District.

DEVON.

Prior to the departure of the Rev. T. T. Smith on a visit to England, about 100 communicants gathered around the Lord's table. Concerning these Indian Christians, the Rev. H. Budd, the Native Minister now in charge, writes:—

The communicants, the churchwardens, and, in fact, all the Pas Indians, give me much encouragement. They are really, I believe, seeking their souls' salvation. They strive to do to the best of their knowledge all that is required of them relating to Church matters, Church offerings, &c. They are thankful that I have come back again to them, and they will, by the grace of God, never give me any cause to regret my return among them.

Having formerly laboured here, Mr. Budd can plainly discern the beneficial effects of the instruction given by him to the Indians in early life, and can consequently derive encouragement from the well attended school now in operation:—

Labours of former days bearing fruit.

The day school is encouraging to me, and I shall hope to spend much of my time and strength in the schoolroom. This branch of our charge is very important. I see its importance in these people here whom I had as my pupils some twenty-seven years ago. No remains of that savage temper, no clinging to the old superstitions, darkness, and vice, as I have found in those heathen Indians at the Nepowewin. The contrast is very great, and I see the importance more than ever of teaching the Indian children when young.

The number I have on the register is eighty-five children in the day school, and in the Sunday school 110, children and young people. The schools give me much encouragement, as I find the children and the young people willing to be instructed. To teach them to read their own language, and to write, is our object now; and by and bye they will try English again.

The general aspect of the work may be seen from another quotation:—

Divine services have been held regularly every returning Sabbath, all in the native language. The congregation have had a full opportunity of hearing and understanding the Word of God. The wants of the sick and poor have been attended to, the communicants examined and prepared each time that the Sacrament Sunday came round. Several baptisms have taken place since I last wrote, and some marriages, burials, &c., have all been attended to. A few visits have been made to the upper station, the Nepowewin and Cumberland House, and in each of these places the sacrament of the Lord's Supper has been administered. The day school, and also the Sunday school, have been kept regularly till the Christmas holidays commenced. The work is altogether pastoral in this Mission. There are no heathen Indians connected with the Devon Mission. From every house you can hear prayer and praise arising daily to the God of heaven. No sound of the drum here, nor the sound of the conjuror's rattle: all that has passed away, I hope for ever. Some seven-and-twenty years ago it was not thus, when my ears were actually deafened, and my heart sickened by the noise of drums and every kind of conjuration possible; when my little hut was likely to be crushed by the feet of the devil-dancers, and scattered to the four winds. No; it is something different now: we witness the change; and when we compare the present with the past, we must exclaim, "What hath God wrought!" So far as the Indians are concerned I find the work of grace is really going on in the hearts of most of them. If we may judge men by their works, it is evident to all that they desire to walk worthy of the name they bear; that they are striving to adorn the doctrine of God their Saviour in all things. Whatever is imposed on them they do cheerfully. To the offertory they give something every Sunday. I am now sending a few pounds to the Bishop of Rupert's Land, collected from the offertory; we have 10*l.* 7*s.* which we collected since last August.

Heathenism extinct in the district.

Nepowewin.

Transferred to Devon, in order to supply the place of the Rev. T. T. Smith, whose ill health has compelled him to visit England, Mr. Budd still superintends the work at the Nepowewin, which has devolved upon a Native Catechist. The heathen Indians connected with the station show less hostility to Christianity, and the Christian Indians appear sincerely desirous of "growing in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." The school contains about thirty children, and about the same number of communicants attended on the occasion of the last celebration of the Lord's Supper.

IV.—English River District.

Domestic trials have prevented the Native Minister, the Rev. J. A. Mackay, from undertaking long Missionary journeys. The Indians connected with the station are almost all professors of Christianity, and the work becomes more assimilated to parochial duty. The congregation varies much with the season of the year, being at one time two hundred, and at another not more than twenty. At the Lord's Table there has been an average attendance of fifty-nine communicants. Schools are conducted with difficulty on account of the wandering habits of the people. On the whole, the work has an encouraging aspect, and, as a brief quotation from Mr. Mackay's correspondence testifies, there is an effort made towards self-support:—

> There is, I am thankful to say, an increasing willingness among my people to contribute their aid towards Church objects. Their Church offerings during the past year amount to 18*l.* This, although not a large sum, is still an evidence of a growing spirit of liberality, when we consider that they have only lately been called upon to contribute towards Church purposes. They have also erected a substantial fence around the church-yard, contributing the timber for the purpose, and also the labour of erecting the same without any remuneration.

V.—Mackenzie River District.

Work maintained amid special difficultes.

Amid special difficulties arising from the mortality caused by very prevalent fever, the Rev. W. W. Kirkby has been able to maintain his work with active energy. Sixteen Roman Catholic Indians have joined the Mission. A young Indian in the service of the Hudson's-Bay Company, who had often heard the Gospel, but who had never accepted the message of salvation, recently received Christian baptism, and is now so diligently using the means of grace that his place in church is never vacant on the Sabbath. Twelve children left orphans by the ravages of fever have been supported by the little church in the wilderness, whose contributions on the occasion of their last Annual Mission Sermon amounted to 33*l.* 10*s.* A new church has been erected, concerning which and the congregation therewith connected Mr. Kirkby writes:— A zealous convert.

The church in the wilderness and its congregation.

Our church is now completed inside, and on Easter Sunday last was re-opened for Divine service, and has been used ever since. It is a little gem, and heartily do I wish that the Committee could have a Sunday in it. I have been anxious to have it thoroughly well done, and as nice as possible, both for God's honour and the good effect it would have upon the Indian mind; and my object has been so far attained. Since we have had service in it I have introduced more discipline among the converts than I ventured to do before, and with adoring gratitude I find that it works well. They sing and respond better, and are more reverent in their demeanour than before. These may seem trifling things, but in the training of the Indian mind I find them important in their way.

This is now my busy season (June), and I am endeavouring to sow the good seed as widely as possible. For some few weeks past the Indians have been gathering in for their usual spring visit, and there are now sixteen tents of them pitched near the church, which forms quite a little community. There are also eight or nine tents of Romanists on the other side the Fort. I have service every evening, which is well attended, and, beyond this, instruct them individually during the day. On Sundays the Romanists have nearly all been present at Divine service, and they not only patiently but gladly listen to me whenever I can visit their tents or speak to them. I therefore believe that they also will yet be gathered on our side, and within the good Shepherd's fold. There is a wondrous power in the simple story of the Cross to touch men's hearts, and to win them unto obedience; and as those whom God has given me have been won by it, I cannot doubt its power over those that remain, in His good time.

The Youcon.

Extensive journeys.

Great mortality has existed in the Missionary district under the charge of the Native Minister, the Rev. R. M'Donald. Extensive journeys, involving between five and six thousand miles of travelling, have been undertaken, and the Missionary has been rewarded by an earnest attention, on the part of the Indians, to the message of salvation in Christ.

During the year 150 adults have received baptism, and the same number are expected to be baptized in the coming year. The work is thus succinctly described by Mr. M'Donald:—

The past year has been a severe and trying one to the poor Indians in consequence of the epidemic which prevailed amongst them. The mortality was very great: about 300 died, including those of Fort Youcon, Peel River Fort, and La Pierre's House. While I could not but grieve over the loss of so large a number, it was a comfort and encouragement to find that my labours among them had not been in vain in the Lord; that many of them, comparatively speaking, were prepared for heaven, and that they looked forward with hope to a blessed and glorious immortality, nothing doubting but that they would soon be with Christ.

In the performance of my duties I have travelled about five thousand five hundred miles, and made more Missionary journeys than I have done any year previously. Several of the tribes I was the more induced to visit on account of the affliction through which they were either passing or had passed, in order to convince them of my sympathy, and to comfort them with the consolations of the Gospel. It was pleasing to observe in them a spirit of resignation to the Divine will, with respect to the bereavements which they had experienced, and the disease with which they were prostrated.

In general the Indians gladly attend to the preaching of the word. Of those who have more largely enjoyed the privilege of doing so, not a few have learnt the preciousness of Christ and His salvation, and long for a growing knowledge of the way of life.

I have, within the last seven months, admitted into the visible Church of Christ, by baptism, nearly one hundred and fifty adults. May they all be baptized of the Holy Spirit, and be enabled to adorn the doctrine of God their Saviour in all things. There is about an equal number of candidates for baptism, to whom I hope to administer that sacred ordinance in the course of the next year.

Athabasca Lake.

In a thinly-peopled district the Rev. W. C. Bompas has sought the scattered Indians from Fort Chippewyan as a centre. Content to spend in these cold regions the one earthly life allotted to man, he pleads for the co-operation of those who possess many earthly resources. The difficulties arising from diversities of language, even in such a sparse population, are mentioned:—

Diversities of language.

I should say that the most remarkable characteristic of this Fort is the diversity of language. However few we may be, even though but a dozen more were left at the Fort, we do not seem able to do without the constant use of four different languages, and I should be quite at a loss to say which of the four is to be considered predominant: they are Chippewyan, Cree, French and English. The Chippewyan is the vernacular of the Indians in the woods, and generally every one who comes to the Fort is traded with in that tongue. Some of them, however, understand a little Cree, and this may be called the vernacular at the Fort, as it is chiefly spoken by the children. French or English is, however, very generally spoken by the adults, according as their descent is from one or the other. This, however, does not explain the full difficulty of the case in regard to conveying religious instruction. Those who speak French or English in the fashion of the country yet do not, for the most part, understand those tongues fully enough to comprehend the Word of God, either read, or preached in such phrase as is used at home. Again, the Chippewyan tongue is very inadequate, and ill adapted to impart religious knowledge, having, for instance, I believe, no nouns to express any ideas, but only objects of sense. The Cree spoken here is a dialect different to that in which our Bible has been printed, and the two alphabets that have been used for this language, the Roman and Syllabic, create some confusion.

VI.—York Factory District.

The Rev. W. Mason has continued to labour at this station. Contributions towards the Mission are made by the Indians, and the regularity of the proceedings present the aspect of a parochial rather than a Missionary district. The school usually contains about fifty children.

VII.—James' Bay District.

MOOSE FORT.

The Rev. John Horden reached this station in October, and resumed the work which he had for a time left in the hands of the Native Minister, the Rev. T. Vincent. In entering upon his former duties, Mr. Horden bears favourable testimony to the labours of his substitute during his absence in England. Mr. Vincent's own work at Albany has necessarily received less care and attention in consequence of his occupations at Moose, but as Mr. Horden has returned in strength and vigour, the duties of the district will be adequately discharged. There are about 1000 Native Christians connected with Moose. In summer the school contains about 69, and in winter about 30, children.

NORTH-PACIFIC MISSION.

European Mission Establishment.

Mr. William Duncan, 1856.
Rev. Robert Tomlinson, B.A. 1867.

General View.

Independent testimony concerning the Mission at Metlahkatlah.

MUCH independent testimony has from time to time been borne to the extent and reality of the blessings, spiritual and temporal, which have attended the Mission at Metlahkatlah, among the Tsimshean Indians; but a recent visit by the Dean of Victoria, made at the request of the Bishop of British Columbia, and extended through seven weeks, has supplied an account, graphic as it is complete, of the rise and progress of this Christian village. Four hundred adults form the congregation, of whom 300 have been baptized. The depth and reality of the work were manifested to the Dean when engaged in examining 112 candidates for baptism, of whom 96 were accepted. Great is the transformation which the Gospel has effected in the temporal as well as in the spiritual condition of the people. "The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them, and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."

METLAHKATLAH.

The site, buildings, trade and Christianity of Metlahkatlah, are thus described by Dean Cridge:—

Site of the Mission.

The site of Metlahkatlah, the removal of the little Church to which was the first essential step in this process, is happily chosen.

It was the ancient winter station of the Tsimshean tribes. Large and lofty islands, some fifteen or twenty miles distant, form a breakwater against the violence of the Pacific Ocean. In front of the village is another island, forming an open channel, about half a mile wide, beautifully studded with smaller islands, on which are situated the gardens of the inhabitants. Gentle slopes in the rear are capable of being converted into verdant enclosures, or, according to Mr. Duncan's present intentions, village green and common; and there is land enough in the neighbourhood for agriculture on a more extended scale. Though the climate is moist, and corn will not ripen, most vegetables grow in abundance. During my stay here, there have been more fine and open than wet days, and at such times the air, at all times salubrious, is most agreeable, and the scenery delightful.

The houses erected.

The houses are after the European model, and the habits of the people proportionately improved. Though they have not yet forsaken the habit of living more than one family in a house, for the sake of fuel and company, they are beginning more generally to build their houses with small apartments at each end, and a common room in the centre, and thus to reconcile the difficulties of their situation with a due regard to the decencies of life.

The business transacted.

Almost every convenience and comfort can be obtained from the shop, which is plentifully stored with goods, a facility which is extensively embraced by the inhabitants, and powerfully conduces to their complete separation from their former modes of life. The law is administered on the spot, though not a single case has occurred during my visit. A soap manufactory, saw mill, blacksmiths' and shoemakers' shops, are being, or are about to be, constructed, the machinery and appliances being on the spot. I have attended a wedding and other feasts. The room was decorated, and the table spread with good but simple viands. Speeches were made, and arrangements usual at home were followed with great propriety. It is a picturesque scene to see on a Sunday the whole village turning out in their best attire, and converging in two lines to the common centre, the Church. It was like a dream to remember what many of them were once. Here was the former head of the Tsimshean tribes, who, years ago, armed and attired in medicine robes, followed by a band of savages, burst into the school-room at Fort Simpson, prepared, if the school were not closed during the season of their mysteries, to take the Missionary's head: only a remarkable interposition of the hand of God saved the life of His helpless but unyielding servant. Another was a chief who, two years ago, declared that he could not be converted, and would return with his people to the customs of his fathers, but now he was baptized and confessed himself a happy believer in Jesus. Others were men who (to use the expressive language of their baptismal confessions) had been "vile," "worms, and not men," now clothed and in their right mind.

The Christianity introduced.

Every house has a garden in front, besides more extensive plots farther off.

The spiritual success and the promising aspect of the Mission are also carefully noted:—

After ten years' acquaintance with my dear Christian friend and brother, Mr. Duncan, and many communications with him on the subject of his work, I have been at length permitted by a kind Providence to see with my own eyes that which God hath wrought by him. I have spent about seven weeks in the Mission, and now, on the eve of my departure, I address myself to the pleasing task of writing to you. Although I shall doubtless touch on many things already known, I shall not, therefore, forbear, so far as the limits of a letter will allow, to record my impressions on all things relating to the Mission.

Contrast between past and present.

I can scarcely realize that the spot on which I am now writing, amid the tokens of Christianity and civilization, was, not many years ago, the scene of heathen riot and bloodshed; and will be, we trust, the Zion from which the word of the Lord will go forth for the salvation of many of the surrounding tribes.

The spiritual results of ten years' labours are manifested in a congregation of some 400 adults, of whom about 300 have been baptized, and will become communicants so soon as the order of the Church shall be fully established. To this congregation Mr. Duncan delivers three discourses every Lord's-day, in the native tongue, which he speaks with wonderful facility. It is affecting to witness the apparent devotion of this congregation, and to hear them singing hymns to the Redeemer's praise with a melody and heartiness which are rarely surpassed in congregations at home. This body are, apparently, walking in the fear of the Lord and the comfort of the Holy Spirit, and adorning by a consistent life the doctrine of God their Saviour. Many belonging to the surrounding tribes have heard the Word, and though they have not yet come out as Christians, the good seed, we may hope, is sown, and prepared in God's good time to spring forth for the further extension of His kingdom. In the examination of above a hundred candidates for baptism, as well as in other matters, I have been impressed with the depth and reality of the work. This had been, indeed, the most interesting and important feature of my visit. Of 112 candidates who presented themselves, I accepted ninety-six. These, together with eighteen infants, were, with one exception, all baptized on one day, and constituted the largest accession to the Metlahkatlah Church which has yet been made. I wish I could give you more copious extracts from my notes of the examinations, which presented many deeply interesting cases. A striking feature was the number of elderly persons who presented themselves, twenty-six being over fifty years of age; falsifying the statement of an unbelieving Tsimshean (my compagnon de voyage) who, when we came in sight of the Christian village, said contemptuously, "They are only boys at Metlahkatlah." It was affecting to hear those candidates state their reasons for coming forward. Fear of longer delay was prominent. One seemed to see the very fire of hell before him. Others had seen all their relatives enter into the kingdom of God before them. Some, though unbaptized, had evidently been long communing with God. One man, aged sixty-five, in the voluntary statement with which, at our request, each candidate prefaced his confession, and from which I shaped my subsequent questions, said—"I feel like an infant, not able to say much; but I know that my heart is turned to God, and that He has given His Son to wash away my sins in His blood." Another, a woman aged seventy-five, said—"My sins have stood in my way: I wish to put them off. I believe in Jesus." There was great anxiety among all the candidates to be baptized, and it was affecting to see the sorrow of those who were deferred. It was a pleasing sight to see the troops of little children, boys and girls, from seven to ten years, neatly dressed and clean, coming forward to be examined. Being too old for infant and too young for adult baptism, we could only dismiss them with encouraging words. Doubtless many of the Metlahkatlah Church as yet are only as babes in Christ, requiring the constant nurture of the word, and the Shepherd's watchful care; yet we may indulge the hope that God, having begun a good work in them, will perform it to the end. Signs of stability and self-reliance are not wanting. They gather themselves for prayer at home and abroad; they withstand the solicitations of their heathen acquaintances; they are not now ashamed, for they are the stronger party, feeling themselves to belong to Him before whose word the strongholds of Satan have been compelled to bow. There is growth—there is no retrogression; or, if an individual lapses, he finds himself in the wretched situation of possessing the confidence of neither the Church nor the world. Thanks be to Him who in His own time has seen fit to bring forth an elect remnant from a benighted people to the praise of the glory of His grace.

Signs of stability and self-reliance.

There is, however, a feature of the work of the Metlahkatlah Mission which has struck me forcibly, namely, the temporary elevation of the people, and their advancement in civilization; results which are not the product of chance, or the necessary fruit of the work, but of deliberate arrangement and strenuous effort, even as a vessel among the reefs and breakers is warped to bring it into the open sea.

KINCANLETH.

The occupation of new ground has been rendered possible by the appointment of the Rev. R. Tomlinson to the North-Pacific Mission. The brethren at Metlahkatlah determined, on his arrival, to endeavour to establish a Christian village on the Naas River, from which they last year reluctantly retired.

The Mission house was, by the hearty and active aid of the Indians, transferred on a raft down the river to a carefully selected site at its mouth. Here it was again erected, with some enlargement of dimensions. The Indians are desirous of settling as at Metlahkatlah, and it is hoped that Kincanleth, the name given to the incipient village, may become a centre of spiritual, moral and temporal blessing. At present about forty Indians regularly attend the Sabbath services.

The commencement of this Christian village is the subject of a few brief remarks by Dean Cridge :—

Another Christian village.

While at Metlahkatlah I had the pleasure of visiting the new Christian village of the Naas Mission, where the pleasing results of the faithful, devoted labours of the Rev. R. R. A. Doolan are seen in the collection together of about fifty souls, who have come out from their heathen homes and declared themselves on the Lord's side. Though it was the fishing season, a goodly number were collected in the evening, to whom, through the assistance of Mr. Doolan as interpreter, I was able to address a few words of Christian counsel and encouragement. It was delightful to unite in prayer and praise with such a little flock in this far distant spot, the extreme north of the British possessions on this coast, and to hear them sing, with melody and devotion, hymns to the Saviour of mankind. The Mission house is completed, and vigorous preparations for a school and other buildings are being made. Mr. Doolan will be very greatly missed in the Mission. His pious, humble spirit has endeared him to all who know him ; and we cannot help cherishing the hope that the providence of God may one day lead him back to this coast, and turn to the further advancement of His kingdom the attainments of language and experience which he has acquired. With excellent spirit the Rev. R. Tomlinson has submitted to the necessity of taking the sole charge, given up his cherished hope of opening a new Mission, and is prepared to carry on the work with that spirit of devotedness which is the most happy augury of success. Besides the spirit of piety, which is the first essential requisite in the work of God, he appears to possess that thoroughly practical turn which is so necessary to the Missionary on this coast.

Relief from anxiety.

In reviewing the labours of an anxious year, the Committee desire to utter the voice of praise for the success which, in answer to the voice of prayer, has closed a season of suspense. Anxiety has been caused by the persecution of converts in some parts of the Mission field. The depressed state of commerce has, moreover, threatened financial difficulty. But whether as regards persecution of heathen converts, or embarrassment from depressed trade, the acknowledgment may be made that "prayer has made the darkened cloud withdraw." Persecutions in our Missionary day seem to prove their affinity to persecutions in Apostolic time by "falling out rather unto the furtherance of the Gospel." Special contributions, forwarded with an earnest prayer that the principles of the Gospel may be maintained at home and abroad, have encouraged the Committee amid the ecclesiastical manifestations of the day; and strengthened their conviction that the plain outspoken maintenance of Reformation principles in days of Romish tendencies has been appreciated by the Society's friends, both Lay and Clerical. But while the appeal for funds has received a cheering response, the confession must be made, that the supply of well qualified men from the Universities is still only as "the gleaning grapes when the vintage is done" for the home Church. Men of ability, of power, of weight; men fully prepared, spiritually and intellectually, are the great need of the Mission field. The day is past when an able Minister of the New Testament was asked to go forth to the "few sheep in the wilderness" of some small Native congregation. Not greater, in David's case, was the transition from the sheepfold to the monarchy, than is that from the care of some small Native flock to the formation of the future Native Church of a race or nation. Where is the Apostolic spirit that would seek to preach Christ where He is not known, and to lay the foundations of new Churches among the heathen, rather than accept another man's line of things made ready to the hand? At this moment more than twenty duly qualified Natives await the Committee's presentation for Ordination, and in the course of a few months the number of the Society's Native Clergy will exceed 100. India, which offers the majority of these Native Christians for Ordination, feels the power of the Gospel, which has not, like Mohammedanism, been propagated by force and fanaticism, but by love and patience. History shows the contrast as to instrumentality. Nearly two centuries ago, in the persecution of the Hindus of Benares by Mohammedan power, "the most sacred temples were demolished and mosques erected on their ruins, while the images were used as steps for the faithful." Little more than a quarter of a century ago the stone idol of an Indian village was placed, by the hands of its former worshippers, with face downwards, as the stepping-stone to the new Christian church. The voluntary act at once represents the India of our day, ashamed of its idolatry, and indicates a coming day when its converted Natives shall step over the prostrate idolatry of the land into "the House of God, which is the Church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth."

Inadequate supply of University graduates.

Gospel felt in India.

But the overthrow of error in heathen lands must not induce indifference as to its presence in our Christian country. The army can never be either safe or effective if its base of operations is not secured. The tendency of the times is such as to call forth anxious and prayerful effort. Retrogression, in regard to the simplicity of the Gospel, seems to mark a section of our Christian nation. Lessons taught under the old economy may well instruct under the new. It was a dark day in the history of the people of Judah, to whom, as to our nation, in a special sense, had been committed the oracles of God, when the priest of the favoured Jerusalem received "the fashion of the altar, and the pattern of it" from heathen Damascus; but darker will be the day, not alone in the history of England, but in that of the world, if the altar with its "fashion" and its "pattern" be sought from the superstitious ages of the Church rather than from that "pure and reformed part of it, established within these realms." May He who hath caused the truth of the Gospel to be the glory of the nation, grant that the prophet's words may be verified, and that "upon all the glory may be a defence!"

The evangelizing instrumentality unchanged

In surveying the vast field of heathenism which claims the Society's aid, the conviction arises that the work and the means are alike unchanged. Vividly did the Evangelical Prophet, more than 2500 years ago, pourtray, in consecutive expressions, the condition of the heathen and the conduct of the Church. Employing language still used by the Hindu to describe fruitless labour, he says of every idolater, "He feedeth on ashes." But "to the servants of God" the assurance of the pardon of sin is given—"I have blotted out as a cloud thy transgressions, and as a thick cloud thy sins." A sense of pardon is to nerve for effort. Such is still the process. The Christian Church must overcome by the blood of the Lamb, and must be determined, in heathen lands, to "know nothing but Jesus Christ and Him crucified."

The importance of "maintaining" the present position.

Finally, the Committee, thankful for that combined and earnest exertion which has relieved the Society from immediate embarrassment, would, in reference to its present position, desire to engrave upon the heart of every friend and supporter the words, "Maintain it." Let the echo of these words be heard in the remotest and smallest Association. Let the resolution be, that there shall be no step backward. Reduced expenditure abroad, increased income at home, the temporary detention of Missionaries already appointed to their fields of labour, have relieved the Society from present financial difficulty; but retrenchment may soon lead to retrogression, and therefore the present position must be maintained and strengthened. Maintain till aided and relieved by the converts, if the Church cannot, amid the Babel of Ecclesiastical controversy, hear the voice of its Divine leader, saying, through His earthly messengers, "Go forward." Already do those who were some time afar off, but who are now fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God, teach lessons that we may learn. A South-Indian Missionary district has raised, within the year, nearly 4500 rupees for Encouragement from the Mission field.

Mission objects. Dismiss this special example, and consider the whole of Tinnevelly. The majority of the Christians are poor, but they raise for every man, woman and child at the rate of one shilling in the year. England, if denuded of its superfluous wealth, and considered as a similar class, but with English resources, ought, even then, to raise several million pounds sterling per annum. Can the wealthy cities, the rich towns, and the prosperous counties of the land hear such tidings unmoved and uninfluenced? Let the work, then, be prayerfully maintained. Prayer has been heard in the past year. Let it be the great lever during the coming year. Union of heart will bring union of effort. Prayer is power. Wrestling prayer makes princes "who have power with God and men, and who prevail." Communion with the God of Missions will lead to combination in the work of Missions. The king, the fathers, the captains of Jerusalem, dedicated the spoils won in days of war to "maintain the house of the Lord," and may not, yea, must not, a combined effort be made by the Church of God to dedicate the wealth gained in time of peace to maintain the "means of grace," which, with the dew of the Divine blessing, are "the hope of glory." Thus shall the day be hastened when "the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it."

Prayer is power.

PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto† shall be paid out of such part of my personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund‡ and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund; and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my residuary personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, "such sum of money as shall be equal to one-fourth or one half, (according to the intention) of my whole residuary personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my personal Estate will extend to pay"]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general residuary personal Estate I bequeath the same, &c.§

* If so intended.

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on real Estate, then add "and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates."

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

I.—BENEFACTIONS OF FORMER YEARS, TO MARCH 31, 1867.

WHETHER PAID DIRECT TO THE PARENT SOCIETY OR THROUGH ASSOCIATIONS.

 This mark * denotes that the Sermon was preached at St. Ann's, Blackfriars; this †, that it was preached at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; the Twenty-third was preached at Christ Church, Newgate Street; the Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at St. Clement Danes; and the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

The Collections at the Sixteenth and subsequent Anniversaries include the sums contributed at the Annual Meetings.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

The Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Associations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible. The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly, to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. The Local Officers being appointed by the Associations, their names, as well as the date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, should be specified. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Committee would also point out, for wider adoption, the convenience of a practice already very generally observed by Associations, of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This practice, they have reason to believe, would be acceptable to many of their Contributors, and would tend to equalize in a greater degree the income and expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year.

The Society's General Accounts are closed on the 31st of March, and all Moneys and Lists belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order that the Lists may be inserted in their proper place in the Report.

The appending of the Lists and Accounts of the Associations to the Annual Report is a general acknowledgment to the Local Contributors that their Contributions have been received by the Parent Society; and the Committee are desirous of preventing the dissatisfaction which they are aware is occasioned by the omission of the Lists in the Report in consequence of the Money or the List having been received too late for insertion.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which, the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

N.B. Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upward, whose Names have appeared in former Lists of the Associations, will find them in the List of "Benefactions of former Years."

We, the Auditors, having examined the Accounts of the Society for the year ending March 31, 1868, and compared them with the Books, find that the above Balance Sheet is correct; and that the several Securities, Bills, and Cash at the Bankers', are as therein stated:

ALEXANDER BEATTIE.
GEORGE ARBUTHNOT.

Church Missionary House, April 27, 1868.
